

Hey Leftists Maybe This Place Is Not For You

Throughout the United States today they accusers of everyone on earth of being bigoted are themselves the actual bigots. This is self evident to any objective observer of the current events and terribly bigoted control freak leftists, who have invaded and ruined almost every aspect of civilized society.

Trump Is Gone And Oh What A Mess

The Democrats have historically thrived on either creating a mess wherever they acquire any political authority or provoking others to attack Trump supporters, as did congresswoman Maxine Waters. Even worse, they convince others through indoctrination that it is better to be a foul hate filled bigot like droopy CNN big mouth Joy Reid.

Misleading Students May Kill Our Onetime Republic

If one objectively looks at the political, academic, and religious landscape throughout the United States, they are probably very concerned about the future of our nation. The United States was literally founded and built upon a collection of solid principles. If they were more closely adhered to, individuals like Nancy Pelosi,

The Cancer Of Identity Politics

Every morning that by the grace of God I arise from my overnight slumber I give thanks to our Creator for another day of life. I am also thankful for being born in the United States of America. My wonderful Dad taught me at the age of eight how blessed we are to be sovereign United States citizens.

It Is Not About Left Or Right But Rather Up Or Down

There is a right or wrong way to do every single thing in life. Children are to be raised properly in the way they should go, so that they do not permanently drift off from the good moral path through life. The United States was founded upon the hallowed principles listed in the Holy Bible. She was also built upon the principles of liberty and personal responsibility.

Great Americans Looking Toward Our Creator

Long before the Pilgrims journey to what they considered “The New World”, great leaders sought the mighty wisdom of God. When God asked Solomon, “what do you desire? The wisest man who ever lived replied, saying “I desire to be filled with your wisdom.” God was well pleased and promised Solomon that because he first sought His wisdom, that his kingdom would be blessed and prosperous.

The Equality Act Is The Most Unequal Act Ever

Recently, leftist Illinois Senator Dick Durbin who chairs the Senate Judiciary Committee started deliberations on the Equality Act. The Equality Act as it is, literally threatens our religious liberty, the safety of women, boys and girls, and the unborn.

It Is Not About Left Or Right

But Rather What is Right

There is a right or wrong way to do every single thing in life. Children are to be raised properly in the way they should go, so that they do not permanently drift off from the good moral path through life. The United States was founded upon the hallowed principles listed in the Holy Bible.

We Must Right The Good Ship USA before it Is Too Late

Today our republic is facing probably the greatest and most challenging times in it's illustrious history. In every other major violent challenge, ranging from the Revolutionary war to the 9-11 attacks that wiped out the World Trade Center, caused a horrific jet crash in Pennsylvania and the punched holes in the Pentagon, there were concerted efforts to legally combat against those tragedies.

How Low Will Society Go?

Many cities are being run by miserable Black Lives Matter foot soldier mayors like Bowser in Washington D.C. and Atlanta, Ga. Mayor, Keisha Bottoms. Among the goals of Black Lives Matter and Antifa members is to spread misery and to bring our nation down as far as possible.

If It Ain't Broke The Leftist Want To Destroy It

I say low self esteem because why else would a male too weak to compete in boys or men athletics, but be willing to snip off certain body parts in order to compete against either girls or women in order to win? That is a premier example of selling oneself terribly short and cheating themselves out of a potentially fulfilled life or destiny.

How Low Will Society Go?

Many cities are being run by miserable Black Lives Matter foot soldier mayors like Bowser in Washington D.C. and Atlanta, Ga. Mayor, Keisha Bottoms. Among the goals of Black Lives Matter and Antifa members is to spread misery and to bring our nation down as far as possible.

The War For True Liberty Continues

Since before the time of the biblical matriarch Abraham, to some degree or another, there were men who sought another way of life beyond the normal oppressive kingdoms and dictatorships. Even before Abraham, certain men were seeking to dominate their fellow human beings and mold them into their wicked anti liberty and anti God image.

During This Time Of Christmas We Must Not Forget The Greatest Gift Of All

Throughout our republic there are numerous reminders of the greatest gift of all. Unfortunately, there is a concerted effort to systematically wipe out this greatest gift. Much like the barbarians who sacked ancient Rome, recently, modern day barbarians in the form of Antifa and black lives matter tried to eradicate America

Giving Thanks In the Midst Of The Madness

“We the People” of our beloved republic have possibly just recently witness the biggest cheating scandal in the history of humanity. The threat of a Joe Biden presidency still looms over the United States, like a menacing dark cloud of gloom and doom.

The War For True Liberty – Round One Thousand And Counting

An individual named Nimrod is credited with designing and building the first large city. Unfortunately, Nimrod was not satisfied with just designing the first urban environment. He came up with hair brained idea that beyond having people living in the city he designed, that he could control them and convince them to exist without the influence of God almighty.

The Democrat Party Platform Is A Reflection of The Evil Mission Of Democrats

The Democrat Party platform calls for the creation of a massive new federal agency of 100,00 thousand liberty abusers to trace every single American and nose around in their personal business, while allowing illegal border crossers to have free roaming privileges.

Why Ronald Reagan Called United States The Last Best Hope For Mankind

Throughout the annals of the majority of history, mankind lived either under the brutality of kings or dictators who ruled with an iron fist ready to crush any attempts to seek personal advancement. Just as tyrannical were backward tribes in Africa, North and south America and elsewhere.

Change American Government School Education Or It Is Game Over

When people think about modern government school education, the name of the God hating John Dewey usually comes to mind. Of course, it is true that Dewey had a lot to do with the overall decline in the quality of government schools. But there are others who joined in the effort to literally destroy the quality of education.

If President Trump Is Not

Reelected Forget About It

I was recently in our nation's capital, Washington, D.C. The occasion was a coming together of patriots and Christian prayer warriors. We all wanted to both see first hand what the looney mayor Bowser had been allowing on the streets of our national capital.

Political Leftists And Parasites It's hard To Tell the Difference

The Founding Fathers understood and asserted that the United States would fail if it lost its Christian foundation. It is now up to Patriotic Christian believers to stand up and battle to reaffirm and reclaim our Christian influenced educational heritage with the same passion and commitment of the Founders.

Humanism vs GOD – Socialism vs Liberty

In our own hemisphere, the nation of Venezuela did not have to deteriorate into the abysmal communist state that exists there now. It serves as a glaring warning for our own republic as anarchists seek to bring about those brutal conditions to our land.

It Is Live Or Die Time America

My fellow Americans, it is all hands on deck in the effort to save our republic from the Democrats and to restore the principles that made the United States the envy of the world. It would also be wise for believers to seek God's forgiveness for how our republic was allowed to devolve morally, intellectually and spiritually, which opened the door to all the madness and evil so prevalent today.

Restoring The Original Purpose Of Schools

Schools as originally established here in our republic were for the expressed purpose of both advancing the Christian Faith and through the high moral principles of Christianity offer the highest quality education possible for all students.

Are Americans Being Punished For Believing In American Greatness?

Mr. Trump's upbeat message of Make America great Again ignited a resurgence of optimism many thought was gone forever. The Trump Train hit the political tracks and made it all the way to 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue. Immediately, the enemies of our republic, both foreign and domestic were put on notice, that for the first time in decades they would be challenged.

We Have Not Yet Begun To Fight

I will never forget my mostly happy childhood during the first twelve years of my life. The neighborhood was idyllic, with wonderful God fearing, kind and mostly successful neighbors. When I say successful, I do not mean that our great neighborhood was an economic rival of the upper west side of Manhattan, but all the neighbors worked.

To Be Great America Must

First Be Good

I find it rather disheartening how throughout history, those who sought their God given right of liberty were often treated as though they were wicked. Or sometimes those seeking liberty were deemed as trouble makers by others who wanted to dominate them. The United States of America was formed to be a blessing.

Restoring The Original Purpose Of Schools

If you have read my columns, listened to either my talk show, The Ron Edwards American Experience or my radio commentary The Edwards Notebook, chances are you have read or heard me declare that the government school system is the number one enemy of our republic.

Sports Is No Longer About Joy of Competing And Fun

You may wonder what does all this have to do with sports no longer about competition? Plenty. Despite my condition, both my parents were very adamant about me doing well in school. For them there was no excuse for me not to excel in my studies in order to assure I have a better shot at success throughout my life. Dad and I also enjoyed watching or going to sporting events.

It Is Time To Get Back To Basics

The election of Donald J. Trump has fully exposed the orchestrated effort to literally undermine and fundamentally transform our beloved republic into a spent globalist mobocracy. Unfortunately, since the adventurous mission of the Founding Fathers to establish this more perfect union, there have been those among strategically positioned to sow the seeds of destruction.

Will The City I Love Ever Be Great Again

Chicago first developed and built the modern sky scraper. But the huge iconic sky scrapers now present all over the world, first became common in New York City's Burrow of Manhattan. Lower Manhattan's Flat Iron Building built in 1902 still inspires architects of every generation of young aspiring builders.

Finding Hope In Suffering

When moral depravity is the norm, followed by dwindling wisdom, then the will to confront evil evaporates. Before you know it, far too many Americans would rather watch their cities burn and businesses lost along with opportunities than to witness against and defeat evil doers pretending to care about justice.

Black Lives Matter Is Not About Making Lives Matter

I find it ironic and retarded, that democrats, RINOs and assorted other leftists forced many states to get rid of the death penalty for murderers. Yet they go off the deep end and want to murder our entire republic for the wrongful death of one man. May God forgive America for allowing such travesty. But who are they going to call?

Is Free Speech Devolving Into A Relic Of Prior Days?

My Dad and I used to have wonderful conversations about America being the land of the free and home of the brave. Because of his desire for me to reap the full benefits of being an American He would often give me little pop quizzes on the Constitution and Bill of Rights. Dad did not just leave it to teachers to instruct me about our nations sacred documents.

MI. Governor Whitmer Considers Homosexual Swingers Club Essential and Wide Open, Churches Closed

In Lansing, MI the state capitol, there is a homosexual swinger's club called Tabu. Unlike barber shops and other restricted businesses that "Witchmer" has dubbed as nonessential and are ordered closed, the homosexual swingers club is considered essential by the governor and is wide open.

Truth to Liberty Or Lies to Tyranny – It Is Up You

Sometimes it boggles my mind when I witness sovereign American citizens seemingly beg for the tyrannical lash of government. If I walk into a business establishment and have not donned a mask, it is amazing the grumpy/dirty looks I get.

Why Do George Soros and Bill Gates Wield So Much Influence In Our Republic

The Holy Bible plainly states that parents should train up their children in the way they should go so that they may not depart. Meaning that like all humans, they will make mistakes and sin. But if parents take the time to raise their children in the right way, they most likely will not permanently stray from the straight and narrow path.

Eugenics, Dr. Fauci And Coronavirus

Unfortunately, Democrats have been politically in league with those ranging from Eugenicist Margaret Sanger to according to some sources, fellow Eugenicist, Dr. Anthony Fauci: Globalist snake oil salesman. He has been working with Wellcome Trust & the Pilbright Institute (UK) Coronavirus Patent holder.

Perhaps It Is Time To Declare Independence Again

We all know the great story of how and why those who resided in the original thirteen colonies first proclaimed and then mightily fought for independence from Great Britain. They tried until they tried out to live peacefully under the authority of the British crown.

Boy Oh Boy These Are Tough Times

Yes, again my fellow Americans, we are living in tough times. Many democrat office holders have expressed concern about possible civil unrest, riots and a general breakdown of society. But it is their policies are what makes such predictions very likely to come true, which again will continue the worsening impact of leftist democrats.

Barbarians American Style

Barbarians of today are opportunists who take full advantage of leftist political decisions in places like New York city. For example, if a barbarian commits a crime in the Big Rotting Apple, they can walk right out of prison and be free, if they cannot afford to pay for their bail out of jail.

The LGBT Unnatural Practitioners Are Destroying Via Lower Standards

The socialist leftist goons are now recruiting little school children and are positioning themselves to have more rights, while working feverishly to destroy the God given rights of parents.

All Those Opposing Good Try To Obliterate Our Rights

When it comes to national security, even though we now have a president who is fighting drastically improve our national security. He is not only challenged by current congressional members who prefer open borders.

While America Focuses On Coronavirus Islam Remains A Bigger Threat

Yes, it is true coronavirus poses an enormous threat to our republic and nations throughout the world. But I thoroughly believe that Islam represents an even bigger threat and is potentially more sickening. When I hear or read about leftists, 'many funded by George Soros...

Don't Allow The Leftists To Fool You About Our Christian Heritage

That supreme example of insight applies to government schools, political left leaning churches, the entertainment industry and even the effort to corrupt God's original family plan encompassing a man, woman and children.

A Reluctant Look At Black History Month

Ever since I learned about Black History Month when I was in elementary school, I often wondered to myself, why don't they include the great achievements of black Americans in the general American story? I also felt it would have been more intelligent to force the mainstream inclusion of positive black American historical figures into the American fabric of history.

I Believe America will Soon Experience Another Great Awakening

I believe America is now in the beginning of not only a revival, but a refounding of our beloved republic land of liberty. Yes there is a push from those on the leftist dark side to derail America...

Yet Another Reason Among Many To Love Texas

Texas governor Abbot has in my opinion set the Lone Star State up for tremendous blessings in the years and decades to come. Not long ago, the Texas governor signed into law an anti boycott Israel bill that would limit those whose focus is to unjustly sanction and divest from Israel.

So You Think The Atrocities In The Middle East Are Bad Huh?

The recent stupid atrocities perpetrated primarily by Iran are horrendous. In fact, since 1979, the Iranians who stupidly gave up a great standard of living and relative freedom have been guilty of atrocities of the lowest order. Particularly, the religious nazis at the top.

We Must Not Allow The Dems To Replace Our Judeo/Christian Foundation

The Bible warned us that there would come a time when what's right would be called wrong and what's wrong would be called right. At first, very quietly, but in recent years with an increasingly bold in your face attitude the Social "injustice" left has been working and lobbying to change the classification of pedophilia, from a deviant sin and mental illness, to a sexual orientation.

No Christianity No Equal Or Unalienable Rights

The first ten Constitutional Amendments of the United States Constitution were inspired by the virtues ensconced within the word of God noted in the Holy Bible. Many of the founders, including George Washington warned of the darkness that would envelope our cities if America turned from God.

In God We Trust, One Nation Under God

Today, President Trump and many others including yours truly have high expectations for the future of our republic. But without God, America the beautiful will further devolve into a goofy second tier nation of former greatness. America, the choice is up to you.

We The People Must Prevent The Mission To Murder Uncle Sam

In the Holy Bible King Solomon is quoted "there is nothing new under the sun." Boy was his observation spot on. Throughout the annals of history, there has been an ongoing war between leaders on nations and kingdoms who desired a form of freedom and well being for their people and those who sought to control them from cradle to grave.

America Must Not Lose Her Roots

We all know that the United States of America came into being because of the brutal British monarchy of King George that provoked the colonists to rebel and seek liberty. The Founding Fathers were influenced by such great thinkers as William Blackstone who wrote the Magna Carta, the English Bill of Rights and led the Glorious Revolution.

OK What Are Aliobama And Friends Up To Now

Recently Barry Obama conducted a very underhanded meeting at the United Nations. The “former” commander in chief held a meeting with the heads of numerous countries at the United Nations.

Great Britain Is Nice But It Represents A Host Of Warnings

For the first few days we stayed at Treloyhan Manor in Cornwall, a pleasant community of some of the nicest and most hospitable people anywhere. I must admit that watching BBC News was more boring and just as politically biased as the dragon media helping the democrats trying to ruin the United States.

The Worse Situations Become More Leftists Keep Preach Tolerance

Today during the first quarter of the twenty first century, we constantly hear the clarion call from legions of political and religious leftists for more tolerance. Tolerate grown adults having sex with children, tolerate our borders being overrun by illegal border crossers, tolerate illegal border crossers costing United States taxpayers well over $250.000.000.000 billion dollars annually.

It Is Time For The Government School Cabal To Pay The Piper

Dewey and his friends wanted to rid America of the God inspired concept of rugged individualism. It emphasized you and I being free to reach our greatest potential through personal achievement. Because of the original underpinnings of such Godly principles as charity, thrift, diligence and faith America became the number one place on earth

An Historical Case For Christian Influence In American Education

The Bible plainly states “when the wicked reign, the people mourn, but when the righteous rule the city rejoices.” That is why it is easy to understand why America was on a constant uptick during her founding, formative and for many decades after.

The Bible Was Once Used As A Blessing Toward American Education

The Biblical book of Proverbs tells us that “the fear of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge” (1:7). The American Founders certainly understood this truth, and from the beginning stressed the relationship between a sound education based upon biblical absolutes and the future of this nation.

The Leftist Mission Of Destruction Must Fail

At one time, San Francisco was one of the seven most beautiful cities on earth. Visiting that onetime shining city on a hill as a young lad with my family was a most treasured affair. Although it was during the month of August, the weather was perfectly comfortable and pleasant.

With Good Roots America Can Return To Greatness

From the beginning, it was quite evident that the United States was destined for greatness. The many unique ideas espoused and argued about by the Founding Fathers would then culminate in a shot for liberty heard around the world.

The Life And Death Struggle For America

Yes there is the deep state and the swamp, but there is literally no choice but the find ways to defeat the deep state and drain the swamp. The process can begin by refusing to participate with the deep state.

Double Standards Can Lead To Double Trouble

When growing up in Cleveland during my first twelve years, life was mostly very good. As parents go, my Dad was simply the best. He was a great teacher about life, our republic and good solid principles. Dad was a firm believer in God almighty and how life is not fair, but thank God America is the land of the godly principle of equal opportunity.

The Battle Lines Have Been Drawn

Many people walk around believing that leftist media personalities, leftists Democrats, RINO Republicans and leftists in the academic fields are not literally seeking to literally destroy the United States.

Will America Again Be A Republic Of Duty Honor

Country

The Founders were absolutely correct in asserting that America would fail if it lost its Christian oriented foundation. Many so called “anti religious” government school boards have introduced five and six year old students to Satanic clubs.

Only In America The Beautiful What A Shame

They have the facts so twisted in the minds of millions of black Americans, that they prefer black people hating Islamists and others to flood into our country and have their way.

Has The Definition of Racism Been Changed?

Sometimes it can be confusing when I hear certain people like Minnesota Representative illahn Omar label the United States as racist. Of course, the bitter congresswoman is one of many vicious haters of the United States of America who are hell bent on transforming our republic into a dictatorship.

Hello Christian Ministers A History Lesson Just For You

For every rule, there are exceptions. Unfortunately, today so many Christian ministers are nothing more than politically correct stooges misleading millions of Americans when it comes to patriotism. The Lord said to occupy until I come.

America Must Not Lose Her Roots

We all know that the United States of America came into being because of the brutal British monarchy of King George that provoked the colonists to rebel and seek liberty. The Founding Fathers were influenced by such great thinkers as William Blackstone who wrote the Magna Carta, the English Bill of Rights and led the Glorious Revolution. Blackstone also created a record of common law. Thus the Founders had a good political foundation of which to build upon. But Men such as John Adams, George Washington and even Benjamin Franklin just to name a few understood the need for a higher moral standard. They knew that to realize the lofty goal of a good moral society, they must maintain connected to the source of good morality.

The founders believed that if the people remained moral and self governing, there would be no need for a cradle to grave domineering government. The Founders knew that a moral and free people would be more inclined to work, be creative, innovative and thus produce a better society. In fact, liberty which is a combination of freedom with responsibility can only exist so long as the people freely maintain it. First via an unyielding faith in our creator. Second, the teaching of his word and principles to every succeeding generation must never be stopped.

Though the fight for liberty changed the course of history, there were those who did not want liberty, seeking Providential guidance or teachings from the Bible to the young. I guess you could call them the ancestors of the democrats of today. John Marshall (1755-1835), the Chief justice of the United States supreme Court, was appointed by President John Adams and held that position for 34 years. He had been a captain in the Revolutionary War and had served with General George Washington during the freezing winter at Valley Forge in 1777-78. Marshall was a member of the Virginia ratification of the constitution. He was also a strong advocate for the teachings of Jesus Christ.

In the book America's God and country, written by historian William Federer is chronicled an encounter where John Marshall addressed those who spent five hours raging against the teaching of Jesus Christ. The Winchester Republican newspaper published the following occurrence involving Chief Justice John Marshall at McGuire's Hotel in Winchester, after he had encountered trouble with his carriage along the road. In the tavern a heated discussion arose among some young men regarding the merits of the Christian religion. The debate lasted from six o' clock until eleven. No one knew Marshall who sat there listening.

Finally, one of the youthful combatants turned to him and said: Well, my old gentleman, what think you of these things?" Marshall responded with a most eloquent and unanswerable appeal. "He talked for about an hour. He answered every 'every argument urged against' the teachings of Jesus. "In the whole lecture, there was so much simplicity and energy, pathos and sublimity, that not another word was uttered." The listeners wondered who the old man could be. Some thought him a preacher; and a great was their surprise when they learned afterwards that he was the Chief Justice of the United States. Without making ostentatious professions of religion, he was a sincere believer in the Christian faith, and a truly devout man.

Marshall, as well as most of the Founding Fathers understood that for America to be great, her people must remain morally good. They also understood, as do I that the good we seek comes through Christ who strengthens us through his word and sterling example of how to live. Unfortunately, throughout history and in our republic today, there is a sizeable number of those seeking to literally destroy our republic by calling those things that are good as though they are bad. Just as energetically they call those things that are evil good. Today's educators, democrats and activist judges are trying to replace good with evil in every aspect of society. America's founding and formation were both bathed in prayers to God almighty for his blessings, guidance, grace and mercy. Her Judeo/Christian roots cannot be denied nor allowed to be squandered away by those who prefer the evils of government tyranny, bad behaviors and evil murderous cruelties to unborn and newborn babies.

The secret to America's greatness is embedded in the beliefs and actions of We the People who are relied upon to maintain our exceptional Constitutionally limited government way of life. To do that, again we must be good and not need government over lording our lives. Freedom with personal responsibility equals true liberty, thus maintaining our republic if we are willing to maintain the faith and exercise the moral principles rooted in the one continues to bless us even now.

God bless you, God bless America and may America bless God through faith in him because he is the bottom line roots of her greatness. It Is Once Again Time For Truth Justice And The American Way

When I was growing up in Cleveland, I used to watch reruns of an old Superman television series that was produced during the 1950s. That old program exemplified a pro American attitude that was still prevalent among most Americans of every race. Government schools had not yet poisoned the minds of the majority of Americans against our republic.

It Is Time To Save American Jobs And Say Goodbye To Illegal Border Crossers

As much as I admire the president's overall zeal to protect our borders and stop illegal border crossings, I am concerned about his wrongheaded desire to increase legal immigration. Currently 1.5 million people legally immigrate to our shimmering shores annually. In my opinion, that number is too high.

Do American Females Understand What Freedom Is Or Want It?

Since I began hearing and understanding American females, the subject they most often discussed has been their rights. When I began studying the United States Constitution it was easy to understand it was for all people. In our republic turned mob rule democracy, females and other special interest groups seemingly enjoy more liberties than real men could ever dream of.

The Government Handbook

No liberty oriented government can be sustained if they refuse to properly instruct their offspring about that form of government they hope to sustain it. Our Constitutionally limited form of government has been in danger of sliding into oblivion since 1913. That is when world leaders convened a meeting on Jekyll Island off the coast of Georgia.

The Government Handbook

When it comes to our republic, the Founding Fathers left us a beautiful instruction manual. It is called the United States Constitution and Bill of Rights. It was inspired by the sound irrefutable principles enumerated in the Holy Bible as well some other influences including Blacks Law and Aristotle's Law of Identity.

Black Americans Better Wake Up Quick

Most Black Americans are being left behind both figuratively and literally. Black Americans had better wake up quick and get their heads out of the back end of the golden donkey. In addition, it is time for black Americans to stop being so bitter and complaining to high heaven.

Leftist Losers Deny God The Great Shamelessly Revere Him

Leftists throughout America are working feverishly to systematically wipe out the existence of the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. They seek to place themselves in the position of a twisted government God of ignorance, oppression, tyranny, trauma and economic despair. The self anointed leftists do not want you to understand your inalienable rights which come from God.

In God We Should Trust

Such reference to the almighty was the way of life in times of both struggle and ease. America has always been great, although there were mistakes and traumas along the way. After all, no one is perfect. But so long as the goal to strive for righteousness, both individually and as a nation remained intact, America advanced overall.

If You Don't Know Your Rights

You Don't Have Any

We know that ignorance of the law is no excuse when someone engages in illegal activity, whether they meant to or not. Unfortunately, the government does not seek to recognize or protect your right if you do not know them.

The Founding Fathers Put The Finishing Touches On The Quest For Liberty

Throughout the annals of history, there have been those who sought the road that leads to Liberty. There has been a continuous rise and fall of nations, both great and meager. For the most part, one form of tyranny replaced another with the false promise of a better way of life for the people.

Many Preachers Today Could Be Considered Great Pretenders

For the most part, ministers of early America were the real McCoy, when it came to the Gospel and insuring its great influence on society, no matter the risk. In recent decades, ministers have had a much smaller positive impact upon our republic.

America Will Either Thrive Via Liberty Or Die Under Socialism/Tyranny

Ever since the first pilgrims landed on our blessed shores there has been a constant battle between Liberty and Tyranny. Despite the obvious blessings of liberty, a combination of freedom and responsibility, there are those who do not want you to be responsible for yourself

Educating America To Death

There are few methods of literally wiping out a nation more effective, than indoctrinating the people to the point of being useful idiots. Unfortunately, many idiots grow up and are elected to political office. Or even worse, dingbat educators and professors con young Americans into undermining their own nation.

It Is Time For The Government

School Cabal To Pay The Piper

Ever since the forlorn days of John Dewey, leftists have been feverishly working to politically destroy the United States of America. Mr. Dewey and his like minded followers understood, in order to change the United States into a lesser nation under international dominance, Americans would have to be weened off of the principles that made her great. So, the gradual turning away from solid school education toward globalist-oriented indoctrination began. The evil father of the indoctrination system of government schools producing misguided fools began in earnest in the later half of the nineteenth century.

One has to ask, did Dewey and his fellow haters of God and liberty have the right to engage in their dastardly mission to destroy our exceptional nation way of life. Personally, I don't think so, but they were most certainly allowed to have their merry way to seriously infect American education with a litany of practices to harm our republic. Think about it. Today almost half of American students hate God. They are also are willing to take on the mantle of socialism, despite the horrors of it displayed in our hemisphere via Venezuela.

Dewey and his friends wanted to rid America of the God inspired concept of rugged individualism. It emphasized you and I being free to reach our greatest potential through personal achievement. Because of the original underpinnings of such Godly principles as charity, thrift, diligence and faith America became the number one place on earth, where anyone no matter their station in life had a good shot at securing success and leaving a great legacy and an inheritance for their children and grandchildren. It is pointed out in Crimes of the Educators written by Samuel Blumenfeld and Alex Newman, that what was needed was a new curriculum that emphasized socialization and taught children by a whole-word method that would decrease America's literacy level. As a result, students would become more amenable to collectivist values.

A very important question we should ask ourselves as sovereign Americans is, did John Dewey and his cohorts have a right to implement an evil plot to destroy our unique form of government? After all, it was to be a government of by and for the people, that protects our rights to Life, Liberty and the pursuit of happiness. I want to know who or what convinced Dewey and company, believe they should replace God and the unalienable rights he inspired the Founding Fathers to recognize and include in the basic fabric of what helped make the United States the envy of the world?

Today, the utopian fantasy is more worthy to educators than and a free prosperous society that makes it easier for them to be paid decent salaries. The demonic Dewey preceded tyrants like Mao Tse-tung, Pol Pot, Joseph Stalin, Fidel Castro, and other communist so-called leaders who used brutal force to impose their utopian nightmares on their entire countries killing hundreds of millions in their effort to gain total control. Let us not forget, Venezuelan dictator Nicolas Maduro who picked up where his predecessor left off in destroying what was one of the largest economies in the world. The primary reason dictatorships around the world used brutal force to subdue their citizens is because they could. Those populations either had given up their right to bare arms, or their governments never allowed the people to own firearms for their personal and property protection.

The leftists here in America during the 19th and early 20th centuries understood they could not take over our republic and turn it into a socialist hell hole. They were rightly convinced that most Americans would reject them and their communist utopianism out of hand immediately. That is why the leftists then set out to become political parasites and gradually invade every political, educational, and mainline Christian and media institution in the country. The biggest culprit in this grand scheme to destroy America from within is without a doubt, the government education/indoctrination system. It is the systematic dumming down and indoctrination efforts that have placed America at the brink of possible collapse.

I must admit, the government school educators have done a masterful job of convincing almost 50% percent of American students to desire and promote a communist way of life that would demolish the comfortable lifestyle they take for granted. The communists including the educators and professors are in league with those in government who seek to wipe out the knowledge of the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. Both the Biblical Old and New Testaments were studied by the founding Fathers who gave credit to God for our liberties and the structure leading to unprecedented opportunities for everyone. Thus, eliminating the need for any cradle to grave nanny goat government. With comparatively less government intrusion into our lives, Americans created the largest middle class in history with many opportunities to climb even higher up the ladder of success.

The time is here and now for a concerted effort to beat back the leftist anti God, anti-Liberty, anti Second Amendment, anti-Constitution and anti-true education movement. If any company or individual caused irreparable harm, they would be sued and or sent to jail to think about their deeds. I think the time is now for the educational/indoctrination system to pay for the crime of actively trying to destroy the United States from within via indoctrination. Democrats Are Literally As Dangerous For America As The Worst Foreign Enemy

Several years ago, I engaged in a rather vigorous discussion with a good friend about both politics and Christianity. He had been a life long Democrat who could not be torn away from the golden donkey. My friend blindly supported the Democrat party no matter what. He believed that Democrat party policies were good for America and that it was the policies of the Republican party were harmful to the republic. Of course I thought he had to be joking or insane to actually believe that democrats made life better for anybody, let alone the United states as a whole. Number one on the list of deceptions he bought into was how Democrats fought against racism.

I tried my best to hide any facial expression of shock over the level of profound ignorance and unwavering loyalty to the dark Democrat party. But since he was so sure that democrats were the political heroes in the battle against racism, I thought I would enlighten him to the truth. Rather than try to convince my friend by myself to believe that it was Democrats who fostered racism and other bad things, I figured I would let the quotes of famous democrats speak for themselves. President Woodrow Wilson (D) the racist father of modern day progressivism stated, "The white men were roused by a mere instinct of self-preservation-until there has at least sprung into existence a great Ku Klux Klan, a veritable empire of the South, to protect the Southern country."

Good old Mr. ("the bock stops here") Harry S. Truman (D) was an unabashed racist. He stated "I think one man as good as another so long he's not a n*gger or a Chinaman." "Uncle Will says that the Lord made a White man from dust, a n*gger from mud, then he threw up what was left and it came down a Chinaman. "He does hate Chinese and Japs. So do I, it is race prejudice I guess. But I am strongly of the opinion Negroes ought to be in Africa, Yellow men in Asia and White men in Europe and America." The number one thing that leftist liberals like to do is intimidate those he either wake up and walk away from their madness or try to prevent truth tellers from exposing the black death of liberalism.

I find it ironic that what has been front and center for all to see, has been seemingly hiding in plain sight. If one visits Baltimore, Los Angeles, Detroit, San Francisco, Detroit, a third of the east side of Cleveland, St. Louis, etc. The results of multi decade Democrat party dominance is everywhere. In the 1950's Detroit was the center of auto production and the wealthiest city on earth. But beginning in 1962 a succession of Democrat mayors starting with Jerome Cavanagh oversaw the greatest overall decline of any major American city ever recorded.

Taxes were increased and regulations against businesses were stacked up to the ceiling. As a result, Detroit the wealthiest city in America became one of the most economically challenged in North America. Like parasites, democrats moved in, took over and systematically ruined every aspect of life in the former motor capital of the world. Democrats have sought to be a destructive force wherever they seek to get involved. They were the official party of overt racism. But as time progressed and racism became frowned upon, the leftist Democrats always found different ways to bring about oppression, not just against blacks, but against whomever or wherever they could secure influence. The Democrat party has always been a party of hatred. It was Democrat party haters that were a major part of the murder of both Presidents Abraham Lincoln and John F. Kennedy. Recently elected Congresswoman Ilhan Omar said President Trump is not human. Of course, there was no outrage, even on the great FOX News.

Democrats have and continue to fight for the death of America via open borders, for United Nations and globalist domination, voting privileges for illegal border crossers, extreme environmental regulations to harm our economy, government school indoctrination against our nation, anti-Semitism, extremely high taxes and usurping the Constitution, the war against both unborn and born babies and the effort to do away with the original God created man and woman and replace it with an artificial fluid gender identity. Christian oriented principles and Providential guidance often sought by the founding fathers. If not, the United States will continue to circle the drain downward, ending up as one nation under. The Real Enemy Of Black Americans And The United States

If someone you know physically abuses you for many years, would you trust them to be a benefit to you even if they no longer beat you? I wish someone had asked black Americans that question in 1968. That was the year in which the last recorded lynching of black Americans and republicans occurred. When lying Lyndon Baines Johnson offered up his Great Society government expansion program, he said it would improve life for black Americans. But what Johnson's Great Society and let us not forget, War on Poverty turned out to be a colossal multi million dollar waste of American tax dollars. The rate of poverty for Black Americans did not decrease.

But what did decrease after the Civil Rights, Great society and War on Poverty Democrat party programs was black business ownership and the quality of education. The racist party of Bull Conner, George Wallace, the KKK, Robert Byrd and many others devised ways to bring about devastating harm to black Americans and even convinced them to both beg and vote for such madness. During the 1950s black American business ownership was as high as 41 percent. After the aftermath of the bastardized, better known as Civil Rights charade, black business ownership winnowed down to a paltry three percent level of today. Not good whatsoever.

People have often asked me why I refer to Civil Rights as bastardized Rights. While it is nice to take credit for coining phrases or a unique way of identifying a person place or thing, but in this case the recognition goes to my dearly departed Dad. When I was of eight years of age, he explained to me about the ongoing perils of what he dubbed "bastardized rights". Dad told me that the Bill of Rights recognizes our "Unalienable Rights" which come from God who created us, thus negating the authority that out of control governments like to wield over sovereign citizens. Dad was concerned that once government granted Civil Rights it could take them away. Dad was concerned that big government would grant special rights to preferred individuals, or groups that represented the political persuasion of the day. Unfortunately, he was spot on. When one studies the history of nations throughout the world where governments pick winners and losers, it is clear why we need a return to the concept of "Unalienable Rights".

Democrats remind me of parasites. They invade or move into a city, state, business, organization or whatever. In short order they begin to change the environment into of negativity. In the 1950s. Detroit was the wealthiest city in the world. Blacks moved up north to cities like Cleveland and Detroit in masse for better opportunities and to get away from the democrats in the deep south who were killing them left and right. Even when blacks throughout the south and in places like Oklahoma went along and segregated themselves from white democrats, the KKK monsters would still persecute them. They loved to burn down black owned businesses. The main reason is because, they could not stomach the thought of successful black men not needing to depend on interaction between themselves and the racist democrats for their livelihood.

After the Civil Rights era, it was no longer fashionable to lynch southern black Americans, or throw bricks at blacks if they were caught riding a bus, bicycle, or walking through certain white democrat dominated northern neighborhoods. But like snakes in the deep south or determined insects during a hot northern summer, democrats figured out new ways to force black Americans to fall to, or remain on the bottom rung of society. In fact, democrats used their mission of destruction of black American society as a petri dish political experiment on how to infect and harm America as a whole. Wherever Democrats dominate, no matter where it is, their collectivist hatred of everything good for “We the People” comes to the fore.

They hate the concept of our borders being properly walled off and protected. Democrats do not respect the precious gift of life for both unborn and newborn babies. Democrats hate American patriots. Democrats hate President Trump, because he is serious about securing our national sovereignty. Democrats hate God and are hoping to remove Him from the American consciousness. Democrats hate equal opportunity for all within a prosperous republic, because it eliminates the artificial need for them to redistribute wealth from the productive to the idle. Democrats hate America so much that they would not care if you and I were murdered by illegal border crossers. That is why despite how many Americans have been murdered by illegal border crossers, Democrats want to abolish ICE and insist upon maintaining sanctuary cities.

The democrat party is one of hate, oppression, depression, discrimination, bigotry, racism, violence against free speech, death, deviancy and utter government corruption and the murder of newborn babies for their body parts. Hopefully I have made my point about the Democrat party being an enemy of both black Americans and the United States. God bless you, God America and may America bless God. The Case For Military Intervention Or Not

The horrendous situation in Venezuela is the result of a nation of people being hoodwinked by the government and indoctrinated in government schools. It is the same pattern that has been in motion since the days of one of the original leftist bigots, John Dewey. Mr. Dewey and many others like him hated the concept of liberty for everyone and unalienable rights which come from God. The leftists are the harbingers of all the forms of oppression they could conjure up. The many varieties of oppression range from brutal physical oppression. The number of ways devised by leftists to bring about oppression is greater than the Heinz 57 varieties.

Whether it is slavery, eugenics, racism, Jim Crow, the Ku Klux Klan, the ongoing assault on our God given right of self-protection, the "I'm the boss" AOC type want to control you from birth to death. They want to take guns only from law abiding sovereign citizens. But leave criminals who invade our republic illegally alone. To do whatever they want to whoever or whatever. That is why the socialist democrats are hoping to get into position so that they can defund ICE. Officially, the Democrats support illegals, but disdain you and I who were born in and want to reestablish Constitutional influenced law in our republic.

Quite often, certain people like to say that Trump does not understand federal laws. We had been governed by so called experts for decades. As a result, our nation was on the brink of economic and sovereign death after the experts and their fearful leader Obama nearly gave our nation over to the will of our enemies, both external and internal. When it comes to foreign affairs, our government has been mostly unwise, with very few examples of good decisions. Take Venezuela for example, there is no logical reason on God's partially green earth, that one of the wealthiest countries around in our hemisphere is now one of the poorest. To add insult to injury, Venezuela represents a clear and present danger. She is now a satellite of Cuba, in hock to China, aligned with Russia. On top of that, thousands of Iranian and Cuban fighters are there to do battle, if the United States tries to physically free the Venezuelan people from their iron grip.

Personally, I believe it was retarded and almost suicidal when Obama was voted into office. But even before him, the seeds of the madness going on in Venezuela had already been sown. Ronald Reagan warned that the United States should deal with adversaries from a position of strength. He understood that enemies other than suicidal Islamic terrorists would tread more lightly against America if they knew we were powerful and willing to protect our interests. But unfortunately, for decades, the United States government refused to protect our own borders. If you are unwilling to protect you own borders, land, etc. your enemies will eventually perceive that they can get away with encroaching against you. That is exactly why Russia has constructed a military base near Venezuela, Cuba runs the place, China swaggers around acting like it owns the place and thousands of Islamic militants are there to be troublesome.

If America doesn't act in some way, we will live to regret allowing such madness to fester in this hemisphere. The question remains, to militarily intervene or not. President Trump has threatened to tighten sanctions on Venezuela, but that may be ineffective because that nation has already self destructed economically. What remains is being subsidized by Chinese loans. If there was any fear of the United States or a shred of decency, the Venezuelan regime would not be blocking international humanitarian aid for the starving people. Deadly clashes between the abused Venezuelans and government soldiers is yet another striking example of the how low leftists everywhere will go to bring arm to the people they desperately want to have complete control over.

I am normally not in favor of the United States getting entangled in foreign affairs. But in the case of the situation brewing in our hemisphere in Venezuela, there may not be any other choice. Five Americans are being held hostage. Cuba is entrenched and in the driver's seat and is very adept at out witting the United States in such matters when it comes to preventing the United States from bringing freedom to oppressed people. Cuba remains a thorn in the side communist hell hole in our hemisphere where people live blow the level of most suburban dogs in our own nation. Venezuelan dictator Madura does not care what the USA says, because he views sees her as a paper tiger unwilling and unable to end his horrendous reign of terror. With China, Russia, Iran and Cuba aligned with him, it is easy to understand why he is so cocky. I say the time is now to bring Madura's brutish hell on earth to a non-ceremonial close.

Either America Will Live In Liberty Or Die In Socialist Despair

Ever since mankind began creating cities under the wicked leadership of Nimrod, people have been devising ways to dominate over the masses via coercion, deception and controlling the sources of information and academic instruction. Nikita Sergeyevich Khrushchev was a Soviet dictator who led the Soviet Union during the Cold War. He was the first Secretary of the communist party of the Soviet Union from 1953 to 1964. He died in 1971. Mr. Khrushchev famously banged his shoe on a table and yelled, "we shall bury you". He was not saying that the soviet military was preparing to attack the United States of America militarily.

Like most dictators of ill repute, Mr. Khrushchev had a long term vision in mind when he belted out his famous threat to bury the United States. The Russians knew that battling the United States militarily would be futile. But they also understood the importance of both infiltration of the United States education system and government the United States could be easily collapsed from within. They knew that many educated idiot graduates from American universities would filter into numerous positions of influence in American politics and government school indoctrination. As a result, the American unraveling was put in motion.

The third rail of collapsing the United States from within was the elimination of solid high moral teaching and practice both in the home and in public society. The Soviets and leftists in general understood that the success of United States relied heavily on the moral state of her people. For example, a citizenry of high moral character does not need nor should tolerate an overbearing, unalienable rights inhibiting centralized government. Unfortunately, far too many Americans are not adequately equipped to even care about the current plight of inner destruction and collapse being orchestrated by those who want to control us from cradle to grave.

A population with a moderate standard of morality and common sense would not repeatedly elect a way out Maxine Waters or a Nancy Pelosi to represent them. In Virginia, 57 percent of the black population supports the shamed governor of that commonwealth after it was discovered he dressed in black face. Yet, they hate President Donald Trump. Ironically, he has never displayed racist tendencies and has cut government regulations, which has helped to produce the lowest unemployment levels for black Americans in many decades. This is a clear case of what is good being called bad, while what is bad is considered good. A sterling example of brainwash/indoctrination 101 perpetrated in government schools every single day. This evil practice has been going on for some time.

In the 1950s Senator Joseph McCarthy warned America and begged her to clean out the government infiltrators, most of whom were of the communist persuasion. Of course, similar to people in our time, he was labeled as racist a red baiter, and just too extreme. But anyone with a smidgen of intelligence and objectivity will admit that our government is and has been chock full of enemies from within for decades. Anytime a government legislative body prefers the so-called rights of illegal border crossers over the unalienable rights of "We the People" of America that is an indication of enemies from within. If that is not enough for you to be concerned, the government insistence on supporting and pushing for Americans to murder both their unborn and after birth babies is horrendous. While at the same time opposing those of us who want to stop illegal border crossings in order to preserve our unique and exceptional nation.

Government officials of both major political parties like to point out the need for more foreigners being brought into the USA to take jobs that Americans are not qualified for. Yet they ignore the glaring need to improve the quality of education, so that people born in our republic would be qualified and readily available for the many jobs that are not filled due to not enough qualified American applicants. The mission of government schools must be refocused upon educating our students to be the best they can be. No longer can our republic remain a great land of opportunity if multiple generations are convinced that taking from the productive to give to the idle is the way to go. Or that killing off our young as is practiced in mass by black Americans should be continued and expanded.

Both opportunity and life or destruction and death await our future. The choice is ours. Hopefully we choose life, not death for the greatest nation ever created. I prefer that we choose Life Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness. God bless you, God bless America, and may America bless God. The Real Face Of Racism In America

The Smithsonian Institute is a perfect example of the real face of racism in America. I have said for decades that when it comes to racism, one not need to look any further than the Democrat Party. Also, there are numerous progressive groups like the Southern Poverty Law Center where members, just like those in the Democrat party pretend to love black people. In reality the feelings of Democrats and others like Southern Poverty Law Center members are fully exhibited in the horrendous policies they continue to either foist upon or promote for black Americans. The Black American community has been decimated by the effort of racist white progressives from Margaret Sanger to Lyndon Johnson to con blacks into accepting a lifestyle that is destructive through welfare and deadly via abortion.

Other evil sub groups including academia and liberal churches that have abandoned their ordained mission of true salvation, have led literally millions of Americans (particularly Black Americans) astray from the wise council and guidance of the God who shed his grace and blessings upon our republic. In fact, many church leaders have in recent years been acting as if there was no commandment calling for us not to lie, especially concerning what is right or wrong according to God's word. It seems as if people on the progressive left have no conscience when it comes to any topic whatsoever.

I will never forget the high level of anticipation a few years ago so many people including myself had waiting to see the movie Lincoln. Because of the level of understanding I have of the life of president Lincoln and the time in which he lived, I just knew for certain there would be at least a reference to one of the greatest American historical figures, Frederick Douglas. Not only was he a widely recognized abolitionist, but arguably the greatest orator of the 19th century. Douglas overcame insurmountable odds to succeed in business, as a successful author and friend of Lincoln as well.

I stupidly thought, surely Douglas would receive a modicum of respect. I was utterly disappointed beyond belief that Frederick Douglas was not even mentioned in the movie. I could not help but laugh at the fact that the racist gaggle of progressives that created the otherwise well done movie gave focus to a historically insignificant black female who was making one of the white male characters happy in bed.

The bigoted slight against Frederick Douglas spoke volumes about what the progressive who run Hollywood, like most democrats think about great American men who happen to be black. The reason behind such a liberal oriented slight is a bit more complex than just surface level disdain or bigotry. Historically, the movie industry along with history book editors have seen fit to engage in a mission to keep from view, positive images and stories about real Black American male historical figures such as Lewis Latimer or Frederick Douglas. For another example, the media never, ever told Americans about how Lewis Latimer perfected the filament in Thomas Edison's light bulbs so they could give light for much longer than a few minutes. For the life of him, Edison could not figure it out, but thanks to the media blackout against Latimer's achievement, Edison was free to take credit for the long working light bulb.

To add insult to injury recently, the Smithsonian Institutes progressive bigots purposely omitted Supreme Court Justice Clarence Thomas from the African American Museum. After a bit of a reaction to their bigoted act, they gave him a little mention in a comment about Anita Hill. I do know that if Justice Thomas supported the harmful progressive policies that have devastated the quality of life in the American black community he would have been granted a prominent spot in the museum. I look for the soon to come day when the progressive, bigoted people and their wicked philosophy will no longer have any influence upon the black American community or our republic overall.

The progressive bigots must not be allowed to continue to wreak havoc in our nation, because they intend to ultimately cause societal demise. The results of the bigoted motive of destruction in America's black community must be reversed and not allowed to permeate the rest of our republic. Because progressive bigotry anywhere can lead to progressive bigotry everywhere. If you don't believe me, simply refer to the awful progressive inspired bigoted media coverage during the 2016 presidential campaign. No Good Deed Goes Unpunished

Throughout the twentieth and into the twenty first century, the unprovoked persecution of Christians is unrelenting, brutal and uncalled for. Whether you look at Europe, Africa, China, and particularly in the middle East, Christians are either bullied, beaten, burned, enslaved or chopped up. Increasingly in the United States Christians are unfairly treated in the legal system and the dragon media. The government school education system continues to indoctrinate generation after generation of American students against Christianity, as well as our Constitution, Bill of Rights and Free Market Economics. All have which been great blessings in the effort to improve human living conditions.

It seems as if non-Christians and hateful leftists of all stripes throughout earth have no fear when it comes to mistreating Christians, just because they feel like it. To be fair, many Christians are partially to blame for the sick situation they find themselves in. The word of God says to turn the other cheek if someone smites you on the cheek. But it does not say to simply expose all four cheeks for your enemies to freely abuse. After all, we have the unalienable right of self, family and property protection, our unalienable rights come from God and are recognized on our Bill of Rights.

I believe that Christians all over the world have spent so many centuries turning cheeks, that they either lost or have forgotten the ability to fight back. They rarely even put up a good fight in the Middle East against Muslims who capture their little boys, rape them and then force them to join terrorists on the battlefield. Yet there are not many comparable pushbacks from Christians. There are few exceptions of course, such as in Poland and Georgia where Christians fight back and will pray for you after the fact. Catholics have been considered to be close allies of Christians because of a shared belief in Jesus Christ. But you would not know that today if the actions and attitudes of the Pope Francis were given a bit of scrutiny. He is philosophically more aligned with the Muslims who are religiously instructed to kill non Muslims and enslave the blacks, than with the Christians who no longer enslave anyone and introduced to mankind unalienable rights and Liberty.

Pope Francis's Islamic friends in the Middle East regularly trap Christians in their churches and unmercifully burn them to a crisp, because they call on the mighty name of Christ Jesus. The Pope's continued policy of appeasing Muslims has only strengthened their resolve to remain bigoted brutes seeking to kill, steal from and destroy Christians. Currently, there are 245 million Christians being persecuted on a regular basis throughout the world, simply because of their chosen faith. Many of the blessings currently enjoyed throughout the western world, particularly in the United States and Western Europe and Singapore came about via the principles enumerated in the Holy Bible. Knowing that only magnifies the heartbreak I experience observing the world continuing to ignore the plight of Christian suffering today.

According to a recent report I read in Newsmax, the Christian population in Iraq is less than half of what it was in 2003. The Syrian Christian community has been reduced by half since 2010. There were almost 5,000 Christians murdered in 2018 because of their choice to love and follow Christ. Both Christian and Catholic doctrine today forbid killing people that do not believe as they do. Thus, I find it disturbing that Pope Francis is friendlier toward Muslims who murder Christians, than he is with Christians who pray for the protection of little babies from abortion.

Christians are literally punished for their good deeds. Involved God honoring Christians promote unalienable rights and equal opportunity and a higher standard for everyone including women, just as Jesus did when he walked the earth. Yet leftists encourage the infiltration of Muslims into our republic who believe that Allah made women to be second class citizens who can be beaten for even minor infractions. In fact, Islamists disdain communities that highly esteem women. To them, allowing women equal footing with men undermines their position in the home and society.

Both the United States and to a lesser degree, western Europe would not have become the wealthy societies of opportunities had they not instituted varying degrees of Christian principles. The United States became the envy of the world and even had the best education system on earth. Of course, there was a reliance upon the teaching of moral absolutes, true history, unrestricted scientific pursuits, math, and proper English, etc. If Christians are to regain our status as a blessing to society, we must stop allowing ourselves to be victims of bigots who seek to stamp Christianity out of society. Yes, we must pray for our enemies. But nowhere does it say that Christians are to only pray for those who try to physically harm us, because we have the God given right to protect ourselves. Nor should we accept unconstitutional restrictions against our public Christmas displays among other traditions.

Above all as Christians we must always seek Providential guidance and wisdom as did the Founding Fathers and many other great Americans like Frederick Douglas. It worked for them and it will most certainly ensure that we overcome those who are foolish enough to mistake us for doormats. God bless you, God bless America and may America bless God. Our Great American Heritage

When it comes to the United States of America, in the beginning were formed 13 colonies by people seeking freedom from the tyranny of the cruel King George. There were Pilgrims who wanted to worship and recognize the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. They sought a relationship with God without interference from dominating government approved religious bullies who would not have recognized God if they had tripped on his toes. After the Pilgrims finally began making a successful go of it in the New World, people from throughout Europe packed their belongings and shipped out to what would one day become the sweet land of liberty.

In time, the people throughout the colonies had enough of being bludgeoned, shot, hung, robbed and even raped by the British brutes who deemed the colonists as less than them. Eventually there was formed what became known as the Continental Congress. The continental Congress passed the resolution calling for independence on July 2, 1776. On July 4th the formal Declaration was adopted. This illustration reproduces the formal Declaration engrossed on parchment, probably by Timothy Matlock of Philadelphia, then signed by most members of Congress 2, 1776.

When in the Course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitles them.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal. That they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights, that among these are life, Liberty and the pursuit of happiness...

We, Therefore, the Representatives of the United States of America, in General Congress, Assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions. And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes, and our sacred Honor. After every one of the delegates had signed the Declaration of Independence, Samuel Adams then proclaimed.

"We have this day restored the Sovereign to Whom all men ought to be obedient. He reigns in Heaven and from the rising to the setting of the sun, let His kingdom come".

On July 3, 1776, delegate John Adams expressed his ideas about forever preserving the remembrance of the historic God inspired mission to establish the first nation in human history dedicated to our creator. "The second day of July, 1776, will be the most memorable epoch in the history of America, to be celebrated by succeeding generations as the great anniversary festival, commemorated as the day of deliverance by solemn acts of devotion to God Almighty from one end of the Continent to the other, from this time forward forevermore.

On July 3, 1776, the day after Congress approved the wording of the Declaration of Independence, John Adams wrote to his wife of great faith, Abigail, reflecting on what he had shared in Congress and, with prophetic insight, declaring the importance of that fateful day.

"I am apt to believe that it will be celebrated by succeeding generations as the great anniversary Festival. It ought to be commemorated, as the Day of Deliverance, by solemn acts of devotion to God almighty. It ought to be solemnized with pomp and parades, with shows, games, sports, guns, bells, bonfires and illuminations, from one end of this continent to the other, from this time forever.

You will think me transported with enthusiasm, but I am not. I am well aware of the toil and blood and treasure that it will cost to maintain this Declaration, and support and defend theses States. Yet through all the gloom I can see that the end is worth more than all the means; that posterity will triumph in that day's transaction, even though we [may regret] it, which I trust in God we will not.

That dear reader is a small sample of our great American heritage of a relationship with our loving Creator, our inalienable rights which come from Him. In future columns I will be highlighting many more examples of our Heritage. In addition, the importance of reestablishing and maintaining the values, customs and godly principles that made the United States the Envy of the World will be often highlighted. My Dad used to say that our government is a reflection of "We the People".

He was right, after all "We" elect our representatives. Overall as our collective morality declines because of a blockheaded refusal of the light of our Savior Jesus, government officials like Nancy Pelosi will remain in position to push the darkness of destruction over our republic. I for one know, that we must not give in to the leftist darkness, no matter how difficult the challenge to restore the order according to God's will and purposes. Like the Gipper Ronald Reagan said, we win, they lose. Amen to that. Let's talk about it via The Ron Edwards Experience every Friday at 4 PM ET, 1 PM PT emanating from flagship station KCKQ AM 1180 Reno, Nv., also via americamatters.us and SHRmedia.com. The Ron Edwards Experience airs Sundays at 12 AM midnight via the TalkAmericaRadio network. I also Blow Away the Myths and reveal the Truth via The Edwards Notebook commentary now airing on 150 radio affiliates during the weekend overnight Captain's America Third Watch talk show. Together through God's grace we can and will rebuild America.

The Real Mission Of The Democrats And RINOs

From the moment democrats fooled black Americans into thinking that was the political party for them, it has been down hill ever since. As much as I despise the evil philosophy that political party promotes, I point out their ability never waiver from their malicious goals. From the beginning, the democrat party stood for oppression of one kind or another.

Of we all know about the Democrat party leaders historic hatred of blacks, especially the men and like Muslims only saw them as slaves or to be denied a decent life. Then of course there was Jim Crow and the Eugenics practices. The democrat party hits just kept coming through various cruelties, lies and horrendous political practices.

The democrats remind me of a plague of evil that circulates throughout different locations and brings nothing but a lowering of living, moral, economic, governmental, educational, religious and even entertainment standards. In the United States, wherever democrats have a long term stronghold, the standard of living deteriorates much faster than by any other organization or cause. Yes, there are the George Soros's of the world and other enemies of the United States working to destroy our beloved republic. But truth be told, if those enemies did not have such a good friend in the democrat party, they would be obscure entities, not the major threat to America they are today.

Another big ally of the democrat party is Planned Parenthood. As it became illegal and later out of fashion to directly brutalize black Americans, democrats were hell bent on finding other methods to harm blacks. The Negro Project, a superior and most informative book written by Bruce Fleury chronicles the history of democrat party friend, Margaret Sanger's Diabolical, Duplicitous, Dangerous, Disastrous and Deadly Plan for Black America chronicles the dastardly mission of democrats against black Americans. Unfortunately, the democrat party has grown to become a multi-faceted harbinger of evil intentions against the United States as a whole. In every possible endeavor, be it taxes, border security, American cities, schools, religious liberty, the two sexes created by God, the Constitution, etc. the democrats have fought to enact policies that lead to destruction.

Unfortunately for several decades, the democrats and their allies have not been adequately challenged. In fact, they have had their way so long that they still do not accept the fact that Mrs. Clinton lost to Donald J. Trump for the presidency two years ago. Their hatred against Trump is not rooted in rational thought or legitimate complaints. But rather the hatred emanating from democrats toward Trump and patriots in general is steeped in their leftist/globalist ideology. When trump stood up to the United Nations, China, and European allies who had been refusing to pay their fair share for their own protection it infuriated democrats and rino republicans. The reason being, is that the democrats and rinos do not like anyone, including Trump campaigning on America First policies. But Trump battling to overcome the Soros, Stein, United Nations and democrat party cabal that has been undermining our republic by every way possible was too much for them to handle.

How else would you explain, Nancy Pelosi, Chucky Schumer and many others preferring the wants and desires of illegal border crossers over the unalienable rights of you and I to live in peace and tranquility in our own republic. It is not surprising, that the same democrat political party that has orchestrated a multi decade mission of destruction against the black American community is now working with others to open the door of destruction against America. For example, while the democrat majority is calling for higher economy harming taxes for us Americans, the IRS is giving major unearned refunds to illegal border crossers that the democrats want to keep pouring into the United states to our detriment. Why else do you think democrats are ok with spending $166 billion tax dollars annually on illegals, but have refused to approve any money for better border security that includes a wall. Oops, I forgot, Nancy Pelosi did offer one big fat dollar.

Bottom line is, the democrat party is a very dangerous institution consisting of members, both old and young who are out to undermine our nation by infiltrating everywhere and destroying her from within. What they have done to the American black community they seek to do inflict upon our entire republic. If the conditions now dominate throughout the black American community becomes common everywhere, America will collapse. He United States of America is worth fighting for. But we will not rescue and restore her unless "We the People" seek Providential guidance and reestablish the great values, principles and work ethic that made her the onetime envy of the world. God bless you, God bless America and may America bless God. Hopefully America Will Avoid A New Dark Age

Sadly millions of Americans are so indoctrinated ,they prefer open borders and whatever negative results over a secure border with a wall component where applicable. The history of mankind is replete with periods of advancement, followed by tough times due to a turning away from God, good solid principles, common sense and innovation. After the fall of the mighty Roman Empire, European life declined dramatically in all sectors ranging from the form of government to personal hygiene. Europeans devolved into a backward Dark Ages that produced a lower standard of living and a shorter lifespan than what the ancient Romans experienced.

It was not until the reawakening years during the great Renaissance that Western Europeans began to experience a rejuvenation of intellectual pursuits, new inventions and the classical music we still enjoy today. Of course, time passed and eventually the search for liberty led individuals to search for new lands to live as Christians away from the bootheel of brutal European king tyrants. Many people throughout Europe sought a relationship with our heavenly creator through his written word. They wanted a personal relationship with God, instead of what the Catholic Pope was telling them or allowing them to read, they began to expect and seek a better way of life.

Hence, many pioneering brave souls, particularly the Pilgrims were driven by a burning desire to create a Biblically based society of liberty. Through much effort and learning from foolish mistakes, the Pilgrims laid the groundwork for what would eventually become the greatest nation of all time. As I have mentioned in numerous columns and The Edwards Notebook radio commentaries throughout the years, it was an unyielding faith in Yaweh and his Providential guidance that encouraged the founders of this republic to inspire men toward personal greatness and a higher moral standard.

People came to understand that men prospered more in an environment where they were free to rise by their own efforts or fall by their mistakes and tempered by a high moral character. Those coming out of the dark Middle Ages eventually understood that when men are free to pursue the fulfilment of their God given destinies, there would be many more instances of success. Thus, the new age of enlightenment and spiritual growth ushered in unprecedented levels of personal opportunities and societal advancements.

There is an old saying that you can either be bitter or better after enduring hardship, real or imagined. People ranging from the Pilgrims to the Founding Fathers and beyond refused to maintain a bitter attitude toward their European oppressors and held a forward focus toward a positive future. Such a wise approach prevented hateful bitterness to foster the duplication of the problems the Pilgrims escaped from and the Founders fought against. For centuries, many people suffered the wrath of the mighty Roman Empire. Rightfully so, they were not happy about it. But during the waning days of Rome as a dominant entity, not one other society arose to present something better. What followed the Roman Empire was a period of both mental and spiritual digression coupled with brutal oppression by bitter brutish overlords and kings.

In our own republic, there have been periods of great advancements and a few backward steps as well. One of the most noted American tragedies was the era of slavery. Of course, slavery was a world wide phenomenon. But bitter American leftist democrats focus on slavery, past racist/democrat party practices as if they never stopped. Unfortunately, many people neglect to recognize that the slavery and other evils of the past are just that and have for decades refused to move on and take advantage of the many great opportunities that avail themselves to all who seek to achieve in this life. As a result, entire communities have bought into the demonic lies of continued oppression and to this very day support policies, rulings and principles that are not only detrimental to their own progress, but if unchecked will destroy our entire republic.

If most Americans adopt the mindset of those who have for decades followed and existed via the bitter stupefying philosophy dispersed to urban ghetto dwellers, America will cease to be great permanently. "We the People" must fight to avoid the awful temptation to be bitter over past injustices or even current issues that can be overcome. Frederick Douglas once suffered the indignities of slavery. But chose to obtain freedom and secure greatness through achievement, not bitterness or the dark age mentality of no personal growth. Thus, there is no excuse other than death or an addle brain for you and I to succumb to past or present trials. A nation is only as great as her families, moral practices, beliefs and the thinking of her people. The Bible says, "As a man thinks so is he". Collectively that applies to a nation as well. Together we can avoid a dark age of doom for our nation if will enlighten ourselves with the truth that can lead to the rebirth of our exceptional shining city on a hill republic.

Hold The Line Mr. President

Ever since then presidential candidate Donald Trump rode down the Trump Tower escalator to announce his candidacy for president, he has faced an unrelenting onslaught of hate filled attacks. Not because he ever committed wrongful acts against or toward his political opponents or anyone for that matter. But the cruelty continues, because he unlike any president, save the Gipper Ronald Reagan, President Trump has from day one of his presidency sought to govern on behalf of "We the People". From the outset the president has demonstrated a clear understanding of the importance of following through on his pledge to protect the United States and defend the Constitution.

It used to be that if a person assumed a position, they would be lauded for doing their job and getting great results. It would seem, that president Trump would be thanked for trying to make sure that our borders are secure and going to bat for our national interests. But in many circles within our republic, sadly that is not the case. Thanks, but no thanks to decades of state planned government school indoctrination and abolishing good moral principles, the immorality of hating those who appreciate America is now commonplace.

Recently elected government school brainwashed Rep. Ocasio Cortez claimed that "illegals are more American than Trump". The non-partisan issue of border security has been sifted through the sieve of leftist political games, twisted lies and obstruction for decades. As a result, supposedly the world's mightiest nation is being picked clean by legions of vulturelike belligerent and ungrateful illegal border crossers. Most them would slit your throat as easily as batting their beady little eyes. Even some law enforcement personnel are more focused on serving, honoring and protecting illegal border crossers than the sovereign Americans who pay their salaries. It was not long ago when the LA County sheriff threatened to physically remove ICE agents from county jails in order to protect illegal border crossers. Many of them have raped, cut to pieces, burned to death and stolen from American sovereigns for the sport of it.

Democrats are desperately trying to seal the doom of our republic with permanent open borders just to be able to destroy the Trump presidency. President trump has for many years lamented the horrible trade deals that have literally robbed trillions of dollars from our economy. Donald Trump's America First agenda is what is most needed in order to help reconfigure into the mindset of people in this country the importance of maintaining our republic for now and future generations. The Donald understands that without an America First mentality, our republic will not remain in a position to be a blessing or positive example to other nations. Like it or not, the United States of America was established to be a positive example to the world. Not the feeding trough of the planet.

When Nancy Pelosi and Chucky Schumer gave a poor imitation of Ma and Pa Kettle when they lied like rugs about the border situation and the meeting they had with the president, their dark hearts were fully revealed. Nancy, Chuckie and most political democrats are so filled with demonic hatred of Life Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness that they are willing to help illegal border crossers to come into our republic to kill steal and destroy. The democrats are fully aware that open borders are destructive, they said so in 2003 and 2006. Just this year alone, another 40,000 pounds of drugs were intercepted on the Rio Grande River on our Southern border. Democrats howled about family separation of families that voluntarily travel from Central America to our border and invade illegally. But not one of the leftist democrats uttered and ounce of concern or empathy toward the American families that are permanently separated from their loved ones who were murdered by illegal border crossers who came I to our republic illegally.

On a daily basis, there are rocks hurled at the heads of border patrol agents, local sheriffs and police officers by brutal foreign bullies on the Mexican side of the border. Quite often, the invaders curse America, our president and our way of life, then wonder why the intelligent among us refuse to welcome them with open arms. I could go on for days, but I pray that I have made a good case for protecting our borders and for thanking God for a president who appreciates this republic and despite the globalist onslaught, continues to battle for our national interests.

Mr. President, thank you for standing up for our great nation. May God strengthen, protect and encourage you and your family. God bless you, God bless America and may America bless God.

American Heritage 101

When it comes to the United States of America, in the beginning were formed 13 colonies by people seeking freedom from the tyranny of the cruel King George. There were Pilgrims who wanted to worship and recognize the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. They sought a relationship with God without interference from dominating government approved religious bullies who would not have recognized God if they had tripped on his toes. After the Pilgrims finally began making a successful go of it in the New World, people from throughout Europe packed their belongings and shipped out to what would one day become the sweet land of liberty.

In time, the people throughout the colonies had enough of being bludgeoned, shot, hung, robbed and even raped by the British brutes who deemed the colonists as less than them. Eventually there was formed what became known as the Continental Congress. The continental Congress passed the resolution calling for independence on July 2, 1776. On July 4th the formal Declaration was adopted. This illustration reproduces the formal Declaration engrossed on parchment, probably by Timothy Matlock of Philadelphia, then signed by most members of Congress 2, 1776.

When in the Course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitles them.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal. That they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights, that among these are life, Liberty and the pursuit of happiness...

We, Therefore, the Representatives of the United States of America, in General Congress, Assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions. And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes, and our sacred Honor. After every one of the delegates had signed the Declaration of Independence, Samuel Adams then proclaimed.

"We have this day restored the Sovereign to Whom all men ought to be obedient. He reigns in Heaven and from the rising to the setting of the sun, let His kingdom come".

On July 3, 1776, delegate John Adams expressed his ideas about forever preserving the remembrance of the historic God inspired mission to establish the first nation in human history dedicated to our creator. "The second day of July, 1776, will be the most memorable epoch in the history of America, to be celebrated by succeeding generations as the great anniversary festival, commemorated as the day of deliverance by solemn acts of devotion to God Almighty from one end of the Continent to the other, from this time forward forevermore.

On July 3, 1776, the day after Congress approved the wording of the Declaration of Independence, John Adams wrote to his wife of great faith, Abigail, reflecting on what he had shared in Congress and, with prophetic insight, declaring the importance of that fateful day.

"I am apt to believe that it will be celebrated by succeeding generations as the great anniversary Festival. It ought to be commemorated, as the Day of Deliverance, by solemn acts of devotion to God almighty. It ought to be solemnized with pomp and parades, with shows, games, sports, guns, bells, bonfires and illuminations, from one end of this continent to the other, from this time forever.

You will think me transported with enthusiasm, but I am not.

I am well aware of the toil and blood and treasure that it will cost to maintain this Declaration, and support and defend theses States. Yet through all the gloom I can see that the end is worth more than all the means; that posterity will triumph in that day's transaction, even though we [may regret] it, which I trust in God we will not. That dear reader is a small sample of our great American heritage of a relationship with our loving Creator, our inalienable rights which come from Him. In future columns I will be highlighting many more examples of our Heritage. In addition, the importance of reestablishing and maintaining the values, customs and godly principles that made the United States the Envy of the World will be often highlighted. My Dad used to say that our government is a reflection of "We the People".

He was right, after all "We" elect our representatives. Overall as our collective morality declines because of a blockheaded refusal of the light of our Savior Jesus, government officials like Nancy Pelosi will remain in position to push the darkness of destruction over our republic. Beware Of Those Seeking To Rule Over You

When I was a little boy growing up in Cleveland, my Dad often talked to me about the importance of knowing what our rights are and protecting them. He would tell me things like “what good is owning an automobile if I was not willing to learn how to both drive it and maintain it”. When it comes to the United States of America one could say if the people are not aware of their unalienable rights, it is as if they do not have any. At one time, most Americans were taught from childhood about the importance of understanding what our nation is, what makes her exceptional and how to maintain our unique constitutionally limited republic.

United States founding father Thomas Jefferson stated, “if you don’t know your rights you don’t have any”. One of the massive failures of our society is the preponderance of weakness in the area of compromise. Instead of passing down the important elements of maintaining the many great components of our republic, leftist dominated government school indoctrination centers have methodically brainwashed generations of students. As a result, nearly half of all millennial generation students prefer their unalienable God given rights to be replaced by oppressive socialism and communism.

The big devil in the details are the elitists and their democrat party allies who do not believe in people exercising their right to live for their own sake. That is why such leftist luminaries like New York Governor Andrew Cuomo who launched a massive blacklisting campaign against the National Rifle association. Cuomo’s campaign caused the NRA to endure very tough financial woes. If Cuomo and other elitists have their way, the NRA will never be able to produce its magazines or run its video streaming service. Leftists like Cuomo, George Soros and others are hoping that you would be stupid enough to allow your unalienable right of self-protection to be done away with via lies, backroom exhortations, and public threats.

Whenever there are tragic shootings in gun free zones around government schools, Americans are inundated with twisted tales of how dangerous guns are and that they must be give up, etc. etc. But what bothers me infinitely more than the lies, are the increasing numbers of Americans who are willing to fully endanger their families and themselves by joining in the dangerous and evil mission to disarm "We the People.

It just seems that the more students attend the indoctrination centers known as colleges, the more foolish our republic becomes. You may not have noticed, but the more secular society has evolved, the less creative music, literature is. Also, there is less general kindness and above all, less wisdom. How else can one explain a population of dolts who actually believe it is bigoted, racist and mean spirited to simply want to protect our national sovereignty by building a border wall to keep out illegal border crossers. Such madness is only eclipsed by the desire of those who wish to take away our right to own and bear arms. Because if the Second Amendment is abolished or simply watered down, we all will face a double edged clear and present danger from abusive criminals in government and those wondering the streets.

To reestablish the concepts of liberty and the right of self-protection, "We the People" must without wavering stand and push back against the darkness of tyranny. To insure, that our Liberties remain intact, we must repeatedly teach them to our children. What is taught to one generation dictates the direction the nation takes in the next. Beware of those who run for political office and seek to destroy your right to bear arms. Beware and be strong, for the liberties and the republic you save may be your own. God bless you, God Bless America and may America bless God. Be blessed during The Ron Edwards Experience talk show Fridays at 1:00 PM PT, 4:00 PM ET via americamatters.us, SHRmedia.us and Spreaker and also 12:00 AM Sunday ET via the Talk America Radio Network.

Both America And The Christian Church Must Choose Economic Life

For many centuries long before the founding of the United States, many leaders have taken the wrong approach regarding finances. Leaders in both the Christian church and America in general have dropped the ball regarding money and personal wealth. Long before Marx spread his evil political and economic concepts, many wondered if God favors free enterprise or communism. Many church leaders foolishly preach against money and wealth as if they are evil spirits. For centuries throughout Europe the Catholic church convinced members to accept poverty as their lot in life. But yet, the church never missed an opportunity to guilt many poor believers into handing over their meager coins to fund the building of opulent cathedrals.

The bishops, cardinals, etc. did not usually participate in the lowly existence they preached over their gullible attendees. Funny thing though, God created the earth with mind boggling levels of wealth. The Bible states that wealth belongs to God, but man, is steward of it. "Not just government or church officials." The word steward means to be a responsible administrator of the owners property. We are all stewards of some possessions and influence. In earlier Biblical times Joseph was practically Potipher's steward, and later became Pharaoh's chief minister. He himself had a steward over his own house, Genesis 39:4,5; 44:1,4).

God gave us silver, gold, minerals, oil uranium, and numerous other symbols of wealth. From Genesis to Revelation, the Bible refers to silver and gold more than 700 times. Gold is mentioned in the scriptures more often than any other metal. The word money refers to silver and gold, which were used for currency in Biblical times. In the King James Bible, gold is mentioned 417 times and silver 320 times. In our own republic, the wealth would be better preserved if our monetary system was again based on something tangible like silver or gold. Thus, it would help prevent the printing of deficit building fiat money with no intrinsic value.

True wealth includes gold, silver, precious stones, material goods, natural resources and wise creativity. Creativity is considered wealth because it is one of the main sources of witty inventions, technology, scientific advances, art literature and good music. Today we constantly hear and read about economics. Economics is the observance of how people choose to use resources. It explains the production and consumption of goods and the exchange and transfer of wealth for producing and obtaining goods. Economics describes the interacting of people within markets to get products or services they need to accomplish particular goals. Since economics is a driving force of human interaction, studying it can reveal why people and governments behave in certain ways.

Many people either in government or the church are through indoctrination stiff necked against free market economics. They often portray a disdain for money. But they never fail to pass the old church collection plate, or in government tax us way too much. In fact, wealth was originally God's idea. In the book "Was Jesus a Capitalist, by Jennifer Clark", she reminds us of the two major forms of economics.

1. Microeconomics considers the actions of individuals and industries, such as the dynamics between buyers and sellers, borrowers and lenders.
2. Macroeconomic analyzes the economic activity of a whole nation or the international marketplace. This history of macroeconomics reveals how much economic theory and practice has changed from ancient times to present day.

Throughout history there have been several major economic systems or persuasions among them was 1.) Manorialism: (400 AD-1400AD It was a political, economic and social system in Middle Age Europe. A manor consisted of a large main house for the lord of the manor, one or more villages and up to several thousand surrounding acres. Manors, not villages were the economic and social units of life in the early Middle Ages. Peasants were tied to the land under control of the lord. By 1000 AD most peasants had become serfs, or semi-slaves, because of debt.

2.) Feudalism (800 AD-1400 AD) Feudalism was a hierarchical system in which a lord or king gave a gift or land (known in Latin as a fiefdom) to a vassal, or Knight, in exchange for protection. Because feudal Europe depended heavily on agriculture, wealth came from the land. Land ownership became a way to improve social status and become a member of the upper class.

3.) Mercantilism is an economic system in which government control of foreign trade was considered of utmost importance to ensure the prosperity and security of a state. It was based on the accumulation of gold, gaining colonies, maintaining a Merchant Marine as well as developing industry and mining for a favorable balance of trade: Wealth could only be accumulated, not created. Mercantilism was a cause of frequent European wars in that time. It was also a big motive for colonial expansion.

3.) Free Enterprise: presently in partial operation. Free Enterprise is an economic system in which private businesses are free to operate competitively for profit with minimal government regulation, interference, or subsidy. It is governed by the law of supply and demand and regulated by competition. The word capitalism was coined by Karl Marx as a derogatory term for free enterprise.

In such an environment business owners, entrepreneurs and employees are more inclined to work hard and smart to succeed. Thrift, honesty and working to be the best usually brings forth greater rewards of profits, more customers and better wages. America became the economic envy of the world by utilizing free market economics. The free market encourages personal effort, integrity, inventiveness and innovation. As a result, greater numbers of people from all walks of life have the opportunity to build a life of success and leave a legacy and inheritance for their children and children's children. I believe the free enterprise system is more aligned with Biblical principles that benefit those who wisely choose to exercise them.

Ironically the communism being sought by many indoctrinated Americans is oppressive and doesn't reward good moral behavior and the work ethic. Communism kills off the desire to work hard and smart while making everyone poor and hungry in the long run. Exhibit a is Venezuela. Observe the conditions there now, then research how that once very prosperous nation was a model of stability and opportunity. I personally believe that those who seek the truth, economic and otherwise shall soon be set free by adhering to the truth. Please join me as I Blow Away the Myths and Reveal the Truth via The Ron Edwards Experience Fridays at 4:00 PM ET, 1:00 PM PT on KCKQ AM 1180 Reno Nevada and worldwide via SHR Media and

Christmas Memories And Joys Of The Season

One of my favorite songs of the Christmas Season that exemplifies one of the premier attributes of this time of year is Give Love on Christmas Day by the Jackson Five. The title says it all. When hearing the melodic harmonies of that and numerous other Christmas Season ditties, I am reminded of the wonder years of my childhood in Cleveland. During the first twelve years of my life, our neighborhood was a joy to live in. Our neighbors were such good friends and in some cases were closer to us than a few family members. It was a tight knit community filled with good people from numerous ethnic backgrounds. There were Polish, French, American Indians, Italians, Jewish and Black families.

Despite the various backgrounds, the one thing we all considered ourselves was Americans and except our good Jewish friends, we were either Christian or Catholic. On Independence Day, Memorial Day, Flag day, Veterans day and on numerous other occasions, most residents in our neighborhood at almost every house flew old glory's stars and stripes of red white and blue. It was an impressive site to see. For most of the time, it was a good life throughout the year. But it all paled in comparison to my favorite time of year, from Thanksgiving Day until New Years Eve, otherwise known as the Christmas Season. Even a couple of weeks before Thanksgiving one could sense the change in the atmosphere as the most wonderful time of the year was approaching.

I will not lie to you, as a child I did look forward to gift giving and the receiving of Christmas gifts. But Christmas to me was so much more than that. Our generation was just a hare's breath before politicly correct leftist grinchies banned the celebration of Christmas in government schools. I will never forget how every Christmas season at Parkwood elementary the student body made Christmas ornaments for the big Christmas tree displayed in the school lobby. We were so proud because it was our school Christmas tree that residents either walking or driving by our school would see shimmering under a shower of light emanating from ceiling spotlights. It saddens me to witness the cold sterile interpretation of this special time of year thus denying millions of American students the unbridled joy that used to be associated with Christmas by most sovereign American.

As a little boy, it was usually great to hang out with my Dad, but from Thanksgiving until just after Christmas, was simply wonderous. The week leading up to Thanksgiving after school I gleefully helped Dad decorate the outside of our home. It was usually cold, but we did not care. After all, as dear old Dad put it, the lights, the Christmas tree and all the decorations were simply a part of the overall celebration of the birth of our Lord and savior Jesus Christ. If you are wondering, old St. Nick was highly regarded as well. Just as we were decorating our home, so were most of our neighbors. There were friendly rivalries home decorating rivalries between many neighbors to see who would have the most spectacularly decorated house. The results were nothing less than blocks and blocks of Christmas inspired displays of twinkling lights, nativity scenes and Santa Clauses everywhere.

I truly miss the Christmas carolers strolling throughout the old neighborhood bringing song and merriment. Dad would always have hot cocoa and cider for those bringing the sound of seasonal merriment to our front door. Another huge highlight of the Christmas Season while growing up in Cleveland was to go downtown, either via transit train or motorcar. The Christmas displays were mind blowing, especially when compared to the mostly watered down less imaginative displays seen today. The eight department stores were themselves literally turned into wonderlands that I sometimes thought were inspired by God himself. One of my favorites was Sterling Linder Davis where they displayed literally the worlds largest indoor Christmas tree that was taller than the Rockefeller Christmas tree in New York City. The ornaments on that mega tree were the size of beach balls. The massive crowds of Christmas shoppers added to the delightful atmosphere in downtown Cleveland. My sister and I used to joke about being able to jump up and be carried by the crowds because they were so thick.

But despite the hugeness of the crowds, the mile long shopping district on Euclid Avenue between Cleveland's Public and Playhouse squares that rivaled Chicago's magnificent mile, people were very friendly and seemingly as excited about the Christmas Season as I was. At the age of ten I was especially inspired by the beautiful Christmas tree displays at Higbee's Department store downtown Cleveland. It occurred to me that we needed to seriously upgrade how the decorations were presented on our family tree. So, I waited until the next evening at dinner to try and convince my family that I could do a much better job by myself decorating the tree than everybody working on it together. Of course, my older sisters were not having any of that. But Dad overruled and said go for it. He later told me he thought I wouldn't do as well as I thought. But he wanted to give me a shot because he liked the fact that I wanted to achieve something and succeed or fail, I deserved the opportunity to try because that is one of the ways people grow and learn how to accomplish things. After successfully decorating that tree, it was my duty from that year on. My inspiration was well founded.

My childhood Christmas memories of gatherings with family and friends will forever be etched in my mind as among the best times of my entire life. The pure love and joy of the Christmas Season was so strong, that even our Orthodox Jewish neighbors would visit and share in our love of God and one another. In our house, Dad made sure that my two older sisters and I fully understood the real meaning of Christmas not only in words, but in deeds as well. Usually after the traditional early morning Christmas prayer, the opening of gifts and a fantastic breakfast, Dad would summon us to get dressed for an excursion. By afternoon, Mother would make sure my sisters and I were ready to join Dad in the family car for our Christmas afternoon outing.

Before long, Dad had driven us to either a friend or relatives house that were in a difficult way and weren't able to fully engage in the blessings of the Christmas season. Not only would Dad have gifts for their children, but Mother and Nana brought food they prepared for the family. Dad would ask my sisters and I to contribute a small portion of our savings along with he and Mother's share which he would discretely give to the father head of the household. When one of my older sisters asked why she had to give up some of her money for such an endeavor, he sternly said that we needed to learn about the blessings of giving. He would add "If Christ gave his life for us, then we should follow His example and give sacrificially of ourselves especially on the day chosen to celebrate his birth". Looking back on those fond memories of Christmases of long ago, I am forever grateful for Dad, who taught us through both words and deeds the true meaning of Christmas and to appreciate our republic. Those wonderful memories are too numerous for the space allotted for this column. But many more shall be chronicled in my upcoming book

So to you and yours, may your Christmas be happy and your life be filled with joy and your new year be on of new beginnings and fulfilment of your ordained purpose. God bless you, God bless America and may America bless God. Join me on Fridays on KCKQ AM 1180 Reno, Nv. and worldwide on americamatters.us, SHRmedia.com and Spreaker at 1:00 PM PT, 4:00 PM 1:00 PM ET. See you on the radio.

The Real Reason Behind America's Noble Heritage

Great men and women of renown who were a part of the emerging population of those seeking Liberty from Great Britain during the colonial period were motivated by noble ideals. Many of which centered around not having to rely upon the central government to run or dominate over every aspect of our lives. This way of thinking first emerged during the time of Moses. He was leading the children of Israel after securing freedom from Egypt. Moses was jubilant over the new life of no longer being under the abusive will of Egypt's brutal pharaohs. But he became overrun by the concerns of his three million fellow children of Israel.

Day in and day out, from early morning until late at night Moses would hear the concerns, complaints and questions of his fellow citizens. In time the huge onslaught of citizens inflicted a physical and mental stain upon him. His father in law Jethro came to the rescue with a very wise solution. He suggested to Moses that he search amongst the people and find men of good standing. He then told Moses to break the people up into groups of various sizes, depending upon the circumstances. People were learning not to depend on one central governing figure. They began to understand that Moses was not the only one with answers to the issues of life, ranging from governance to personal squabbles.

On top of that, both Moses and his brother Arron did their best to keep the people focused with gratitude toward God. After all, it was he who parted the Red Sea allowing them to make their great escape from the tyranny of Egypt. Eventually, the children of Israel faced the giants in the promised land that God told them they would be able to take from the giants in the land. At first, doubters clouded their vision and caused a major setback. In time as God had promised, the bodies of every complainer and doubter laid decaying in the desert.

As the story goes, the children of Israel grow in faith and take the land promised to them by God and the rest is history. Likewise, with our own beloved republic, it took great faith and courage for the colonists to even dare to take on the British Empire and win the land and liberty for themselves. The founders were quite familiar with the Old Testament Jewish tribes who toppled those who seemed to be more powerful than they. It was Their recognition of God's plan of true liberty that gave the American underdogs the eventual upper hand and ultimate victory. Not only for themselves, but for the benefit of all people everywhere to learn from and benefit from the principles enacted to build this shining city on a hill nation of greatness.

The word Liberty doesn't mean unbridled freedom, but rather freedom with responsibility. Meaning, just like the children of Israel, with recognized responsibility they had skin in the game. Thus, they were motivated by rational self interest, faith and the wisdom to get the job done, not just for the state, but for themselves as well. The Noble Heritage of the United States of America is ensconced in the faith, wisdom and willingness of the people to reject the concept of a bossy centralized Godless government lacking providential wisdom. On July 3, 1776, the day after Congress approved the wording of the Declaration of Independence, John Adams wrote to his wife Abigail, reflecting on what he had shared in Congress and, with prophetic insight, declaring the importance of that day.

I am apt to believe that it will be celebrated by succeeding generations as the great anniversary Festival. It ought to be commemorated, as the Day of Deliverance, by solemn acts of devotion to God almighty. It ought to be solemnized with pomp and parade, with shows games, sports, guns, bell, bonfires and illuminations, from one end of the continent to the other, from this time forward forever. In conclusion, the real reason behind America's Noble Heritage is an unrelenting faith in God and adherence to his will and wisdom. If not, our republic will slide back into utter decline and failure. The choice is ours, I pray the right choice is made. This Christmas Isn't So Jolly For Millions Of Christians

As we in America prepare to celebrate the birth of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ and the annual visit from St. Nick, there are many who suffer and die because they celebrate the Reason for the Season. I find it Ironical that the same people continuing to pine away for migrants who want to break into our republic do not give a Tinkers dam about the literal multi million victims of Islamic brutality against Christians. They also turn a blind eye toward the 27 million black people who are enslaved by vicious Muslims in the Middle East and Africa.

In fact, wherever Muslims occupy a large segment of the population, they routinely engaged in political maneuvering in order to get an advantage. Then they usually find a leftist judge willing to help them through legal edict, force elements of Sharia law upon the entire population. In the state of Michigan a leftist judge recently overruled our way of life and gave permission to Islamic doctors to mutilate young girls so they would not enjoy certain pleasures when they get married. Back in the Middle East, Jihadists continue to kidnap Christian children and then often rape them and try to brainwash them into becoming terrorists.

As for adult Christians, the custom is for the Muslims to lop off their heads if they do not renounce their faith in Christ. If beheading is not the favored choice of a particular group of Muslims, then Christians who are not afraid to stand for Christ are tortured, raped or crucified. In Syria, 66 percent of Christians have been neutralized. Iraqi Christians have horrifically endured a 90 percent reduction or displacement among their decimated ranks. In Nigeria, Christians are on the brink of extinction because Muslims have made themselves judge and jury. They continue to hunt Christians down and kill them like the people who used to bump off buffalos on the great American plains.

According to legal scholar Jay Sekulow legal letters were sent to the United Nations office of Genocide Prevention. To date they have garnered almost no real effort from the globalist enterprise to combat the Islamic genocide against Christians, or the awful enslavement of millions of black Africans. I find it ironic that American leftist black activists hate America to the core and support every effort to harm our republic, primarily because of the past institution of slavery. Yet they never, ever, ever complain about or question the racist Islamic practice of slavery today. Nor do they seem offended by the fact that Muslims believe that black people have no souls and are only meant to be slaves.

The time has come for Americans to finally grow up and start pushing back against the slimy Islamic push to fundamentally demolish our exceptional nation way of life. This is a nation of laws and we must put our elected official's feet to the fire to make sure they begin to honor their pledge to uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States. If not, we could one day wake up and find it illegal to celebrate Christmas or more importantly, openly worship Christ our savior. Martin Luther King Jr. said decades ago, "injustice anywhere can lead to injustice everywhere". If you don't believe that statement, then explain why German, British, Swedish and other nations where governments turned on their own citizens and allowed Islamists to pour in and wreak havoc at will. In Great Britain, those born in that once great empire can now face harsh treatment at the hands of the government if they simply identify a Muslim in a crime they report. That is beyond crazy. But leftists will by any means allowed destroy any western society they can that ever had any Christian elements, teachings or principles as part of the makeup of their nation.

The Islamic brutes, college professors, leftist activists and politicians all understand that the rudiments of liberty and unalienable rights were derived from and rooted in both the Jewish and Christian faiths. Thus, the mad mission to extinguish the flame of Christianity and personal responsibility focused liberty is in full throttle. The brutish Islamists and national sovereignty threatening migrants are two of the major elements the power hungry leftists are utilizing to help destabilize western civilization in order to negatively change the course of history, how we live and even what we believe. We know Christmas is not so jolly for millions of Christians around the world, but if we in this republic don't get a grip on reality, we may one day not be allowed to celebrate or even say Merry Christmas here. Merry Christmas!

How Changing Definitions Can

Redefine A Great Republic

Recently I participated in a discussion about the ongoing ranker between president Donald trump and deranged CNN reporter Jim Acosta. The rather vigorous chat was on Fox 2 Detroit, where there arose in me an overwhelming sense of disappointment. The television discussion program consisted of a panel of two extreme leftists and two conservatives, one of which was me. The two hosts were two leftists as well. My disappointment was not in the political persuasion of the two leftist panelists, nor in that of the two leftist talk show hosts. For I knew of their leanings.

As the program ensued It became alarmingly clear that the political leanings of my gabfest competitors were deeply ensconced in something much more grotesque than simply a difference of opinion or even a different path toward the same goals of betterment for our beloved republic. What I witnessed was once again more evidence of a common deviant thread that has infected the very soul of so many misguided Americans. I listened while our president was called nasty names for simply trying to literally protect our nation from being overrun by illegal border crossers or talking back to an overbearing reporter devoid of any respect for the office of the president.

The word of God plainly explains about how people will call that which is good evil and that which is evil good. For example, the word nationalist. It used to be understood as being proud of one's own country. To want it to be prosperous, strong, a great place to call home and an example for other nations to emulate. But today, leftist democrats have redefined nationalism as racist, bigoted and evil for wanting to protect our sovereignty. The leftist democrats are working to redefine life and reshape it in their own globalist/leftist image.

To be honest with you, democrats have represented and fought to establish and maintain evil for centuries. According to Democrats, though they created the KKK, owned 4,000,000 million slaves, lynched blacks from trees and convinced black women to prefer welfare over having a husband in the home. Yet today they are the blacks best friend. According to Democrats illegal border crosser votes should be counted to assure victory for their tyranny promoting candidates.

Democrats believe in cheating during the election process and the vote counting must continue after the fact until they get the results they want, by finding votes in far flung places. According to Democrats, Kavanaugh should have been arrested, despite the fact they knew all along he was innocent, even before the females admitted that they lied. Of course, now they want fair justice for wacko lawyer Michael Avenatti who has been accused of domestic violence.

According to Democrats, it is more important to Make false charges of Russian collusion with Donald Trump stick than work to maintain American prosperity, sovereignty and military readiness. So far there has been no concrete evidence, but Democrats are willing to continue to spend enough money to build a border wall just to make persuade people to believe their false accusations.

At one time it was considered prudent to limit the number of legal immigrants into America to allow for assimilation and to preserve our exceptional American culture. But for today's Democrats no number of illegal border crossers is too large and that no matter how rapid the influx, no number of illegals can be an invasion of any kind.

The gospel is commonly known to mean good news about salvation and the ultimate victory over evil. But the gospel according to Democrats means the abolishment of all that is good and decent. In the Bible the devil eventually loses. But for the time being, evil Democrats never ever quit. If or when America is restored to her destiny of greatness, both conservative Republicans and people of good will must put forth an unrelenting vigorous effort toward such a goal. Then our republic will completely assume her Providentially determined mantle as that shining city on a hill nation of true Liberty and Justice for all.

Time To Deal With The Enemies From Within

Either many elected office holders in the federal government are mentally stunted, don't know nothin' and got that mixed up regarding border security, or they are trying to help the invaders. For years, an average of about 4,000 illegal border crossers have been streaming into our republic every week. It is about time that at least one of those many invasions into the United States has garnered massive attention from both the media and "We the People". But the problem is, far too many people are seemingly more concerned about the aid and comfort of those hell bent on illegally invading the United States, than protecting our national sovereignty and unique American exceptional culture.

The American Dictionary of the English Language Noah Webster 1828 edition plainly defines the word invasion. It states: A hostile entrance into the possessions of another; particularly, the entrance of a hostile army or mob into a country for the purpose of conquest or plunder, to change, or the attack of a military force. The north of England and south of Scotland were for centuries subject to invasion of England by William the Norman was in 1066. Also, an attack on the rights of another; infringement or violation. The word invasive means; Entering on another's possessions with hostile designs; aggressive. Infringing another's rights.

The word Nationalism means to simply place one's own nation in high regard, promote the well being of one's own society. To place the interest of your nation above the interest of other nations, illegal border crossers, etc. That does not mean to take advantage of other nations, but rather to prevent other countries from taking advantage of our nation. One of the prime duties of government is to protect our nation from enemies both foreign and domestic. Unfortunately, today America's most dangerous enemies are in the collegiate classroom. It is there where the likes of Eric Holder, Michelle and Barack Obama, Joe Biden, almost all dragon media news anchors, talk show hosts and reporters are completely indoctrinated to hate America and prefer globalism.

Thousands and thousands of filthy migrants are slinking toward our unprotected southern border. It is rumored that many Central American prisoners have been released and are part of the mass of individuals heading toward our republic. The fact that many people in both the Congress and the Senate are actually in favor of allowing the gooks into our republic proves that the time is now for patriots to unite and fight back. Without such an effort, the leftist politicians and Soros funded activists will continue to be emboldened in their mission of intimidation and national destruction. These enemies from within do not like this nation, our constitution, our unalienable rights which come from God, nor the God who gave us those rights.

One of the enemies from within, Mrs. Hillary Clinton recently said that "there is no reason to be civil until we win". Washed up rock and roller Madonna said she dreamed of blowing up the White House. Former attorney General Eric Holder stated "kick them when they're down." Crazy Maxine Waters screamed encouraged people to harass anybody who supports Trump. The truth is, many elected officials who are supposed represent you and I who pay their salaries are in support of the 14 thousand plus invaders who seek to poison the United States with their presence. Drug dealers, MS 13 gang members and human traffickers are among their ranks.

For those who do not know, many of our elected officials have crossed over and joined in the Cloward Piven inspired strategy to help fundamentally change America first via indoctrination in government schools. After decades of that madness, they now have millions of brainwashed Americans who accept and encourage legions of American hating villains who will wreak havoc to invade our nation at taxpayer expense to bum rush our border and file on in unvetted. I believe that one of the many evil results of the scourge of abortion has been the replacement of millions of murdered unborn Americans with illegal border crossers. Leftists and the big wig Chamber of Commerce types say we need the illegal border crossers to fill jobs. That is bunk. They mainly want the illegals here to breed, change our society and vote for democrats.

The enemies from within are out to wipe out every aspect of our Constitutionally limited form of government, our Christian heritage and national sovereignty. They also seek to decimate equal opportunity and replace it with government mandated equal results. Thus the time is here for us to become the resistance movement against those enemies from within who are plotting to literally destroy our exceptional nation way of life. Voting in good statesmen and women is a decent start, but our republic does not have a chance to remain great in the long run, unless what is taught to succeeding generations is dramatically revamped.

Almost all the enemies from within America became the detriment they are due to being indoctrinated in government school, especially University. What is taught to one generation dictates the direction the nation takes in the next. Above all "We the People" must seek Providential guidance or we try to rescue and revive our republic in vain. God bless you, God bless America, and may America bless God.

Why The Political Left Hopes You Abandon Faith In Christ

The leftist war against Christianity, common decency, America, good education, the two original genders, straight men, Trump, black Americans who left the democrat party plantation, women who appreciate their husbands, etc., etc. seems to be never ending. Of course, there actually is a good reason for that. Going all the way back to the Founding of this republic, there have been those (for example, the loyalists) who have sought to undermine the divinely inspired concept of liberty and one nation under God. For decades, much like parasites invading a healthy body to destroy it, the leftists have poisoned the government school system via indoctrination and have caused a sickening impact on the thinking processes and actions of many Americans.

Despite the preponderance of evidence to the contrary, American students in both government schools, colleges and universities have been convinced that communism is the way to go and that most of the Founding Fathers were evil non-Christian racists. But clearly there was a predominant Christian consensus in colonial America that shaped the Founders thinking and their writing of the founding documents and laws, resulting in the republic we have today, but can lose if we don't stem the bigoted leftist tide against what is good for "We the People." The Declaration of Independence identified the source of all authority and rights as their "Creator," and then accentuated that individual rights were God-given, not man made and handed out by big government. Thus, there would be no king or established religion to stand in the way of human liberty or dignity uniquely tied to Judeo-Christian ideals.

this core group of men represents the religious (Christian) sentiments of those whose shaped the political foundation of our republic. As a matter of public record, the delegates included 28 Episcopalians, eight Presbyterians, seven Congregationalists, two Lutherans, two Dutch Reformed, two Methodists, two Roman Catholics, one unknown, and three deists (those who believe in an impersonal God gave the world its initial impetus but then left it to run its course). A full 93 percent were members pf Christian churches, and all were deeply influenced by a biblical view of mankind and government.

A study of the Founders last Will and Testaments provides convincing declarations of the strong religious beliefs among so many of them. Add to that their personal writings concerning their faith in Christ, plus their leadership roles in establishing and guiding numerous Biblical societies, plus their service in active ministries, and evidence is overwhelming.

In a joint statement, John Adams and John Hancock wrote: We recognize no sovereign but God, and no king but Jesus."

Second President John Adams noted: The general principles upon which the Founders achieved independence were the general principles of Christianity...I will avow that I believed and now believe that those general principles of Christianity are as eternal and immutable as the existence and attributes of God.
John Adams, Second President

He who made all men hath made truths necessary to human happiness obvious to all...Our forefathers opened the Bible to all.

Samuel Adams, Signer of the Declaration of Independence.

"It cannot be emphasized too clearly and too often that this nation was founded, not by religionists, but by Christians; not on religion, but on the gospel of Jesus Christ".

Patrick Henry, Governor of Virginia.

“To the Supreme Head of the universe, to that great and tremendous Jehovah, who created the universal frame of nature, worlds and systems in number infinite...To this awfully sublime Being do I resign my spirit with unlimited confidence of His mercy and protection”. Henry Knox, Revolutionary war general.

This is just a minute smattering of quotes from the vast majority of the Founders who supported and encouraged including the fruitful benefits of Christian principles and a firm belief in God. Only demented determined bigoted deniers of the left continue to peddle their denials as truth to generation after generation of students in order to fundamentally change America into something more akin to Europe, China, Venezuela or anything other than the land of Liberty and Justice for all. In fact, that is one of the reasons why the Political Left hopes you abandon or reject Faith in Christ. My fellow Americans, seek ye the truth for yourself and be a part of making America greater than she has ever been. The republic you help to save could be your own. God bless you, God Bless America and may America bless God.

The Leftist Mission: Destroy America

I recently had the pleasure of viewing the Diamond and Silk movie Dummycrats. While I completely understand why the firebrand sisters titled their movie as such, when one looks into the issues at hand it is logical to conclude that the politicians are not the only dummies. Take for example San Francisco. Not many decades ago, she was known as one of the most beautiful cities on earth. The normally ideal climate of cooler temperatures and bountiful natural beauty made the city by the bay an inspiration for the musical genius of Tony Bennet who expressed in song what millions of admirers had done for many years. They left their hearts in San Francisco.

However, thanks but no thanks to the purposeful dummifying down and embitterment of millions of American students for several generations, it should no longer be shocking to learn that many indoctrinated dinks prefer squalor, ignorance, illegal border crossers and sidewalks filled with fecal matter over cleanliness, legal immigration and true knowledge. I know, you probably think I am off base. But consider the voting patterns of generations of sovereign Americans who consistently choose politicians who now deny homeless Californians needed help to find work, housing and medical care. While those same elected officials use American tax dollars to fund housing, medical care and foodstuffs for those who stream into our republic illegally.

Crazy way out Maxine Waters has been advocating for street demonstrations and harassing those who do not support illegal immigration, dirty streets, Antifa, Islamic Brotherhood and more. If the population of leftists who support the likes of way out Waters had been properly educated, Ms. Maxine would not be elected as dog catcher. The same holds true for those who cannot seem to get enough of Nancy wicked witch of the west Pelosi. She also presides over a California district where people openly poop in the streets and watch illegal border crossers receive preferential treatment while being encouraged not to assimilate into our American society.

Both Nancy Pelosi and Maxine Waters along with every democrat and some rino republicans are together working to keep America on a self-destructive path of monumental proportions. They literally hope to achieve from within, what no external enemy could ever accomplish. The migrant caravan heading toward the United States is doing so with the permission of both the rino establishment and all democrats who lie to "We the People" saying we cannot enforce our own border.

If we had worthwhile American oriented statesmen, they would tell Mexico no trade deal and Hondurans no aid until you stop allowing Honduran and other hordes from trekking through that country to our border. Unfortunately, those running security for our borders are operating as conduits for all who wants to pour into our republic, our sovereignty be damned. No country can maintain itself and sovereignty if the birthrate of illegal border crossers via the anchor baby debacle is greater than the birth rate of sovereign citizens. It was recently reported that the anchor baby birthrate in Los Angeles, California is greater than the birthrate of sovereign Americans in thirteen states. If one considers the nationwide anchor baby birthrate and the massive millions of illegal border crossers, the United States could be turned into a self-destroyed third world hell hole within the next twenty years or maybe less.

Another way the left is trying to destroy the republic from within is through over spending. Despite the record amount of revenues pouring into government coffers due to tax cut induced greater economic activity, congressional over spending has been purposely kept at two percent above the rate of tax collections. The reason is to break the United States economically. The bottom line is, The United States is the last natural barrier to an overbearing internationalist cabal like the United Nations or worse that would totally wipe the concepts strong national sovereignty, individual and religious liberty off the face of the earth. Yes, the political and religious left are literally on a mission to kill America. But, so what. I firmly believe that if like the Founding Fathers we seek Providential guidance, wisdom and be willing to fight the good fight, America the beautiful will prevail as our sweet land of liberty. It comes down to how much "We the People" are willing to do what is needed to prevent the enemies from within from killing our beloved republic. America has a rendezvous with a God ordained destiny of greatness and you can help it to come to pass. God bless you God bless America and may America bless God.

Declaration Of Independence Meant More Than Just Freedom From England

We all know the story about the Founding Fathers crafting together the Declaration of Independence. They tried until they tried out, to live in harmony with the British Empire. But being nice and trying to get along just was not cutting it. The abuses of King George were cruel and sometimes bordered on insanity. More and more, the British Empire wanted to take advantage of the prosperity the growing population of New England were achieving through hard labor and thrift. The concept of the freedom to prosper, live for their own sake and freely worship God without the Anglican church telling people to seek God their way or the highway.

To many of the Founders and settlers alike, the freedom to seek true liberty through Jesus Christ was as important, in fact more important than the other unalienable rights enumerated in the Bill of Rights. They understood that both true Liberty and freedom are derived from liberty in Christ and inspiration from the word of God. It is what gave them the principles and moral fortitude to introduce a Constitutionally limited republic. The one mistake in Judgement they made was to believe that Americans would always seek to understand and protect our unique and wonderful nation.

The Declaration of Independence was written as a proclamation to the world of their reasons for separating from England. Though the founders did not know it at the time, what they through Providential guidance started here in America was to be a shining example for other nations to adopt to liberate themselves from the shackles of tyranny, lack and false religions. The Founders were discouraged to learn about British government plans to obliterate their Christian faith which included a belief in a direct one on one relationship with their creator. They were prepared to defend 'the laws of nature and of nature's God" words that define the principle upon which the Founders stood.

The laws of nature were understood to mean the will of God for man as revealed to man's reason. However, because man has fallen and his reason does not always properly comprehend this law, God gave his law in the Bible to make it absolutely clear. Thus, it was the churches that became the primary source that stirred the roaring fires of Liberty, telling the colonists that the English government was usurping their God-given rights, and the King and Parliament were violating the laws of God.

It was the New England Ministers in particular, who were decisive in rallying the popular moral support for war against the British Crown. They energetically pressed their congregations to overthrow King George because they believed that rebellion to tyrants was obedience to God. From pulpits throughout the land, ministers recruited troops and strengthened them in battle with patriotic sermons. We could certainly benefit from having more brave ministers today, but greater details about that in an upcoming column and pages from The Edwards Notebook radio commentary.

While church leaders were well schooled in the fact that the Bible place emphasis on due submission to civil authorities (Romans 13), they noted there are also many passages that approve resistance to ungodly authority. For instance, when the apostles were commanded by the Sanhedrin to cease preaching that Jesus Christ had risen from the dead, Peter boldly asserted: "We ought to obey God rather than man" (Acts

5:29). There fore it is no coincidence that one of the watchwords of the American revolution was "No King but King Jesus." For most of the patriots, their faith gave them the courage to stand on God's word and risk their lives and properties to break the tyranny of an unjust human authority. In their Christian world view, obedience to God took precedence over country or government, and their primary allegiance was to the Lord Jesus Christ.

Thus, it was through their obedience and allegiance to God that the Founding fathers, not only wrestled their newly formed republic from the bullying British, but through God's grace and promise formed a more perfect union. Today "We the People" are blessed with the framework and widow of opportunity to reestablish and build upon the great vision of one nation under God with Liberty and Justice for all. I for one believe we together will make America greater than ever before. Truly, the American Declaration of Independence is much more than simply freedom from England. God Bless you, God Bless America and May America Bless God.

Still Overcoming Treason In America

Section 3 of Article III of the Constitution of the United States of America plainly states, Treason against the United States, shall consist only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their Enemies, giving them Aid and Comfort. No person shall be convicted of Treason unless on the Testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on Confession in open Court. The Congress shall have power to declare the Punishment of Treason, but no Attainder of Treason shall work Corruption of Blood, or Forfeiture except during the Life of the person attained.

Unfortunately, Congress never saw fit to at least reprimand the former Obama administration for operating perhaps the most traitorous term in office throughout American history. I thank God that Donald Trump overcame the deep state effort to prevent Trump from becoming president. One can anticipate an eventual dramatic change for the better to doing more to protect our national sovereignty via border protection. President Donald Trump must deal with the headache of shoring up our border safety and protection for American sovereign citizens. Millions of illegal border crossers and thousands of American hating Muslim refugees are in our streets or are living the good life at taxpayer expense. In fact, they have plenty of time on their hands to plot murder and mayhem like those who did just that on the campus of The Ohio State University and many other locales.

Numerous crimes are committed by illegal border crossers or Muslim refugees everyday throughout America. In my opinion, the former Obama administration was more concerned about bringing in as many liberty despising Islamists into America than protecting "We the People" from the danger they still pose. Certain people have the nerve to get torqued up at me for correctly calling Obama, a well paid traitor. The dragon media has chosen not to focus light on the negative effects of open borders and Obama's stand down orders to border patrol agents to back off or look the other way while illegals pour in. If that is not treason, then there is no such thing as treason.

It was a blatant act of treason when former president Obama, at the behest of the United Nations sought to stop Arizona from protecting sovereign citizens from a brutal onslaught of murdering, robbing and raping illegal border crossers. Far too many progressive Americans support Obama's dangerous practice of preferring illegal immigrants over sovereign U. S. citizens. Many progressives assist in Obama's plan of destruction are through sanctuary cities for illegals who rape, murder or rob, or calling patriots who only support protecting our borders bigots.

Traitor Obama's recent order to stop drone surveillance of our coastal and boarder regions is more evidence of his traitorous mission to endanger our nation. Only an idiot or a liar would deny Obama's mission of destroying America both economically and by overrunning her with hateful Muslims and illegal immigrants. The greater percentage of Muslims and illegals within our republic will further embolden them to commit dastardly acts of cowardly terrorism. The president's job is to protect the United States. But if he only enacts or proposes policies that endangers our nation, then the logical conclusion is that he is a traitor that should be punished. As a parting gift to America, Obama made a dirty deal with Australia. He allowed over 2,400 dangerous western hating Muslim refugees into the United States who were rejected by Australia. Mrs. Clinton is still going to nutsville calling names. Because she did not get the chance to finish Obama's mission to destroy our republic, constitutionally limited form of government.

The great governor of Texas, Greg Abbott was forced to take on certain responsibilities of the federal government. He sent national guardsmen, hundreds of public safety officers, boats, planes, cameras, etc. to try and protect the Texas border with Mexico. The fact that former president traitor Obama maintains a high level of popularity is beyond amazing. Of course, the equally traitorous government school system and Universities have conditioned the addled minds of millions of American students to call that which is good bad and that which is bad good. That explains their fascination with the likes of Obama, Castro, Chavez and many other demonically driven goons of doom. It is a shame that government school educators cannot be sued for the damages they have indirectly caused by indoctrinating generations of students into being useful idiots of national destruction, mayhem and traitorous activities.

But alas, thanks to the prayers of millions of Americans and the unique methods of Donald Trump, our republic is poised to fully recover from the effects of the most expensive traitor in world history. God Bless you God Bless America and may America Bless God. Know Who The Real Racists Are

For many years, democrats have sought to either prevent people from obtaining liberty or have been trying to destroy liberty and justice for all. They used physical slavery, hangings, Jim Crow, etc. In more recent decades people sharing their philosophy infiltrated the government school system. As a result, they have indoctrinated generations Americans into embracing policies and principles that could wipe out both freedom and liberty. Ironically, the democrat party of racism throughout much it's history now points fingers at others they disagree with on issues unrelated to racism. What a comedy of foolish political angling. In fact, "Systemic racism" and "institutional racism" are anti-American dogmas that drive the Democrat party platform.

Democrats now publicly denounce every single economic and social positional difference between races and genders they can think of. It is as if they can convince every living American that we are all supposed to exist in a world of equal results, with very body having the same this and the same that, no matter what. One has to wonder, if the Democrats get their way with everybody the same, what level of living would they decide every sovereign individual, gender and racial group should exist in? In fact, Democrats often carp about "The Racial Wealth Gap." Here is one of their statements about the "Racial Wealth Gap."

“America’s economic inequality problem is even pronounced when it comes to racial and economic disparities in wealth and income. It is unacceptable that the median wealth for African Americans and Latin Americans is roughly one-tenth that of white Americans. These disparities are also stark for American Indians and certain Asian American subgroups, and many become even more significant when considering other characteristics such as age, disability status, sexual orientation, or gender identity.” All that is fine and dandy if that narrow approach is all that is recognized. But let’s be open to a few other possibilities. First and foremost, among the major reasons that Americans who happen to be black “not hyphenated” Americans in great numbers have allowed themselves to be duped into operating under a socialist, bitter and victimology mindset which sets them up to lag far behind other segments of society that avoids such pitfall economically.

When Frederick Douglas decided to free himself from both the physical and mental shackles he experienced as a slave he set out to learn about success and adopt the principles for success in his own life. As a result, Douglas maneuvered himself to the upper economic rungs of society, by both hard and smart work. He also rejected the mentality of a victim or beaten down bitter slug. In addition, Mr. Frederick Douglas sought to learn the Constitution, Bill of Rights and Holy Bible for himself. He quickly found out that what he was told by his democrat former masters was not true. For example, when Douglas read that all men are created equal and about our unalienable rights which come from God, he grew to appreciate this republic. Yes, Douglas continued to vigorously fight against slavery and racism, but he did so, understanding that some people in America committed awful acts, but overall this was a great republic with high ideals worth fighting for.

Generations of black Americans after Frederick Douglas’s time were just as patriotic as their white counterparts. That was despite the horrors of the KKK, Jim Crow and the racism that reemerged as a major force during the Democrat Woodrow Wilson regime. They intelligently understood that overcoming the racist Democrats not the entire country was the correct mission at hand. Of course, they were not victims of subpar education and superior indoctrination against everything good, including the United States of America as the youth of today are.

People often yelp about the economic differences between black and white Americans. But they either ignore or do not know that black West Indians who legally immigrate to this country on average earn as much money as white Americans. In some cases, they outperform white American income earners. Not because of manipulative government programs to force equal results, but because they take advantage of the blessings of equal opportunity through both hard and smart work ethics. There are no boogieman republicans gumming up the works legislatively to stop Blacks or anyone from succeeding. Now just as always it is the democrats who wish to weaken everyone, especially blacks in order to control them and rely on their faithful votes.

Not only are Democrats racists, but they are also socialists, communists and in some cases pedophile promoters. Yes, they are a nasty bunch. Pelosi and others are chomping at the bit to make life more difficult for everybody, especially those on the lower economic rungs, including many American minorities by raising taxes and increasing oppressive regulations. My fellow Americans the time is now to refuse what the deep state, swamp dwellers, Democrats, racists and leftist bigots are trying to force upon our republic. I believe with Providential guidance and a no quit effort together we will make America great again. Let's talk on the Ron Edwards Experience Fridays at 1:00 PM PT, 4:00 PM ET, emanating from flagship station KCKQ AM 1180 Reno, Nv. And Sunday midnights on the TalkAmericaRadio network.

The Mueller Investigation May Turn Out To Be What The Doctor Ordered

The Mueller investigation against the Trump administration marks a new level of corruption. But it is merely part of an ongoing mission to literally destroy the one vehicle designed to free people from tyranny, lack and false religions. Throughout the annals of history people have sought to dominate over their fellow humans. It began when Cain slew Abel because he offered a better sacrifice with a sincere heart of love to toward our loving creator. Thus throughout the annals of history people with dark visions of control and overtaking others have tried their worst to dominate others either through physical force or mental indoctrination.

Why? One might ask. Biblical history reveals that many people of the earth sought to reject the vision of Liberty and great opportunities for everyone, while an elite segment of society would rule over and take the wealth of the productive through legal edict. In fact, rejecting the wisdom of God and trying to go it alone and trying everyone to do the same describes the formation of the ancient tower of Babel. The people were convinced by one named Nimrod that they did not need God and that he would lead them according to his godless vision. Eventually, as the people were building their one government for all the people Tower of Babel, God confused their language and it failed miserably.

But unfortunately, the war against those who simply want to live free with liberty never stopped. Everyone ranging from King David, Sir William Wallace, Blackstone, George Washington, Frederick Douglas, Abraham Lincoln, John F. Kennedy, Martin Luther King Jr., Ronald Reagan, Donald J. Trump and the King of all Kings Jesus Christ all have one thing in common. They all sought to loose mankind from the grip of those who's desire has always been to enslave the masses via a variety of methods including murder, high taxes, oppressive regulations and trying to replace national sovereignty with a global centered regime.

When Donald J. Trump famously came down the Trump tower escalator and expressed his love for America and the mission to rescue her from aggressive internationalism, he went from being a loved television celebrity and businessman to a scathed and denounced target of the elites ruling both major American political parties. His stand against the internationalist efforts to undermine America through bad trade agreements, the Iran Deal and open borders have infuriated those who believe that the United States should be knocked down a peg or two and drained of her wealth to feed the globalist beast.

That is why the evil Robert Mueller investigation witch hunt was set up to stop the successful implementation of President Trump's pro America agenda. The Democrats today literally hate the concept of true liberty for all Americans, just as they disdained the very thought of black Americans being nothing but slaves or later voting wards of the collectivist state. Government schools were designed to corrupt the normal thinking processes and then indoctrinate blacks and now increasing numbers of white Americans to prefer corrupt economic policies that cripple the ability of individuals to start their own businesses or find jobs. Then the indoctrinated incurably ignorant masses were also bamboozled into becoming embittered and more favorable toward destroying the republic rather than building her up, so she could fulfil the Founding Fathers vision of a land of opportunity for all.

That is also why President Trump has been pressured not to declassify FISA documents, to keep from the American people details about how the corrupt "deep state" has undermined our republic. The dragon media is also a partner in this dastardly effort to literally turn the USA into something that resembles Venezuela and to officially wipe out our national sovereignty. One leaked email revealed that GOOGLE was helping Mrs. Clinton by trying to boost the Latino voting numbers for the 2016 presidential elections. Illegal border crossers stole 39 million American social security numbers. To many leftist lawyers and federal judges are trying to undermine the president's authority and ability to rule. But the good news is that in a round about way, the unwarranted Mueller investigation may be just what the doctor ordered.

The bold in your face Robert Mueller investigation is slowly but surely losing support among the people and is smore wicked than most people can imagine. When the details come out, many on the fence Americans will be awakened from their stupor and there will be a major pushback against the internationalists seeking to undermine our society. Just as Obama was horrendous as president and opened the door for a patriot like Donald Trump to be elected, the Mueller investigation will further invigorate the masses who will become a huge and active force against those seeking to fundamentally undermine our republic. Sometimes it takes something historically large or evil in order to get the people motivated to seek Providential guidance and to bring about a cure to the cancerous destruction of the deep state. The Mueller investigation is one such situation. God Bless You, God Bless America and May America Bless God. Let's get together via The Ron Edwards Experience talk show, Fridays at 4:00 PM RT, 3:00 PM CT, 1:00 PM PT emanating from flagship station KCKQ 1180 Reno, Nv., americamaters.us, SHRmedia.com and Sunday midnights on TalkAmericaRadio.com.

It is always a good time for me as a regular contributor on the Captain's America third Watch radio show every Tuesday and

The Democrats Second War Against Liberty

One of the most horrendous legacies against individual rights and liberty throughout American history is the abysmal history of the Democrat Party founded by American Indian and black people hating Andrew Jackson. Like Muslims, communists, ANTIFA gumps, etc. most democrats do not have a soft spot for unalienable rights which come from God. Democrats have an overblown self-image of elitism and that the money you earn through working hard or smart belongs to them. House Minority Leader Nancy Pelosi trashed the Trump tax cuts for working Americans as crumbs. Yet, the grumpy government elitist recently let it be known that she wants those crumbs back into government coffers. So much for caring about “We the People.” In fact, with just a few exceptions thrown in for good measure, the democrats rarely cared about or liked people they could not control, or lord over.

I was asked recently by a concerned American, why do most democrats seem to hate people who want to strengthen our nation? To which I answered. Democrats and other people of the left detest our republic first and foremost. Democrats disdain those of us who understand that our unalienable rights come from God, not from government. Democrats do not believe in your right to self-protection, self -determination, or self-reliance. They hate Americans who want to strengthen our nation, because this is the first nation in history to be founded upon and dedicated to the principles enumerated in God's instruction manual, the Holy Bible.

President Donald J. Trump won election because of his pledge to build a desperately needed wall on our southern border. He also wants to stop illegal border crossers from invading our republic and having their way. The president understands that to maintain our United States of America we must be up to the task of protecting her. The problem is that most democrats and other assorted leftists do not want to protect our republic for various reasons. Amongst them include bitter black American democrats foolishly believe that life would be better for them if the United States was flooded with non white haters of the country. Democrats in general love illegal immigrants. Because for them that is a voting block that will support the golden donkey party's efforts to change the United States into something that more closely resembles Venezuela.

I know, you may not believe me, but please consider the third world conditions prevalent in American cities where democrats have ruled for 60 years. Detroit, Baltimore, East St. Louis, Mo, the east side of Cleveland and both the south and west sides of Chicago just for starters. Senator Kamala Harris a rising star in the Democrat Party is frequently mentioned on the short-list of contenders for the next presidential race. In a speech at Howard University, Harris issued a call to arms, urging her young audience to rally behind the Democrats resistance to the Trump administration. "Graduates, indeed we have a fight ahead. This is a fight to define what kind of country we are, and it's a fight to determine what country we will be."

Forget just for a second the impropriety of addressing a class of students as though they were Democrat party operatives.

But remember instead the statement itself. The call “to define what kind of country we are” is a dark agenda for America, our already defined republic. Compared to other nations, the United States is unique in one huge regard: It is a republic defined in its creation. Usually, nations have been formed on the basis of common origins, ethnicities and languages. But America was created by peoples of diverse origins and ethnicities. Their union was sealed in a set of founding documents that insisted on the equality of its inhabitants—regardless of their origins.

But regardless of the vast spectrum of unequalled overall achievement and opportunities the leftist democrats continue to war against liberty, prosperity and a great America. Just as the democrats of old sought to destroy our republic to maintain physical slavery, today democrats seek to enslave all Americans in one way or another. They are seeking to go wage war against the President’s rollback of regulations, they have let it be known they will stifle our economic growth by raising taxes even higher than they were under the Obama regime. The democrats are also warring against our national sovereignty with unlimited open borders and continued indoctrination of American students against our own nation.

Either End Democracy Or America Could Be Terminated

The current economic state of affairs in the United States is very good to say the very least. Unemployment is way down, a half million manufacturing jobs have opened up throughout the great states of Wisconsin, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Michigan and elsewhere. Our current patriotic president Donald J. Trump reversed the deadly trend of depleting our military by former president Barack Hussein Obama. The U.S. Stock Market has been a blessing for investors, overall things are good and getting better for our nation. But one big problem hidden right in front of us and could at anytime unravel and destroy our national stature and greatness.

America's Founding Fathers set in motion the unique concepts to form this one nation under God Republic based upon unalienable rights of individuals which come from God. When Jesus died on the cross, he gave the ultimate sacrifice for you, not the mob. In other words, God places the utmost importance on every one of us and does not reduce our worth, or our individual rights just because a mob shows up and wants to overrule the one person's freedom of religion for example.

The Founders rightfully detested democracy, or what my Dad and other wise Americans dubbed mob rule. Here is an excerpt from the book Mobocracy "this is what democracy looks like" authored by Jake Jacobs Ph.D. John Adams' 1763 "An essay on Man's Lust for Power" describes how democracy degenerates into anarchy or mobocracy. Our Founders did not give us a democracy but a glorious Constitutional Republic under God which is under heavy attack today on many cultural and political fronts across the United States of America.

Unfortunately, everywhere ranging from major American institutions to the streets of New York City, Cleveland, Oakland, California, Atlanta, Madison, Wisconsin, Portland, Oregon and elsewhere there is a massive mob of radical anti-constitutionally limited government communists. They are joined by ANTIFA haters of America, communists, illegal border crossers, Islamists, bitter blacks, hate filled feminazis, pedophilia pushers. Let us not forget the collectivist big government Left-wing ideologues who say, "this is what democracy looks like!" No wonder Ben Franklin warned "It's a Republic mam, if you can keep it".

European-socialist style mobocracy mobs across our republic carry signs of ubiquitous socialist pig rhetoric and militantly wave their clenched fists in the air. Their cowardly mobs will find one or two patriots and hound them like a pack of coyotes or hyenas would a wounded rabbit. Remember the gumps that harassed Candice Owens and Charlie Kirk in the so-called city of brotherly love when they were simply trying to have breakfast? The leftist anarchists constantly say they are fighting against racism and for social justice. That tired old lie should be stopped. Then people should fess up and admit their real motive and mission. The truth is, leftists are working to totally wipe away free enterprise and our glorious Republic under God concept from the earth.

Democracy is their tool to try and secure their nightmare for America. Those leftist activists and democrats in general do not care one little bit about maintaining strong families or a strong economy. They completely understand that a morally sound, well educated "not indoctrinated" population of patriots who love God, country and family cannot be manipulated into accepting their own peril as an acceptable way of life. That is why, decades ago they gained control of inner city government schools and gradually changed vast numbers of black Americans from highly moral patriotic members of society moving up the economic ladder into a bitter, struggling, infighting broken family population lagging behind the majority of Americans economically. The one exception is American Indians. For the record, there are great achieving black Americans. But percentage wise, higher numbers of black Americans were convinced to abort their babies, shoot each other in the streets, then blame police brutality for the great number of blacks being shot and hate America with a level of self-destructive bitterness that could only be matched by a woman's scorn.

The black American community has been in a self-destructive downward spiral for decades. The democracy mobocracy inspired events in the streets of America are part of the deviant mission to do to America what has been done in the black American community. If their goals are met, then the United States would become a disjointed balkanized mobocracy unable to sustain itself and then pushed into a system of horror not unlike that plaguing the once prosperous nation of Venezuela.

I for one believe that enough Americans will arise and not allow this nation under God to be sent to political democracy inspired hell in a handbasket. To Save America We Must Embrace Wisdom

Proverbs 1:3-5 in the Bible the word states: To receive instruction in wise behavior, righteousness, justice and equity; to give prudence to the naïve, to the youth knowledge and discretion, a wise man of understanding will acquire wise counsel. My fellow Americans, until very recently, our republic was on a very slippery slope to oblivion. It is easy to simply place blame on the previous administration for the numerous evil deeds carried out to bring harm to our republic while benefiting our enemies as often as possible. But truth be told many throughout this land of liberty, from various walks of life are also guilty for the near death of America.

They did not overregulate and extremely tax our economy. Neither did the citizenry send billions of dollars to Iran to help fund terrorist activities. They also did not try to kill American manufacturing and coal industry. But what many of us did was just as dreadful, if not more so. One of the most terrible things was to not pass down to succeeding generations the understanding of both American founding documents, rudimentary instructions such as the Bill of Rights, the Constitution and Federalist Papers. During the Calvin Coolidge administration America had a chance to once again solidify it's standing as a constitutionally limited republic land of free enterprise and unlimited opportunity.

Unfortunately, the quiet and steady Coolidge presidency was followed by the Woodrow Wilson regime that opened America up to dreadful enterprises. Among those dens of evil was the League of Nations, a precursor to the awful United Nations of today and the Federal Reserve Bank which indirectly controls our economy. The list of organizations and governmental departments is longer than my right arm. Unfortunately, our republic could one day perish under the weight of those numerous unconstitutional government juggernauts if they are not soon done away with.

Unfortunately, far too many of my fellow countrymen and women lack the knowledge and wisdom to understand or effectively ever care about the unwise decision to develop the litany of government departments. They are directly or indirectly the cause of the over $20 trillion budget deficit that may one day cause an economic crash. The wise thing would be for "We the People" to do would be to continuously contact our representatives let them not have any peace until they reduce wasteful spending. Of course, we would have to make sure they do not try to shrink our needed military budget. After all, the government is supposed to protect this nation from enemies, both foreign and domestic.

The lack of wisdom in America is one of the reasons why the media, certain government officials and crazed activists are unhinged and are focused on false scandals drummed up to try and harm president Trump. Why? Because he has dared to place American interests above those of the statist elites who continue their progressive struggle to demolish America's great exceptional nation status and rugged individualism. The battle lines are drawn and our republic is in the balance. Americans had better wise up concerning our border situation. The reason Mollie Tibbetts of Iowa is dead is because of horribly unwise decisions concerning the practice of not protecting our southern border adequately. Leftists and foot dragging rinos like Mitch McConnell and the defunct Paul Ryan lack both wisdom and love for America. No one who loves America prefers it to be easier for illegal border crossers to creep into our republic than for American born sovereign citizens to live freely unmolested by the illegal brutes.

The nearly total lack of judgement displayed by many leftists in both the media and government fully exhibits the fact that unbridled hatred of Trump for simply putting American interest first exemplifies a total lack of wisdom. People are chomping at the bit hoping that Trump gets indicted and impeached over something that is not even a crime. At the same time there are actual crimes committed by Mrs. Clinton, such as destroying government property to get rid of emails, also paying for a fake dossier to try and frame Donald Trump for wrongful acts he never committed, etc.

The unwise continuation of Mueller's fake investigation designed to cover up real crimes by his friends is potentially very harmful to our nation. Foreign enemies like China are electronically abusing the United States and conducting military training exercises practicing attacks on our nation because they want our presence driven out of that part of the world. It is my sincere prayer that the wisdom that long ago seemingly left America is soon returned before it is too late.

We can not afford to allow those who refuse to charge Mrs. Clinton with the actual crimes she is guilty of, while using false charges to topple the Trump administration to get away with such madness.

The Mission To Change Real American History

The United States of America has had an amazing history of great achievements from her very beginning. She was the first nation in history dedicated by men to God our creator. It was partially through inspiration from God that the concept of Liberty and Justice for all was conceived. When the Founding Fathers gave us documents such as the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution, the Bill of Rights, Federalist Papers and others, they had to lean upon a common understanding of government, morality, law and proper social order. That understanding sprang from what was a universal acceptance of what became known as the Judeo-Christian Ethic. That is a system of social and moral values that originates in the Old and New Testaments of the word of God.

Whether or not every single one of the Founding Fathers was a Christian is not an important issue. Their statements, their writings and their votes reveal that most of them embraced these greater principles as the basis for a free people and civilized republic. The Founders firmly understood that no nation would remain strong if its families were in tatters. In fact, it was my own Dad who told me that a nation is only as strong as her families. Since the joining together of Adam and Eve, marriage has been recognized as a holy union between man and woman. Then out of that union comes children born into a home with a father and a mother to instruct them on how to become healthy, productive, and responsible citizens.

The plan of God, nature, and common sense is a man and a woman producing children within the institution of marriage. When that plan is lost "marriage" and "family" become meaningless, and a nation and its people will follow the road to ruin. World history has proven it over and again. Preserving the traditional family is vital to the future of any great nation.

Unfortunately, in recent decades there has been a concerted effort by those seeking to change our republic into a Godless amoral leftist oriented mobocracy. The attack on the traditional Father and Mother headed household is unrelenting on many fronts. The stabilizing traditional family was first undermined throughout the black American community. One of the underlying reasons was to stop the forward economic and general positive progress blacks had been making in most sectors of society.

The leftist democrats do not like to see, especially black men in their proper role as heads of prosperous households. Black Dads leading their children in the good way they should go toward building a better life for themselves without the need for government handouts is not favorable to the cause of leftists. If one observes the actions and the mission of leftists today they are a larger scale version of what they foisted upon the black community. Long ago the KKK and others tried to force blacks to accept the lower rung of society and to walk away from their most worthy Christian beliefs. We see similar goofy practices today. Consider the ANTIFA, BLM and other gumps who attack people like Charles Payne of FOX Business Network who don't walk on their party line.

The strong underpinning to all this madness is the combined efforts of government school educators and university professors. Their multi decade effort to literally deceive about and indoctrinate students against our exceptional nation way of life, American history, free market economics, the traditional family, critical thinking, Christianity, the Constitution, etc. is to do to America what has already been done to the black community. A new University of Michigan textbook calls for doing away with Capitalism and replacing it with a socialist order with more regulations and funding for climate control.

Personally, I prefer the term Free Market economics, but I won't quibble. The bottom line is, if Americans do not know their real history, the future can become a bridled path that leads to literal doom. That scenario can be avoided, if “We the People” are willing to stand and push back the deceptive darkness with the light of truth and seek Providential guidance. It's time For People To Learn The Truth

For numerous decades black Americans have bought hook line and sinker one of the biggest lies involving American history. There are several mega lies that black Americans believe. But for now, I will focus on the double whopper that democrats care about black Americans and that slavery is to blame for the societal ills suffered by black Americans today. Beginning with the latter, when one looks at the slavery era to freedom a few surprising details are revealed. In 1865 right after emancipation A Madison County Mississippi Judge along with many white democrats in the region assumed and hoped that the former slaves would forego the commitment and responsibilities of marriage. At the behest of many former slave masters a law for blacks was passed that legalized simply "living together".

One man remembered two radical whites one a minister and the other a legal officer, told blacks that children born outside of legal marriage were "bastards" and could not inherit property. The Mississippi ex-slaves were no different in their commitment to legal marriage than ex slaves in North Carolina and elsewhere. In fact, convincing evidence chronicled in the book, 'The Black Family in Slavery and Freedom' shows both black and white marriage registration rates. In 1870, according to the Republican Mississippi Governor James L. Alcorn, 3,427 blacks in thirty-one counties purchased marriage licenses: whites in those same counties bought 2,204 licenses. Proportionately more blacks than whites purchased marriage licenses that year.

In 1882-1883 many democrats tried to convince themselves and anyone who would listen that blacks declined morally after emancipation. However, marriage being one measure of the supposed decline explained by Charles K. Marshall, the prominent Vicksburg Methodist clergyman, defended the blacks against their democrat critics. He cited the marriage licenses to whites and blacks in Hinds County "First District" between January 1879 and January 1883. Of 684 licenses issued, three in four went to blacks. The percentage of licenses issued to blacks (75.3 percent) equaled the percentage of blacks aged fifteen to forty-four (74.5 percent) living in Hinds County in 1880. In some locations, blacks purchased a higher percentage of marriage licenses than the white population.

That infuriated the democrats and former slave masters who did not want to see blacks independently able to fend for themselves. They understood that strong intact families enabled people to more successfully navigate the rigors of life. Of course, the racist democrats would have none of that and continued to try and convince blacks that a higher level of living was not for them. Blacks migrated north and west to seek better opportunities and get away from the democrats who worked day and night to devise ways to force blacks to live below their God given abilities and purpose in this life. Throughout the decades leading up to the Civil Rights or as my Dad called it, "the bastardized rights movement" that will be explained in my upcoming book.

Frederick Douglas literally begged his fellow abolitionists to approach escaped and later freed slaves as regular people and allow them to rise or fall based upon their own efforts and in the long run "they would be fine". Many abolitionists ignored his worthy plea and set out to treat blacks as lesser beings who should be free, but not too bright intellectually. In fact, they viewed Frederick Douglas, who was more accomplished than they as if he was accidentally intelligent and could not be duplicated in the black race. In that regard they were no better than the democrats and former slave masters who knew blacks were intelligent. But sought to keep them "in their place", by not allowing them to learn to read, or own their own businesses.

Eventually, racist democrats and KKK members were no longer able to get away with physically preventing blacks from education, owning a business, living where they could afford, etc. But their dastardly mission of lording over blacks never diminished. The democrats understood that to maintain their power base, they needed a gullible population of voters to sustain their power. Over time, closet racist democrats gained control of the government education systems. Overtime good quality education was transformed into mind numbing indoctrination and dummifying down, all at taxpayer expense.

After several decades government school indoctrination has achieved what slavery and Jim Crow couldn't, which has been the destruction of traditional strong family life. As recently as 1962 only 17 percent of black American children lived in one parent households. But immediately after the Civil Rights movement, that began to turn around and today 80 percent of Black American children are living in one parent households.

Democrats have indirectly destroyed what had been an overall upwardly mobile population of American blacks who have been brainwashed into ignorant self-destructive bitterness. The truth is beginning to circulate. More and more American blacks are learning the truth and leaving the dehumanizing democrat party plantation. Speaking of truth, I Blow away the Myths and reveal the Truth via "The Edwards Notebook" commentary daily on TalkAmericaRadio.us, goodtalkradio.com, AM 1400 & FM 101.5 The Patriot Detroit, freedominamericaradio.com and during AM News on KCKQ AM 1180 Reno, Nv. Another Reason Why Abortion Must Be Abolished

Since 1973 the United States of America has allowed the legal murder of probably well over 90 million unborn babies. Most reports estimate between 56 to 70 million American deaths due to abortion. But when states like New York and California that do not report their abortion totals are factored in, I would venture to say that it is closer to 90 to 100 million unborn babies that have been murdered. What a horrible stain on the republic that was founded upon the worthy principles of Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness. I believe the Founding Fathers (including the more liberal Alexander Hamilton) would be appalled and up in arms over the societal practice of murdering members of our own American population, who have done no harm.

I can only imagine how many unborn babies were abruptly wiped out through forced abortions in China. My guess is one billion or more over many decades. One thing that rings true is that one thing either leads to or opens the door to another. I believe the attitude or spirit of death has become a big influence in society. That is a direct result of the legalization of murdering unborn babies, which contributed to the growing disregard toward the blessing of life.

Once people get used to something they often transition to or add on more drastic and in some cases more insidious activities. In the case of children being legally murdered throughout America and far beyond it is truly going downhill. It was recently revealed that three children were murdered by their parents due to illness in the nation of Belgium. In 2014, Belgium King Phillippe signed a bill into law that allows children to be euthanized. I remember the mild international groaning about that horrible decision. The American Academy of Pediatrics correctly claimed that the bill would make children "expendable".

"Children could be legally euthanized if they were in great pain" a subjective notion to stake someone's life on and if there was no treatment. Even more hideous is that children in Belgium do not have to be terminally ill to be killed. To add even more insult to injury, the bill to kill children was vigorously supported by Belgium politicians because children were already being murdered legally. What a sick slippery slope for a society to embark upon.

Since the deviant decision to allow Belgian children to be euthanized three children have been killed. In 2016 the first child was murdered for suffering from an undisclosed "incurable illness". Two more were terminated in 2017. Their ages and description of their illness have been withheld. A further illustration of the slippery slope reveals that in addition to euthanizing children, deaths from assisted suicide have risen steadily each year since its legalization 16 years ago.

According to Live action reporter Cassy Fiano-Chesser the number of euthanasia cases has nearly doubled over the last four years, from 232 to 444. According to Belgian law, people who undergo euthanasia must either be terminally ill or in "unbearable" pain, which is very, very subjective. It is the subjective criterion that allows abuse to run rampant. People have been euthanized for blindness, anorexia, for suffering from depression, even for being transgender. Those abuses are rarely prosecuted.

The chairman of Belgium's Federal Control and Evaluation Committee on Euthanasia is none other than Wim Distelmans. He is a notorious Belgian doctor who will seemingly euthanize anyone, anytime, for any reason. Distelmans is the doctor who euthanized twin brothers who were going blind. As if Distelman's glorification of death wasn't horrible enough, he also took a tour of about 70 people to Auschwitz, the demonic Nazi camp, for an instructional tour on euthanasia. Distelmans called "inspiring", and the concentration camp was said to be the perfect place to reflect on what "death with dignity" means.

One thing for sure, the darkness that is abortion is a door opener to the slippery slope downward into greater depths of death, tyranny and injustice for all. "We the People" must slam the brakes on this evil before it leads to an end to our great republic as we should know her to be. Thus, abortion must be aborted to stop the slippery slope in our own republic. May God bless America with Providential guidance and wisdom and may America take advantage of both before it is too late. Why The Political Left Hopes You Abandon Faith In Christ

The leftist war against Christianity, common decency, America, good education, the two original genders, straight men, Trump, black Americans who left the democrat party plantation, women who appreciate their husbands, etc., etc. seems to be never ending. Of course, there actually is a good reason for that. Going all the way back to the Founding of this republic, there have been those (for example, the loyalists) who have sought to undermine the divinely inspired concept of liberty and one nation under God. For decades, much like parasites invading a healthy body to destroy it, the leftists have poisoned the government school system via indoctrination and have caused a sickening impact on the thinking processes and actions of many Americans.

Despite the preponderance of evidence to the contrary, American students in both government schools, colleges and universities have been convinced that communism is the way to go and that most of the Founding Fathers were evil non-Christian racists. But clearly there was a predominant Christian consensus in colonial America that shaped the Founders thinking and their writing of the founding documents and laws, resulting in the republic we have today, but can lose if we don't stem the bigoted leftist tide against what is good for "We the People." The Declaration of Independence identified the source of all authority and rights as their "Creator," and then accentuated that individual rights were God-given, not man made and handed out by big government. Thus, there would be no king or established religion to stand in the way of human liberty or dignity uniquely tied to Judeo-Christian ideals.

While knowledgeable historians do not limit the "Founding Fathers" to the 55 delegates at the Constitutional Convention, this core group of men represents the religious (Christian) sentiments of those whose shaped the political foundation of our republic. As a matter of public record, the delegates included 28 Episcopalians, eight Presbyterians, seven Congregationalists, two Lutherans, two Dutch Reformed, two Methodists, two Roman Catholics, one unknown, and three deists (those who believe in an impersonal God gave the world its initial impetus but then left it to run its course). A full 93 percent were members pf Christian churches, and all were deeply influenced by a biblical view of mankind and government.

A study of the Founders last Will and Testaments provides convincing declarations of the strong religious beliefs among so many of them. Add to that their personal writings concerning their faith in Christ, plus their leadership roles in establishing and guiding numerous Biblical societies, plus their service in active ministries, and evidence is overwhelming.

In a joint statement, John Adams and John Hancock wrote: We recognize no sovereign but God, and no king but Jesus."

Second President John Adams noted: The general principles upon which the Founders achieved independence were the general principles of Christianity...I will avow that I believed and now believe that those general principles of Christianity are as eternal and immutable as the existence and attributes of God.
John Adams, Second President

He who made all men hath made truths necessary to human happiness obvious to all...Our forefathers opened the Bible to all.

Samuel Adams, Signer of the Declaration of Independence.

"It cannot be emphasized too clearly and too often that this nation was founded, not by religionists, but by Christians; not on religion, but on the gospel of Jesus Christ".

Patrick Henry, Governor of Virginia.

"To the Supreme Head of the universe, to that great and tremendous Jehovah, who created the universal frame of nature, worlds and systems in number infinite...To this awfully sublime Being do I resign my spirit with unlimited confidence of His mercy and protection". Henry Knox, Revolutionary war general.

This is just a minute smattering of quotes from the vast majority of the Founders who supported and encouraged including the fruitful benefits of Christian principles and a firm belief in God. Only demented determined bigoted deniers of the left continue to peddle their denials as truth to generation after generation of students in order to fundamentally change America into something more akin to Europe, China, Venezuela or anything other than the land of Liberty and Justice for all. In fact, that is one of the reasons why the Political Left hopes you abandon or reject Faith in Christ. My fellow Americans, seek ye the truth for yourself and be a part of making America greater than she has ever been. The republic you help to save could be your own. God bless you, God Bless America and may America bless God.

When Two Political Parties Act As One

For many years, people from all walks of life have been telling me that the dual party system in our republic has devolved into one party with two fake sides. In the beginning I did not want to hear that. But folks would point out how gradually both the Democrat and Republican parties were gradually moving to the political left. Of course, it was easy to see how the Democrats were of the left and getting worse since childhood. But as one who came into maturity during the Reagan years it was easy to refute such a charge.

Thus, I would take zealous measures to prove them wrong by utilizing historical truths to refute their assumptions. For me it was easy to point out vast differences between the Republican and Democrat parties.

I figured for one to assume that the Republican party founded by such luminaries as Frederick Douglas, Sojourner Truth and others in Jackson, Michigan in 1854. "I am a Republican, a black dyed in the wool Republican and I never intend to belong to any other party than the party of freedom and progress." It was on July 6, 1854, a state convention of anti-slavery men was held in Jackson, Michigan to found a new political party. "Uncle Tom's Cabin" had been published two years earlier, causing increased resentment against slavery, and the Kansas-Nebraska act of May 1854 threatened to make slave states out of previously free territories.

Because the convention day was extremely hot and the huge crowd could not be accommodated in the hall, the meeting adjourned to an oak grove on "Morgan's Forty" on the outskirts of town. A statewide slate of candidates was selected, and the Republican Party was born. Winning an overwhelming victory in the elections of 1854. The republican Party went on to become the dominate national party throughout the nineteenth century. From 1854 through 1864 the Republican Party was the vehicle that enabled the first black Americans to successfully win political office in both the House and the Senate. It was also the Republican Party that enacted numerous amendments and general laws against the Democrat Party supported practice of utter foul discriminatory practices against black Americans. During the heady days of the Reagan administration, the United States experienced a new lease on life via a revival of our economy, military and stature in the world.

It was a welcome relief to most Americans after the decline and sad misery index days brought on by Democrat Party standard barer Jimmy Carter. For the most part, there were clear and distinct differences between the Republican and Democrat Parties. Even years ago, when all democrats were not dead set against American greatness, they always supported various levels of oppression against people. Democrats were the people of slavery, then after slavery their hatred of black Americans became so entrenched they resorted to lynching, raping, burning black people to a crisp along with their property just to "keep them in their place."

The Democrat Party evolved out of a sect of people (loyalists) who came to these shores with a different mission than the famous Pilgrims who embarked upon their epic journey to seek religious liberty. Overtime, the distinct differences between the Republican and Democrat Party have become partially blurred. The invasive species of democrats who pretended to become conservative republicans swarmed in during the popular Reagan years. That along with tired droopy rinos like Mitch McConnell and especially Paul Ryan have aided the Democrat party mission of undermining our constitutionally limited republic restraints on big government.

The first nation in the history of mankind to recognize the unalienable God given rights of sovereign individuals was the United States. The Founders believed "We the People" would maintain a society of higher personal moral character so that we would maintain a blessed life that isn't centered around a cradle to grave high tax, overregulation overbearing government. Government should not be out to destroy our liberties while placing the desires of illegal border crossers above we Americans. Such evil concepts would not have gained any traction if there hadn't been a turning away from moral decency which lead to a partial melding of the two major political parties.

As more and more Americans throw off the shackles of ignorance imposed upon them via leftist controlled government school indoctrination, there will be a new awakening and bold constitutionally based pushback from an awakened sovereign citizenry. That means you and I cannot sit idly by and allow those (mostly democrats and rinos) who seek to demolish our sovereignty through corruption which leads to giving up our sovereignty.

Never forget, with God all things possible. With his providential guidance and our effort, America will be reborn as the sovereign republic of Life Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness and one nation under God. The Left's Stain On History

Throughout the annals of history, particularly here in the United states of America there has been a constant battle between those who hate what is good. One can go all the way back to the time of Nimrod a certain percentage of mankind have sought to centralize government and lord over the people through force and in direct opposition to what is good. It goes without saying that the mission was and continues to make anything other than the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob the central focus of life. The ongoing assault is comprised of a double mission. The first part is to turn the hearts and minds of the people away from God and have them believe they evolved from lower beasts such as ugly monkeys. The second major part of the evil mission of the left is to make sure we believe that a controlling central government that rules over us from cradle to grave is better than life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

The mission of self centered leftists is to basically have you do what they say, not as they do. They only want you to have what they allow, but not what they acquired, usually through legal edict theft or brutality. Leftists in their various forms throughout history have only brought about, pain, poverty, lack, murdering innocent unborn babies, slavery, communism, hatred of God family and country, etc. Leftists are also much like parasites. They invade a healthy body and as soon as there is a slight compromise of the immune system parasites wreak havoc on the body and cause illness. If the illness is not defeated the body will die.

Just like parasites invade human bodies, the leftists have invaded every good aspect of our republic, including government schools, colleges and universities. Like parasites, after circulating throughout the working apparatus of schools the leftists have taken over and caused national destruction on a massive scale via indoctrination against the principles that made America great. As a result, we are suffering a national sickness of massive dependency upon government, open borders, abortion and government officials willing to sell this republic to the highest bidder. Let us not forget, Mrs. Clinton selling 20% percent of our nation's uranium for example, comes to mind.

The stain of leftism must be washed away or the respite we are experiencing due to the Trump tax cuts and regulation rollbacks will be short lived. America will hopefully learn from the mistakes that occurred after the prosperous years of the Reagan era and not relapse into a march toward leftist/socialist hell that if unchecked could literally kill off the remaining vestiges of our constitutionally limited form of government. The leftists are always patiently waiting to pounce on every opportunity to stain and ruin every major pillar of society in order to bring about mayhem. They would use the expansion of their deviant desires to reduce America the beautiful to an ugly economically decrepit lesser nation of government dominance and a spiritually broken population.

If you think I am exaggerating, please review the results of the horrible stain of rampant leftism in Venezuela, Argentina, Mexico, Honduras, North Korea, Haiti, the Congo and California. It is time to honor the memory of those who gave the ultimate sacrifice to form this more perfect union of sovereign states. "We the People" must overcome the current institutionalized scorched earth, hate filled policies and actions of the leftist stained democrats and render them permanently impotent. To accomplish that, we must begin to steadfastly instruct young Americans on the basic principles of what it takes to both form and maintain our great nation for generations to come. The instruction of true American history along with a clear understanding of our Constitution and Bill of Rights should be mandatory. It wouldn't hurt to explain to American students the faith of America's Founding Fathers and why it is an important for them to consider seeking the one who shed his grace upon our republic.

My fellow American, the task of removing the stain of leftism may be monumental. But aren't your children and children's children worth leaving a leftist/stain free republic where they can live in liberty, rather than exist under the bootheel of languishing under the stain of leftism? Christianity And Unalienable Rights

When we review the history of the great American Revolution, the abolitionist movement, and the civil rights movement, we discover that when a monumental battle for Liberty and Justice was at hand, faith in God was there to strengthen the sincere activists. We also see, unfortunately, that too often the staunchest opposition to any of these movements came from leftist sectors of the religious establishment of the day. Today, leftist Christian and Catholic churches fight against the preservation of our national sovereignty, by supporting sanctuary cities and protecting criminal illegal border crossers.

The women's rights movement in America was largely built out of the ranks of the Christian oriented abolitionist movement to end slavery. In 1848, at the Seneca Falls Convention in New York, activists including Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Susan B. Anthony began a seventy-year struggle to secure the right to vote for women. Nearly all the leaders of the suffrage movement came from Christian backgrounds—women who believed that God created women as equal to men, and thus they demanded that the same rights guaranteed to men in the Constitution be extended to women.

Some of these women included Lucretia Mott, an evangelical Quaker who helped to found the Anti-Slavery Society in 1833; Angelina Grimke, who presented female anti-slavery petitions to the Massachusetts state legislature; as well as Lucy Stone. Not only did many church ministers oppose suffrage, but they were also opposed to women owning property, getting university educations, and competing with men for wages. Most of the activists suffered mistreatment, were subject to arrests, and many were jailed.

However, during the beginning of the twentieth century, women's suffrage gained in popularity as more and more people began to realize that there was no biblical support for inequality between the sexes. Finally, President Woodrow Wilson an avowed democrat party racist urged congress to pass what became, when it was ratified in 1920, the Nineteenth Amendment, which stated, "The right of citizens of the United States to vote will not be denied or abridged by the United States or any State on account of sex."

The civil rights (my Dad called it the bastardized rights) of the 1950s and 1960s was led primarily by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., who became pastor of Dexter Avenue Baptist Church in Montgomery, Alabama, in 1954. At that time, the world around him was filled with inequality, oppression, and segregation of Black citizens primarily fostered by racist democrats. Refusing to stoop to hate and bitterness, Dr. King connected his deep love of God with a powerful determination to achieve civil rights for Black Americans. He rose to national prominence as the leader of the movement through nonviolent, mass demonstrations, beginning with the Montgomery bus boycott of 1956. It started after Rosa Parks was arrested for refusing to give her seat on a bus to a white man. The movement produced scores of men and women who risked...and some who gave...their lives to secure a more just and inclusive society.

Black Americans have not been the only targets of leftist democrats seeking to either prevent or destroy the civil or unalienable rights of sovereign Americans of all walks of life. They have also sought to whittle away the right of parents to properly raise their children in the proper way they should go. The leftist democrats fought to assure the wholesale murder of innocent babies through legal abortions. Now there is yet another excuse that the open borders crowd uses for their desire to allow droves of illegal border crossers to come into our republic and take advantage of both our national generosity and stupidity. Leftists have systematically sought to replace the natural and Bill of Rights recognized unalienable rights that came from God with activists/government bastardized rights dictates and false premises.

The result has been a dastardly collection of harmful developments the literally threatened the continuation of this grand experiment of personal liberty and limited government. But thanks be to God a true effort has emerged to beat back the darkness of tyranny and it's many abuses waged against our unalienable rights, economy and good way of life in general. "We the People" who love both God and our republic are commissioned to reestablish our Constitutionally Limited government and society. The battle is ours to win through Providential guidance. Onward and upward. God bless America, God bless you and may America bless God.
