

Cards To Start The War

When the Plastic Largess Dries Up, The “American Insurrection” Begins

Just a thought here...

Plastic will buy you anything these days. Even a hot war, right here at home.

Every time I hear about the cash cards and goodies being handed out to our invaders, I get angry. Especially, now at tax time, I keep asking myself and anyone else who will listen, WTF?, or my generic version thereof. Money is getting tighter for us all, and those who are being brought here to take us down – societally or militarily – are getting up to $10k/month?? I thought we were told that THEY were paying to come HERE.

The latest stories of this abomination come from (where else?) NYC. Mayor Eric Adams is announcing that every illegal in the city will be given $1000 a month. I know that doesn't go far in NY, especially with a lot of truckers refusing loads that will make food prices rise. (And. good for them!!)

It seemed, though, that one minute Adams was whining how NYC could not afford the overload of human souls. The next minute, he was giving them money. OK, I know he's a lefty and they cannot add 1+1, but he is now seemingly ok with it all. The money is coming from somewhere. No more carping.

Remember, too, that TX Governor, Abbott, sent busload after busload to NYC. At first, I thought, "in your face, Lefties". But then I read something that made me pause. Was he helping to gather the troops? We know Abbott is not exactly "one of us."

This may all be on purpose. The deactivation of these cash cards will happen when the Marxist madmen in DC want to ignite the violence. Invaders will be left to rampage and plunder. Americans will be forced to fight back, to protect their homes, families and food supplies. THAT will be how they start the "American Insurrection that Obama trained thousands of foreign troops to take down. We Americans and thousands of expendable foreigners will be the victims of this diabolical plot.

I'd thought that, if we just kept our cool, and didn't let the madmen get to us, we could still keep the peace and those troops, inactive. I get it now. Using cash cards to start a war is a real possibility.

The Burning Platform today, shows us a Tweet from a Matt Bracken, that says the same.

The invaders are being kept happy for a while, or at least fed. Are they here to vote for Biden? Some think so, but In this scenario, it won't matter who is in 1600. Thirty million people, approximately 10% of our population have been led to the public trough, which will go empty when the cash cards dry up. I think the idea of starving out the invaders, so they will come after us, may be exactly the plan. The Luciferian, hideous Marxist plan.

The cut off of the cash card will start the insurrection regardless of who is in Washington. The difference would be how Trump would deal with it.

Our keeping our powder dry, so to speak, will not prevent us from being attacked. Remember hearing about the underground bunkers being built for our government? Remember about the special emergency phones they've been issued? Remember how they cleared out Maui?

Yeah, so do I, and it doesn't even feel like tin foil on my head anymore. This possibility explains a lot of otherwise random weirdness, including the Democrat Party's apparent nonchalance about running a pair of idiots who are well underwater in the polls, for a second term

Cloward and Piven, now has a new twist. Cash cards were not a part of their world, so they could never have dreamed of the efficacy of this kind of plan. Some group of Globalist elite thought this one up some time ago. They stole the 2020 election, then President Numbnuts opened the borders wide and messed with our food and fuel supplies. Cash cards were issued, and the plan was in place.

As you prepare – and PLEASE DO – be thinking of all of those “Republicans” you trusted. All of them – Haley, Romney, DeSantis, McConnell and so many more – are part of this plan. We are at the stage where, “if you're not with us, you're against us”, and RINO Republicans are certainly NOT with us.

Do whatever you can to stop their legislative attempts to control you, your health, your children, your possessions, your relationship with your God. Guess this is another of my “off the couch and out the door” pleas, with a different more urgent slant. Fend them off, and keep your powder dry. For now.
