

Adding “One plus One” It ISN’T That Hard!

by Kat Stansell

January 3, 2024

OK, most of us learned that in Kindergarten. But, a lot of grownups just can't manage it today.

Every time I read about how a local merchant, or town council, or a group of “concerned citizens” in a liberal area is upset about what is going down in their community, I shake my head. Has our education system deteriorated to the point where people can't do simple addition.

One plus one ALWAYS equals two.

Let's look first at the most disgusting of the goobers, the officials in sanctuary cities, who cannot do simple elementary arithmetic. Seems it's NOT, “elementary” anymore, Mr. Watson.

Public figures of sanctuary cities and states are in the news every day lately, whining about their plight. Simple arithmetic is beyond them. HERE'S THE EQUATION IN WORDS: Declare yourself a sanctuary for all, and people will come, especially everything in the West Coast, with notable chunks of real estate called Chicago and Denver in the middle, governors and mayors are whining about crime, severe housing shortages, and erosion of their tax base as sane citizens move to safer places. Here's the equation in numbers:

$$1+1=2$$

Eric Adams, mayor of NYC, has been complaining for months as 130,000+ migrants have arrived in his "sanctuary city" since his President ripped open our borders. Small businesses are closing; historic hotels have been ruined; and the elderly and veterans are being thrown out of their homes to accommodate the motley flow. Crime is over the top and literally uncontrollable. Police have pretty well stood down. Hamas (a large part of the invading army) is demonstrating, killing and destroying property. Detrious – a product of disintegration destruction or wearing away – is everywhere.

Thanks, Webster. Good word to describe sanctuary cities. Chicago's new mayor is whining for federal assistance to deal with the 15,000+ invaders now sleeping in airports and public buildings. (Wait till we see what he spends to clean up the Windy Sewer when the DNC convention comes to town, 8/24!) He is joined in this mewling for federal aid (read more TAXPAYER money) by Eric Adams and Denver mayor, Mike Johnston. Let them cry as more and more sane productive citizens leave for safer pastures. They brought it on themselves. $1+1=2$

Then there's Newsome and all the Leftist officials in California, screaming about lack of housing, social services, et. al., as they step over the piles of human excrement, which were literally dropped there by their own policies.

NEWS BULLETIN: as of this writing, the goobernor has announced that all illegals in CA will get free health care. This, to go with the federal ID cards being issued by the Biden Junta in 2024. What could possibly go wrong? We KNOW who's going to pay for it. Our whole country! And, in more ways than with our wallets.

Reminder: CA was once red; then came mail-in ballots and ballot harvesting, like Rona and the RNC are promoting. This is why our focus must be 1000% on securing our elections by tossing the machines.

What sanctuaries! What third world dung holes our major cities have become!! What a third world nation we will become if we allow this to continue.

We MUST give our all to fix our broken elections, so that our free choice is returned to us. More and more on this to come. Let this be a loud lesson to others everywhere, regardless of their voting preferences. Just because you vote blue, doesn't save you from the problems. Your freedom is on the line, too.

This did not happen to large cities in America overnight. Rot starts with a small spot, then spreads, often unnoticed or ignored, until problems explode and folks are inconvenienced, or scared. Get on it, in your town. NOW. Don't let the slime fester. No place is perfect. Start with your elections. We are 11 months away from the point of no return.

Sane people know that voting for liberal principles and policies, and the standard-bearers of their anti-American values HAS ALWAYS CREATED THIS KIND OF PROBLEM.

Liberals vote the way they do, I'm told, because they think they're the ones who have compassion (except for babies in the womb, of course). The rest of the country is painted as racist, treasonous, and just plain grunt-ignorant. We, the blindly stupid conservative who “tote our Bibles”, and try to live by that Word, don’t UNDERSTAND how important it is to for an innocent five-year-old child to have sex-change surgery, or to play after school with his friends at a Satan Club. It’s disgusting to even write in sarcasm.

The FACT that this forced gender dysphoria leads to severe mental and physical problems as the child grows, is lost on them. (Did you know that there were NO fact-checkers until until the truth began to work its way out of the fog of lies?) What if the worm turned, and the satanic weirdos were suddenly on the wrong side of the law. They would howl like the demons that possess them, and ask for their freedom to worship Lucifer.

Even liberal Ivy League education doesn’t make them any smarter.. Ivy grads are some of the dimmest when it comes to simple math.

Look at DeSantis in the POTUS race. His campaign has fallen apart, and donors are fleeing. His own state has turned against him. He has had to purchase endorsement from an Iowa evangelist, VanderPlaats, for the upcoming caucus. This double-Ivy grad governor can’t even read the handwriting on the wall, let alone add 1+1. Yet, he plods along the campaign trail, wasting money and ignoring his Florida constituents who want him to come back home and fix the many problems down there – INCLUDING THE PROVEN -INSECURE VOTING MACHINES.

1+1=2, Ron.

Let’s face it. To be awake in today’s America, you have to KNOW YOUR MATH!

The Left DIVIDES people and SUBTRACTS freedoms.

The Right MULTIPLIES opportunity and ADDS financial security. Just like adding $1+1$, it's pretty simple to know your math, and act accordingly. Eleven short months. They will fly by more quickly than you can count...

Blessings to all, and wishes for New Year full of new math whizzes.
