

Assassination Attempt

They still have negligent auditing, they still have things going for a walk, and they have no idea where they're coming from, and they have no idea where they're going. And if that's the case, how can we, as the public, trust the NSA with all of our information, with all of our private records, the permanent record of our lives? –Edward Snowden

Violence is the last resort of the incompetent. –Isaac Asimov

When governments fear the people, there is liberty. When the people fear the government, there is tyranny. The strongest reason for the people to retain the right to keep and bear arms is, as a last resort, to protect themselves against tyranny in government. –Thomas Jefferson

The cell phone was sitting on the table next to my dinner plate when it chirped with an incoming text. Normally, I would ignore it, but picked it up to see a message from my friend in Pennsylvania.

Two words...Trump shot!

We flipped on the TV to see replay after replay of the President grabbing his ear and dropping to the ground. The people behind him dropped as well.

One secret service agent rushed up to cover him, others ran up from the sides of the stage. The agents knew they had to get him out of there as the threat was still live. But the president was defiant. He raised his fist to the crowd with the flag behind him and secret service agents holding onto him.

It's a picture for the ages. The man of the people with blood running down his face, and his fist in the air, telling the crowd, "I'm okay, they didn't get me."

Marjorie Taylor Greene stated on air that had Trump not turned his head the moment before that bullet struck his ear, he would have been killed. Providence, fate or the Lord's will, saved him.

The first thing we heard was that an audience member saw a man with a rifle climbing up to a rooftop and pointed it out to police who apparently didn't hear, didn't see or thought it was nonsense. Then three shots rang out and the president was hit.

Media is reporting that people on the ground saw the shooter on the roof with a rifle. They claim it was an AR15 that had been purchased by his father six months previous. A Trump supporter videoed the shooter on the roof of the building.

Later we heard that the shooter was dead. Then we were told he was a member of Antifa. That was dropped and next we hear,

"The FBI has identified Thomas Matthew Crooks, 20, of Bethel Park, Pennsylvania, as the subject involved in the assassination attempt of former President Donald Trump on July 13, in Butler, Pennsylvania," the FBI said in a statement to Fox News Digital. "This remains an active and ongoing investigation."

Interestingly enough, they identified the shooter in record time, allegedly by DNA.

From Fox News, "Crooks was a registered Republican, according to voting records, but he only participated in the Nov. 8, 2022, state election, due to his age. Records show that he made a $15 donation to Progressive Turnout Project, a Chicago-based political action committee that supports Democrat candidates for public office and claims to advocate for 'key Democratic constituencies: young people, minorities and low-income people.'" Progressive Turnout Project is connected to ActBlue Technical Services.

As of May 21, 2020, ActBlue had given \$119 million to the presidential campaign of Joe Biden. The worldwide Black Live Matter protests that subsequently erupted in response to the May 25 death of a black criminal suspect named George Floyd, sparked a new surge of donations to BLM via ActBlue. Visitors to Black Lives Matter who sought to contribute funds were transported to the web page of ActBlue Charities, an organization that facilitates donations to "democrats and progressives." ActBlue is the left's favorite "Dark Money" machine.

The big question we must ask is, "How was a sniper able to gain access?"

Anyone who believes the assassination attempt on President Trump wasn't a set-up is, in my humble opinion, not paying attention. Director Kimberly Cheatle is the head of the Secret Service and came from a corporate entity, PepsiCo., not from inside the Secret Service ranks. She was appointed by Joe Biden in 2022, and reports to none other than Department of Homeland Security Director, Alejandro

Mayorkas.

There is no way the Secret Service would not have had men on the rooves of buildings surrounding this arena.

Buildings are always supposed to be covered by Secret Service. Basically, they check them out beforehand, but they did not have them covered when the president was speaking. That roof was only 400 feet from the president and was just outside the cordon of the event.

News reports state that Crooks had an initiator in his vehicle which can supposedly be used to set off bombs. They have moved neighbors away from Crooks' parents' home and are searching the home for incendiaries.

The planned and executed assassination of another president thankfully failed. Secret Service killed the patsy with a head shot.

President Ronald Reagan

On April 4, 2000, national radio host, Roger Fredinburg interviewed John Judge. I know the exact date because I was Roger's executive producer and I had heard Mr. Judge speak. Judge had inside information that John Hinckley did not shoot President Reagan and I wanted Roger to interview him.

On March 30, 1981, White House press secretary James Brady, Secret Service agent Tim McCarthy, and D.C. police officer Thomas Delahanty were wounded. All three survived, but Brady had brain damage and was permanently disabled. His death in 2014 was considered a homicide because it was ultimately caused by his injury.

President Reagan was seriously injured.

If Roger Fredinburg was still alive today, he would tell you that John Judge's interview was one of the most important he had ever done. Mr. Judge's mother was an insider at the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and John mentioned that she knew the truth. Watch the 13-minute video presentation by Mr. Judge. He has the facts, facts we never heard via mainstream media.

President John F. Kennedy

On November 22, 1963, John F. Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas, Texas. Lee Harvey Oswald was arrested for the murder. Two days later, American nightclub owner Jack Ruby, shot and mortally wounded Oswald on live television in the basement of Dallas Police Headquarters and was immediately arrested. In a trial, Ruby was found guilty and sentenced to death. His conviction and death sentence were overturned on appeal, and he was granted a new trial, but he conveniently became ill, was diagnosed with cancer, and died of a pulmonary embolism on January 3, 1967.

The full documentation of President Kennedy's murder has not been released. CIA Director, Mike Pompeo convinced Trump not to release all of the Kennedy information despite President Trump having ordered the unveiling of 2,800 documents related to the 1963 assassination of President Kennedy. Trump yielded to pressure from the FBI and CIA to block the release of other records to be reviewed further.

In 1992, Congress had ordered that all remaining sealed files pertaining to the investigation into Kennedy's death should be fully opened to the public through the National Archives in 25 years, by Oct. 26, 2017, except for those the president authorized for further withholding.

In 2023, news leaks proved that CIA Director Mike Pompeo instructed the agency to make plans to kidnap and murder WikiLeaks founder Julian Assange. Barry Pollack, Assange's US lawyer, did not respond to a request for comment, but told Yahoo News: "As an American citizen, I find it absolutely outrageous that our government would be contemplating kidnapping or assassinating somebody without any judicial process simply because he had published truthful information."

Conclusion

The Office of Strategic Services (OSS) was established on June 13, 1942, through an executive order issued by President Franklin D. Roosevelt. The OSS was America's first centralized intelligence agency and is often considered a forerunner to the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), which was established in 1947 by President Harry S. Truman.

Countless books have been written suggesting the CIA's involvement in the assassination of President Kennedy. John Judge alludes to the same characters being involved in the Reagan assassination attempt.

On Monday, July 8, President Joe Biden was intense about taking the battle for the presidency to Trump. "I have one job, and that's to beat Donald Trump. I'm absolutely certain I'm the best person to be able to do that. So, we're done talking about the debate," Biden said, according to Politico.

"It's time to put Trump in a bullseye," he said.

- "Reporters for the NY Times, long the newspaper of record in the United States, is calling for assassination of the political opposition. And nobody bats an eyelash," by Pamela Geller
- Law Enforcement Today reports that a former US Attorney turned MSNBC analyst is calling for Biden to jail his political opponent under SCOTUS presidential immunity ruling.
- The UK Telegraph is reporting, What is presidential immunity? The get out of jail free card Biden could use to assassinate Trump.

No one in the Department of Justice is concerned about talk of assassinating a former president who is the opponent of America's dementia-ridden incumbent president.

On Saturday, July 13, 2024, the attempt on former President Donald J. Trump's life was thankfully foiled.

After living through President Kennedy's assassination, President Reagan's attempted assassination, the murder of Robert F. Kennedy and Martin Luther King, Jr., the attempt on Trump's life looks like so many others from the past. An inside job.
