Are Women Destroying the USA?

Before I explain, let me just say that I love women, real women. I'm married to one and I'm the father of another, brother of two and brother-in-law to three more, and they are all amazing human beings, real women. They are smart, loving, caring and tolerant people, and ferocious protectors of those they love, especially children.

But real women are a shrinking segment of today's female population. And before you bother to write to me about how offended your left-wing sensitivities are, remember, it's you who insensitively supports the murder of innocent human beings. You are clearly overly sensitive about the wrong things, only helping to prove my point. You don't care about a dead child, but I should worry about your feelings? Get real…

Now, how do I know that women are destroying the USA?

First, today's women have become the #1 cause of death for American children…in the womb. God created woman to be the safest place on earth for the gestation period of every new human being, and instead, in our country, it is now the most dangerous place on earth for the developing child. Unless you have an IQ below your shoe size, everyone knows it's a human being inside the womb, not dead tissue to be disrespected and discarded without consequence.

What good could possibly come from a people with no regard for innocent human life? What good can possibly come to such a sick society or nation?

Then there's the voting trends of American women, just as bad as their disregard for human life itself. Ever since the flawed Supreme Court ruling in Roe v. Wade in the 1970s, women have largely been single issue voters, abortion, their assumed right to kill millions of natural born Americans.

According to the most recent information, women represent approximately 52% of the voting population in the USA. They have a clear voting bloc advantage over men on this basis alone, making their voting trends and agendas highly critical in every election cycle. Who do they tend to vote for and why?

Prior to 1980, there wasn't really any notable gender gap in voting between male and female voters. The voting gender gap started in the 1980 election cycle, following the ruling on Roe v. Wade in 1973. It's not about "equality" with men, because if it were, terminating a pregnancy would require the consent of both mother and father.

It's also not about "my body, my choice," except the less than 1% of pregnancies resulting from rape or incest. The other 99% of abortions are strictly a matter of convenience for the female, even against the wishes of the birth father. It isn't "your body (life) being exterminated, but rather the body (life) of another defenseless and innocent human being, the baby.

So, let's just stop lying about the subject and face reality, can we?

Since 1980, women voters have tended to overwhelmingly vote for Democrat Party candidates, usually on the single issue of "abortion rights." If they were as determined to protect national sovereignty and security, freedom, liberty, and justice for all, they would be voting Republican in every election, and our country would not be on the brink of collapse now. But no…

In the 2020 Presidential election, women voted for Democrat Joe Biden by a 12 to 15-point margin over Trump, despite the success of the first Trump term and Trump winning over 11-million more votes in 2020 than his victory in 2016.

If you're not happy with how things have gone under the Biden disaster, you have women voters to thank for that, about 57% of women voters, to be exact.

- If you are not impressed by the poor performance of GEN Y, thank the women who raised them.
- If inflation is wiping out your budget, thank 57% of women voters.
- If you disagree with the wars Biden has created, thank these women for it.
- If you don't think your kids have a bright future, talk to the women who elected Biden.
- If life in the USA has you scared and stressed out, go see these women, they caused it.

I could go on for pages here, but you get the point, and if you're offended by reality, then you have been living a lie far too long.

I'm under no illusion that the truth I'm pointing out here will change the hearts and minds of the 57% of female voters who are absolutely responsible for the death of millions and the demise of our nation. They are likely to cast yet another anti-American ballot for the cackling word-salad hyena trying to replace Joe Biden for President and steal almost $100-million in donations that were not donated for her.

After all, it's all about "breaking that glass ceiling" and "making history" you know. It's not about things that actually matter to this country or the world.

But if the other 43%, the REAL women can enter the fray here and make it their mission in 2024 to address these women head-on and teach them how to become decent women and decent Americans, just maybe we can still save this failing Constitutional Republic, before our country dies a bloody death at the hands of those who think we should kill people to save the trees…and kill babies to party on.

Last…as a man, I can tell you with 100% certainty, IT IS 100% THE WOMEN'S CHOICE to get pregnant or not. The ONLY exception is the less than 1% of abortions that may result from rape or incest.

Stop lying and stop killing the innocent! Make America Respectable Again!

Now, it's definitely not just these women. Far too many men are cowards, liars and thieves now too. Emasculated by Marxist women since the 60s, men have let their families and country down. They too, need a swift kick in the pants to get their heads on straight, before our country is gone, especially the young ones who can't even decide if they are male or female.
