

Arabification of Florida: “The New Muslim Hub”

Time to Shine the Light On Islam in Florida

Across social media, Islamic organizations, and private networks, Muslims from New York, New Jersey, Michigan, Illinois, Pennsylvania, California, and Texas openly describe Florida as:

“The new Muslim hub”

“The best place to raise Muslim children”

“A place where Islamic schools are booming”

“A state where our community can build”

Where does the Muslim community get these ideas? Read on.

The reasons that this information is “out there” are crucial for Floridians to understand. Those of the Muslim faith are not just one more population group to assimilate into the community, as have Hispanics, and many others who’ve come to our shores for the freedom that is America. They come to rule, not to assimilate, and their rule will be basically the same as Communism.

The Muslim population of Florida has risen by approximately 350% from 2000 – 2025. This number is from an amalgamation of various reports, including Pew Research, and the US Religion Census. It's hard to get exact numbers because our census does not ask religious affiliation.

Florida, in 2025, has the largest number of Mosques in the USA > 192 < , more than New York California, Michigan or Virginia.

The quotes above are from a very interesting article in the Independent Sentinel, Nov. 29, 2025. Here's more:

“What we are witnessing in Florida right now is not organic population movement. Afghans were poured into Florida.”
(emphasis mine.)

It is strategic relocation, institutional expansion, and network-driven migration – tied directly to the documented Muslim Brotherhood infrastructure exposed in RAIR's investigation this week. Read that several times.

The author of this article lives in NYC, so the subject is of key importance to her.

Perhaps the Muslim community's source of encouragement is from incidents like the one in Hillsborough County, FL, recently where the sheriff's office stood on the side of the those who were worshiping Allah. Read on.

Last week, police in Hillsborough County arrested and charged with FELONY HATE CRIMES, several Christian men on a college campus who were mocking the Muslim prayer service ritual and preaching the following of Jesus. Florida police were called, and those evangelizing ended up with “felony hate charges”.

The eleven Muslim worshippers wept and cried pitifully to the authorities, saying they were scared. The Chief Deputy at the Hillsborough County Sheriff's Office said that creating a threat went beyond First Amendment rights.

If so, then every ANTIFA and BLM protestor should be in jail for what they say and do to our ICE and National Guard members.

All three of the overly enthusiastic Evangelicals have been arrested and formally charged (as of 11/24/25). They face one felony count of disturbing schools' and religious assemblies (as enhanced under Florida Hate Crimes Statute S775.085) for bias motivation against religion. They also face misdemeanor charges for disrupting a school or any other lawful assembly. USF has also banned them from campus. They have been arraigned but no court date has been set. CAIR, of course, is providing legal support to the 11 students. If convicted on the felony charge, the Christian evangelists will face 5 years in prison and fines. For misdemeanor charges, up to an additional one year incarceration. This is America, I'd thought...

Just like the accused arsonist in California, the legal process against these Christian "perps" was enviably speedy!

AS OF 11/30/2025, GOVERNOR RONALD DESANTIS HAS ISSUED NO RESPONSE.

A 2017 law, from the Scott Statehouse, prohibits Florida courts, arbitration panels, tribunals, administrative agencies, or any state entity from basing decisions, rulings, or enforcements on Sharia law (or any foreign legal code/system) *if it violates U.S. or Florida constitutional rights, such as due process, equal protection, freedom of speech, or freedom of religion. That must stand for US citizens as well.

"No Response"? Really ?? In over two weeks, Governor? DeSantis must be waiting for his handlers to tell him how to come down on this. Or is he mulling the approximately 500,000+ Muslim residents in the state as future voters?

Ok, it's only one Kat's opinion, but I believe that DeGov should have spoken up as soon as the incident occurred, about that old "freedom of speech" thing. The three overly zealous Evangelicals were over the top, perhaps, but they stuck to the definition of “freedom of speech” that I learned in my childhood: Your freedom ends at my nose. The Christian boors did not touch or attack with anything but their words. Slapping a copy of the Quran with bacon strips was juvenile, but it harmed no one. And, THAT is FREEDOM IN THE AMERICAN REPUBLIC; saying what you want without harming anyone.

Sorry for the Muslim tears. If you don't like our freedom, then leave.
