This Is The Fruit From A Blue County

Sarah Rockwell, a school board member in Alachua County, FL, Posted this, following Hulk Hogan's death: "GOOD. ONE LESS MAGA IN THE WORLD."

Of course, when caught, she pulled out the the apology shovel, and began mounding the BS about how sorry she was. She removed her comments. Of course.

Two things here: the first reaction (the one from the “gut”) is always the most truthful one. Second, because of that, the guilt trip just doesn't fly. She said, on Farcebook, of course, “I apologize for the hurt and distrust I have caused with my insensitive comment. I will continue to do the hard work of putting our children and schools first. I hope that I can earn back your trust.” What made her suddenly more sensitive? She got caught.

Oh, yes.
There is a third thing...is she dimly lit
enough to think that a Facebook post
would NOT be seen by many?? If so,
she needs to resign

immediately
from the responsibility for education of others.

I am SOO sick of this kind of thing. Leftists mouthing off about their hatred for good moral people, and their support of violence and/or institutionalized ignorance or illegal activities (voter fraud comes to mind...). I would like to see this anti-American squirm in front of cameras, at the very least. I long to see some sort of SHAME appear from within them. I know. Silly me.

Pretty sure, THIS kind of thing is not what DeGov will be DOGE-ing in Alachua. Would that it were.

I confess. I've been having this reaction a lot, lately. Every time I read or hear a Globalist/Marxist/Communist yatter about something vile, even inhuman -or stop to take pictures of a violent event without trying to stop it – I want them center stage on coverage by honest media. Where they participated in violence against others, or advocacy thereof, I want them to go to jail. To wait for months for a simple court date, as our J6 patriots were forced to do.

Would this “lady” like to be treated the way her fellow Democrats treated MAGA patriots? Wonder if she has even a clue about what really happened?

Our Constitution, of course, prevents that, and that is why Constitutional Americans struggle to preserve it for ALL Americans, not just Conservatives. The School Board Member from Alachua County, FL, most likely has NO clue about this. If Ketanji Brown can't tell you what's in the US Constitution, I'm guessing that Ms. Rockwell cannot either.

Tallahassee seems to need some refresher courses in that as well.

Sarah Rockwell is, however, involved in making decisions about the education of future generations. The Alachua County public school system only rates a 3.8 out of 5 stars, so there is ample room for improvement. THAT is where School Board Members should be focused. There are online complaints about teachers not caring, and bathrooms being stinky and disgusting. Instead, this woman spends her time on social media snark.

Funny, I just realized that I'd not looked up Ms. Rockwell's party affiliation. Apparently, I didn't feel the need. When I did, sure enough – Ms. Rockwell is affiliated with the Democratic Party. She is a member of the Democratic Public Education Caucus of Florida. She wears the color accurately.

Not a really big deal, I suppose, in the grand scheme of things, but our children are our future. This kind of thing is perfect for LOCAL ACTION. Parents should be requesting/requiring that Board Members improve the Alachua County education system, not make nasty comments about people who disagree with them.

WHAT are they teaching your children??
