

Catastrophic Climate Destabilization Juxtaposed to Catastrophic Political Destabilization

More than Hurricane Helene and Milton bear down on America with deadly force! Our country finds itself being bashed around on multiple fronts more than those two devastating storms.

First, let's look at two of the deadliest hurricanes since Katrina. Helene punched the Southeast in the face. Milton hammered Florida to the canvas. Look at the storm surges of 15 feet and 18 inches of rain in 24 hours! You've got to swallow before you can wrap your mind around those kinds of reports. Incredible loss of lives, property and the ability for communities to function. Those storms took out electricity, water, roads, rails and energy sources.

So, what caused such devastating storms? Let me take you back to 1997-1998 when I spent six months at McMurdo Station in Antarctica. I reported for the Antarctic Sun Newspaper. I interviewed top scientists. They pointed to the coming nightmare of global "Catastrophic Climate Destabilization." I wrote about it with an interview with a scientist name Mr. Rutledge. When he told me that humans' carbon exhaust was warming the oceans that would ultimately cause horrific responses on weather patterns around the globe, I said, "Why aren't you shouting about this situation to the world?" He replied, "I just study the phenomenon. It's your job to report it to the world."

Indeed, I wrote about it in my book: Antarctica: An Extreme Encounter by Frosty Wooldridge. I tried to interview on "60 Minutes...NPR...Terry Gross...Scott Simon...PBS and more." They wouldn't touch it. At the time, over 7.0 billion humans inhabited the planet. All of them burned fuel for energy to eat, warm their homes and travel. Humans burned over 100 million barrels of oil 24/7. They've been burning it at that rate since the 1990's. In 2023, humans reached 8.0 billion. We burn millions upon millions of barrels of oil, propane, coal, wood and other fuels. The carbon exhaust runs into the billions if not trillions of pounds released into the atmosphere annually. It falls as acid rain that poisons our soils. It falls into the oceans to warm them and acidify them. It's killing our reefs. It's killing the ecology of the oceans. When you include the 170 trillion pieces of plastic rolling around our oceans, along with 84,000 different chemicals--good grief, how else do you expect Mother Earth to respond?

Those storms warn the human race exactly what's in store in the future. Everything humans do to this planet will be matched by Mother Nature in the coming years--in highly consequential catastrophic events.

Yes, the media gave us names like Global Warming. Then, Climate Change. Have we done anything to change course? Answer: virtually nothing. Instead we add 83 million new humans, net gain, annually. We surpassed 8.0 billion in 2023 on our way to 9.0 billion by 2040 or sooner.

Electric cars prove about as effective as pissing into the wind to keep dry.

To really bring this home, Florida today houses 21 million people. They remain on course to reach 40 million by 2050. If you think it's going to get better in Florida or any state, think again. At some point in the future, we're facing a "cluster-you know what..." of epic proportions. As a matter of fact, we stand clueless as to what's coming. This quote by my friend, the late Dr. Albert Bartlett, professor of physics, University of Colorado says it all: "Unlimited growth cannot be sustained; you cannot sustain growth in the rates of consumption of resources. No species can overrun the carrying capacity of a finite land mass. This Law cannot be repealed and is not negotiable."

The larger the United States' population becomes, the greater the consequences to human life, plant life and animal life. We race blindly via mass immigration to add another 100 million people to the USA by 2050. Can you imagine what the carbon footprint will be at that time? Can you imagine what kind of hurricanes and tornados will blast our populations to smithereens?

Again, I tried to interview on "60 Minutes" and all the networks. They would rather keep the American public in the dark. They would rather see mass immigration destroy our ability to maintain a functioning civilization. Somebody is hell-bent on destroying America. And, you know something, they are succeeding.

Juxtaposed to Catastrophic Political Destabilization

Now we come to the juxtaposition of destroying our civilization by introducing massive foreigner numbers to a point where we no longer enjoy a cohesive society. Note that we have in excess of 70 to 80 million foreign born in our country. That's legal and illegal immigrants. Like Dr. Bartlett's quote on sustainability, I can state unequivocally that our current sociological, ethnic diversity and cultural disenfranchisement will most certainly destroy the fabric of American society.

“No civilization can withstand the emotional, religious and cultural conflict brought about by mixing incompatible tribes, cultures, religions and world views. Such a social experiment is destroying Western Society. Such an explosive experiment can only end in conflagration, chaos and turmoil. Such deadly experiments will leave Western Societies on the verge of extinction like no war or any enemy could have done with the sword. Mass immigration equates to war with conflict delayed...but it's coming.” Frosty Wooldridge, 2024

You cannot mix Islamic tribes who covet the Qur'an with American tribes who live by the Constitution. You cannot import terrorists and expect them to be civilized. You cannot import illiteracy and poverty, and hope it will assimilate into the mainstream. You cannot force diversity, and hope for a positive outcome. You cannot change human nature.

You can see the examples of our demise in 2024 with Hamas supporters rioting, killing, marching and demanding death to Jewish people. You can see it in Congress with Muslims like Ilhan Omar in Minnesota and Rashida Tlaib in Detroit. You can see it in NYC where immigrants speak 800 different languages. You can see it in the 250,000 drug overdose deaths in the past 3 1/2 years of the Harris-Biden administration with open borders. You can see it in the sheer numbers of over 15 million illegal alien migrants who have invaded our country at the hands of our own president and vice president.

If you don't think America faces its own Armageddon, think again.
