

A Quick Look at the “Debate”

By Kat Stansell

July 4, 2024

If you didn't have the time to watch the Presidential debate last night, here's a quick round-up. It went exactly as predicted – except that Trump performed brilliantly.

Both sides knew it would be a huge problem for Biden. That's why he was sequestered, drugged (they refused to have him tested before and after the performance), and made to stand 90 minutes repeatedly to get him ready for last Thursday night.

It was just as predicted by sane people. He stuttered, stammered, slurred his words, glared, and appeared to adjust his (illegal) ear piece once or twice. At times, you could see him listening to something or someone not present.

Ol' Joe was quick to anger, mumbled so many untruths that the casual listener could lose count (or not have heard them in the first place...). Here are but a few: the Border Patrol endorsed him, he has strengthened our military, Trump left him with a disastrous economy, and – of course – Trump said that those Nazis in Charlottesville were “fine people”.

Can't help but picking a particularly disgusting “border defense” that oozed from Biden's tight-lipped mouth: Lots of American women are being raped by their own countrymen, not illegals, said the Liar-in-Chief. I cannot even imagine the rage and grief felt by Rachel Morin's family and so many others. Thank God it was another mumble...probably saved a few heart-attacks out there in the viewing audience. I just went and got some more ice for my lemonade.

Here's a fact check, thrown back at the fact-chukkers, done by Trump's team in real time.

When the subject of stamina to finish out the next term was raised, Biden told Trump he would beat him at a round of golf. Donald Trump did as the rest of us, just laughed out loud. What else could be said? The subject of cognitive tests (which Trump aced and Biden refused) were quickly passed by – and those little moderators just let it go. If Biden has to practice to stand clutching a lectern for 90 minutes, he plays golf HOW?

After the debate, Dr. Jill held him up while he maneuvered the five steps down off the stage to greet the moderators – who actually did a decent job.

Pre-debate, there were concerns that CNN would remove segments (audio or video) that made Biden look bad. They didn't have to. There was more than enough. If they had removed every unfavorable glance at Biden, it would have shortened the 90-minute debate to under 30.

Why they banned the reporters to a building across the street is anybody's guess. "An expected medical emergency" was the excuse.

CNN – bless their little ever-loyal collusive hearts – still published a flash poll saying that 33% of America would still vote for Biden. Pathetic but not unexpected.

Without fancy political analysis, I say that those numbers as telling us how many of those watching are still damaged by their lib-otomies, wherein the thinking portion of their brains have been destroyed by the enschluss of lies from the Left over time.

Thirty-three percent (a courageous and stupid lie more likely) still want to vote for Biden. Pray for them.

The real speculation is about what's next. Many feel that there will be no more debates. Ardent Leftists like Van Jones and Andrew Yang immediately called for his replacement on the ticket. Chris Wallace called it a "car accident in slow motion". The chyron on CNN said "Aggressive Panic" for the Left Exists After Biden's Performance." Aggressive panic sounds like trouble, actually.

Trump was brilliant, never overstepping his narrow bounds thrown down by the CNN gauntlet. Instead of bursting out and trying to talk over anyone, he stuck to the rules and USED FACIAL EXPRESSIONS TO REPLACE WORDS. Genius. His face said all that needed to be said.

What happens next is going to happen fast. The RNC Convention begins in three weeks. The Democrat Party Convention is in August in Chicago.

The sentencing of two innocent men – Bannon and Trump – will occur in the next days. What happens here is critical. Will the Left give up on lawfare after last night's debacle? Or will they double down? Literally, God only knows.

Will the left try to replace Biden before or after August? They will have to do something. The names Newsome, Mike Obama, and Hillary have floated to the top of the scum. Kamala is a problem that can probably be bought off. The question is what's legal from this point?

The law has never stopped the Globalist gang before, so watch for the unethical, unexpected and immoral. That's how they roll. On this topic, think registering illegals to vote. That is one area where you can deal with your own county to learn what is being done there. Get ICE detainer lists and have your SOE check those names against the rolls. The cooperation of your SOE will tell you a lot right there.

As always, stay close to your local officials. Even those with an “R” by their name are more than likely problematic in their honesty about the situation right now.

For instance, Evan Power, the Chr. of the Republican Party of Florida, yesterday tweeted that it was “hogwash” that he and DeGov were anything less than pro-Trump all the way. May I suggest that Power needs to wash his elephant instead of a hog, to clean his Party Pachyderm from all the swamp scum it’s been rolling in of late

He also needs to explain taking convention powers away from Peter Feaman, a very pro-Trump delegate from the RPOF. Mr. Feaman published a letter telling his story.

The same day as Power tweeted (or is that “x”’d?) his denial, the RPOF sent out more of those “cease and desist” letters to every county chapter of the Florida Republican Assembly, suing them because they used the words, “Republican” and the symbol of the elephant – both of which have been in common use since the 1860’s. Sorry, Evan, that elephant doesn’t fly. Clean or dirty.

Stay close to this situation. Be alert to things in the news and things in our own town. Our immediate future could be impacted in many serious ways.

Grid outages leading to food shortages and roving violent mobs; the start of WWII, which would allow under our Constitution, a POTUS to have a third term (think Obama), not to mention many war-time restrictions like those food and fuel shortages AND militia in the streets. Remember those border crossers who’d been trained by Obama in 2014 and 2015 to put down an American insurrection? Yeah. They are here and ready.

Keep eyes wide open, and pray for our world.
