ICE Union Slams Portland, Oregon Mayor Ted Wheeler Over His Encouraging Protests

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

The union representing employees of U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement urged the mayor of Portland, Oregon, to end his ban on city police helping ICE workers who have faced hostility from pro-immigrant activists.

Sean Riddell, the union's attorney, asked Mayor Ted Wheeler for a meeting about the hands-off policy and threatened legal action if things do not change.

"Your policy has created a zone of terror and lawlessness," Riddell said in a letter Monday.

It stems from a recent protest outside an ICE facility in Portland that was mostly peaceful. Activists opposed to President Donald Trump's policy of separating immigrant families at the U.S.-Mexico border set up camp in mid-June and stayed around the clock for nearly 40 days.

Wheeler, a Trump critic in a state that instituted the first statewide sanctuary protections for immigrants in the country illegally, said in a series of tweets at the start of the protest that ICE would not get help from city officers if the agency wants to evict protesters.

Riddell said he understands that the mayor disagrees with Trump's policies.

"But we fail to see why targeting the employees of ICE and leaving them vulnerable to violence, harassment and even death furthers a legitimate government interest," the union attorney said.

The mayor's office told The Oregonian/OregonLive that Wheeler's legal counsel was reviewing the letter and had no further comment.

Wheeler's chief of staff, Michael Cox, did not immediately return a message from The Associated Press.

The mayor backtracked to a degree as the occupation stretched from days to weeks to more than a month. On July 23, he warned protesters to disband before they were removed by police. The occupation ended peacefully the following day.

The letter emailed to the mayor's chief of staff Monday said the ICE union would like to avoid federal litigation but is "prepared to protect our membership and their families."

The letter references the 14th Amendment, which guarantees citizens equal protection under the law.

President Trump has been in a state of low-simmering rage since almost the moment he took office, frustrated beyond compare over the never-ending Russia investigation and the constant cloud of suspicion hanging over his 2016 campaign. But in recent days, that simmer has turned into a boil. This weekend, enraged by the revelation that the Obama administration had sent an informant into his campaign to bring back dirt, he demanded that the Department of Justice launch an investigation into what very well could turn out to be the biggest political scandal of all time.

“I hereby demand, and will do so officially tomorrow, that the Department of Justice look into whether or not the FBI/DOJ infiltrated or surveilled the Trump Campaign for Political Purposes – and if any such demands or requests were made by people within the Obama Administration!” Trump tweeted on Sunday.

This marks only the second time that the president has taken direct action to change the course of the Russia investigation, the first being the firing of FBI Director James Comey. That action resulted in the appointment of special counsel Robert Mueller, but on this one, Trump appears to have gotten his way. The Justice Department announced only hours after the president’s tweet that it would refer the matter to the Office of the Inspector General, who is already looking into FISA warrant abuse on the part of the Obama administration.

On Wednesday, Trump was still in a state of rage. He published a series of tweets expressing his disbelief about the unethical and potentially illegal machinations of the intelligence community leading up to the 2016 election.

“Look how things have turned around on the Criminal Deep State,” he wrote. “They go after Phony Collusion with Russia, a made up Scam, and end up getting caught in a major SPY scandal the likes of which this country may never have seen before! What goes around, comes around!”

“SPYGATE,” he added in a follow-up, “could be one of the biggest political scandals in history!”

Trump’s tweets and the recent revelations about the Obama FBI using an informant to gather intelligence from Trump campaign officials has the unmistakable whiff of things coming to a head. If we were to guess, Rudy Giuliani was way off when he predicted that Robert Mueller’s investigation would come to an end on September 1. From the way things are looking, this thing won’t make it very deep into the summer before the president pulls the plug.

For whatever else he has accomplished in his special counsel’s office, Mueller has utterly failed to do the one thing he was supposed to do: Cover up the illegal activities of the agency he once called home. It’s all coming out now.

Former U.S. Counterintelligence Officer Indicted For Spying For The Iranian Intelligence

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

“They [Brennan, Clapper and Comey] were faithful in providing President Barack Obama with reports that coincided with White House lies. A priority was their work spying on the Trump campaign, his transition into the White House and the creation of fabricated stories by the likes of the politically-corrupted CIA Director John Brennan, National Intelligence Director James Clapper and FBI Director James Comey,” said former NYPD Intelligence Division Det. Lt. Samuel Montgomery.

Monica Elfriede Witt, 39, a former U.S. service member and counterintelligence agent, has been indicted by a federal grand jury in the District of Columbia for conspiracy to deliver and delivering national defense information to representatives of the Iranian government. Witt, who defected to Iran in 2013, is alleged to have assisted Iranian intelligence services in targeting her former fellow agents in the U.S. Intelligence Community (USIC).

Witt is also alleged to have disclosed the code name and classified mission of a U.S. Department of Defense Special Access Program. An arrest warrant has been issued for Witt, who remains at large, possibly residing in Tehran.

Monica Witt, a U.S. citizen, was an active duty U.S. Air Force Intelligence Specialist and Special Agent of the Air Force Office of Special Investigations, who entered on duty in 1997 and left the U.S. government in 2008.

Monica Witt separated from the Air Force in 2008 and ended work with DOD as a contractor in 2010. During her tenure with the U.S. government, Witt was granted high-level security clearances and was deployed overseas to conduct classified counterintelligence missions.

In Feb. 2012, Witt traveled to Iran to attend the Iranian New Horizon Organization's "Hollywoodism" conference, an IRGC-sponsored event aimed at, among other things, condemning American moral standards and promoting anti-U.S. propaganda.

Through subsequent interactions and communications with a dual United States-Iranian citizen referred to in the federal indictment as Subject A, Witt successfully arranged to re-enter Iran in Aug. 2013. Thereafter, Iranian government officials provided Witt with housing and computer equipment. She went on to disclose U.S. classified information to the Iranian government official.

As part of her work on behalf of the Iranian government, she conducted research about U.S. intelligence community personnel that she had known and worked with, and used that information to draft “target packages” against these U.S. agents.

Iranian Hacking Efforts Targeting Witt’s Former Colleagues

Although the United States government spends billions of dollars on intelligence and counterintelligence, this leviathan of secrets and plots – 17 separate agencies – appears to have been too busy to have caught traitors who spy for U.S. enemies.

“They [Brennan, Clapper and Comey] were faithful in providing President Barack Obama with reports that coincided with White House lies. A priority was their work spying on the Trump campaign, his transition into the White House and the creation of fabricated stories by the likes of the politically-corrupted CIA Director John Brennan, National Intelligence Director James Clapper and FBI Director James Comey,” said former NYPD Intelligence Division Det. Lt. Samuel Montgomery.

Beginning in late 2014, the Cyber Conspirators began a malicious campaign targeting Witt’s former co-workers and colleagues. Specifically, Mesri registered and helped manage an Iranian company, the identity of which is known to the United States, which conducted computer intrusions against targets inside and outside the United States on behalf of the IRGC. Using computer and online infrastructure, in some cases procured by Mesri, the conspiracy tested its malware and gathered information from target computers or networks, and sent spearphishing messages to its targets.

Specifically, between Jan. and May 2015, the Cyber Conspirators, using fictitious and imposter accounts, attempted to trick their targets into clicking links or opening files that would allow the conspirators to deploy malware on the target's computer. In one such instance, the Cyber Conspirators created a Facebook account that purported to belong to a USIC employee and former colleague of Witt, and which utilized legitimate information and photos from the USIC employee's actual Facebook account. This particular fake account caused several of Witt's former colleagues to accept "friend" requests.

The case is being investigated by the FBI's Washington Field Office with assistance from the Air Force Office of Special Investigations. The prosecution is being handled by Assistant U.S. Attorneys Deborah Curtis, Jocelyn Ballantine and Luke Jones of the U.S. Attorney's Office for the District of Columbia with assistance from Trial Attorney Evan N. Turgeon of the National Security Division's Counterintelligence and Export Control Section.

Beto O'Rourke: The Selling Of Socialism By The Fawning Media

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

Many Democrats already believe that Texas Democrat “Beto” O’Rourke is the man who can beat President Trump in 2020, however, one of television’s favorite physicians Dr. Drew Pinsky is concerned that “something’s not right” with the former congressman. And the good doctor didn’t even mention Beto’s arrests for drunk driving or burglary. (See Police Report at bottom of story). All of this is sure to deny Pinsky appearances on CNN, MSNBC, Good Morning America, the Today Show and the rest of the major news media outlets.

“I thought that [O’Rourke] was Tony Robbins (a huckster known for his infomercials, seminars, and self-help books including Unlimited Power and Awaken the Giant Within),” Pinsky, a board-certified internist and addiction medicine specialist, said on the “Brian Kilmeade Show” in response to audio of O’Rourke’s presidential announcement video.

“I’m just saying, there’s something gonna go down there. I can feel it coming. I don’t know what it is... There’s something not right,” Pinsky said.

Beto O’Rourke is a Texas Democrat who’s running for President of the United States against a plethora of Democratic candidates in the November 2020 election against GOP incumbent Donald Trump. On Thursday, Beto O’Rourke finally announced what most political pundits already believed: He’s running for President against an army of Democratic competitors. And while Rep. Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez – dubbed AOC by the fawning news media – appears to be carrying the Socialist Flag, Beto is thought to be better at contorting the English language.

Almost immediately, the national press began gushing over Beto. For example, MSNBC's Chris Matthews who was famously mocked for his overt elation for then-candidate Barack Obama during the 2008 presidential election, where he said he felt a "thrill" up his leg for the Democrat. It appears O'Rourke is the new Obama, at least for Matthews.

"It should be noted that this was the same lefty host who hosted a pep rally disguised as a town hall for Robert Francis O'Rourke on October 30, 2018, and was nearly unanimous in terms of softballs compared to actual questions," NewsBusters managing editor Curtis Houck wrote.

The El Paso, Texas Democrat was a political flop far before he entered the national stage. He's frequently been caught lying, cheating, and misleading his constituents to the point where even his fellow Democrats hate him in his own city, according to Red State political reporter Brandon Morse.

According to a law enforcement colleague, Professor Jean Reynolds, in 1998 at 26-years old O'Rourke was arrested for driving while intoxicated (DUI) and attempting to flee the scene of an accident. That accident had become an issue in the senatorial campaign that he lost to Texas Republican Ted Cruz despite the financial backing of radical multi-billionaire George Soros and MoveOn.org. Prof. Reynold's teaching experience includes a police academy and a prison school.

On September 27, 1998, I was dispatched to I-10 East Mile Marker 2, reference to a motor vehicle accident. I met with the reporter and driver of the American Medical Ambulance. The reporter said that while he and his partner were traveling East bound on I-10 they observed a green in color Volvo pass them at a high rate of speed. The vehicle then lost control moments later and struck a truck traveling the same direction. After the driver/defendant struck the truck it went the defendant's vehicle across the center median and to a complete stop facing east bound. The defendant/driver then attempted to leave the scene, the reporter then turned on his over head lights to warn oncoming traffic and to try to get the defendant to stop. When I made contact with the driver I asked him if he was hurt and that if he needs medical attention. Defendant was unable to be understood due to slurred speech. Defendant also had glassy eyes and breath smelled of an alcohol beverage. I then asked the driver / defendant to step out of the vehicle, upon doing so the defendant almost fell to the floor. I asked the defendant if he had consumed any alcohol beverages that morning and he answered yes. I then decided to conduct the one leg stand and the walk and turn tests. I fully instructed the driver / defendant on how to complete both tests. The defendant / driver could not count in a paced manner on the walk and turn and on the one leg stand the subject attempted several times and failed by losing his balance. At this time I placed the defendant behind my patrol unit. SGT. BARGONE arrived to the scene at this time and advised me that he would handle the motor vehicle accident. I transported the defendant to the El Paso Police West Side Sub Station where he was read the Police Officer Statutory Warning and agreed to take the breath test. Defendant blew a .130 and a .134, he was later transported to Judge Kosterkiss for Magistrate Waring and Bond Setting and later booked into the County Jail.

"I met with the reporter who said he was traveling west bound on I-10 and observed a black in color Volvo traveling the same direction at a high rate of speed. The driver then lost control of the vehicle and struck a truck traveling the same direction sending the defendants vehicle across the center median and pointing eastbound. The driver attempted to leave the accident but was stopped by the reporter. It was then determined after a brief interview that the defendant/driver was intoxicated. The defendant was then transported the El Paso Police West side Sub Station Where he was given the Breath Test. Subject failed."

The reporter told me the following:

- the driver lost control of the vehicle
- it struck a truck traveling the same direction
- it crossed the center median and pointed eastbound
- the driver tried to leave the accident
- the reporter stopped him

Border Patrol Commanders Uncover Secret Democrats' Lies And The Media's 'Fake News' About Immigration

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

President Donald Trump's top border official sternly reported to those Democrats in Congress that the only 'fake news' being spouted by the leftist water carriers in the media is calling what's going on at the southwest border anything less than a crisis. Carla Provost testified before the House Judiciary Committee and said, "There is an ongoing debate whether this constitutes a border security crisis or a humanitarian crisis." Trump's border chief claims that the U.S. Congress and the American people must understand that both are true: It is at once a national security crisis and a humanitarian crisis.

Chief Provost told the committee members that they must "look at what's happening on the ground" rather than playing with the numbers and statistics which many believe is the M.O. (Modus Operandi) of the Democratic Party and their media cohorts.

An example of this is how the number of border apprehensions is used to prove there is no crisis. It's true that last year's numbers are less than half of the 1 million people who were caught illegally crossing into the U.S. in the 1990s and 2000s. However, Provost pointed out, "today has different needs and is taking up more agency resources than a person they used to arrest."

In the past, most of those apprehended were adult Mexican citizens. Most of these were documented by Border Patrol, turned over to Immigration and Customs Enforcement's Enforcement (ICE) and immediately deported."

What makes the current situation a crisis rests in the demographics of those apprehended. Over the last few years, the Central American children or families represent half of those apprehended at the border. Provost said, "Up until this decade, most of those crossing the border illegally were single adult males. Today, family units and unaccompanied alien children (UAC) make up 60 percent of illegal border crossings along the southwest border."

Because these children are from countries other than Canada and Mexico, they are protected by a 2008 trafficking law that forbids them being removed immediately. This and other factors have pushed Border Patrol past its limits with 2,000 people being arrested every 24 hours. Most of those cannot be deported immediately because the majority are families for Central America claiming asylum after illegally entering.

"In the El Paso Sector alone," said Provost, "we have seen a 434 percent increase in apprehensions this fiscal year. Many of these are family units and UAC arriving in large groups, exacerbating capacity constraints in our facilities."

Because so many of those apprehended require medical attention, the border chief said that about 5,000 of her 20,000 agents are unable to man the U.S.-Mexico border. They instead are needed to transport and care for illegal immigrants requiring medical care.

Each day, nearly 25 percent of my agents are diverted away from our border security mission to care for, transport, and process family members and unaccompanied children.

55 illegal immigrants a day are taken to medical appointments at outside facilities. Despite the media's mischaracterization of border agents, Provost said those agents "do not leave their humanity at home" but care for those in distress.

Danielle Campoamor of NBC News illustrates perfectly what our top Border official is trying to tell us. Either Campoamor is ignorant of what is really happening on the ground or bashing President Trump is more important than the lives of real people on both sides of the border.

Campoamor quotes the prevailing mainstream media narrative that "illegal border crossings and apprehensions have been declining for nearly two decades" and "undocumented immigrants commit less crime than native-born citizens." NBC's conclusion: what President Trump says is fake news, what they say is not.

But President Trump is not listening to the media to get his news about what is happening at the border. Contrary to what NBC suggests, Trump has not “manufactured an immigration crisis for his own political gain, hoping that a fear of “the other” will help him win reelection in 2020”, he has been listening to the person who knows better than anyone else what is really happening at our border.

Provost’s comments directly refute Democratic critics who have declared Trump’s crisis declaration a “fake emergency.” Congressional Democrats voted to block Trump’s emergency declaration, several progressive groups are suing to block the move in court, and Mitch McConnell is hinting he cannot ensure the Senate won’t follow suit.

Trump has already promised to veto any legislation that attempts to block his declaration of a national emergency. While Washington continues to act like Washington, Donald Trump is doing something many have grown so unaccustomed to it seems revolutionary – he’s keeping a promise.

Donald Trump said elect me and I’ll build the wall. We voted, and he’s keeping his promise.

Top 5 border falsehoods pushed by Congressional Democrats and the media

On Thursday, the Department of Homeland Security’s “Top Cop” endured the unpleasant task of appearing before a congressional committee and she was subjected to adolescent badgering by what some observers called a declining Democratic Party’s socialists.

“Rather than asking questions designed to elicit important information for the American people, the Democrats efforts are decidedly formulated to chastise, ridicule, and denigrate their target and to show how they are opposed to President Donald Trump and his policies,” said former police detective and security director Iris Aquino.

“It’s refreshing to watch law enforcement people getting the Democrats to expose themselves as political pawns of the Deep State,” she added.

According to a White House spokesman, Homeland Security Secretary Kirstjen Nielsen’s testimony before Congress yesterday was mostly about National Emergency on our southern border. In reporting the latest statistics from U.S. border officials, she confronted the Democrats’ no. 1 immigration myth head-on. “We face a crisis—a real, serious, and sustained crisis at our borders,” she said.

The reason Democrats defend the status quo is not because they or anyone else believe that America’s broken immigration system is working. Indeed, the problem has only gotten worse since former President Obama himself called it a “humanitarian crisis” nearly five years ago, the Trump spokesman said.

But acknowledging such a crisis exists today would make Democrats accountable for working with President Trump to help solve it. Their leaders have already gone on the record to say they will not. Instead, they hope to keep a lid on the ugly, painful truths behind the emergency unfolding along our southern border, said the Trump White House communications department writers.

In a statement to correct myths created by the Democratic Party and their water-carrying news media, It was time to clearly set the record straight:

MYTH: There is no crisis at the border.

FACT: We continue to face a surge in illegal immigration that has brought the border crisis to a breaking point.

There has been a massive surge in illegal migrants arriving at our border, with more than 76,000 apprehended or deemed inadmissible at a port of entry last month—the most of any February during the past 12 years.

This fiscal year, U.S. Border Patrol has seen a 97 percent increase in apprehensions compared to the same time period last year.

Even before this recent surge, former President Obama called the situation at our southern border “a humanitarian crisis” as early as 2014.

MYTH: The problem at the border used to be much worse.

FACT: Today, we face an unprecedented number of illegal immigrants that loopholes prevent from being returned quickly to their home countries.

The makeup of illegal immigration has completely changed from previous years. Now, record numbers of family units and minors are arriving at our border, and legal loopholes force them to be released into the interior of the country. Human smugglers know this, and these criminal enterprises routinely exploit these loopholes to smuggle children across the border as leverage.

By contrast, in FY 2000, Customs and Border Patrol (CBP) apprehensions were primarily single adults and, as such, 95 percent of those apprehended were repatriated within hours.

Apprehensions of family unit aliens and Unaccompanied Alien Children (UAC) have surged by 338 percent and 54 percent respectively this year.

MYTH: A wall wouldn't help because drugs are coming through ports of entry.

FACT: Not only do we not know the amount of drugs smuggled between ports of entry, but building the wall will help free up more resources to seize the drugs coming in.

Obviously, there are more drug seizures at ports of entry that are manned by security than remote areas of the border with limited law enforcement presence. That doesn't mean drugs aren't coming in between ports of entry.

A physical barrier allows law enforcement personnel on the ground to carry out their missions more safely and effectively, preventing more deadly drugs and criminals from crossing our border in undermanned areas.

MYTH: Law enforcement such as ICE and U.S. Border Patrol are the villains in this story.

FACT: The real villains are the vile cartels and smugglers who exploit loopholes in our immigration laws for their own horrific gain. Law enforcement is the front line against them.

The brave men and women who enforce our immigration laws and secure our border are working tirelessly to keep our communities safe.

The cartels have devastated American communities with deadly drug supplies.

The smugglers who profit from our weak borders and immigration laws have subjected migrants to horrific violence and abuse. Our border officers are the ones fighting to stop them.

Secretary Nielsen testified on March 6 that law enforcement must give pregnancy tests to all migrant girls 10 years or older as a result of regular sexual assault from smugglers and others on their journey.

One-third of the women making the trek to our border become victims of rape or other forms of sexual abuse.

MYTH: President Trump's executive action on the border is overreaching, similar or worse to President Obama's.

FACT: President Trump's exercise of executive power is categorically different from the kind President Obama used to circumvent existing immigration law.

President Trump acted under the clear authority provided under the National Emergencies Act to address the crisis at the border.

This is the literal and exact opposite of President's Obama's orders invalidating Congressional statute. President Obama violated Congressionally enacted law by effectively awarding lawful presence to those living in the country illegally and granting them affirmative immigration benefits—contravening a variety of clear-cut provisions in the Immigration and Nationality Act (such as 8 U.S.C. §1101, 1158, 1226, 1229b, 1231, 1325, and 1326).

Beyond violating the INA, the whole thrust of President Obama's action was to facilitate activity Congress had expressly outlawed (e.g., illegal entry, illegal work, etc.).

By contrast, President Trump is fulfilling his core Article II duties to enforce our duly passed immigration laws and prevent foreign nationals from violating those laws en masse. Whereas President Obama could not find a single statute authorizing his Administration to issue DACA/DAPA (because none existed), President Trump's emergency declaration is an explicit and straightforward invocation of authority delegated to the President by Congress.

Far from unprecedented, 60 national emergencies have been declared since Congress passed the National Emergencies Act in 1976, and 32 are still in effect today. The President's Emergency declaration enforces existing law and carries out his sworn duty to uphold U.S. sovereignty and national security.

New Jersey GOP Candidate Declares War On Elder Abuse: America's Forgotten Crime

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

This week, Morris County, New Jersey's GOP Freeholder and private-practice attorney Heather Daring officially threw her hat in the ring and announced her Republican Party candidacy for Morris County Surrogate. She hopes to step into a special election being held to replace the current County Surrogate, John Pecoraro, who said it is his time to retire at the end of this term.

"My 15 years of legal and business experience in private practice, having provided legal representation to many individuals in the Morris County Surrogate's Court along with my personal experiences will ensure that the benefits to the individuals served by this office are maximized," said Darling, a Seton Hall University School of Law graduate.

While she said she loves being a Morris County Freeholder, she believes that as a Surrogate, her legal and life experience will benefit those senior citizens who are not only abandoned in many cases, but are also physically and psychologically abused by the own families, healthcare workers and even those who are supposed to protect them and their interests.

Elder abuse in the United States is not a new pathological phenomenon, but unfortunately for far too long it never garnered the public or news media attention it deserved until recently.

According to former New York Police Detective Ellen King, awareness of “granny battering” has increased following the House Select Committee on Aging hearings about elder abuse in the United States. An amendment to the Social Security Act created Adult Protection Services (APS), which was originally designed to protect adults with physical and/or mental limitations, but its mission was later expanded to encompass cases of physical and mental elder abuse as well.

Sadly, just passing legislation or “rearranging the deckchairs on a sinking ship” did little to alleviate the pain and sorrow experienced by the elderly, especially those suffering from physical and mental disabilities.

“This vacancy in the Surrogate’s Office offers an opportunity for me to bring new ideas and make significant changes for the benefit of seniors and special needs citizens in Morris County,” said Ms. Darling, a Roxbury Township resident.

Her experience with the elderly began even before sitting for – and passing – the New Jersey Bar Exam. While attending Seton Hall University School of Law, Heather J. Darling was teacher’s assistant to her family law professor and she participated in Seton Hall’s Fair Housing Clinic assisting victims of predatory lending schemes. Following her graduation Heather was a law clerk to the Honorable Phillip B. Cummis, J.S.C. in the exceedingly busy and diverse Essex County Family Court after completing law school.

Elder abuse is defined by law enforcement as the “intentional or neglectful acts by a caregiver or ‘trusted’ individual that lead to, or may lead to, harm of a vulnerable elder.”

According to Detective King, whose career included a professorship at the world famous John Jay College of Criminal Justice in New York City. It is often a “hidden offence, often perpetrated against vulnerable people, many with memory impairment, by those on whom they depend,” said King.

Elder abuse is common, with one study suggesting that it may affect as many as 1 in 4 vulnerable older people. According to the National Council on Aging, approximately 1 in 10 Americans older than 60 years has been the victim of abuse, including physical abuse, psychological or verbal abuse, sexual abuse, financial exploitation, or neglect.

According to the National Association of Chiefs of Police, given the rapidly burgeoning population of older adults in the United States, the number of potentially abused elders is staggering: in 2015, older adults – defined as people age 65 years or above (47.8 million) constituted nearly 15% of the US population – up by 1.6 million from 2014. It is projected that by 2060, the number will reach 98.2 million, comprising nearly one-fourth of US residents as the “Baby Boomers” age and as life expectancy is expected to increase. Of these, 19.7 million will be age 85 years or older.

Smollett Hoax: Democrats, Media Refuse To Let Facts Get In Way Of An Anti-Trump Story

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

In case after case after case, the mainstream media devour any story that just fits their radical, extreme extension of the Democratic socialist party agenda. If it advances the narrative that Donald Trump is evil and his supporters are bad and America is scary and racist and sexist, homophobic, xenophobic, Islamophobic, the media mob will shift into full gear without performing any due diligence – without even picking up the telephone, without any kind of investigation, not even five minutes worth.

Look at what they did to the 16-year-old Covington high school student, Nick Sandmann. Off a 15-second blurb, they accused him of being a racist, harassed him, accused him of assaulting a 65-year-old activist and getting in his face. They tried to ruin this kid's life with slander, smearing, besmirching, character assassination.

They accused Justice Brett Kavanaugh of gang rape, saying that every other weekend, he and his friends were drugging teenage girls and literally, you know, lining up in the hall for gang rapes that nobody ever reported. They tried to ruin his life, tried to call him an alcoholic. We know how that ended. He is now a Supreme Court justice.

Here is a long list of false hate crime reports that were used to tarnish President Donald Trump and members of his administration.

What is equally frustrating is that the repercussions for those that report them have been minimal. Let us think back for a moment on the Roseanne Barr tweet that rocked the world, right? Barr was fired within hours however, Jussie Smollett who has faked his own homophobic and racist attack is still employed.

So, here is a list starting back from before the 2016 election compiled by the New York Post that turned out to be fraudulent.

- Just before the 2016 election, the 111-year-old Hopewell Baptist Church was attacked with fire and graffiti that said, "Vote Trump." "The political message of the vandalism is obviously an attempt to sway public opinion regarding the upcoming election," said Rep. Bennie Thompson (D-Miss.). Turns out the arsonist was Andrew McClinton, 48, an African-American member of the church.
- "Heil Trump" and "F-g Church" were spray-painted on St. David's Episcopal Church in Indiana after the election. It was the gay organ player who did it. "Over the course of that week, I was fearful, scared and alone, too, in my fear," George Nathaniel "Nathan" Stang, 26, explained

to the IndyStar. “I guess one of the driving factors behind me committing the act was that I wanted other people to be scared with me.”

- Yasmin Seweid, 18, told police that three Donald Trump supporters harassed her and tried to steal her hijab on a No. 6 train in New York City. But the Dec. 1, 2016, alleged hate crime fell apart two weeks later when Seweid admitted she made the whole thing up because she'd been out late drinking with friends and was afraid her strict Muslim Egyptian father would be angry.
- Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti was vandalized for months by graffiti that said, “leave n--s” and “KKK.” A former student, African-American Eddie Curlin, 29, was eventually caught. “It was totally self-serving,” said Robert Heighes, the university's chief of police. “It was not driven by politics. It was not driven by race.”
- More than 2,000 bomb threats to Jewish institutions, including the Israeli Embassy in Washington, DC, were made in the first three months of 2017. “My personal take is it's a statement of where we are in this country,” Michael Feinstein, the chief executive of the Bender Jewish Community Center of Greater Washington, in Rockville, Md., told The Times. In March 2017, an arrest was finally made in many of the incidents: that of a 19-year-old Jewish Israeli-American named Michael Ron David Kadar. Kadar had been rejected from the Israeli Defense Forces over mental health issues and claimed in his defense that he had a brain tumor.
- A few of the threats didn't come from the Jewish teenager. At least eight were the work of Juan Thompson, 32, who was trying to frame a woman who had broken up with him. Thompson, a black journalist, had previously been fired from The Intercept for making up sources and stories. In response to his firing, he blamed the “white New York media” and claimed his editors were racist.
- Forty-two Jewish tombstones were toppled in Washington Cemetery in Midwood, Brooklyn, in March 2017. While officials were worried it was an anti-Semitic act, after an investigation, the NYPD named another suspect: the wind. “[It was] due to neglect, or weather factors like soil and dirt and wind. There is no evidence to suggest this was a case of vandalism,” a police spokesman said.

- Five black cadet candidates were bombarded with hate speech on message boards at the Air Force Academy Preparatory School in September 2017. It turns out that the comments were written by one of the African-American cadets. CNN commentator Frida Ghitis didn't think that point mattered much in a follow-up report, saying, “The election of President Donald Trump lifted the rock under which much of the hatred had hidden, allowing it to squirm out into the light.”
- African-American Adwoa Lewis, 20, of Long Island said four teens yelled “Trump 2016!,” told her she didn't belong here and slashed her tires in September 2018, leaving a note that read “Go Home.” She later admitted to making the story up and putting the note on her car.
- Union Temple in Brooklyn was defaced by messages such as, “Die Jew Rats” and “Jew Better Be Ready” in early November 2018. The culprit? Gay African-American James Polite, who had previously interned for City Council Speaker Christine Quinn and was raised by Jewish foster parents. He was charged for hate crimes for the graffiti and setting fires at four other Jewish temples and schools. But friends and advocates say bigotry isn't to blame; Polite is bipolar and was convinced that the FBI and CIA had taken over the city's homeless shelter system.
- More than 100 students marched to demand “safe spaces” after “KKK,” swastikas and the last names of four black and Latino students were scrawled in a bathroom stall at Goucher College near Baltimore in November 2018. But it turned out one of those graffiti'd names, Flynn Arthur, 21, was the person responsible. The biracial lacrosse player explained to cops that “he had been drinking and just did something dumb.”

- On Dec. 30, 2018, a 7-year-old African-American girl, Jazmine Barnes, was killed in a drive-by shooting. Witnesses said a white man in a pickup truck was nearby. “We’ve got to call it what it is. Black people are being targeted in this country,” said activist Deric Muhammad. Rep. Sheila Jackson Lee (D-Texas) insisted, “Do not be afraid to call this what it seems to be – a hate crime,” But the investigation led to the arrest of two African-Americans, Eric Black Jr. and Larry D. Woodruffe, who police believe shot into Barnes’ car in a case of mistaken identity.
- This past New Year’s Eve, three Savannah churches and a civil rights museum were vandalized, raising the specter of a hate crime. But it was an African-American, David Smith III, who had thrown bricks through the doors.
- Video went viral of a Jan. 18 confrontation at the March for Life in Washington, DC, showing a group of students from Covington Catholic HS in Kentucky, some in MAGA hats, in a confrontation with a Native American, Nathan Phillips. “They were in the process of attacking these four black individuals,” Phillips told the Detroit Free Press. “I was there, and I was witnessing all of this ... As this kept on going on and escalating, it just got to a point where you do something or you walk away, you know? You see something that is wrong, and you’re faced with that choice of right or wrong.” Other videos quickly proved that Phillips was lying. A group of Black Israelites was taunting the Covington teens with racial insults such as, “Christ is coming back to kick your cracker asses.” And Phillips wasn’t surrounded by the Covington students; he walked into the group and started banging a drum in the face of one of the kids, whose bewildered expression had online commentators quick to label a smirk. A lawyer for a Covington student has filed a defamation suit against the Washington Post for $250 million in damages.

Google Pulls Advertisers From NewsWithViews.Com For Its Conservative Content

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

While members of both political parties appear quite interested in having more and more control over the last frontier on the earth – the worldwide web – conservatives and libertarians are openly hostile to such talk of “regulating” or “controlling” the Internet.

With some of the wealthiest corporations in the world Internet-related, they know that those who control cyberspace will dictate advertising costs and will lead to Internet users being bombarded by “pop-ups,” “additional windows pages” and other technical tricks to lure Internet users away from their original web pages and onto web sites selling time-shares, cosmetics, computer security or hair transplants.

In today's booming economy, thanks to the new Trump administration, advertisers continue to flock to the Internet to sell their products and services. Those companies who make billions of dollars on ads for everything from pet carriers to luxury automobiles are helping to increase the number of ultra-wealthy businessmen who grow with the speed of the Internet.

In fact, online shoppers know they can find the best deals on just about every product or service one can think of and buy it for less money since comparison shopping is only one mouse-click away.

The privately-owned web sites that have advertisements placed on them by search engines Internet servers such as Google, America Online, Yahoo, and others, will usually share in the profits with a percentage based on the number of web site visitors who actually leave the web site they first visited and enter the web site of the advertiser. And so, the more viewers a web site entices the more advertisers will be given attention by visitors.

However, according to an inside source, Google is arbitrarily removing their ads from Internet web sites due to what it calls a "spike of criticism that its automatic, programmatic advertising seemingly cannot stop mainstream brands from appearing alongside extremist and offensive material."

Last week in European Union nations, a number of brands and publishers said they would pull advertising from Google's network after their ads were revealed to be shown alongside content such as videos promoting terrorism and anti-Semitism.

No one would wish their hair shampoo ad to be juxtaposed with an anti-Israeli news story that glorifies the Palestinian militants, nor would a company wish their ad for a swimming pool installation firm be positioned near an ad or news story focusing on climate change.

In response to criticism last week from advertisers Google said it would be expanding controls to give them more say over where their ads appear on YouTube and the Google Display Network.

More brands have since joined the boycott.

Google is now providing more details on its response – and says it’s already started making changes, evidently hoping to stem the flow of brands away from its ad network. Chief business officer Philipp Schindler writes that Google has “already begun ramping up changes” in three areas: its ad policies; enforcement of the policies; and new controls for advertisers.

“Recently, we had a number of cases where brands’ ads appeared on content that was not aligned with their values. For this, we deeply apologize,” he writes. “We know that this is unacceptable to the advertisers and agencies who put their trust in us. That’s why we’ve been conducting an extensive review of our advertising policies and tools, and why we made a public commitment last week to put in place changes that would give brands more control over where their ads appear.”

Among the changes Schindler covers in the blog is what he describes as “a tougher stance on hateful, offensive and derogatory content.”

And not just for ad display purposes; the suggestion is Google will be removing more types of offensive content from YouTube entirely – a tacit admission that hosting such content is becoming increasingly problematic for a company that has historically sat firmly in the U.S. “free speech” camp, yet which finds itself in the political firing line more and more, accused of helping spread hate online by providing a platform plus financial incentives for content intended to expand societal divisions.

“What troubles me as a private business owner who advertises on Google, Facebook and other social media is that they don’t tell you what is considered offensive since that is arguably very subjective. For instance, a news story or commentary about a President Trump political rally may be offensive to some people, while many other readers may be interested in both the story and the advertisements. Who makes the decisions to allow or refuse an advertisement on a publication in which a political issue or perceived political issue is seen,” said George DeLuca a former newsman and now a private investigator?

In Germany the government is ready to set standards for social media companies to promptly remove hate speech content from their platforms – with the country last week accusing internet companies of failing to act swiftly enough on user complaints. (Although, in that instance, Google was commended for improved responses to user complaints about illegal content on YouTube, versus Facebook and Twitter being criticized for getting worse at swiftly handling complaints.)

"We know advertisers don't want their ads next to content that doesn't align with their values. So, starting today, we're taking a tougher stance on hateful, offensive and derogatory content," writes Google's Schindler. "This includes removing ads more effectively from content that is attacking or harassing people based on their race, religion, gender or similar categories. This change will enable us to act, where appropriate, on a larger set of ads and sites.

According to an expert web designer and webmaster "Diana," during an interview with NewswithViews.com on Tuesday, she had been sent a violation notice from Google about their position on posting advertisements on the popular conservative-libertarian news and commentary NWV web site.

The email sent regarding a policy violation states the following, according to "Diana":

Dear Publisher,

This Google Publisher Policy Report gives you an overview of recent activity related to violations found on specific pages of your websites. As enforcement statuses may change over time, please refer to the "Page-level enforcements" section of the AdSense Policy Center for the current list of active violations.

Please note this report doesn't cover violations that may happen on an overall site or account level. You may be notified by a separate email if site or account level violations are found. Ads will continue to serve where no policy violations have been found, either at the page- or site-level.

In the last 24 hours:

New violations were detected. As a result, ad serving has been restricted or disabled on pages where these violations of the AdSense Program Policies were found. To resolve the issues, you can either remove the violating content and request a review or remove the ad code from the violating pages.

Further details on enforcements can be found in the AdSense Help Center. To learn more about our program policies, please view the AdSense Program Policies.

Kind regards,

Google Publisher Policy

“Finally, we won’t stop at taking down ads. The team is taking a hard look at our existing community guidelines to determine what content is allowed on the platform – not just what content can be monetized.”

The company’s web site also says Google will also be tightening safeguards for ad display pertaining to its Partner Program.

Among the new tools for advertisers that Google says it will be introducing in the “coming days and months” are:

- stricter default settings for ads so they are less likely to appear beside “potentially objectionable content,” as Google puts it – with brands having to actively opt in to advertise on “broader types of content if they choose”
- new account-level controls to make it easier for advertisers to exclude specific sites and channels from all of their AdWords for Video and Google Display Network campaigns, and enabling them to manage brand safety settings across all their campaigns “with a push of a button”
- additional controls aimed at making it easier for brands to exclude “higher risk content and fine-tune where they want their ads to appear”

Google also says it will be beefing up resources, accelerating reviews and giving advertisers and agencies “more transparency and visibility” – with expanded availability of video-level reporting to all advertisers “in the coming months.”

The company says it will be hiring “significantly” more staff to handle the issue, as well as developing additional tools – saying it will seek to apply AI and machine learning to “increase our capacity to review questionable content for advertising.”

Advertisers with complaints about where their ads are appearing will also have access to a “new escalation path to make it easier for them to raise issues” in the future – with Google also claiming it will soon be able to resolve these cases “in less than a few hours.”

“We believe the combination of these new policies and controls will significantly strengthen our ability to help advertisers reach audiences at scale, while respecting their values,” adds Schindler. “We will continue to act swiftly to put these new policies and processes in place across our ad network and YouTube. But we also intend to act carefully, preserving the value we currently provide to advertisers, publishers and creators of all sizes. In the end, there’s nothing more important to Google than the trust we’ve built amongst our users, advertisers, creators and publishers. Brand safety is an ongoing commitment for us, and we’ll continue to listen to your feedback.”

We’ve reached out to Google with questions.

NewsWithViews.com columnist, Ron Ewart, President of the National Association of Rural Landowners, when he discovered the activities of Google, launched his own action against the media giant. “Few Silicon Valley companies have ever embraced a political party as passionately as Google has. Its executive chairman, Eric Schmidt, has been described as a “kind of guru” to President Obama’s campaign manager, and Google employees emerged as the No. 2 donor to the Democratic National Committee in the last election,” stated Ewart.

Ewart also mentioned during the telephone interview with a NWV reporter that the Google Chrome Malware Alerts suddenly appeared on conservative articles right after Donald Trump, during a televised rally with 20-thousand cheering supporters, held up an article from the NewsWithViews.com website that verified his assertion about media bias and the NWV website received an astounding 1,000,000 hits in just one day.

Efforts by NWV to contact Google and discuss these serious allegations met with negative results. The person who only gave the name “Heather” said the Google browser is not involved in politics. Senior Editor, Paul Walter said that the Google ads generated between $500 and $1,000 per month for NWV.

Military Agreement Signed By The U.S. And Canada Should Be Nullified By Trump

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

While Americans are being bombarded with large doses of presidential news coverage all of which is designed to hurt President Donald Trump, there is no talk about how the U.S. entered into an agreement with its northern neighbor that may have an impact on future internal military action. The purpose of the quietly signed pact is for troops from Canada to intervene in what is designated a national emergency in the United States and vice versa.

In a political move that received little if any attention by the American news media, the United States and Canada entered into a military agreement on February 14, 2008, allowing the armed forces from one nation to support the armed forces of the other nation during a domestic civil emergency, even one that does not involve a cross-border crisis, according to a police commander involved in homeland security planning and implementation.

It is an initiative of the Bi-National Planning Group whose final report, issued in June 2006, called for the creation of a “Comprehensive Defense and Security Agreement,” or a “continental approach” to Mexico-Canada-United States defense and security.

A law enforcement executive told NewsWithViews.com that the agreement – defined as a Civil Assistance Plan – was not submitted to Congress for debate and approval, nor did Congress pass any law or treaty specifically authorizing this military agreement to combine the operations of the armed forces of the United States and Canada in the event of domestic civil disturbances ranging from violent storms, to health epidemics, to civil riots or terrorist attacks.

“This is a military plan that’s designed to bypass the Posse Comitatus Act that traditionally prohibited the US military from operating within the borders of the United States. Not only will American soldiers be deployed at the discretion of whomever is sitting in the Oval Office, but foreign soldiers will also be deployed in American cities,” warns Lt. S.W. Rodgers, commander of the Nautley Police Department’s detective bureau.

In Canada the agreement paving the way for the militaries of the US and Canada to cross each other’s borders to fight domestic emergencies was not announced either by Prime Minister Harper's administration or the Canadian military. The agreement met with protests and demonstrations by Canadians opposed to such treaties with the US.

"It's kind of a trend when it comes to issues of Canada-US relations and contentious issues like military integration," claims Stuart Trew, a researcher with the Council of Canadians.

"We see that this government is reluctant to disclose information to Canadians that is readily available on American and Mexican websites," he said in a press statement.

The military Civil Assistance Plan is seen by critics as a further incremental step toward creating a North American armed forces available to be deployed in domestic North American emergency situations.

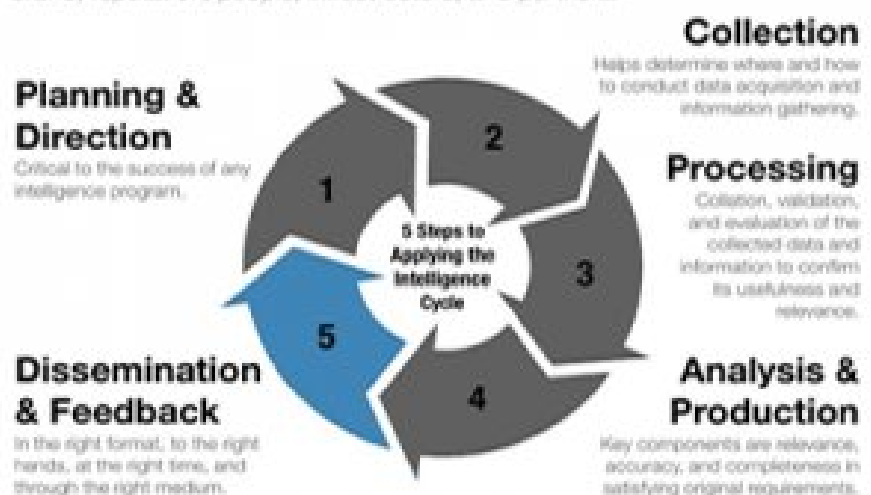

According to the NORTHCOM press release, the plan "allows the military from one nation to support the armed forces of the other nation during a civil emergency."

The agreement was signed at US Army North headquarters by US Air Force commander of NORAD and by the Canadian commander of Air Force Command.

"This document is a unique, bilateral military plan to align our respective national military plans to respond quickly to the other nation's requests for military support of civil authorities," claimed a statement published on the USNORTHCOM

The Intelligence Cycle

Facilitates well-informed business and security decisions about risks to your brand, reputation, people, infrastructure, and partners.

"The signing of this plan is an important symbol of the already strong working relationship between Canada Command and U.S. Northern Command," agreed the generals involved in the agreement

"Our commands were created by our respective governments to respond to the defense and security challenges of the twenty-first century and we both realize that these and other challenges are best met through cooperation between friends," U.S. and Canadian officials noted.

But not everyone is enthusiastic about the agreement. "It's hard to believe that Americans and Canadians will go along with this agreement," opines conservative strategist Michael Baker. "That's why [there's] all this secrecy. Has anyone heard Clinton, Obama or McCain complain about this significant policy shift? All three of them were in the US Senate, yet not a peep from them about a foreign army being called to 'police' US neighborhoods under the guise of an 'emergency,'" he said.

The statement on the US NORTHCOM website emphasized that the plan recognizes the role of each nation's lead federal agency for emergency preparedness, which in the United States is the Department of Homeland Security and in Canada is Public Safety Canada.

The U.S. Northern Command was established on October 1, 2002, as a military command tasked with anticipating and conducting homeland defense and civil support operations where US armed forces are used in domestic emergencies.

Meanwhile, the Canada Command was established on February 1, 2006, to focus on domestic operations and offer a single point of contact for all domestic and continental defense and securities partners.

In May 2007, President Bush took it upon himself to sign the National Security Presidential Directive 51 which is also known as Homeland Security Presidential Directive 20, authorizing the president to declare a national emergency and take over all functions of federal, state, local, territorial and tribal governments, without necessarily obtaining the approval of Congress to do so.

While Americans are being kept in the dark about this treaty, Canadian citizens are being totally ignored by their government. The extent of military integration called for by the BNP is unprecedented and has received absolutely no public debate in the House of Commons. If they wish to read about the details of this military agreement, Canadians must go to the Northern Command website to see any evidence of the new agreement.

“Once the Canadian people discover they can be [legally invaded] by U.S. troops, they will take to the streets and protest and use the very effective weapon of civil disobedience. Canadians will not stand for occupation by a foreign army same as Americans won’t,” said conservative columnist and commentator Rachel Marsden.

“I’m surprised that the Canadian people haven’t already displayed their opposition to such a treaty. Economics is one thing, but military use of force is quite another. We have our own police, security and military forces, thank you. We don’t need Americans coming into Canada with weapons,” she said. “And Americans don’t need Canadian soldiers.”

Senate Ethics Committee Refuses to Investigate Cory Booker for Leaking Classified Information; Biggest Leaker Since Sen. Patrick Leahy

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

A group of angry lawyers and investigators for a top public-interest law firm voiced their outrage on Thursday when the non-profit group announced that the U.S. Senate Select Committee on Ethics is refusing to take any action against Sen. Cory Booker (D-NJ). The man who called himself “Spartacus” admitted to “willfully violating Senate rules by releasing confidential records regarding then-Supreme Court nominee Brett Kavanaugh’s time as a White House counsel.”

A number of observers are comparing Booker to another Democrat with a history leaking classified documents to the leftist news media – Sen. Patrick “Leaky” Leahy, who was kicked off the Senate Intelligence Committee for leaking President Ronald Reagan’s secret military strategy during the Cold War.

The documents were marked “Committee confidential,” meaning they were not for public distribution. Unfortunately, Sen. Booker was given membership on some of the most sensitive and important Senate committees including the Judiciary and the Foreign Relations committees. Before winning his Senate seat, Booker was the mayor of Newark, New Jersey, one of the most impoverished and crime-ridden cities in the United States. The city is still considered a mess according to both black and white police officers.

In his flamboyant diatribe against one of the nation's leading scholars, Booker is said to have "played to the cheap seats" and foolishly compared himself to the legendary gladiator who built an army that threatened the Roman Empire.

"I laughed my head off listening to Sen. Booker with his usual 'eyes-bulging' facial expression comparing himself to a great soldier and commander. This is one of the stars of the Democratic Party who is being touted as a presidential candidate? I think the Democrats scraped the bottom of the barrel heading to Hades for their next radical, empty-suit," said Martin "Marty Mayhem" Jackson, a retired federal agent and sheriff who now teaches martial arts. "Saints preserve us from such mediocre candidates being pushed by the fake news people," he added.

Judicial Watch's September 2018 complaint to the chairman and co-chairman of the U.S. Senate Select Committee on Ethics called for an investigation after Sen. Booker admitted to violating Senate rules about leaking confidential material. Ethics Committee Chief Counsel and Staff Director Deborah Sue Mayer responded with some sad but not unexpected news:

"The Select Committee on Ethics (the Committee) has reviewed the complaint you filed against Senator Cory A. Booker, dated September 12, 2018. The Committee carefully evaluated the allegations in the complaint and, based on all the information before it, determined that no further action is appropriate. Thank you for your correspondence with the Committee."

Sen. Booker admitted breaking Senate rules when he issued a tweet on Friday, September 7 saying: I broke committee rules by reading from "Committee confidential" docs.

Also, Sen. Booker then posted the following entry on his Facebook account on Sunday, September 9:

"And the classification of many documents as "Committee confidential" is a sham... I willfully violate these sham rules. I fully accept any consequences that might arise from my actions including expulsion."

Judicial Watch also had noted in its original complaint that Sen. Booker also uploaded "Committee confidential" records to a publicly accessible Dropbox account with the heading "Booker Confidential – Kavanaugh Hearing Documents."

In their press statement, Judicial Watch noted:

By violating the rules in releasing Committee confidential records, Sen. Booker appeared to have violated provisions 5 and/or 6 of Rule 29 of the Standing Rules of the Senate (Rev. Jan. 24, 2013), which stipulate that he should be subject to expulsion from the Senate:

“Any Senator, officer or employee of the Senate who shall disclose the secret or confidential business or proceedings of the Senate, including the business and proceedings of the committees, subcommittees and offices of the Senate shall be liable, if a Senator, to suffer expulsion from the body; and if an officer or employee, to dismissal from the service of the Senate, and to punishment for contempt.

“Whenever, by the request of the Senate or any committee thereof, any documents or papers shall be communicated to the Senate by the President or the head of any department relating to any matter pending in the Senate, the proceedings in regard to which are secret or confidential under the rules, said documents and papers shall be considered as confidential, and shall not be disclosed without leave of the Senate.” (See pp. 48-49)

The Senate Ethics Committee is evenly split, with three Republicans and three Democrats. The Committee members are Johnny Isakson (R-GA), Christopher A. Coons (D-DE), Pat Roberts (R-KS), Brian Schatz (D-HI), James Risch (R-ID), and Jeanne Shaheen (D-NH).

“While the FBI SWAT Team sent more than 25 agents to raid the home of political consultant Roger Stone and his wife, no one in the U.S. Senate will take any real action against a Senator who shows a propensity for leaking classified information and has been caught in numerous lies,” said former police internal affairs investigator L.B. Quazara. “It’s amazing how the feds have all but destroyed the lives of cops through their penny-ante investigations of good cops in the name of fake justice,” Quazara added.

According to the president of Judicial Watch Tom Fitton, “[It’s] an absolute disgrace that the Senate Ethics Committee is giving Senator Booker a pass for willfully violating Senate rules by leaking confidential information [in order to smear] Justice Kavanaugh.”

“The Senate continues the abuse of Kavanaugh and his family by refusing to act against a Senator who, pretending to be Spartacus, violated the rule of law and our Constitution in trying to destroy him,” Fitton added.

Annual List Of Worst Persecutors Of Christians Released By NGO

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

United States despite the Constitution's First Amendment regarding freedom of religion.

Two IEDs improvised explosive devices) targeting a [Roman Catholic church on Sunday shocked the Philippine community in Sulu, the province said to be the territory of the Islamic State-inspired Abu Sayyaf Group. At least 18 people were reportedly killed and 86 were believed wounded, according to Philippine's federal police.

Lieutenant Colonel Gerry Besana, spokesman for Philippines Western Mindanao Command, condemned the bomb attack, which erupted at around 8:15 am in Jolo, the capital of Sulu province, as an act of terrorism, according to Asia Times.

In the United States, a group of Catholic High School boys speaking out against abortion were smeared and ridiculed by the Democrats, some Republicans and the vast majority of news outlets. However, a video shows that a Native American supporter of abortion and members of a radical hate group were the aggressors and the news media purposely misled the American people. However, the story had labeled these "white boys" as racists, anti-government religious fanatics who should be silenced.

In a disturbing and – unfortunately – rare report, the syndicated radio show Crosstalk America with Jim Schneider aired a segment on Thursday that provided an inside look at the worst persecutors of Christians on the planet.

David Curry, President and CEO of Open Doors USA, a non-government organization (NGO) that has more than 60 years investigating and exposing the world's most oppressive countries while empowering and equipping these persecuted Christians in more than 60 countries to deal with religious intolerance and oppression.

Curry told host Jim Schneider that the Annual World Watch List began because the organization wanted to know where and to whom they needed to allocate their ministry efforts. David noted that today they want to: influence governments, show that persecution of Christians is real and not simply anecdotal, show how central religious freedom and freedom of conscience are to free governments and stable societies, and to remember that God has told believers to speak out and stand with those who are in chains for the name of Christ.

David Curry then listed the top nations on the Persecution World Watch List which includes: (1)North Korea, (2)Afghanistan, (3)Somalia, (4)Libya, (5)Pakistan, (6)Sudan, (7)Eritrea, (8)Yemen, (9)Iran and (10)India.

David also defined what his organization means by 'persecution', how this uniquely affects women compared to men, the number of believers being persecuted, the impact of Islamic oppression, the sophistication behind China's style of persecution, and much more.

Persecution situations are usually highly complex and it is not always clear if and to what extent pressure felt by Christians or even violence against them is directly related to their Christian faith. Basically, persecution is related to religions, ideologies or corrupted mind-sets, i.e. elementary human impulses seeking exclusive power in society. The WWL methodology considers these impulses to be the power sources behind what is referred to "persecution engines"

The 50 countries where it is most dangerous to follow Jesus

1 North Korea 2 Afghanistan 3 Somalia 4 Libya 5 Pakistan 6 Sudan 7 Eritrea 8 Yemen 9 Iran 10 India 11 Syria 12 Nigeria 13 Iraq 14 Maldives 15 Saudi Arabia 16 Egypt 17 Uzbekistan 18 Myanmar 19 Laos 20 Vietnam 21 Central African Republic 22 Algeria 23 Turkmenistan 24 Mali 25 Mauritania 26 Turkey 27 China 28 Ethiopia 29 Tajikistan 30 Indonesia 31 Jordan 32 Nepal 33 Bhutan 34 Kazakhstan 35 Morocco 36 Brunei 37 Tunisia 38 Qatar 39 Mexico 40 Kenya 41 Russian Federation 42 Malaysia

43 Kuwait 44 Oman 45 United Arab Emirates 46 Sri Lanka 47 Colombia 48 Bangladesh 49 Palestinian Territories 50 Azerbaijan

The term “drivers of persecution (engines)” is used to describe people and/or groups causing hostilities towards Christians in a particular country. WWR uses 12 drivers in its documents:

1. Government officials at any level from local to national
E.g. teachers, police, local officials, presidents, Kim Jong Un
2. Ethnic group leaders
E.g. tribal chiefs
3. Non-Christian religious leaders at any level from local to national E.g. imams, rabbis, senior Buddhist monks
4. Christian religious leaders at any level from local to national E.g. popes, patriarchs, bishops, priests, pastors
5. Violent religious leaders
E.g. Boko Haram (Nigeria), Hamas (Palestinian Territories), Bodu Bala Sena(BBS) and the Sinhala Ravaya(SR) (both in Sri Lanka)
6. Ideological pressure groups
E.g. LBTGI rights groups, Abortion Rights UK, National Secular Society
7. Normal citizens (people from the general public), including mobs
E.g. students, neighbors, shopkeepers, mobs
8. Extended family
E.g. one’s direct family members or the wider circle of kinsmen
9. Political parties at any level from local to national
E.g. Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) in India, AKP in Turkey
10. Revolutionaries or paramilitary groups

E.g. FARC

11. Organized crime cartels or networks

E.g. There are several cartels in Latin America, Italy and other parts of the world.

12. Multilateral organizations (e.g. UN/OIC) and embassies

E.g. UN organizations pushing for compulsory sex education programs contrary to Christian values, OIC pushing for Islamization of the African continent.

Mueller Deploys 25 FBI Stormtroopers To Trump Associate Roger Stone's Home

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

“Nazi Stormtroopers were the muscle that brought Adolph Hitler’s socialist regime to power their contributions to their leaders included assistance with the Jewish Holocaust. They made a large-scale show of their activities which included breaking and entering homes, conducting searches and making arrests on fabricated charges.”

The well-known Republican Party insider, Roger Stone, a veteran of many political campaigns including Ronald Reagan's and George H.W. Bush's presidential runs received a surprise visit from at least 25 SWAT (special weapons and tactics) agents from the Federal Bureau of Investigation on Friday morning.

The news media have labeled "Stone a longtime associate of President Donald Trump." Mr. Stone was arrested, his home ransacked and was later in the day indicted by special counsel Robert Mueller in Fort Lauderdale, Florida Friday.

FBI agents and crime scene technicians also conducted an early morning raid at Stone's New York City apartment, allegedly seizing hard drives and other evidence.

"What I find troubling is that this is how the federal government treats Republicans while Democrats such as Hillary Clinton and her morality-deficient husband and friends/operatives were treated like royalty by the FBI to the point that no one was punished for any corruption," said former police detective and security director Iris Aquino.

"These FBI agents behaved like stormtroopers going after an armed and dangerous gangster or terrorists. They were going to put on a media event for the Trump-hating news organizations. It's sickeningly obvious, but our 'fake news' is playing along with the Deep State," she added.

When Stone appeared at the Fort Lauderdale courthouse in shackles later in the morning, he refused to have his attorney enter a plea, but he was released on a $250,000 bail bond.

During a chaotic press briefing, Stone labeled the special counsel's Russia probe as "politically motivated." Stone said he was "falsely accused" of lying to the House intelligence committee. He said if he misspoke while testifying, any error he made in his testimony wasn't intentional.

Former Top FBI Deputy Director Labels FBI 'Corrupt'

Former FBI Deputy Assistant Director Terry Turchie appeared alongside Tucker Carlson of an interview that surely shook up Fox as well as the nation, as he ended up demonstrating just why the FBI should not exist. I'm not surprised as the Constitution neither mandates nor allows for the FBI to be funded or exist, as well as other alphabet agencies.

Turchie's statement below let the cat out of the bag.

"And I think we can expect more of this, because quite honestly the electorate in some places is putting more and more progressives and self-described socialists in positions. And ironically, years ago, when I first got into the FBI, one of the missions of the FBI in its counterintelligence efforts was to try and keep these people out of government. Why? Because we would end up with massive dysfunction and massive disinformation and massive misinformation, and it seems to me that's where we're at today."

In November 1964, the FBI's appallingly corrupt boss J. Edgar Hoover denounced Martin Luther King Jr. as "the most notorious liar in the country." A few days later, a Hoover deputy named William Sullivan wrote King a letter posing as a disillusioned follower and using powerful, manipulative language to urge the civil rights leader to commit suicide before evidence of his extramarital affair became public. Enclosed was an FBI recording containing evidence of the affair.

Whenever America celebrates Martin Luther King Jr. Day we should remind ourselves that it is a known, undisputed fact that the Federal Bureau of Investigation engineered a psyop to encourage one of the world's greatest minds into committing suicide. It is also worth reviewing the compelling argument for the case that the FBI was behind King's assassination as well.

Hoover, who headed the FBI for decades, obsessively despised King on a deeply personal level. He kept files on the civil rights leader in which he'd scribble hateful comments on memos he received about King, apparently for no purpose other than his own gratification and catharsis. On a memo about King receiving the St. Francis peace medal from the Catholic Church, he wrote "This is disgusting." On the news of King's meeting with the pope, he scribbled, "I am amazed that the Pope gave an audience to such a degenerate."

FBI headquarters still wears the name of this childish pig, a brazen admission by the Bureau that it remains very much the same institution which tried to end Martin Luther King Jr.'s life, the same institution which assassinated Black Panthers leader Fred Hampton, the same institution which for years ran the unconstitutional COINTELPRO campaign to infiltrate and sabotage dissident political groups, and which has continued to infiltrate dissident political groups, including Black civil rights groups, to this very day.

We received yet another reminder of the FBI's true face the other day in an interview with its former Deputy Assistant Director Terry Turchie on Fox's Tucker Carlson Tonight. In a passing tangent largely unrelated to the rest of the interview, Turchie made the following shocking statement in relation to the ongoing Russiagate saga:

According to his LinkedIn profile,

Turchie joined the FBI in July of 1972. COINTELPRO, the program in which leftist groups were actively infiltrated and undermined, officially ended in 1971, and Hoover had died in May of 1972. This was after “Hoover’s FBI” stopped being Hoover’s FBI, yet a “counterintelligence effort” was still very much alive and thriving to undermine the will of the electorate and prevent them from electing leftists to office.

This one admission, by itself, is in my opinion more than enough to justify the FBI’s total dissolution. Leaving aside any of their other malfeasance [sic] that I mentioned earlier, leaving aside the rest of their other documented malfeasance that I haven’t mentioned, this one admission by Turchie shows clearly that America’s secret police should cease to exist.

The only reason the FBI is being treated any differently is because it’s got such good PR, namely the entire political/media class.

<https://youtu.be/HgIKMG7Jx14> – Video of the Raid on Roger Stone’s Home

The transcript of the Tucker Carlson-Terry Turchie interview is below:

TERRY TURCHIE, FORMER DEPUTY ASSISTANT DIRECTOR OF THE COUNTERTERRORISM DIVISION, FBI: Sure, Tucker. Well, I’m a – I’m a skeptic because of being in law enforcement. But I think it’s kind of pretty simple.

When you take the election and you take the House, and you now convert all the committees that you have to investigating various aspects of the President of the United States, then your lifeblood has to be to react to stories.

So, you're going to see more stories planted, so that all these committees can have—

CARLSON: Right.

TURCHIE: —a lot of work to do. And I — I think this is just more of the same. And I think we can expect more of this because, quite honestly, the electorate in some places is putting more and more progressives and self-described socialists in positions.

And ironically, years ago, when I first got into the FBI, one of the missions of the FBI in its counterintelligence efforts was to try and keep these people out of government. Why? Because we would end up with massive dysfunction and massive disinformation and massive misinformation, and it seems to me that's where we're at today.

I'm glad I don't live in D.C. I don't know how you start to—

CARLSON: Yes.

TURCHIE: —separate this and make — make head or tails from it, but it's a mess.

CARLSON: I mean, look, if you believe in socialism, if you've got some program you want to impose in the country, tell us what it is. Explain us how you – how you think it works. Make the case for it.

But these people are so stupid, and so emotional, so overwrought that they think that the key to running the country is an endless series of Gotcha stories, criminalizing political disagreement. I mean it's – it's – it's the least straightforward way to run a government, I would – I would say.

So, let me just ask you about the original topic that we want to talk to you about tonight, and that's border security.

So, you heard the new Speaker of the House say the other day that she in – in place of a physical wall would like some sort of high-tech, non- physical, sort of quasi magical wall, a digital wall on the Border, and that that would be more effective somehow than an actual wall.

Do you think that's true? And why do you think she's saying that?

TURCHIE: Well, first of all, I don't think that's true. But I think it's pretty easy why she's saying that. And, in fact, I'll say this.

If Donald Trump called Nancy Pelosi tonight, and said, "Look, why don't you give me $5 billion for a – a technological wall along our border?" she'd say, "Now, you know, we can probably start talking about that."

And the – and the reason is simple. The Democratic Party is simply owned by the technocrats in Silicon Valley. I worked in Palo Alto. I worked counterintelligence and – and terrorism there, and had all kinds of contacts many years ago with Silicon Valley, and you could see this developing then.

The Silicon Valley depends upon cheap labor. They – they love the B-1 visa program, they allowed of a (ph) more National Lab. This is a national entity. They like the B-1 visa program, and they were making no bones about it in meetings we had.

They would – they would say, “Look, we can get people cheaper than having to – to bring in young American kids who we just don’t think are as good of scientists.” Well, that’s baloney, I think.

But they own the Democrats. And the Democrats, in turn, have to do things for them. I mean take a look at just every symptom and every indicator. Whether it’s Elon Musk and the fact that he’s a billionaire because of all of his government contracts, and all of these ideas–

CARLSON: Right.

TURCHIE: –the government funds or Solyndra, or the fact that President Obama and Hillary Clinton and Dianne Feinstein, and all of these people, they have a solid march out to Silicon Valley’s dinners and $1,000-a-plate lunches, and all of these other things, they have to deliver in return.

The Silicon Valley for the Democrats is the new Union. People scratch their head and wonder why don’t – why – what have the Democrats done? Why did they abandon some of the Midwestern states and the people they used to represent?

Well because they have no money anymore. The Silicon Valley has the money. And, quite honestly now, they’re pumping this ideology into some of the people that they’re helping get elected.

It’s very, very dangerous because the Silicon Valley, totally other topic, is completely wrapped around the axle of Intelligence Services from the Chinese to the Russians, even to our friends, some of the friendly nations.

The French said it best one time, a number of years ago, they said, "Look, sure we're friends with the United States. But we have our own interest. And we will rely on dealing with our interest and make sure that we take care of those before our friendship."

And that's – that's pretty much how all of these places look at it (ph).

CARLSON: I think you're – I–

TURCHIE: But when it comes to your–

CARLSON: –I've never heard anybody say what you just said. Pushing a digital solution to everything is, in effect, a pay-off to their campaign contributors. But now that you say it out loud, it's so clearly true that I hope you will–

TURCHIE: Remember, Tucker–

CARLSON: –keep saying it.

TURCHIE: –I – I want to. And remember something, when you put all this technology, and the government loves to buy it, one or two years later, it all needs to be replaced with the – the latest best upgrades.

CARLSON: Exactly.

TURCHIE: It's a constant billion, billion dollar enterprise.

CARLSON: Yes. We've been scammed for 20 years by Big Tech–

TURCHIE: Yes, we have.

CARLSON: –and it's just dawning on us, it's unbelievable.

TURCHIE: Exactly.

CARLSON: Terry Turchie–

TURCHIE: Exactly.

CARLSON: –you are – you are the cutting edge of that for sure. You figured that out first. Great to see you, thank you very much.

TURCHIE: Thanks, Tucker.

Top Obama-Clinton Officials, Susan Rice And Ben Rhodes To Respond To Judge's Orders Under Oath

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

The United States District Court Judge Royce C. Lamberth surprised many Democrats and their news media partners when he ruled that the “discovery” phase of a lawsuit is cleared to begin in the controversial and allegedly fraudulent email scandal perpetrated by former Secretary of State and losing presidential candidate Hillary Clinton.

According to One America News Network (OAN), the Obama administration's top-echelon State Department officials, lawyers, and Clinton aides must allow nonprofit and nonpartisan legal watchdog, Judicial Watch, to depose them under oath, by order of Senior District Court Judge Lamberth of the District of Columbia.

Senior officials, who include former national security adviser Susan Rice, her assistant Ben Rhodes, Hillary Clinton adviser Jacob Sullivan, and FBI official E.W. Priestap, will now have to answer questions posed by attorneys/investigators from Judicial Watch under oath. This will be the total opposite of the so-called investigation by the Federal Bureau of Investigation since Clinton was never sworn-in before being questioned by FBI agents and Obama staff members such as Susan Rice, Ben Rhodes and others were given immunity from prosecution without providing one iota of evidence and assistance.

Judge Lamberth, 76, rejected the Department of Justice and State Department objections to Judicial Watch's court-ordered discovery plan. (The court, in ordering a discovery plan last month, ruled that the Clinton email system was "one of the gravest modern offenses to government transparency.")

Judicial Watch's discovery will seek answers to:

- Whether Clinton intentionally attempted to evade the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) by using a non-government email system;
- whether the State Department's efforts to settle this case beginning in late 2014 amounted to bad faith; and
- whether the State Department adequately searched for records responsive to Judicial Watch's FOIA request.

Discovery is scheduled to be completed within 120 days. The court will hold a post-discovery hearing to determine if Judicial Watch may also depose additional witnesses, including Clinton and her former Chief of Staff Cheryl Mills.

Judge Lamberth ordered written responses under oath to Judicial Watch's questions from Obama administration senior officials Rice, Rhodes and Sullivan, and former FBI official Priestap. Rice and Rhodes will answer interrogatories under oath on the Benghazi scandal. Rejecting the State and Justice Department objections to discovery on the infamous Benghazi talking points, Judge Lamberth reiterated:

Yet Rice's talking points and State's understanding of the attack play an unavoidably central role in this case: information about the points' development and content, as well as their discussion and dissemination before and after Rice's appearances could reveal unsearched, relevant records; State's role in the points' content and development could shed light on Clinton's motives for shielding her emails from FOIA requesters or on State's reluctance to search her emails.

Judicial Watch also may serve interrogatories on Monica Hanley, a former staff member in the State Department's Office of the Secretary, and on Lauren Jiloty, Clinton's former special assistant.

According to Lamberth's order, regarding whether Clinton's private email use while Secretary of State was an intentional attempt to evade FOIA, Judicial Watch may depose:

1. Eric Boswell, the former Assistant Secretary for Diplomatic Security... Boswell's March 2009 memo to Mills ... discusses security risks Clinton's Blackberry use posed more generally. And Boswell personally discussed the memo with Clinton. So, he plainly has relevant information about that conversation and about his general knowledge of Clinton's email use. Judicial Watch may depose Boswell.
2. Justin Cooper, the Clinton Foundation employee who created the clintonemail.com server. In its proposal, Judicial Watch noted Cooper's prior congressional testimony "appears to contradict portions of the testimony provided by Huma Abedin in the case before Judge Sullivan." ... Cooper repeatedly told Congress that Abedin helped set-up the Clintons' private server, e.g., Examining Preservation of State Department Federal Records: [before a Congressional hearing] Abedin testified under oath she did not know about the server until six years later... Judicial Watch may depose Cooper.
3. Clarence Finney, the former deputy director of State's Executive Secretariat staff... [T]his case's questions hinge on what specific State employees knew and when they knew it. As the principal advisor and records management expert responsible for controlling Clinton's official correspondence and records, Finney's knowledge is particularly relevant. And especially given the concerns about government misconduct that prompted this discovery, Judicial Watch's ability to take his direct testimony and ask follow-up questions is critical.

Judicial Watch seeks to go beyond cursory, second-hand testimony and directly ask Finney what he knew about Clinton's email use. This includes asking about emails suggesting he knew about her private email use in 2014, and emails he received concerning a December 2012 FOIA request from Citizens for Responsible Ethics in Washington (CREW) regarding senior officials' personal email use-topics State's 30(b)(6) deposition in Judge Sullivan's case never addressed. Judicial Watch may depose Finney.

4. Heather Samuelson. the former State Department senior advisor who helped facilitate State's receipt of Hillary Clinton's emails.... [T]his case turns on what specific government employees knew and when they knew it. Judicial Watch must be able to take their direct testimony and ask them follow-up questions. Judicial Watch may depose Samuelson.
5. Jacob Sullivan. Secretary Clinton's former senior advisor and deputy Chief of Staff. The government does not oppose Sullivan's deposition.

Regarding whether the State Department's settlement attempts that began in late 2014 amounted to "bad faith," Judicial Watch was granted depositions from the State Department under Rule 30(b)(6); Finney; John Hackett, the former deputy director of State's Office of Information Programs & Services; Gene Smilansky, an attorney-advisor within State's Office of the Legal Advisor; Samuelson; and others.

Judicial Watch was also granted interrogatories on whether the State Department adequately searched for responsive records, as well as several document requests.

“In a major victory for accountability, Judge Lamberth today authorized Judicial Watch to take discovery on whether the Clinton email system evaded FOIA and whether the Benghazi scandal was one reason for keeping Mrs. Clinton’s email secret,” said Judicial Watch President Tom Fitton. “Today, Judicial Watch issued document requests and other discovery to the State Department about the Clinton email scandal. Next up, we will begin questioning key witnesses under oath.”

The court-ordered discovery is the latest development in Judicial Watch’s July 2014 FOIA lawsuit filed after the U.S. Department of State failed to respond to a May 13, 2014 FOIA request (Judicial Watch v. U.S. Department of State (No. 1:14-cv-01242)). Judicial Watch seeks:

- Copies of any updates and/or talking points given to Ambassador Rice by the White House or any federal agency concerning, regarding, or related to the September 11, 2012 attack on the U.S. consulate in Benghazi, Libya.
- Any and all records or communications concerning, regarding, or relating to talking points or updates on the Benghazi attack given to Ambassador Rice by the White House or any federal agency.

The Judicial Watch discovery plan was in response to a December 6, 2018, ruling by Judge Lamberth.

Incredibly, Justice Department attorneys admit in a filing opposing Judicial Watch’s limited discovery that “Counsel for State contacted the counsel of some third parties that Plaintiff originally included in its draft discovery proposal to obtain their client’s position on being deposed.” This collusion occurred despite criticism from the Court that the DOJ engaged in “chicanery” to cover up misconduct and that career employees in the State and Justice Departments may have “colluded to scuttle public scrutiny of Clinton, skirt FOIA, and hoodwink this Court.”

Judicial Watch countered that “[t]he government’s proposal, which is really nothing more than an opposition to [Judicial Watch’s] plan, demonstrates that it continues to reject any impropriety on its part and that it seeks to block any meaningful inquiry into its ‘outrageous misconduct.’”

Danger At US Border A Manufactured Crisis? Democrats, Media Disregard Very Real Dangers

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

“In three states, the proximity of the road to the border allowed investigators to cross undetected, successfully simulating the cross-border movement of radioactive materials or other contraband into the United States from Canada.” – Chief of Police National Covert Operations Report

Following President Donald Trump's Tuesday night address to the American people, the Democratic Party and their feckless, spineless and mendacious cohorts in the news media pulled out all the stops to destroy Trump and his supporters.

Their favorite talking point is: Donald Trump's manufactured crisis at the U.S.-Mexico border. However, the truth of the matter is that both houses of the United States Congress already possess reports that spell out one danger no one seems to mention: Besides the invasion by crime gangs, drug traffickers, human traffickers, child-sex predators and other dangerous malefactors.

These dangerous migrants include Islamic terrorists and those who provide weapons and explosives to them, especially weapons of mass destruction

In the past, officials from the Government Accountability Office (GAO) testified before members of the U.S. Congress on at least three separate occasions in order to describe security vulnerabilities that terrorists could exploit to enter the country. Yet, even with reports of border security deficiencies, President Barack Obama played political games with the issue of Homeland Security.

According to a report by the Terrorism Committee of the National Association of Chiefs of Police (of which Conservative Base's Jim Kouri chaired), the GAO focused on covert testing at ports of entry – the air, sea, and land locations –where international travelers can legally enter the United States.

In its testimony, the GAO focused on limited security assessments of unmanned and unmonitored border areas between land ports of entry.

GAO officials were asked to summarize the results of covert testing and assessment work for testimonies. This report discusses the results of testing at land, sea, and air ports of entry; however, the majority of GAO's work was focused on land ports of entry. The unmanned and unmonitored border areas GAO assessed were defined as locations where the government does not maintain a manned presence 24 hours per day, where there was no apparent monitoring equipment in place, and there is no solid barriers (walls, fences, gates, etc.).

"The government has conducted numerous vulnerability tests and they all appear to highlight the fact that our borders are porous not only to illegal aliens but also to terrorists, weapons of mass destruction and other contraband. Maybe the Democrats and the already compromised news media should worry more about that than about finding something... anything with which to impeach the Commander in Chief ," said political strategist Mike Baker.

GAO investigators identified numerous border security vulnerabilities, both at ports of entry and at unmanned and unmonitored land border locations between the ports of entry. In testing ports of entry, undercover investigators carried counterfeit drivers' licenses, birth certificates, employee identification cards, and other documents, presented themselves at ports of entry and sought admittance to the United States dozens of times.

They arrived in rental cars, on foot, by boat, and by airplane. They attempted to enter in four states on the northern border (Washington, New York, Michigan, and Idaho), three states on the southern border (California, Arizona, and Texas), and two other states requiring international air travel (Florida and Virginia).

In nearly every case, government inspectors accepted oral assertions and counterfeit identification provided by GAO undercover investigators as proof of U.S. citizenship and allowed them to enter the country. In total, undercover investigators made 42 crossings with a 93 percent success rate.

On several occasions, while entering by foot from Mexico and by boat from Canada, covert investigators were not even asked to show identification.

For example, at one border crossing in Texas, an undercover investigator attempted to show a Customs and Border Protection (CBP) officer his counterfeit driver's license, but the officer said, "That's fine, you can go" without looking at it.

As a result of these tests, GAO concluded that terrorists could use counterfeit identification to pass through most of the tested ports of entry with little chance of being detected.

In its most recent work, GAO shifted its focus from ports of entry and primarily performed limited security assessments of unmanned and unmonitored areas between ports of entry. The names of the states GAO visited for this limited security assessment have been withheld at the request of Customs and Border Protection officials.

In four states along the U.S.-Canada border, GAO covert investigators found state roads that were very close to the border that CBP did not appear to monitor. In three states, the proximity of the road to the border allowed investigators to cross undetected, successfully simulating the cross-border movement of radioactive materials or other contraband into the United States from Canada.

For example, in one apparently unmanned, unmonitored area on the northern border, the U.S. Border Patrol was alerted to GAO's activities through the tip of an alert citizen. However, the responding U.S. Border Patrol agents were not able to locate the investigators and their simulated contraband.

Also on the northern border, GAO investigators located several ports of entry in one state on the northern border that had posted daytime hours and were unmanned overnight. Investigators observed that surveillance equipment was in operation, but that the only preventive measure to stop an individual from crossing the border into the United States was a barrier across the road that could be driven around. GAO officials also identified potential security vulnerabilities on federally managed lands adjacent to the U.S.-Mexico border.

GAO concluded that CBP faces significant challenges on the northern border, and that a determined cross-border violator would likely be able to bring radioactive materials or other contraband undetected into the United States by crossing the U.S.-Canada border at any of the assessed locations.

"Does this report sound like a manufactured crisis?" asks Sheriff George Meecham of the Somerset County Sheriff's Office.

Obama And Clinton Gun Running Operation: Government Watchdog Uncovers Proof Of Criminality

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

“Although [former President] Barack Obama and his wannabe successor Hillary Clinton believe a presidential priority is disarming Americans or at least minimizing their access to firearms, they are arguably two of the world’s biggest gun-runners. Examples are the Fast & Furious scandal in Mexico and the Benghazi arms trafficking in which Libyan weapons were collected and given to Syrian jihadists to fight [Syria’s] dictatorship.” –Former police captain Joanne Pinzario.

In Congress, the then-bipartisan group known as the “Gang of Eight,” at a minimum, knew of the operation to aid and abet America’s jihadist enemies by providing them with material support. So said Clare Lopez, a former CIA intelligence officer and the primary author of Citizen’s Commission on Benghazi (CCB) interim report, titled How America Switched Sides in the War on Terror.

The ripple effects of the illegal policy to arm America’s enemies continue to be felt as the U.S. military is currently leading a war against Islamic State of Iraq and Syria (ISIS) and Al-Qaeda terrorists, according to Lopez.

Secretary of State Hillary Clinton – as did many bureaucrats at the State Department – knew that the U.S. was collecting – many times buying – and sending arms from Benghazi, Libya to Syria back in 2011, a year before the Benghazi consulate/CIA station attacks.

Hillary Clinton denied she knew about the weapons shipments during public testimony (under oath) in early 2013 after the deadly Benghazi terrorist attack.

On Monday Judicial Watch founder Tom Fitton spoke about smoking gun documents discovered by Judicial Watch that show Obama and Clinton were aware arms going to Syria through Benghazi and were warned about rise of ISIS.

Clinton lied about this under oath which was another crime of perjury. Fitton believes this may be why General Flynn was so desperately targeted by the Deep State. These deep state hacks are criminals.

“Outrageously, this Justice Department is colluding with Clinton email witnesses to stop our efforts to gather evidence in federal court,” stated Fitton. “President Trump should ask this Justice Department why they are still protecting Hillary Clinton.”

[YouTube Video]

In its final report on the death of U.S. Ambassador Chris

Stevens and three other Americans in Libya, the GOP-controlled House Select Committee on Benghazi failed to provide meaningful answers or accountability on the most serious issues and questions surrounding the attack.

Chief among those issues was the Obama administration's bizarre and unconstitutional decision, based on a United Nations resolution, to join with al-Qaida and other Islamists in the war on a former U.S. terror-war ally, Libyan dictator Moammar Gaddafi. Another crucial issue left essentially unaddressed was the Obama administration's lawless gun-running programs delivering weapons to known terrorists in Libya, and later to dangerous jihadists in Syria.

While the report did highlight certain blatant lies by the administration – the deliberate lie about a “spontaneous protest” over an “anti-Muslim video,” for example – critics blasted the congressional probe as a whitewash and a wasted opportunity. Even some lawmakers spoke out.

The same people involved in gun-smuggling to Mexico that became known as the Fast and Furious Scandal, were also responsible for smuggling weapons from Libya to the Syrian terrorists trying to overthrow Syria's Assad Regime, according to information revealed.

Obtained documents released by a watchdog group that investigates and exposes corruption and criminal activity by government officials and agencies provides evidence that then-Secretary of State Hillary Clinton and other senior officials, as well as President Barack Obama, deceived the American people regarding the Sept. 11, 2012, Benghazi U.S. consulate massacre.

The pages released show that top administration officials were handed intelligence reports within hours of the attack that stated the Islamic terrorists' actions had been planned up to 10 days before the attack and the goal was simply to to assassinate as many Americans as possible.

The documents also confirms the suspicions that U.S. government officials were well aware of weapons being shipped from Benghazi to Syria for use by rebel forces against the Assad regime, according to Judicial Watch.

In addition, the document-release contains an August 2012 analysis of intelligence that predicted the meteoric rise of al-Qaida in Iraq terrorists who morphed into the Islamic State of Iraq and Syria. It also the predicted failure of Obama's foreign policy aimed at regime change in Syria.

In an overly redacted copy of a memorandum dated Sept. 12, 2012 – the day after the Bengahzi slaughter of four Americans including a U.S. ambassador – the Defense Intelligence Agency (DIA) reported to Hillary Clinton, then-Secretary of Defense Leon Panetta, the White House National Security Council and the U.S. military's Joint Chiefs of Staff that the Islamic terrorists planned their attack about 10 or more days prior to the slaughter that occurred on the day the U.S. acknowledged the 11th Anniversary of the attacks in New York, Washington, D.C., and Pennsylvania that killed about 3,000 people.

The terrorists intended to attack the sparsely protected U.S. diplomatic mission and to assassinate as many American officials as possible. The motive for the attack appeared to be revenge for U.S. killing of Abu Yahya al-Libi, a high-level Al Qaida terrorist killed by U.S. drone strikes in North Waziristan.

According to Judicial Watch's analysis of the documents, the Benghazi attack was planned and perpetrated by members of the Brigades of the Captive Omar Abdul Rahman (BCOAR). BCOAR is also responsible for past attacks on the Red Cross in Benghazi and the attack on the British Ambassador. They have approximately 120 members." Rahman [a/k/a "The Blind Sheik"] is currently locked up in a federal prison in New York for his role in the 1993 bombing of the World Trade Center which killed six people in New York. He is serving a life sentence.

The redacted DIA memo identified the leader of BCOAR as being Abdul Baset (AZUZ). The memo reveals that he was sent to Libya to "core" al-Qaida's replacement for Osama bin Laden, Ayman al-Zawahiri, to being creating al-Qaeda bases and training camps in Libya. Baset is described as not being "a charismatic leader, but rather just a violent radical." The memo also states that the majority of BCOAR's members are "under the age of 28 with a large number between the ages of 17-21 years of age."

The DIA reported that BCOAR built their headquarters and a training facility in Libyan city of Derna. "They train in the mountains surrounding Derna where they have large caches of weapons. Some of these weapons are disguised as feeding troughs for livestock. They have SA-7 and SA-23/4 MANPADS, as well as unidentified missiles over two meters in length," the memo states.

Judicial Watch, a group that has been successful in breaching the government's "stonewalls," obtained the documents after U.S. District Court Judge Katanji Brown Jackson ordered their release after the watchdog group's Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request to the Department of Defense had been denied. Judicial Watch was then forced to file a lawsuit for the requested documents and related material.

The documents totally contradict statements made by Hillary Clinton and other national security and diplomatic officials appointed by President Obama about the Benghazi attack. They claim the murder of four Americans, including Ambassador Chris Stevens, and the destruction of American property was a result of anger by Muslim civilians who were enraged by obscure YouTube video by an American filmmaker that denigrated the Muslim religion.

"These documents... point to [the] connection between the collapse in Libya and the ISIS war – and confirm that the U.S. knew remarkable details about the transfer of arms from Benghazi to Syrian jihadists," stated Tom Fitton.

It wasn't until faced with overwhelming evidence that President Obama, Secretary of State Hillary Clinton and other members of the administration finally conceded that the attack was perpetrated by a group of Islamic terrorists.

In response to the documents, Judicial Watch's President Tom Fitton said, "These documents are jaw-dropping. No wonder we had to file more FOIA lawsuits and wait over two years for them. If the American people had known the truth – that Barack Obama, Hillary Clinton and other top administration officials knew that the Benghazi attack was an al-Qaida terrorist attack from the get-go – and yet lied and covered this fact up – Mitt Romney might very well be president. And why would the Obama administration continue to support the Muslim Brotherhood even after it knew it was tied to the Benghazi terrorist attack and to al Qaeda?"

"These documents also point to [the] connection between the collapse in Libya and the ISIS war – and confirm that the U.S. knew remarkable details about the transfer of arms from Benghazi to Syrian jihadists," stated Tom Fitton. "These documents show that the Benghazi cover-up has continued for years and is only unraveling through our independent lawsuits. The Benghazi scandal just got a whole lot worse for Barack Obama and Hillary Clinton.”

British Spy Confesses He Was Hired By The Democrats To Sabotage Trump

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

The now famous Christopher Steele, a former intelligence agent from Britain’s MI6, their military intelligence agency who authored the Trump-Russia “dirty dossier,” admitted in a London courtroom that the Democratic Party’s favorite law firm, Perkins Coie, contracted him to sabotage a Donald Trump administration should he win the presidency in 2016.

He confessed that he was brought onboard in order to assist Hillary Clinton’s challenge of the results of the presidential election if she lost.

Steele stated that the law firm of Perkins Coie wished to be prepared to challenge the results of the Nov. 6, 2016 election with evidence which he claims he uncovered that proved the Trump campaign conspired with President Vladimir Putin to “steal the election” from Mrs. Clinton.

While Mrs. Clinton and other players during the Obama presidency had more contact with the Russians during a uranium deal that gave a whopping 20 percent of U.S. uranium to a Russian company, the mainstream news media decided to aid Hillary and her minions by zeroing in on Trump and his transition team and then his cabinet members.

“This entire Special Counsel [led by Robert Mueller] investigation is based on one lie atop another lie atop another one all starting with discredited, Trump-hating spy Christopher Steele and his report for Fusion GPS on behalf of Hillary Clinton and the Democratic National Committee,” said a former police lieutenant who was assigned to his department’s intelligence division.

“Steele allegedly was a member of the United Kingdom’s elite foreign intelligence service MI6, which has been silent about its former employee’s shenanigans after leaving the service, Lt. Peter Hedgrowth.

Christopher
Steele's Written Declaration

The “dirty dossier” obtained its nickname due to salacious descriptions of Trump in Russia meeting with known former KGB agents and having bedroom jaunts with Russian women in his hotel suite.

Steele's entire scenario is contained in a sealed Aug. 2, 2018 declaration in a defamation of character lawsuit filed by three Russian bank executives in London's civil court. The Russians' American attorneys also filed Steele's answers Tuesday in a libel lawsuit in federal court in Washington, D.C. against the so-called investigative firm Fusion GPS, which contracted the former British intelligence officer to probe presidential candidate Trump.

According well-known Law Professor Jonathan Turley – a self-identifying leftist – in his answer to interrogatories, Mr. Steele wrote: "Fusion's immediate client was law firm Perkins Coie. It engaged Fusion to obtain information necessary for Perkins Coie LLP to provide legal advice on the potential impact of Russian involvement on the legal validity of the outcome of the 2016 US Presidential election."

"Based on that advice, parties such as the Democratic National Committee and HFACC Inc. (also known as 'Hillary for America') could consider steps they would be legally entitled to take to challenge the validity of the outcome of that election."

Professor Jonathan Turley is a nationally recognized legal scholar who has written extensively in areas ranging from constitutional law to legal theory to tort law. He has written over three dozen academic articles that have appeared in a variety of leading law journals at Cornell, Duke, Georgetown, Harvard, Northwestern, University of Chicago, and other schools. Professor Turley received his B.A. at the University of Chicago and his J.D. at Northwestern. In 2008, he was given an honorary Doctorate of Law from John Marshall Law School for his contributions to civil liberties and the public interest.

The dirty dossier, and the conjecture and rumors of its contents, circulated widely throughout elite Beltway circles both before and during the election thanks to a more-than-happy to oblige the Democrats news media.

In fact, The uncorroborated dossier was used by the anti-Trump, "Deep State" to bolster Hillary Clinton and her minions' claims that Russian interference in the election, in which Hillary Clinton lost becoming the first woman president.

Despite an enormous amount of evidence that alleges the Democratic Party, and the media have cynically used the dossier to cast doubt on the 2016 election, the Special Counsel and Democratic lawmakers with the media's ongoing assistance continue to make sometimes outlandish statement which was exactly what the Deep State and it's media propaganda tools intended.

In the last months of the election, Trump hinted he might not accept "rigged" results – a suggestion that earned him the ire of the Clinton campaign, which expected to win.

According to past news media stories, then-President Barack Obama, who many claim has a very casual relationship with the truth, said: "I have never seen in my lifetime, or in modern political history, any presidential candidate trying to discredit the elections and the election process before votes have even taken place."

However, many law enforcement and intelligence officers say that Hillary Clinton – another politician with a reputation for mendacity – and the DNC were allegedly doing just that.

“They were building a stone castle on top of quicksand and relying on the Trump-hating, GOP-bashing news media to stop it from sinking in front of the American voters,” said former attorney and political strategist Owen Benninger.

Strategic Threat Exists From Chinese Agents' Economic And Military Espionage: Law Enforcement

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

Critics say that the nation's leaders, agencies, and news media spend all their time spying on American citizens or the Trump administration that they are missing the real culprits such as the Chinese and the proponents of the New World Order.

In a case out of the Western District of Pennsylvania, Chinese intelligence agents were indicted on charges of computer hacking, stealing economic information, and other related offenses. The five suspects breached the security at six American entities within the U.S. nuclear power plants, as well as metals and solar products industries.

This marked the first time criminal charges had been filed against known state actors for hacking.

According to the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) archives: from 2006 through 2014, the Chinese spies identified as Wang Dong, Sun Kailiang, Wen Xinyu, Huang Zhenyu, and Gu Chunhui were officers in what's been identified as Unit 61398 of the Third Department of the Chinese People's Liberation Army.

They were said to have been involved a hacking conspiracy that targeted Westinghouse Electric Co.; U.S. subsidiaries of SolarWorld AG; United States Steel Corp.; Allegheny Technologies Inc.; the United Steel, Paper and Forestry, Rubber, Manufacturing, Energy, Allied Industrial and Service Workers International Union; and Alcoa, Inc.

On Wednesday, an FBI press statement claims that Chinese espionage as well as efforts to steal U.S. research and development (R & D) information amounts to “the most severe counterintelligence threat” facing our country today.

“More than ever, now with President [Donald Trump] standing up to the bullies in China who are seeking to replace America as the world’s great military and economic power, the political leaders in both houses of Congress and with the security and defense agencies must stop their anti-Trump narrative regarding Russia's penetration of the U.S. government computer systems and the DNC [Democratic National Committee] cyber system," said former military intelligence operative and police captain Matthew Delahanty.

E.W. "Bill" Priestap, head of the bureau's counterintelligence division, joined two senior officials in outlining their view of Beijing's long-term campaign to undermine the United States' economic and technological dominance.

The Communist Party continues to "dominate every facet of Chinese life," from religious life to freedom of expression and free trade, according to Priestap at a Senate Judiciary Committee hearing. "It is therefore alarming that the Chinese government's economic aggression, including its relentless theft of U.S. assets, is positioning China to supplant us as the world's superpower," he's quoted as saying in the transcript.

Background information on FBI's Bill Priestap:

Bill Priestap is the FBI's Assistant Director Counterintelligence Operations. His claim to fame just might be he was fired FBI agent Peter Strzok's boss. According to numerous news stories, he is also involved the controversial Clinton investigation as well as the Trump campaign investigation.

Bill Priestap name was found on every email of consequence such as the Clinton exoneration talking points delivered by FBI Director James Comey who had them written well before witnesses and Hillary Clinton all testified. Priestap is on the FBI side of both Clinton and Trump probes. "Bill" is mentioned in hundreds of text messages sent by the adulterous Peter Strzok and his paramour Lisa Page.

Priestap is so important at the agency that during FBI Director James Comey's testimony before lawmakers, Director Comey told congress it was Priestap who recommended that congressional oversight should not be notified of the ongoing counterintelligence operations.

The hearing on "Non-Traditional Espionage Against the United States" came as announcements of indictments of Chinese hackers and other actions planned have been put off for now, officials said. They gave no reason for the delay.

Some law enforcement officials told Conservative Base private cyber-security officers and government investigators uncovered proof that China's Ministry of Security, their top intelligence agency, was most probably behind the hacking of Marriott's Starwood chain cyber system. That breach alone gave the Chinese intelligence officers the private data of as many as 500 million people including U.S. citizens.

Gen. Flynn Is Not A Traitor To The United States: Intelligence Expert

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

Down to the very end, and then into overtime, the Spiritual Warfare within the – what many claim is a God forsaken city – nation's capital continues, according to a report by intelligence expert Dr. Lyle Rapacki on Wednesday.

The owner of Sentinel Intelligence Service, LLC, Rapacki believes that is exactly what is taking place in front of an entire nation to see, but sadly, they are missing. A number of observers from the military, intelligence community and law enforcement blame citizen apathy coupled with false reporting – or no reporting – by the Deep State sycophants operating the nation's news-information consortium.

Quite literally, supporters of Lt. Gen. (Ret) Mike Flynn, including Dr. Rapacki, say Flynn – who possesses a record of achievement that includes greatly improving the U.S. intelligence and counterintelligence capability – is “No Traitor to His Country!”

"What makes my nostrils flare is the media repeating the unconfirmed and unproven accusations against American patriots by the Democrats and their media cohorts. These are the same people who've called the U.S. military detention centers 'gulags' (Sen. Dick Durbin), called U.S. Marines at Gitmo's terrorist jails Nazis (Rep. John Conyers), smeared the U.S. Border Patrol agents by calling them Gestapo (Rep. Luis Gutierrez), and called Immigration and Customs Enforcement officers stormtroopers (Minority Leader Nancy Pelosi)," said former U.S. Marine and police detective Michael D. Snopes.

What appears to be unseemly at best, utterly dishonest at worst is a judge sitting on the federal bench scolding a top military officer and using the same vitriol used by the Democrats and members of the Deep State.

According to Dr. Rapacki, "This judge [Emmet Sullivan] is a traitor to the Rule of Law if anything. No evidence presented should have [forced] Gen. Flynn to even appear before the bench, much less have a jurist from the bench say what he did."

DATE OF INTERVIEW: 01/14/2017

BY: [REDACTED]

INTerviewee: [REDACTED]

On January 14, 2017, Special Agent in Charge (SAC) [REDACTED] interviewed Michael T. Flynn, also known as Mike Flynn, at his office at the White House. After being advised of the contents of the interviewing statute and the rights of the interviewee, Flynn provided the following information:

FLYNN's first invitation to Russia occurred when he was the Director of the Defense Intelligence Agency (DIA). FLYNN was the first DIA Director to be invited to the White House. During that time, he was in 2015, he participated in a leadership development program at the [REDACTED] Military Intelligence Headquarters. FLYNN received proper authorization within the U.S. government prior to conducting the trip. FLYNN could not recall if he met Russia's Ambassador to the United States, Sergey Kislyak, during this trip. FLYNN described the mission as very speculative at the time. During this trip to Russia as CIA Director, FLYNN met the then-DIA Director [REDACTED]. Following the trip, FLYNN and [REDACTED] continued their relationship in at least one meeting through video teleconference (VTC) and were planning a visit for FLYNN to Russia to the United States on February 28, 2017. Russia invited Flynn to the White House prior to Flynn's planned trip, Russia's trip was cancelled, and FLYNN had no further contact with the old Director. FLYNN recalled [REDACTED] as having common ground with FLYNN in that they had similar backgrounds, these men were the same age, and they had a common interest in fighting terrorism. [REDACTED] had skills from [REDACTED] and they shared views about Afghanistan. FLYNN stated he called Ambassador Kislyak following [REDACTED]'s death in [REDACTED].

"No wonder the judge ordered a recess...he had to figure out now what to say and how to say it to walk back his asinine statement on the record; not to mention the record reflects this judge was so confused as to what case was before him, and the content therein, he made statements demonstrating he was unclear to the facts and particulars of the case before him," Rapacki noted.

Rapacki added: "Gen. Flynn should have been set free to begin rebuilding his life, and that of his incredibly courageous and loyal wife, Lori. Mueller and company should have faced the tirade of this confused jurist – not Mike Flynn!"

"So...in March the circus appears once again before this court. I pray between now and then this judge actually reads the case, and gets a judicial consultant to help him navigate the legal language for a directed dismissal of the case!! Court Adjourn!!" said Dr. Rapacki.

Oregon GOP Official Suggests Hiring Private Militias As Security For Republicans

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

“[Portland] Mayor Ted Wheeler is a danger to Oregon and a danger to the innocence of the Conservative. Many Patriots have zero to little respect for any Portland Police Officer anymore after watching the Police stand there as innocent people are being beaten to the ground and a young girl beaten to the ground an old man beaten to the ground, a autistic man beaten to the ground and a woman robbed while Police stood there and did nothing.”

Democrats in Oregon have reached their boiling point as a result of Republican groups and conservative speakers and lecturers seeking help in many instances when they are harassed or assailed by left-wing organizations that are funded by the Deep State rich.

[YouTube Video]

Some of those who have volunteered to protect conservative protesters possess impressive backgrounds in law enforcement, government security and military special forces training and experience.

Rather than waiting for news media reports or government agencies' press statements, private intelligence firms have garnered the names of domestic terrorist groups and radicals due to the seeming secretiveness of the Obama administration.

While the members of private militias will be extremely helpful in cases of security and protection when militia members are treated like the true patriotic American warriors they believe they are.

“With radical political groups such as Black Lives Matter and Antifa repeatedly displaying that they are legitimate terror groups of anti-Americana, there is absolutely no reason why we can not stand against them and protect our country and their God-given rights we have as Americans,” said retired military intelligence and police sergeant Steven Douglas Laffler.

Meanwhile a top Oregon Republican Party member announced on Monday that he is leaning towards using well-trained and well-led militia groups for security purposes. The idea came about after a man directing anti-Muslim rhetoric at two women fatally stabbed two men and injured a third this weekend.

Multnomah County Republican Party Chairman James Buchal told a British newspaper, The Guardian, that recent incidents have caused the Portland GOP to weigh security alternatives. "I am sort of evolving to the point where I think that it is appropriate for Republicans to continue to go out there," Buchal told The Guardian. "And if they need to have a security force protecting them, that's an appropriate thing too."

He said that might mean making arrangements that don't rely on police. There are a number of police chiefs and county sheriffs in Oregon, as well as throughout the nation, who are suspicious of private security firms, militias and political protection security guards.

"... There are these people arising, like the Oath Keepers and the Three Percenters," he added. "We're thinking about that. Because there are now belligerent, unstable people who are convinced that Republicans are like Nazis." Buchal told the Guardian he did not want to become involved with extremists.

The Guardian said The Three Percenters are described by Political Research Associates as "a paramilitary group that pledges armed resistance against attempts to restrict private gun ownership."

According to the leadership at the Three Percenters – which is the percentage of Americans who serve in the military, law enforcement and in security/intelligence –

"The Three Percenters is a national organization made up of patriotic citizens who love their country, their freedoms, and their liberty. We are committed to standing against and exposing corruption and injustice."

"We do not seek to incite a revolution. However, we will defend ourselves when necessary. We are not here to create violence. Violence should always be a last resort and even then should only be defensive in nature."

"We are NOT a militia. However, we do have meetings on local levels. These meetings are to help members network together and to learn from each other. Being a Three Percenter is more of a way of life rather than a club to join. As such, there are no membership fees or dues and we will not charge people to participate in a movement that defends civil liberties. However, some events may be held at facilities that require admission. This can be paid individually, as a group, or through a legal means of fundraising.

"Operational costs (Website hosting, forum, domains, store, etc) are paid for privately by the National Leader with aid from proceeds from the online store. Mostly, we are an "open source community" meaning, we help each other and try not to rely on third parties or institutions that cost money for our operations. We consist exclusively of volunteers and no member at any level is on any payroll provided by our organization.

"We are NOT anti-government. In fact, we are very pro-government, so long as the government abides by the Constitution, doesn't overstep its bounds, and remains "for the people and by the people". Our goal is to utilize the fail safes put in place by our founders to rein in an overreaching government and push back against tyranny. We are working to preserve the intent of our government as designed. We do not intend to implement our own government. There is often a misconception that we are wanting to overthrow the government. This is simply not true and a false rumor to try and paint our movement as anti-government."

Although similar to The Three Percenters, The Oath Keepers have been dubbed by the fake civil-rights organization Southern Poverty Law Center (SPLC) as "one of the largest radical antigovernment groups in the U.S."

Mayor Ted Wheeler said he's worried that attendees of a proposed pro-Trump rally and other similar events could "peddle a message of hatred."

According to the video below, “Mayor Ted Wheeler is a danger to Oregon and a danger to the innocence of the Conservative. Many Patriots have zero to little respect for any Portland Police Officer anymore after watching the Police stand there as innocent people are being beaten to the ground and a young girl beaten to the ground an old man beaten to the ground, a autistic man beaten to the ground and a woman robbed while Police stood there and did nothing.

“The Portland police took an oath but they’re only allegiance is to Mayer Ted Wheeler and the Democratic Party and not the patriots that have always stood by them and tried to protect the police. We are still pro law-enforcement but we have no respect for the ones that stand there and take orders from a very dangerous man because they have no brain of their own.” – Conservative Guardians

“It is more than apparent to many of us the police and other authority figures have their hands tied in most cases of protest clashes and politicians are seeing it as well. Patriots are not bound by the same rules and if called upon as militia to act as security we are more free to actually protect and secure. That is a sad fact in this day and age but a fact nonetheless,” said Loren Kelly, a police intelligence officer from New York.

Paris' Anti-Immigration Riots A Cautionary Tale For Americans

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

The anti-immigration backlash in France is continuing after a string of violent protests last month with another group of locals protesting over the imminent arrival of around 100 'Jungle' refugees.

French conservative mayors have openly complained that the federal Socialist government's controversial migrant rehousing plan following the destruction of the Calais 'Jungle' camp, and they claim state officials – mainly French interior minister Bernard Cazeneuve – have forced them to provide for hundreds of refugees against the mayors will.

"This kind of thing – the national French government shoving immigrants down the throats of citizens – is something Americans should watch closely. The American press are lying that the civil unrest in Paris stems from a new gas-tax rate. That's only part of it. They are protesting pay enormous amounts of tax money in order to provide services for illegals and to pay for increases in the criminal population, police overtime requirements and putting strains on the local school systems," said Colin Feasler, a former police training officer.

Jean-François Peumery, the right-wing mayor of Rocquencourt, an upmarket Parisian suburb near Versailles, told French news outlets: “The news of the mostly Muslim migrants’ arrival has thrown locals into panic, the town is in turmoil. {But} some people say they want to help the migrants settle in, although most locals are incredibly worried and vehemently oppose the rehousing plan.”

Rocquencourt locals fear the ‘marooned’ migrants will “never leave” and the temporary reception center will become a permanent “mini Jungle”.

“They think that the migrants will make the town less safe, trigger a rise in crime and disturb the peace,” said Mayor Peumery.

The mayor, who is popular among voters but disliked by the news media, even launched a petition – which he says gathered upwards of 3,000 signatures – in an effort to block the migrants from being dumped in Rocquencourt. He claims he was “snubbed” by the government failed to respond to his request.

He had also complained the French government gave him no choice, but to organize a protest march in order to be heard.

But the closing of the migrant camp hasn’t stopped Britain-bound migrants from heading back to the border: 10 migrants were arrested near a chemical plant in Calais last Thursday.

About 100 million Americans own approximately 300 million rifles, shotguns and handguns. For the last year and a half the number of firearms purchased by Americans has increased every month. Tens of millions of our people of all races own more guns than vote for the successful presidential candidate every four years, according to police firearms and law adviser John Snyder, before he died of natural causes last year.

"The United States is gun country. It's part of our national heritage of freedom and liberty. Anti-gun politicians, media reps, clergy, academicians and others should learn this lesson and learn it well," said Snyder who serves on the advisory board of the 13,000-member National Association of Chiefs of Police (NACOP).

Snyder also said, "Hillary [Clinton] supported semiautomatic gun registration, universal background checks on all firearms transfers, and subjection of firearms manufacturers and dealers to frivolous third-party lawsuits. Which is why she's on a book tour instead of leading the United State."

The United States appears to some Americans to be on the brink of something that in the past was the theme of many works of fiction including books and motion picture about the end times – the terrifying 1984, the overly violent Clockwork Orange, the disturbing A Handmaid's Tale, the realistic doomsday thriller Children of Men, and other works that provide readers and moviegoers with a glimpse of what mankind will eventually face when governments topple and tribalism replaces the greatness of liberty and freedom with distrust, extreme cynicism, mob rule and routinely violent civil disobedience.

During the last three presidential administrations – George W. Bush 43, Barack Hussein Obama, and current President Donald Trump – Americans have witnessed the slow but steady decline of the great political experiment that was the United States' Constitutionally protected Representative Republic.

Starting with the last election cycle, there were groups of radicals who fearlessly attacked the nation's conservatives in what seems like a throwback to the 1960s campus protests and street riots in the biggest and most populace cities in the U.S.

Once the election was over, these same groups, their leaders, the news media and the entertainment industry continued their hateful verbal attacks, physical attacks on anyone opposing them, and expansion of the once independent, broadcast and print news outlets that is now recognized as being the propaganda machine for the Democratic Party. The media also shills for the radical left, the secret and mysterious Deep State (a/k/a the Shadow Government), and the already deeply entrenched radical Muslims.

Muslim refugees are allowed into the U.S. with opened arms despite their threat to the lives and property of the American people. So too are undocumented illegal aliens from Mexico and other Central American countries who possess higher violent crime rates than most of the Middle Eastern countries.

A NewsWithViews.com news story (written by political correspondent Jim Kouri) quoted then Louisiana Governor Bobby Jindal as saying he is accusing President Barack Obama and other political leaders of waging war against religious liberty and education and saying that a "rebellion is brewing in the U.S. with people ready for a hostile takeover of the nation's capital."

While Gov. Jindal, a Republican, didn't elaborate many believe he was warning citizens that the federal government (Deep State) is actually provoking a rebellion.

Those who've studied national politics and security believe that President Obama and his consortium of left-wing radicals, Islamists and One World Government operatives are hoping that American citizens will take to the streets in droves while armed and demanding to be heard by oppressive government elites who no longer pretend to adhere to the U.S. Constitution.

Democratic Congresswoman Visits Tijuana 'Immigrant Caravan' Members in Act of Treason

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

"A nation can survive its fools, and even the ambitious. But it cannot survive treason from within. An enemy at the gates is less formidable, for he is known and carries his banner openly. But the traitor moves amongst those within the gate freely, his sly whispers rustling through all the alleys, heard in the very halls of government itself.” – Roman Senator Marcus Tullius Cicero, 40 B.C. This quotation is said to be a favorite among U.S. counterintelligence officers.

U.S. Congresswoman Pramila Jayapal (D-Wash.) joined the migrant caravan stranded in Tijuana over the weekend, according to her office’s latest press statement. While there, she blamed President Donald Trump for manufacturing the crisis of asylum seekers wishing access to the United States.

“We just have to counter the lies of the president in telling about what’s happening here on the border,” the Washington Democrat said Saturday evening. “This is not an infiltration by criminals – this is people seeking the American Dream, and we should be processing them and we should be allowing them to come in.”

Jayapal, a leader of the Congressional Progressive Caucus and one of the most outspoken critics of Trump’s immigration policies, visited several shelters where members of a migrant “caravan” are being housed as they wait for their claims to be processed amid large backlogs. The border crossing linking Tijuana with San Diego saw major clashes last weekend between asylum seekers trying to enter the U.S. and border guards who blocked their way.

Rep. Jayapal is an Indian-American congresswoman from the state of Washington who is the U.S. Representative for Washington’s 7th congressional district.

"I was able to successfully assist 5 asylum seekers – 2 unaccompanied minors, a mother and her 9-year-old child, and a young man with a serious medical condition – into the United States," she wrote in a tweet.

The five people she assisted were initially denied entry.

"Initially they were denied, in violation of U.S. and international law, but I was able to intervene and ensure that they could simply present themselves for asylum in the United States," she said in a follow-up tweet.

Before she went to the border, Jayapal blasted Trump for "lying" about the caravan and creating a crisis for his own political benefit.

The U.S. Border Patrol agents assigned to the southwestern border region in past administrations were permitted – even ordered – to use non-lethal "impact weapons" when confronted by large mobs of aggressive, violence prone non-authorized foreigners. That includes the agents serving during the administration of the "sainted" President Barack Obama.

In fact, most Americans weren't even aware of incidents that created the need for physical force by federal law enforcement at this nation's borderline and the news media rarely covered such non-lethal use-of force to fend-off rock and debris throwing immigrants. During one incident that occurred when the Commander in Chief was President George W. Bush, a Homeland Security Department report described a "border incursion" by fully-armed suspects who entered the U.S. without permission or authorization.

When those invaders began shooting from the Mexican side of the border, and they kept on firing their lethal weapons while they came onto U.S. soil, the National Guard troops assigned to help control the porous border region at that location found themselves without any rules of engagement or without any real military weapons to thwart the attack from the unknown intruders.

During that time in 2006, under President George W. Bush, 6,000 National Guard soldiers were sent to the U.S.-Mexican border in Arizona, California, New Mexico and Texas. However, Guard members were prohibited from enforcing the immigration laws. Their missions included engineering, aviation surveillance, and other support.

Unfortunately, it was a story that should have embarrassed all American citizens: American soldiers had to hastily retreat and telephone the cops. But Americans weren't embarrassed because the news media ignored this and other stories of "invaders" forcing American service men and women to run for their lives.

At least not until President Donald Trump, following his own agenda that includes transparency, authorized the men and women serving at the border with Mexico to use less-than-deadly physical force, which they did only to be lambasted by the Democratic Party's officeholders, so-called civil-rights leaders and political commentators and news anchors from most group-think publications and news outlets.

When the agents used tear gas to stop migrants as they rushed the border, the media condemned the use of tear gas against “innocent” people. One news report featured a woman who was particularly outraged against Trump.

“What is now coming out is that under President Obama tear gas was used almost 80 times against unruly migrants,” said frequent commentator and writer, Capt. Vincent Carnova. “Yet, with the President and .

The tear gas used on migrants at the U.S.-Mexico border at the weekend, which prompted criticism of President Trump, was also used almost 80 times under the Obama administration, according to Homeland Security data.

Democratic lawmakers and immigrant rights groups blasted the tactics of border agents.

‘These children are barefoot. In diapers. Choking on tear gas,’ California Gov.-elect Gavin Newsom tweeted. ‘Women and children who left their lives behind – seeking peace and asylum – were met with violence and fear. That’s not my America.’

McAleenan said hundreds – perhaps more than 1,000 – people attempted to rush vehicle lanes at the San Ysidro crossing. Mexican authorities estimated the crowd at 500. The chaos followed what began as a peaceful march to appeal for the U.S. to speed processing of asylum claims.

McAleenan said four agents were struck with rocks but were not injured because they were wearing protective gear.

It appears no one complained when tear gas was used by Obama just a few years ago during the Obama administration.

Hillary herself said that the children of illegal immigrants should be sent back to their country of origin. She even advocated “physical barriers” at the border. Trump calls it a “wall.” As late as 2016 during the last presidential campaign, Hillary was still defending her past statements about building a “barrier.” (She tried to avoid calling it a “wall,” as that term has been given too much emotional value.)

But once Trump was elected president, suddenly they changed their song and began to advocate “immigrant rights.” It seems that everyone came down with political amnesia in 2016. When Trump continued the policies of his predecessors, he was condemned for it.

“This is a clear case of political hypocrisy. But then, what’s new?” said political consultant Michael Baker.

Democratic Party Affiliated Unions, Nonprofits And Paid Mobs Impersonate Workers To Hurt Christmas Sales

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

During the busy Christmas shopping season that began with Black Friday the day after the Thanksgiving holiday many bargain-hunters were – and continue to be – subjected to loud, boisterous labor demonstrations in front of department stores such as the Wal-Mart chain and other non-union retailers, according to national and local media stories.

What only a few media outlets covered were the allegations and convincing evidence that union front groups – paid for by either the unions or their Democratic Party puppets – are staging these holiday shopping protests in cities and towns throughout the country. The intent is to generate biased news coverage and publicity portraying the protesters as working-class heroes.

They have at times managed to disrupt holiday shopping in their quest for a negative PR campaign against retail employers, according to officials from the non-partisan Worker Center Watch.

“The protesters come from the same political labor pool as the members of Antifa and other left-wing movements. They couldn’t care less about the employees or their employers. The idea is to create negative impact of the U.S. economy so Americans and immigrants will accept socialist policies that give Democrats more power, more tax money and more control of the citizenry,” said former corporate security director Chuck Losasso, who also worked in retail security.

The organization offers disturbing proof that very few current employees of retailers being targeted are involved in the protests and demonstrations.

They claim that

“union members, their worker center activist allies and professional protesters sing songs, carry signs and chant through bullhorns in protests more focused on generating media attention than helping workers.”

“The deceptive Black Friday campaign, designed to look like a worker uprisings, has been planned for weeks, including designating protesters in big media markets for arrest,” Worker Center Watch officials allege in a press release.

“Unions, desperate for new dues after decades of declining membership, have embraced non-profit worker centers to do their dirty work for them. Worker centers are labor organizations, they clearly fit the definition,” said Ryan Williams, media director for Worker Center Watch, a coalition of business owners and concerned citizens dedicated to exposing labor unions’ abuse of the worker center organizational model.

“It’s a way that allows the unions to skirt labor organizing laws by letting the activist groups they sponsor to attack employers for them. Big Labor is spending millions of dollars on a massive charade against job creators at a time when our economy can least afford it,” notes Williams.

“This isn’t the first time unions have used paid protesters and thugs to carry out their ‘brown shirt’ activities against capitalists, conservatives and Tea Party members. They create fake organizations and pay all the expenses for these so-called labor actions,” said a former director of security for a large retail chain, Joseph Waylon.

“The Obama administration and the Democrats know this is happening but they do nothing to stop this fraud because these same labor unions pour millions and millions of dollars into their political coffers,” Waylon added.

A study – conducted for the U.S. Chamber of Commerce by Jarol B. Manheim, Professor Emeritus of Media and Public Affairs at The George Washington University – exposes how an extensive web of foundation cash fuels prominent union front organizations. For example, the Kellogg Foundation channeled over $1.2 million to the Coalition of Immokalee Workers, the Open Society Institute – billionaire radical George Soros’ main organization for political activism – gave the National Domestic Workers Alliance $695,000, and the Rockefeller Foundation gave Restaurant Opportunities Center United $300,000.

The group’s study also examines how many union front groups receive taxpayer-funded support from the Obama administration. For example, the group Restaurant Opportunities Center of New York received grants totaling more than $940,000 from the Secretary of the Department of Health and Human Services Kathleen Sebelius over four years, according to the U.S.

Chamber.

In fact, as reported in an Examiner news story, Restaurant Opportunities Center of New York just had received money from HHS to hire Obamacare navigators.

The Examiner story revealed: "The health education organizer for the Restaurant Opportunities Center is an illegal alien activist named Maria Marroquin, CIS reveals in a report. According to the CIS report she will be in charge of the taxpayer-funded Obamacare recruitment efforts for the New York organization, which is known to be a labor union front group."

According to Ryan Williams and his non-profit organization, several practices employed by unions and their worker center allies – practices that border on bullying – were exposed by researchers.

The list of strategies being utilized by unions, such as two of President Barack Obama's and the Democrats' biggest supporters, Service Employees International Union (SEIU) and the AFL-CIO, includes:

- Planning to have certain protesters arrested in major media markets to maximize publicity
 - Budgeting to pay the legal bills of anyone arrested, and coordinating with local police in advance on specifics of how arrests will take place
 - Paying protesters to participate, which was documented in a recent National Labor Relations Board decision
 - Busing in protesters from out of state to create the appearance of numerous workers participating
 - Intimidating employees and shoppers through street theater and noisy demonstrations
 - Paying videographers to capture actions for mainstream and social media
 - Violating labor organizing rules by passing out union fliers to employees working within stores being targeted

In recent weeks, the financially powerful unions' have used the worker centers to help them skirt organizing regulations even though such practices have come under increasing scrutiny by Congress and others, according to Worker Center Watch.

"What should anger clear-thinking Americans is the news media's complicity in this phony scenario: the police must arrest protesters who break the law or disturb the peace and the reporters turn these thugs being arrested into 'martyrs' for the 'workers-of-the-world-unite' crowd," said former police detective Michael Snopes.

At times the retailers do find a judge who is fair and honest in applying labor law. For example, according to Worker Center Watch, just prior to the Thanksgiving holiday a Maryland circuit court judge banned protesters from coming onto the property of a large retail store they were planning to demonstrate against.

"By using the non-profit worker centers to carry out these aggressive tactics against employers, unions such as the United Food and Commercial Workers Union (UFCW) and the Service Employees International Union (SEIU) are skirting labor laws to push their agenda," according to Worker Center Watch.

The group points to a recent study released by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce that reveals how unions and certain foundation allies are funneling millions of dollars through worker centers to drive their political and social agendas. The report, The Emerging Role of Worker Centers in Union Organizing: A Strategic Assessment, details the tremendous financial support that worker centers receive from foundations such as the Kellogg, Ford and Rockefeller.

Violence In Tijuana: Caravan Immigrants Attacking Mexican Citizens But Police Stand Down

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

Residents of Tijuana faced off with caravan migrants last night as police tried to intervene. The Tijuana residents wanted the caravan to turn back but the caravan was determined to get to the US border.

Both groups got into it over the caravan wanting to cross through their town. The citizens of Tijuana have worked hard to make a safe and prosperous city for themselves and they did not want caravan members there to ruin what they've built.

A huge crowd gathered together to stop the caravan members from getting off their buses and their efforts paid off!

Mainstream media only covered the caravan, but they did not mention the group of Tijuana protesters who did not want the caravan immigrants in their city.

It is reported that the Police are standing down, there was even rock throwing during the protest, but police did nothing.

A part of the media narrative of the Central American caravan to the U.S. border is the treatment of the Lesbian/Gay/Bisexual/Transsexual community by their fellow “asylum seekers.” In fact, LGBT’s are being segregated from the other immigrants on their long trip to the Mexican-American border, which is now protected by about 15,000 Border Patrol agents and about 5,200 National Guard and U.S. Army troops.

While several thousand Central American immigrants are working their way north towards Tijuana, about 80 people from the LGBT community are already in the northern Mexican city, according to a police intelligence source.

The now separated group says their travel was paid for by an anonymous organization after they were discriminated against by people in the caravan, according to NBC News in San Diego, California. They are currently resting in the city before they make their way to the port of entry in San Ysidro or Otay Mesa to request asylum.

“Very happy, truthfully, grateful to God especially because he has given us the opportunity to be here,” Nehemías de León, who arrived in Tijuana with his boyfriend.

“I think to do bad, you don’t have to migrate to another country. You just stay where you are,” de León added. “But I think we’re going for a better life. We want to work. We want to be what we’ve always been – honorable people.”

Another member of the immigrant LGBT community, César Mejía, told American reporters: “Even to bathe was a big problem, and when we wanted to shower there was no water ... same with food.”

Caravan leaders said that almost 6,000 of those immigrants were departing Sunday morning. The size of the leading caravan seems to have grown since the group was in Mexico City for several days, raising the possibility that other migrants from trailing groups have joined the main caravan. In the U.S. they will likely be greeted by U.S. law enforcement and military personnel who have been busy installing barbed wire along the porous borders of Texas, Arizona, New Mexico and California.

Media Coverage of Immigrant 'Caravan' Flawed or Inaccurate

The American people are being subjected by the news media to disingenuous coverage of the now infamous "immigrants caravan" originating in Central American nations such as Honduras, El Salvador and Guatemala. A top intelligence agency founder and owner Dr. Lyle Rapacki has investigated the true events occurring in Mexico with regard to not one but three U.S.-bound caravans of "asylum seekers." (After reading this in depth report, please view video below.)

"I was informed the main caravan containing thus far the largest numbers of people traveling north to the U.S./Mexican Border has stopped in Oaxaca, Mexico. Approximately 10,000 people are now in some form of holding in the aforesaid State of Mexico – Oaxaca," reports Lyle Rapacki, Ph.D., owner of the private security firm Sentinel Intelligence Services, LLC.

However, there are two smaller caravans totaling about 5,000 men, women and children – mostly adult males – that are about 36-hours behind the main caravan.

It is unknown at the time of this report what kinds of shelter and/or temporary housing the main caravan has available. Approximately 80% of the total people marching north are males in the age range of 16-40.

There are women and children, but that population group is a significant minority. Severe infighting and hostile acts within the caravan have caused approximately 4,000 to turn back by buses brought in by the Mexican Government. Said males in the caravan are extremely arrogant and angry, having already shown on video angry and hostile acts and hostile chants to law enforcement and anyone in authority.

From interviews conducted in this caravan, the males come from: Bangladesh, the Congo, Guatemala, Venezuela, Honduras, Mexico, Sri Lanka, and even Cuban Nationalists. Guatemalan authorities detained and identified one hundred (100) ISIS Members at their border prior to entrance into Mexico. The males in the main caravan have NO interest in seeking jobs or a better life in America, they are clearly agitators and hostile, and view America as a force to collapse.

It appears the Mexican Government has stopped all forms of reliable transportation to pick-up and transport north this caravan.

Mexican Federal Police and military have engaged the caravan, and likewise, have sent the order that mass transportation will not be permitted except to move southward out of Mexico. It appears the incoming President of Mexico is joining Guatemala becoming a closer ally with America and President Trump. The verified stoppage of the caravan is significant news, but a waiting game now commences to learn what steps will be next.

Commencing tomorrow morning, an aviation asset that has come forward to work with Dr. Rapacki and will begin flying over the Oaxaca area now known to be holding this large caravan. The pilot will be flying a Beechcraft King Air 250 with retractable gear; twin turbo props engines, and 4 blade constant speed props. Cruising speed of 330+ knots with fully loaded sophisticated electronics including dual navigation and communication radios.

“Overflight will be at 5,000 ft with crystal clear weather reported, and lower if needed. Further identification and specific information is being sought. Mentioned below are three (3) map sites you might find of use and interest,” said Dr. Rapacki in an email to NewsWithViews.com.

Black Panthers Intimidate Voters In Georgia Gubernatorial Race

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

Breitbart News has obtained photographs of members of the New Black Panther Party wielding weapons and holding signs supporting Democrat gubernatorial candidate Stacey Abrams, a leftist who hopes to be the first black female governor in Georgia, the highly-rated news and commentary web site reported on Election Day 2018.

Abrams' Panther-supporters arrived in the wake of television talk host and actress Oprah Winfrey's visit to Atlanta, Georgia on Abrams behalf where she said she refuses to allow the sacrifices of those who were "lynched" and "oppressed" to be "in vain." Winfrey is one of the world's wealthiest people and it's a known fact that white Americans and Europeans helped her to achieve superstar status which led to an enormous fortune.

The gubernatorial candidate, Stacey Abrams, has said she understands that if blacks possess the energy and motivation to strive, as well as the brave spirit to confront their challenges, black Americans' potential is boundless.

Although she is one of the Democratic Party's top leftists – pro-abortion, pro-gun control, pro-reparations, and other leftist issues – she has proven her ability to hide her agenda from the Georgia voters. A lifetime member of the Council on Foreign Relations (CFR), she has received recognition from the Georgia Hispanic Chamber of Commerce, Asian Americans Advancing Justice (Georgia), the National Urban League, EMILY's List, and the sacred cow of the left, Planned Parenthood.

The New Black Panther Party for Self Defense – 10 Point Program and Platform (Verbatim)

What the New Black Panthers Want; What the New Black Panthers Believe"

1. We want freedom. We want the power to practice self-determination, and to determine the destiny of our community and THE BLACK NATION.

We believe in the spiritual high moral code of our Ancestors. We believe in the truths of the Bible, Quran, and other sacred texts and writings. We believe in MAAT and the principles of NGUZO SABA. We believe that Black People will not be free until we are able to determine our Divine Destiny.

2. We want full employment for our people and we demand the dignity to do for ourselves what we have begged the white man to do for us. We believe that since the white man has kept us deaf, dumb and blind, and used every "dirty trick" in the book to stand in the way of our freedom and independence, that we should be gainfully employed until such time we can employ and provide for ourselves. We believe further in: POWER IN THE HANDS OF THE PEOPLE! WEALTH IN THE HANDS OF THE PEOPLE! ARMS IN THE HANDS OF THE PEOPLE!
3. We want tax exemption and an end to robbery of THE BLACK NATION by the CAPITALIST. We want an end to the capitalistic domination of Africa in all of its forms: imperialism, criminal settler colonialism, neo-colonialism, racism, sexism, Zionism, Apartheid and artificial borders. We believe that this wicked racist government has robbed us, and now we are demanding the overdue debt of reparations. A form of reparations was promised 100 years ago (forty acres and a mule) as restitution for the continued genocide of our people and to in meaningful measure and repair the damage for the AFRICAN HOLOCAUST (Maangamizo/Maafa). We believe our people should be exempt from ALL TAXATION as long as we are deprived of equal justice under the laws of the land and the overdue reparations debt remains unpaid. We will accept payment in fertile and mine rally rich land, precious metals, industry, commerce and currency. As genocide crimes continue, people's tribunals must be set up to prosecute and to execute.

The "Jews" were given reparations. The Japanese were given reparations. The Black, the Red and the Brown Nations must be given reparations.

The American white man owes us reparations. England owes us reparations.

France owes us reparations, Spain and all of Europe.

Africa owes us reparations and repatriation. The Arabs owe us reparations. The "Jews" owe us reparations. All have taken part in the AFRICAN OFFICIAL

NBPP BLACK POWER MANUAL HOLOCAUST and the slaughter of 600 million of our people over the past 6,000 years in general and 400 year in particular. We know that this is a reasonable and just demand that we make at this time in history.

4. We want decent housing, fit for shelter of human beings, free health-care (preventive and maintenance). We want an end to the trafficking of drugs and to the biological and chemical warfare targeted at our people.

We believe since the white landlords will not give decent housing and quality health care to our Black Community, the housing, the land, the social, political and economic institutions should be made into independent UUAMAA "New African Communal/Cooperatives" so that our community, with government reparations and aid (until we can do for ourselves) can build and make drug free, decent housing with health facilities for our people.

5. We want education for our people that exposes the true nature of this devilish and decadent American society.

We want education that teaches us our true history/herstory and our role in the present day society. We believe in an educational system that will give our people "a knowledge of self." If we do not have knowledge of self and of our position in society and the world, then we have little chance to properly relate to anything else.

6. We want all Black Men and Black Women to be exempt from military service.

We believe that Black People should not be forced to fight in the military service to defend a racist government that holds us captive and does not protect us. We will not fight and kill other people of color in the world who, like Black People, are being victimized by the white racist government of America. We will protect ourselves from the force and violence of the racist police and the racist military, "by any means necessary."

7. We want an immediate end to POLICE HARRASSMENT, BRUTALITY and MURDER of Black People. We want an end to Black-on-Black violence, "snitching," cooperation and collaboration with the oppressor.

We believe we can end police brutality in our community by organizing Black self- defense groups (Black People's Militias/Black Liberation Armies) that are dedicated to defending our Black Community from racist, fascist, police/military oppression and brutality. The Second Amendment of white America's Constitution gives a right to bear arms. We therefore believe that all Black People should unite and form an "African United Front" and arm ourselves for self-defense.

8. We want freedom for all Black Men and Black Women held in international, military, federal, state, county, city jails and prisons.OFFICIAL NBPP BLACK POWER MANUAL

We believe that all Black People and people of color should be released from the many jails and prisons because they have not received a fair and impartial trial. 'Released' means 'released' to the lawful authorities of the Black Nation.

9. We want all Black People when brought to trial to be tried in a court by a jury of their peer group or people from their Black Communities, as defined by white law of the Constitution of the United States.

We believe that the courts should follow their own law, if their nature will allow (as stated in their Constitution of the United States) so that Black People will receive fair trials. The 6th Amendment of the United States Constitution gives a man/woman a right to an impartial trial, which has been interpreted to be a "fair" trial by one's "peer" group. A "peer" is a person from a similar economic, social, religious, geographical, environmental, historical and racial background.

To do this, the court will be forced to select a jury from the Black Community from which the Black defendant came. We have been and are being tried by all white juries that have no understanding of the "average reasoning person" of the Black Community.

10. WE DEMAND AN END TO THE RACIST DEATH PENALTY AS IT IS APPLIED TO BLACK AND OPPRESSED PEOPLE IN AMERICA. WE DEMAND FREEDOM FOR ALL POLITICAL PRISONERS OF THE BLACK RED AND BROWN NATION! We want land, bread, housing, education, clothing, justice and peace. And, as our political objective, we want NATIONAL LIBERATION in a separate state or territory of our own, here or elsewhere, "a liberated zone" ("New Africa" or Africa), and a plebiscite to be held throughout the BLACK NATION in which only we will be allowed to participate for the purposes of determining our will and DIVINE destiny as a people. FREE THE LAND! "UP YOU MIGHTY NATION! YOU CAN ACCOMPLISH WHAT YOU WILL!" BLACK POWER! History has proven that the white man is absolutely disagreeable to get along with in peace. No one has been able to get along with the white man. All the people of color have been subjected to the white man's wrath. We believe that his very nature will not allow for true sharing, fairness, equity and justice. Therefore, to the Red Man and Woman, to the Yellow and to the Brown, we say to you "THE SAME RABID DOG THAT BIT YOU, BIT US TOO!" ALL POWER TO THE PEOPLE!

The SOLE PURPOSE of a Black Panther

The SOLE PURPOSE of a Panther is to be a REVOLUTIONARY in the Black/Afrikan People's liberation struggle, and to mobilize the masses towards self determination. A Panther MUST be a vanguard example at ALL TIMES. In order to accomplish this great and divine mission...

She/he must be:

1. Spiritually, culturally, and politically conscious.
2. Respectful and courteous to all people and demand the same in return.
3. Militant – Always engaged in war for the minds and hearts of black people, while carrying one's self in an organized and orderly fashion.
4. Humble – Willing to release any arrogant attitudes or superior ideas of one's self.
5. Disciplined – Willing to sacrifice your lower or personal desires for the greater good of the mission.

Liberal Portland OR. Sheriff Mike Reese Frees Illegal Alien Who Then Kills Wife

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

Multnomah County, OR. –An illegal alien in Oregon who allegedly killed his wife and dumped her body in a ditch is causing an enormous controversy about professional relations between (ICE) Immigration and Customs Enforcement agents and the Multnomah County Sheriff's Department.

ICE officials claim they placed an immigration hold – known as a detainer – on Martin Gallo-Gallardo when he was arrested on a domestic violence charge in March, months before he allegedly murdered his wife, Coral Rodriguez-Lorenzo.

The Multnomah County Sheriff's Office in their response to the news media claimed they never received the detainer from ICE headquarters in Washington, D.C.. But they admitted even if they had received the ICE request to hold Gallo-Gallardo, they would not have notified ICE due to a 2014 federal court ruling which was eventually overturned.

During a Friday afternoon press event, Multnomah County Sheriff Mike Reese accused the Homeland Security Department's ICE of "being deceitful" about their detainer request.

The 45-year-old Gallo-Gallardo is accused of repeatedly stabbing his wife after returning from a weekend party. He allegedly dumped her body near a summer camp.

When he was arrested in March 2018 on assault charges against her, a grand jury decided not to move forward with the case after she was unwilling to cooperate. Gallo-Gallardo was released on bail from the county jail.

According to federal law enforcement investigators, the murder-suspect is a Mexican citizen who entered the U.S. illegally and without documentation. ICE said if Multnomah County had held him as requested, he likely would have been in federal custody instead of returning home to his wife, whom he savagely stabbed to death.

ICE responded to the crime in the following statement: "ICE maintains that cooperation by local law enforcement is an indispensable component of promoting public safety. Gallo-Gallardo is a citizen of Mexico who has been previously apprehended by the Border Patrol multiple times unlawfully entering the United States. U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) placed an immigration detainer on Gallo-Gallardo on March 6, following his arrest for Felony Assault 4th degree. The Multnomah County Jail did not honor that detainer and Gallo-Gallardo was released on bond on March 8."

Also in Oregon, as reported by NewsWithViews.com, an illegal alien from Mexico entered a guilty plea to multiple charges of kidnapping, sodomy and sexual assault on Friday. Sergio Jose Martinez, 34, a Mexican national who in the past was deported from the United States at least 20 times has been convicted of 10 counts of sexual assault in Oregon.

Police said Martinez was armed with a knife and assaulted a woman in the basement parking garage of a building on the 2100 block of Northeast Halsey Street at around 7 p.m. Monday.

Martinez ran away when uniformed police officers arrived. They chased the suspect on foot through the neighborhood before he was finally nabbed after broke into another apartment.

Meanwhile the investigating detectives connected Martinez to another sexual assault that occurred Monday morning several blocks away.

Police reports and court documents allege that Martinez entered the woman's home through an open window, used scarves and socks to blindfold her, gag her and tie her up before he sexually assaulted her and beat her with punches and the slamming of her head against wood floor.

In his subsequent sexual assault and attack, the police probable cause affidavit accuses the suspect Martinez was hidden in a dark corner of the parking garage and he first approached a woman telling her he wished to talk.

The woman in fear of the suspect offered Martinez her money, her cellphone and her personal laptop computer, but Martinez, she said, threatened to kill her and forced her to get into her car while pointing a six-inch knife at her, according to court documents.

The probable cause affidavit states the woman kicked Martinez in the midsection, but he said, "you shouldn't have done that," and again threatened to kill her.

The woman had pressed the panic button on her car alarm system before she got into the suspect's vehicle. Court documents noted she escaped from the car, but Martinez tackled her and slammed her head onto the ground.

People nearby heard screams and rushed in to help, causing Martinez to run away. When he was caught by police, he was carrying the 6-inch knife and the items he stole from both victims, according to the probable cause affidavit.

Oregon's Governor Kate Brown had officially declared Oregon to be a Sanctuary State for all illegal aliens in February 2017. Her executive order forbids all state agencies and employees from helping federal immigration officials locate or apprehend illegal immigrants.

Oregon State Law already forbids state and local law enforcement agencies from using public resources to find or arrest those whose only crime is being in the country without proper documentation, Brown's order goes a step further in solidifying the state's sanctuary status by expanding the law to all agencies.

Oregon is among the growing number of Democratic Party run states that provide 'sanctuary' to illegal aliens. Such state laws equate to not cooperating with federal immigration law enforcement agencies who require state and local law enforcement and sheriffs' departments to turn over illegal aliens with criminal backgrounds, especially immigrants who commit violent crimes.

Instead these 'sanctuary' cities and or entire states choose to harbor these criminals, putting them before the safety and well-being of American citizens residing in these areas.

The investigation of sex crimes case is extremely difficult and demanding, requiring not only technical expertise and experience, but also sensitivity towards the victim. The detective or prosecutor assigned to investigate should always remain cognizant of the fact that the entire criminal justice process, beginning with the initial police interview right through adjudication, poses an additional ordeal for the sex crime victim and her family and loved ones.

The trauma of sexual attack leaves the victim at once hurt – physically and emotionally – angry, anxious, fearful, vengeful, confused, hate-filled and distrustful. In many cases, the victim blames herself for the act, thinking she contributed to the crime. If she was returning home late from a party, she may tell herself she deserved what she got because of her carelessness late at night or early in the morning. The investigating officer(s) must reassure her that she did nothing wrong. The rapist or sex offender is the one who committed the crime, and the one deserving punishment to the fullest extent of the law.

In some cases, the investigators will find the victim to be uncooperative, even hostile the preliminary stages of the interview/preliminary report. Sensitivity and understanding of the psychology of rape and sexual assault are prerequisites to a successful sex crimes investigation.

Most big-city police departments have specialized units for sex crimes as do most prosecution offices. In New York City, for example, there are several sex crimes squads or units operating within all of NYC's five boroughs. In addition to the NYPD's specialized squads, the District Attorney's Office in each borough has assistant district attorneys assigned to a special sex crimes unit.

Many Voters Suspect Democrats Of Using IEDs As Their 'October Surprise'

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

The Democratic Party and their foot soldiers in the news media are openly – many say unfairly – blaming President Donald Trump and conservatives for the multiple improvised explosive devices (IEDs) sent to well-know left-wing Democrats such as multi-billionaire businessman and far-left activist George Soros, Bill and Hillary Clinton, Barack Obama, Eric Holder and others. But there are those who suspect the bombs are the work of far-left Democrats or members of their supporting mobs.

Although no one has taken responsibility for the IEDs, the politicized leftist news people are pointing their collective fingers at the White House and the Republicans or at the “deplorables.”

“These people in the news business have already made up their minds to help Democrats with a possible ‘October Surprise’ only days before the mid-term elections And while the FBI and the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives (ATF) are on the case, my faith in those two agencies has decreased,” said former New York police detective Benny Cardona, who spent 10-years assigned to the Arson & Explosion Squad.

“I’m very skeptical of the IEDs – pipe bombs – sent since not one of the nine confirmed IEDs succeeded in detonating. A bomber who knows what he or she is doing would have had at least one device explode. But that’s not what happened,” said Det. Cardona.

Within the conservative news and commentary media, including prominent Republicans talk radio superstar Rush Limbaugh and frequent Fox News guest Candace Owens, there is suspicion that Democratic Party operatives were behind the IEDs that were sent by mail to Democratic Party and Deep State members.

Rush Limbaugh suggested on-the-air that the acts were committed to fuel support for Democrats two weeks before the midterm elections. "It's happening in October," Limbaugh noted. "There's a reason for this."

He added that attempted violent attacks are out of character for conservatives. "Republicans just don't do this kind of thing," he said.

ANTIFA (ANTI-FASCISTS)
GROUPS WHO EMPLOY
FASCIST OPERATIONS

Antifa claims to be an anti-fascist movement and claims to be fighting against fascism, but their actions prove the opposite. Interestingly enough, the "Antifa" movement began in a few European countries in the 1920's and expanded outward to other countries eventually reaching America. The modern-day Antifa movement is funded by the elites like George Soros, the Clintons and Barack Hussein Obama.

The new Antifa has proven by its members' own actions who the real fascists are, and all they need to do is look in the mirror. Antifa considers themselves to be rebelling against the establishment, whilst upholding all of its ultra-politically correct views.

As hypocritical as Antifa is, the organization is proving to be quite a big problem in our country. They are progressively becoming more dangerous and bolder as each day passes. The mainstream media portrays Antifa in a positive light claiming they are champions of justice, but just look at any raw footage of their “protests” and you will realize their actions resemble riots much more than an actual protest.

Recently, Antifa has begun to arm themselves and call for open rebellion against the United States Government, and more specifically, against President Trump and his supporters. Antifa tries to paint themselves as champions of minorities but only if those minorities agree with them.

An armed Antifa group is launching a new cell in Philadelphia, with support from the “alt-left” news media.

The group continues to offer their members and ‘contractors’ (hired and paid protesters) access to anti-police workshops called “Our Enemies in Blue.” The group draws inspiration from convicted murderers and calls for violence against the police, theft of goods, and armed insurrection.

To the right of this text is a table with three columns, each headed by a symbol: a Swastika, a Hammer and Sickle, and a fist holding a gun. The table lists five categories: "Hates Individualism", "Hates Free Speech", "Hates Free Markets", "Hates Elections", and "Approves Violence". Each category has a checkmark in every column. At the bottom left is a circular seal with a star, and at the bottom right is a black banner with the text "THE PATRIOT POST" in white capital letters.

The Revolutionary Abolitionist Movement has sought since its inception to spread nationwide, and create international connections to further the cause of abolitionism and revolutionary anarchism. Today, we are proud to announce the formation of the Revolutionary Abolitionist Movement – Philadelphia Branch (RAM Philly). With the growth of each new branch we inch ever closer to the day when we can realize our revolutionary aspirations, live in a world of true freedom, and decisively eradicate the abhorrence of 21st century slavery.

The struggle in the US seems like an unrelenting weight being pushed down on revolutionary forces, but that same force has been bearing down on criminalized communities for decades with no reprieve. Mosques are being ruthlessly bombed, state agencies and vigilante groups are deporting Latino people with relentless vigor, LGBTQ people are being battered, and the destruction of black life continues unabated as millions languish in the plantations of the modern day slave system.

Immersed in these struggles, against the state and its white supremacist militias, we are developing the capacity to liberate ourselves and others. We fight side by side with those facing state and reactionary violence and with each person we free from captivity the stronger we grow. As demonstrated by our resistance in Charlottesville, we will not cede one inch of ground to racists. As each new collective forms, we begin to create new political realities and continue the march together against white supremacy and for a dignified world.

We continue in the legacy of Philadelphia's rich revolutionary tradition, demonstrated by Mumia Abu Jamal, Russell Maroon Shoatz, and the MOVE organization.

We are now establishing a revolutionary political movement that can confront the challenges ahead of us, and together with Philadelphia based comrades, we are taking one step closer.

Victory to Those Behind the Barricades!

Victory to Those Behind Prison Walls!

Victory to Revolutionary Forces!

Long live RAM Philly!

Law enforcement officials and bomb technicians have been critical of the news coverage of the 'serial bomber' who targeted top Democratic Party or Deep State leaders such as the Clintons, Barack Obama, Eric Holder, CNN, radical multi-billionaire George Soros and others.

Several experts in terrorism and explosive devices believe that using the term "terrorists" to describe the alleged bomber(s) is something that doesn't help to explain the criminal use of bombs by obviously politically-motivated criminals.

One expert, former bomb technician Det. Lukas Grenier, said, "It's almost comical that you practically have to beg the Democrats and the news media to get them to label a criminal act by a radical Muslim as an act of terrorism, but if it's even remotely connected to President Trump it's one of the first terms they use in the hope it hurts the Republicans."

Most of the police veterans and active officers said they preferred to use terms such as sabotage and saboteur to describe a criminal act perpetrated by a non-combatant or bonafide member of a terrorist group. They also gave Conservative Base the benefits of their careers in stopping bombs from becoming crime scenes filled with death and destruction.

The idea of radical leaders using sabotage to achieve their objectives isn't new. Leon Trotsky supported the use of sabotage and terrorism to advance so-called social justice.

Decades before an ice-axe found its way into his skull, Trotsky argued in Dictatorship vs. Democracy that Communists who reject “terrorism in principle” weren’t bona fide Communists.

Sabotage, like any other weapon, offers its user an amplification and extension of his own strength, both to harm others and defend himself. Sabotage has the additional appeal of destroying much evidence of itself, and is usually hard to prove.

Oregon’s Government Blesses Illegal Alien Sexual Predators With Sanctuary

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

Where is the public outcry from the Oregon Republican State legislators?

Another story regarding the criminal actions of an illegal residing in the sanctuary state of Oregon has come to light and the details of this man’s actions are horrifying.

An illegal alien from Mexico entered a guilty plea to multiple charges of kidnapping, sodomy and sexual assault on Friday. Sergio Jose Martinez, 34, a Mexican national who in the past was deported from the United States at least 20 times has been convicted of 10 counts of sexual assault in Oregon.

Legacy: CIA Chief Brennan Stonewalled By Senate Over Drone Attacks On Americans

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

Former CIA Director John Brennan's numerous verbal attacks on President Donald Trump has made him a hero with the denizens of America's news media as well as the far-left Democrats. In fact, Brennan was hired as an analyst by the Trump-hating MSNBC, a news outlet that allows him and former Director of National Intelligence James Clapper to call the President a traitor, treasonous and other derogatory terms.

But the same partisan news people forget that President Barack Obama's CIA nominee John Brennan's confirmation was stonewalled by Republican and Democrat lawmakers in March 2013 due to questions about Obama's use of a lethal drone program while Brennan served in the White House as a national security adviser along with Susan "Benghazi" Rice and Valeria Jarrett, Obama's closest adviser and friend.

Although most of the nation's media outlets supported the former Communist Party member and voter, as well as an alleged convert to Saudi-style Islam known as Wahhabism, Fox News Channel's Catherine Herridge, the network's chief national security correspondent, faithfully reported on Brennan's suspicious past as well as the alleged unconstitutional use of drones against American citizens.

"We will see if that actually happens or not," Chris Anders, senior legislative counsel for the ACLU told Fox News' Herridge. "If it doesn't, that's a pretty big signal this nomination is in trouble largely over this (drone) issue," Anders said.

Herridge reported that the Brennan confirmation had been pushed back two weeks over a handful of issues ranging from the Benghazi terrorist attack to drones, including the growing bipartisan push on Capitol Hill for the Obama White House to release all the legal memos justifying the targeted killing of American citizens overseas.

According to Herridge's FNC report, the chairmanman of the House Judiciary Committee said the Obama administration must do more explaining: "The American people deserve to know and understand the legal basis under which the Obama administration believes it can kill U.S. citizens, and under what circumstances," Chairman Bob Goodlatte (R-Va.) said.

When President Barack Obama officially nominated Brennan for the director of the Central Intelligence Agency position, counterterrorism officials at all levels of government said they hoped the Senate confirmation hearings and debates would give Americans a clear understanding of what makes Brennan tick. Instead, the White House version of Brennan's qualifications were pushed by the Democrats and allowed to go unchallenged by some feckless Republicans, according to former intelligence officer and criminal investigator Sid Franes.

"People in the White House say [he] is legendary in the White House for working hard," said Obama when announcing the nomination, adding that he wasn't sure if Brennan had slept in four years. However, some experts claim Brennan is not a good choice for such an important national security role.

Brennan, who served a quarter-century with the CIA, has served as Obama's top counterterrorism aide since 2009. If confirmed, he will fill the post left vacant by David Petraeus, who resigned in November during an extramarital-affair scandal.

"In John Brennan the men and women of the CIA will have the leadership of our nation's most skilled intelligence professionals," said Obama. ""That unique combination of smarts and strength that he claims comes from growing up in New Jersey."

But not everyone is enthusiastic about Brennan being the new CIA chief.

“Mr. Brennan is, at best, willfully blind to the threat posed to homeland and national security of the United States by those who adhere to Shariah law,” said Tom Trento, director of Florida Security Council, who has been critical of Brennan’s service in the Obama White House.

Some of the nation’s top intelligence, military, national security and law enforcement experts once loudly called for John Brennan to resign from his post or for President Barack Obama to fire Brennan.

During a press conference in September 2010 at the National Press Club in Washington, D.C., respected experts, including officials from the Florida Security Council, told reporters that because of Brennan’s adherence to the politically-correct orthodoxy that permeates the Obama administration, the U.S. government is being prevented from identifying, understanding and countering radical Muslims and their threat of imposing Shariah law.

Frank Gaffney, a former Assistant Secretary of Defense during the Reagan administration, and others claim that Shariah is a supremacist, totalitarian legal doctrine that leads to terrorism, torture, abuse of women and young girls, and other horrors.

A major piece of evidence that points to the dangers associated with Brennan’s failure to perform his primary function – to know the enemy and its threat doctrine – came to light when analysts at the Florida Security Council discovered that a known Hamas operative and unindicted co-conspirator in the largest terrorism financing trial in U.S. history (Holy Land Foundation), Sheik Kifah Mustapha, participated in a six-week-long, government-sponsored “Citizens Academy” hosted by the FBI as part of its outreach to the Muslim community.

During the six-week FBI program, Mustapha – a man tied to an officially designated terrorist organization – was escorted into the top secret National Counterterrorism Center and other secure government facilities, including the FBI National Academy located on the Quantico U.S. Marine Base in Virginia.

Terrorism expert Steve Emerson, director of the Investigative Project on Terrorism, exposed Mustapha's appointment in Illinois to a post as a State Police chaplain. However, according to Illinois officials, the appointment was revoked in spite of the protests of the Council on American-Islamic Relations.

"Deputy National Security Advisor John Brennan must resign his post immediately," said Mr. Gaffney, whose Center for Security Policy released a report entitled, Shariah: The Threat to America.

Former CIA chief of the Bin Laden Unit, Michael Scheuer, writing on the Center for Security Policy's web site, claims: "When, in December, 1995, the Agency set up a unit to dismantle al-Qaeda and capture or help the U.S. military kill Osama bin Laden, one of that unit's first actions was to ask Mr. Brennan – who was then what George Tenet has described as 'CIA's senior officer on the Arabian Peninsula' – to secure from the Saudi intelligence service some very basic information and documents about bin Laden. The Saudis did not respond, and so the bin Laden unit sent frequent messages to Mr. Brennan asking him to secure the data. When we finally received a response from Mr. Brennan, it was to tell us that he would no longer pass the bin Laden unit's requests to the Saudis because they were annoyed by them. DCI George Tenet backed Mr. Brennan's decision, and when I resigned from CIA in November 2004, the Saudis had not delivered the requested data."

U.S. Citizens Urged To Arm Themselves, Stockpile Ammo, Prepare For Attacks By Antifa, Jihadists And Radical Illegal Aliens

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

About 100 million Americans own approximately 300 million rifles, shotguns and handguns. For the last year and a half the number of firearms purchased by Americans has increased every month. Tens of millions of our people of all races own more guns than vote for the successful presidential candidate every four years, according to police firearms and law adviser John Snyder, before he died of natural causes last year.

The United States civilian population is the most heavily armed civilian population in history, Snyder points out.

“The United States is gun country. It’s part of our national heritage of freedom and liberty. Anti-gun politicians, media reps, clergy, academicians and others should learn this lesson and learn it well,” said Snyder who serves on the advisory board of the 13,000-member National Association of Chiefs of Police (NACOP).

Snyder also said, "Hillary [Clinton] supported semiautomatic gun registration, universal background checks on all firearms transfers, and subjection of firearms manufacturers and dealers to frivolous third-party lawsuits. Which is why she's on a book tour instead of leading the United State."

"Clinton, herself an attorney who bragged about getting a child-rapist acquitted, is throwing the American Bar Association and trial lawyers a huge bone with her gun-control agenda," said former New York police detective Iris Aquino, who now trains women in self-defense including use of firearms.

The Coming Civil War II?

The United States appears to some Americans to be on the brink of something that in the past was the theme of many works of fiction including books and motion picture about the end times – the terrifying 1984, the overly violent Clockwork Orange, the disturbing A Handmaid's Tale, the realistic doomsday thriller Children of Men, and other works that provide readers and moviegoers with a glimpse of what mankind will eventually face when governments topple and tribalism replaces the greatness of liberty and freedom with distrust, extreme cynicism, mob rule and routinely violent civil disobedience.

During the last three presidential administrations – George W. Bush 43, Barack Hussein Obama, and current President Donald Trump – Americans have witnessed the slow but steady decline of the great political experiment that was the United States' Constitutionally protected Representative Republic.

Starting with the last election cycle, there were groups of radicals who fearlessly attacked the nation's conservatives in what seems like a throwback to the 1960s campus protests and street riots in the biggest and most populace cities in the U.S.

Once the election was over, these same groups, their leaders, the news media and the entertainment industry continued their hateful verbal attacks, physical attacks on anyone opposing them, and expansion of the once independent, broadcast and print news outlets that is now recognized as being the propaganda machine for the Democratic Party. The media also shills for the radical left, the secret and mysterious Deep State (a/k/a the Shadow Government), and the already deeply entrenched radical Muslims.

Muslim refugees are allowed into the U.S. with opened arms despite their threat to the lives and property of the American people. So too are undocumented illegal aliens from Mexico and other Central American countries who possess higher violent crime rates than most of the Middle Eastern countries.

A NewsWithViews.com news story (written by political correspondent Jim Kouri) quoted then Louisiana Governor Bobby Jindal as saying he is accusing President Barack Obama and other political leaders of waging war against religious liberty and education and saying that a "rebellion is brewing in the U.S. with people ready for a hostile takeover of the nation's capital."

While Gov. Jindal, a Republican, didn't elaborate many believe he was warning citizens that the federal government (Deep State) is actually provoking a rebellion.

Those who've studied national politics and security believe that President Obama and his consortium of left-wing radicals, Islamists and One World Government operatives are hoping that American citizens will take to the streets in droves while armed and demanding to be heard by oppressive government elites who no longer pretend to adhere to the U.S. Constitution.

Such a scenario would offer the Washington elites the desired "excuse" to deploy the government agencies and the military which seems to be the opinion of Gov. Bobby Jindal and others.

Gov. Jindal is quoted by Fox News as saying he could “sense right now a rebellion brewing among these United States where people are ready for a hostile takeover of Washington, D.C., to preserve the American dream for our children and grandchildren.”

Gov. Jindal spoke in Washington, D.C, at the annual Faith and Freedom Coalition conference.

During his presentation he accused Obama, his minions and sycophants of waging war against certain American values “The Pelican State governor is right on,” said John Snyder, who is also on the board of advisers for the National Association of Chiefs of Police and a former NRA magazine editor.

Although news stories and op-eds on the Internet for years predicted the mysterious and foreboding purchase by Homeland Security of billions – that’s right, not millions but billions – of rounds of ammunition, stories appearing in News with Views, the Drudge Report, Fox News and a few other news outlets appear to be drawing more and more attention to federal agencies militarizing their workers.

Most disheartening is the enormous number of weapons and ammunition being purchased and stockpiled by federal agencies that aren’t even law enforcement or military in nature.

Federal agencies not usually associated with civil unrest are stockpiling weapons and ammunition. For example, the Social Security Administration, are trying to put a damper on the speculation – noting the ammunition is “standard issue” and simply used for mandatory federal training sessions.

When asked about their buildup of weapons and ammunition, the Social Security Administration stated: "The SSA is processing more applications than ever, which means more traffic in SSA offices. Employee and visitor safety is the highest priority for OIG, which, together with the Federal Protective Services and local law enforcement, has jurisdiction over SSA workplaces."

The SSA also claimed, "Our special agents need to be armed and trained appropriately. They not only investigate allegations of Social Security fraud, but they also are called to respond to threats against Social Security offices, employees, and customers."

The bullet purchases drew widespread attention as the web site Infowars.com published several stories on them that were linked off the widely read Drudge Report and other sites.

Infowars.com catalogued a string of recent purchases – first by the Department of Homeland Security, then by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration and then the Social Security Administration.

Ingram also noted that "the Bush Administration and congress toyed with the idea of practically militarizing FEMA (Federal Emergency Management Administration), which is basically a 'bean-counting' agency. But that idea went nowhere. However, with Obama in the Oval Office, the news media may be more willing to cover up abuses to patriotic Americans."

“This news is bad, very bad. Worse are attempts by inane politicians, media personnel, entertainers and church officials to impose gun control generally on American citizens. Jihadists are out to get Americans. People need guns now more than ever. Jihad terrorism is increasing in the US. Individual citizens need guns for protection. Jihadists behead, rape and pillage. Armed Americans must be ready, willing and able to stop them anytime, anyplace,” notes Snyder who serves on boards of the National Association of Chiefs of Police, Council for America and American Federation of Police & Concerned Citizens.

Kinesic Expert Dissects Sen. Dianne Feinstein's Body Language For Honesty And Integrity

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

Watching and listening to the news media's coverage of the feeding-frenzy generated by the U.S. Senate's Supreme Court confirmation hearings for Judge Brett Kavanaugh is a most painful process for some law enforcement officials to endure. As one charge after another is drudged up by the ultra-leftist Democrats and their partners in the country's news outlets – neither of which cares about truth and justice, but only winning – it becomes clear truthfulness is a very valuable commodity in the nation's capital.

With so many politicians and news people making statements about the comments of alleged suspects and their alleged victims, it becomes clear these “interviewers” are merely showboating or acting out what they believe will earn them accolades or, more important to these narcissists, a lot of votes on election day or ratings and circulation numbers each week.

It is the consensus of several experts in criminal and civil investigations that what's needed in the investigation of Judge Kavanaugh and his accusers is the expert analysis of words and actions of those testifying or those questioning subjects offering testimony before a congressional committee. Such analysis is known as Kinesic Interviewing and Interrogation.

Kinesics is the study of non-verbal communication. It is particularly useful for law enforcement officers because suspects and persons of interest in criminal cases often involuntarily present telling indicators of deception, receptiveness and nervousness through body language.

John E. Reid and Associates began developing interview and interrogation techniques in 1947. Reid was a former Chicago police detective who developed his own unique methods for getting to the truth of a matter. It became known as Kinesic Interview and Interrogation.

Today, The Reid Technique of Interviewing and Interrogation is the most widely used approach to question subjects in the world. The content of the instructional material has continued to develop and change over the years.

Reid instructors' expertise on the topic of behavior symptom analysis, interviewing and interrogation techniques was recognized by the National Security Agency which awarded John E. Reid and Associates (in conjunction with Michigan State University) a sole source bid for a scientific study on the use of behavior symptoms in the detection of deception. The results of the study were published in the Journal of Forensic Sciences.

Reid has trained police officers, homeland security directors, members of the intelligence community (NSA, CIA, DIA, FBI) and corporate security and protection officials in the use of the techniques that have successfully helped to solve cases, determine truthfulness and provide evidence. This writer (Jim Kouri, editor of Conservative Base) was a student of Reid's instructors twice – in 1984 and again in 1988, when these experts developed additional methods for detection of deception.

There is an entirely different narrative to be understood about what someone is saying to you, and it goes far beyond listening to their words. It's what people do when they speak, how they behave, what movements they make, that tells the story.

Body language is sometimes far more telling than the actual words that come from someone's lips.

Mandy O'Brien studies body language. She's become an internet go-to expert on reading the truth on many D.C. inhabitants.

And she's got some pretty interesting things to say about Sen. Dianne Feinstein regarding the leak of Palo Alto University Professor Christine Blasey Ford's letter accusing Supreme Court nominee Brett Kavanaugh of sexually assaulting her when both were in high school.

In this video, O'Brien dissects every movement from Feinstein and those around her to come up with some fascinating conclusions regarding Feinstein's statements in the Senate Judiciary Committee hearings as she answers questions about the letter she received from Ford.

Feinstein says: "Mr. Chairman, let me be clear. I did not hide Dr. Ford's allegations. I did not leak her story. She asked me to hold it confidential."

To that O'Brien responds: "OK, Feinstein has said two statements and neither one of them match. The other part of this, she's written it down. I don't know if she wrote it down during this hearing. It wouldn't surprise me, but it's suspicious to write it down.

"What did she say? 'I did not hide it,' and 'I did not leak it.' So, if you didn't hide it, it means others knew, which kind of contradicts 'I didn't leak it.' It's a very ambiguous statement, especially since she went so far as to actually write it down so she stayed on point, just like lawyer-speak."

Interestingly, not only does O'Brien find Feinstein's statements not credible and suspicious, but the rest of the chamber is completely detached and unenthusiastic about her remarks. Bored.

At the 1:26 mark of the video, the camera gives us a wide angle shot of the room and the inattentiveness by the body is overwhelming. The body language by the rest of the committee is an enormous statement in itself.

O'Brien also notes Feinstein speaks to the body of the chamber, but does not make eye contact, a very tell-tale sign of disingenuous behavior. "She's not even actually looking up towards anyone of any status, at least in her mind," O'Brien adds.

It's possible Feinstein believes she isn't lying if she can dance around the truth on a technicality.

"Now, there's quite a few ways, especially since we're dealing with lawyers, and they're getting smarter, that you could approach this," O'Brien says. "'I did not leak,' could mean she did not give anyone that letter because that part as she says it seems to be true. Her body sings with her.

"Everything is peaches and cream, and alas you've followed your little law. But, you know, whispered bullet points, whispered names, that's not leaking, at least in their mind," O'Brien says.

The next question is, if Feinstein didn't leak, who did? A staff member possibly? Even if it wasn't Feinstein herself, it was a betrayal nonetheless. And O'Brien gives a detailed description of a woman on Feinstein's staff sitting behind her, and draws a conclusion that it is possible her staff could have been the culprit.

"But confronted on if your staff leaked it. See how her head goes back almost like a defiance and then she watches Feinstein to see her reaction. 'Are you going to stand up for us?' It makes me suspicious if the staff was the ones that were leaking it, whether they actually leaked the documents or, as I said before, leaked those bullet points," O'Brien says.

Body language is a fascinating science. I can think of no better place to study it than inside the Beltway. There's enough body language going on there to keep people watchers busy for a very long time.

Hopefully, the Kavanaugh hearings won't go on much longer and we can watch an excited Justice Brett Kavanaugh take his oath as he proceeds to his seat on the Supreme Court.

Democratic Party Radical
Bernie Sanders Wrote A Pornographic Column, Media

Silent

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

U.S. Senator Bernie Sanders penned an essay in 1972 claiming that women fantasize about being gang raped and men fantasize about abusing women.

An independent socialist from Vermont, Sanders is running for president as a Democrat and is the only officially announced rival at this time to Hillary Clinton.

Sanders' office responded this afternoon that the article was merely a failed attempt at satire.

It was included in a feature about the senator posted by liberal/progressive Mother Jones earlier this week, which called the Sanders-authored tract "a stream-of-consciousness essay on the nature of male-female dynamics."

At the beginning of the essay in question, called "Man and Woman," which originally appeared in the Vermont Freeman alternative newspaper, Sanders stated the following:

"A man goes home and masturbates his typical fantasy. A woman on her knees, a woman tied up, a woman abused.

A woman enjoys intercourse with her man – as she fantasizes being raped by 3 men simultaneously."

According to CNN's Jake Tapper, the senator's office described the newly surfaced essay as "a dumb attempt at dark satire in an alternative publication... intended to attack gender stereotypes in the 70s.” Not everyone on Twitter is buying that explanation, however.

So far, the mainstream media has not run with the story in any significant way. Today, for example, the New York Times published a story lauding Sanders’ “unabashedly progressive message” and described the senator at age 73 as “fit and quick-witted.”

similarly explained that “Sanders, an agitator who doesn’t suffer fools, political opponents or journalists gladly, is testing whether the kind of populist, liberal agenda that gave him 75 [percent] approval ratings in his adopted home state can catch fire nationwide.”

The Media Research Center, a conservative watchdog group, observed that it would be highly unlikely that the mainstream media would give any Republican a pass for this kind of lurid prose (no matter how far it goes back), especially given the rape-comment controversy that imploded Todd Akin’s 2012 campaign in Missouri for U.S. Senate.

“It is unclear where Sanders acquired his early expertise on male and female sexual desires. But what is clear is that had Ted Cruz or Rick Santorum wrote something along these lines – even 40 years ago – the media wouldn’t stop talking about it for weeks.”

National Review columnist Charles C.W. Cooke offered a somewhat different take on how this information would be reported if Sanders was a member of the other political party. "And it wouldn't just be Ted Cruz or Rick Santorum who would be asked about the essay: it would be every Republican in the [presidential] race. In fact, it would be every Republican not in the race, too."

Cooke continued: "Bernie Sanders wrote these words – and a lot of drivel besides – in 1972. Maybe he was young and foolish. Maybe he was a different man back then. Maybe society was unrecognizable and he had bought into all sorts of faddish psychology. Who knows? And frankly, who cares? Sure, the Democratic party would crucify a Republican for the same offense. But they shouldn't. A society in which people are drummed out of politics for things they wrote 43 years ago is an ugly society indeed. Sometimes the best way to address hypocrisy is to take the high road..."

Alluding to the double standard, Bloomberg reporter John Heilemann told his With All Due Respect co-host Mark Halperin that "I now we both agree about this, which is that if a Republican, any Republican candidate wrote an essay like this, whether they were 16 years old and high on dope or whether it was two weeks ago, it would be a huge scandal. So I think we need to hold Bernie Sanders to the same standard, and people need to ask him tough questions about it."

"I happen to know some United States senators, one who's on the other side who's pretty aggressive," Trump said, according to The Times. "I've seen that person in some very bad situations." "He would not identify whom he meant, but he did later single out Senator Richard Blumenthal, a Democrat from Connecticut, a favorite target, for misleading the public for years about his military service during the Vietnam War,” The Times reported.

Donald Trump Talking Pen. It’s hilarious. [Order today.]

“This guy lied when he was the attorney general of Connecticut. He lied,” Trump said, according to The Times.

In 2010, The New York Times published an article that reported Blumenthal said he had served in Vietnam, “implying he had fought in the war, when in fact he served in the Marine Reserve in the United States at the time.”

On Monday, Trump continued on the theme.

“He said he was a war hero, (that) he fought in Da Nang Province,” Trump said. “We call him ‘Da Nang Richard.’ ... He never went to Vietnam.”

California Croakers: Gov. Jerry Brown (D) Signs Bill to Make Suicide Voluntary and Involuntary

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

California's Governor Jerry Brown – known to conservatives as Gov. Moonbeam – signed into law yesterday a bill (SB 282) that allows any person to “aid, advise, and encourage” suicide under the state's assisted suicide law. Until now, these actions were felonies, as the state had a longstanding policy to protect people from self-harm.

In the aftermath of non-profit organization Life Legal's challenge to California's End of Life Option Act, the state legislators – a Democratic Party majority – decided to go even further.

Those who oppose such laws have said that physician-assisted suicide is only the beginning. and now California is following other self-inflicted death jurisdictions like Canada, Belgium, and the Netherlands. The Dutch government went as far as garnering support for assisted-suicide first and then pursued eventually legalizing voluntary and involuntary euthanasia.

“Involuntary euthanasia is the ultimate goal of the so-called globalist leaders of the New World Order. In the U.S., California would love to euthanize the current American citizens and replace them with tens or millions of immigrants who they hope are ill-educated and unsophisticated,” said from military intelligence operative and police sergeant Joey Heddran.

“The goal is simply to replace the nation’s demographics with those who won’t fight a worldwide takeover by the globalists,” he added.

According to Life Legal News, “Medical studies show that the vast majority of people—up to 77%—diagnosed with a terminal illness suffer from major depression. A study published in the Journal of Clinical Psychology found a statistically significant association between clinical depression and the desire for hastened death. In other words, people who are depressed often have suicidal thoughts.”

“Now the law in California says that it is okay to aid, advise, or encourage people with suicidal thoughts to actually go through with killing themselves,” according to officials with Life Legal, a nonpartisan, non-profit oversight group. “We refuse to stand idly by as California and the rest of the nation proceed down this deadly path.”

“This bill would allow a doctor or nurse to “aid,” “advise,” and “encourage” you to take suicide pills. And this new law lets a relative who could financially benefit from your death to sign an order giving you suicide pills,” said Charles Finneman, a criminal psychologist with the American Federation of Police and Concerned Citizens.

For over two years, Life Legal has been battling California's assisted suicide law in the courts. The group's opponents are California Attorney General Xavier Becerra, who they claim is in pocket of groups such as Planned Parenthood and who charged David Daleiden and Sandra Merritt with 15 felony counts each for exposing the abortion giant's role in the criminal sale of butchered baby parts for profit; and the grossly misnamed "Compassion and Choices," which is the Planned Parenthood of the forced death movement, heavily funded by the likes of multi-billionaire radical George Soros.

Life Legal and other conservative and religious groups registered their opposition to SB 282 from the beginning, since it grants complete legal immunity to anyone who wants to facilitate the death of someone who is defined as "terminally ill" under California's assisted suicide law. The law defines "terminal" as a condition expected to lead to death within six months if left untreated.

This means diabetes, high blood pressure, treatable conditions-even an infection-could be considered "terminal."

One homicide detective predicts it will lead to dishonesty and out-and-out murder for financial gain. "The medical profession is respected in our country but I've seen physicians who were arrested for a number of crimes stemming from their greed," said New York retired homicide detective Jerome Delgado

California's assisted suicide law allows "interested" witnesses, which include beneficiaries, to sign a person's request for assisted suicide drugs. The new law allows an individual to aid, advise, and encourage a person to commit suicide – sign off on the method of suicide –while financially benefiting from the person's death.

SB 282 will give unscrupulous family members and others unqualified immunity to actively participate in the killing of another human being. "I am always amazed at the cunning displayed by the Democratic Party to make even the most heinous acts sound charitable," said William Talbott, a former forensic science professor. "In California, as it stands now, they can kill babies just seconds before they come out of a mother's womb and they can kill the elderly or chronically ill with the blessings of those whose lives are being terminated."

According to Life Legal Defense Foundation, "We cannot imagine an issue more worthy of attention than the protection of vulnerable life. It is unfathomable to us how so many have remained silent in the face of this radical and dangerous policy shift."

"Imagine if the state had passed a law saying it was okay to 'aid, advise, and encourage' human trafficking. We would be outraged-and rightly so."

"We don't say it's okay to allow women to pay doctors to rip their unborn children limb from limb because it's their 'choice.' We don't say it's okay to allow children to sell themselves into sex slavery because it's their 'choice.' And we should not say it's okay to allow people to help the vulnerable, the disabled, and the mentally ill kill themselves."

Link to opposition to SB 282.

Life Legal Defense Foundation was established in 1989, and is a nonprofit organization composed of attorneys and other concerned citizens committed to giving helpless and innocent human beings of any age, and their advocates, a trained and committed voice in the courtrooms of our nation.

FBI Responds To Hillary's Demand For Investigation Of Allegations Against Kavanaugh

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

"The FBI does not make any judgment about the credibility or significance of any allegation. The purpose of a background investigation is to determine whether the nominee could pose a risk to the national security of the United States. The allegation does not involve any potential federal crime. The FBI's role in such matters is to provide information for the use of the decision makers." – FBI Statement

Former, First Lady, U.S. Senator, Secretary of State, and losing presidential candidate Hillary Clinton spoke about the allegations leveled against Judge Brett Kavanaugh when it appeared he would be confirmed by GOP senators and a couple of "Blue Dog Democrats."

On Tuesday night, Clinton told MSNBC host Rachel Maddow that she believes the FBI should conduct a full investigation. She said the accuser Dr. Christine Blasey Ford, a Democratic Party activist and college professor, is entitled to have her 35-year-old case treated as a crime.

"As someone who has watched this process unfold over many years, there does have to be some direction given to the FBI to pursue an investigation," Clinton said.

"This from a woman whose husband is a one-man walking orgy? Does she think we forgot her and her minion George sluts,'" said former sex crimes detective Iris Aquino. "Now George is a fake newsman along with the other Deep State propagandists," she noted.

Stephanopoulos starting a war room to deal with 'bimbo eruptions' – women who claimed Bill Clinton sexually harassed, sexually assaulted or raped – and Stephanopoulos calling those women 'nuts and

Clinton told Maddow that the investigation shouldn't take a long time to conduct. "I don't think it would be a lengthy investigation," she continued. "I think it could be done in an expeditious manner if they're still trying to have a vote on this nominee, they could postpone for two weeks."

But several law enforcement sex assault-investigators said this case is a waste since Prof. Ford doesn't remember where the "crime" occurred, what the exact time and date was when she was assaulted, were there any witnesses, where did she go after the alleged sexual assault.

"A first year law student or a kid graduating from the police academy would tell you that the case doesn't answer the key investigatory components: who, what, where, when, how and why? This is the Democrats playing games with people's lives – mean spirited, character assassination,” said former New York State Housing police commander Geoffrey Garlanti.

Clinton further said there could be an appearance of insult to Ford if an investigation is not done.

“Prof. Ford will be insulted? Is Clinton still having her dizzy-spells? What about Judge Kavanaugh? The man's record is one of achievement, maturity and brilliance. He's far superior to the Democratic Bozos who are judging him based on the word of a Deep State operative from Palo Alto University in the heart of the People's Republic of California,” Det. Aquino quipped.

A Justice Department spokesperson has already released a statement saying the FBI will not be conducting an investigation into Ford's allegations because they do not involve a federal crime:

“The FBI does not make any judgment about the credibility or significance of any allegation. The purpose of a background investigation is to determine whether the nominee could pose a risk to the national security of the United States. The allegation does not involve any potential federal crime. The FBI's role in such matters is to provide information for the use of the decision makers.”

Before the allegations of sexual misconduct surfaced against Kavanaugh, Clinton had already expressed he was too dangerous for women’s rights and working-class people. She urged her Twitter followers to call their senators to oppose his nomination.

“Sure, he’s too dangerous? Hillary has blood on her hands, smeared women as nuts and sluts, and stole millions of taxpayer dollars, but Kavanaugh is the one who is dangerous,” said Mike Baker, a former cop and political strategist.

Deep State Immune To FBI, DOJ Investigations And Indictments

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

Although the federal law enforcement officials including Special Counsel Robert Mueller will jump all over a case involving a Republican ordering a Black Russian at a local tavern, when it comes to Democrats, they are usually, if not always, given a pass, complains a former police detective who now defends officers accused of wrong doing.

This week, for example, Sen. Dianne Feinstein, D-California, revealed she received a letter a couple of months ago from an anonymous woman who accused Supreme Court nominee Judge Brett Kavanaugh of an inappropriate sex act when he was in high school.

Despite having the accusatory letter in her possession for weeks, Feinstein decided to allow the story to be leaked to the news media as the day for the Kavanaugh's Senate vote approached.

There was absolutely no investigation of Feinstein, who many suspect had saved the letter and kept it secret in order to use it strategically to "put stink" on the Senate's examination of Kavanaugh's political, judiciary and personal history.

Then on Sunday, the unreliable Democratic-Party propaganda machine, the Washington Post, reported that the woman accusing Supreme Court nominee Brett Kavanaugh of sexual assault came forward with her explosive allegations on Sunday, saying the supposed attack "derailed me substantially for four or five years" and claiming that the episode rendered her "unable to have healthy relationships with men."

The mystery woman identified herself as Professor Christine Ford of Palo Alto University, a known hotbed of radical left politics.

"This is just another example of the Democrats using salacious sex crimes stories to derail a conservative. If anyone believes that this woman wasn't coached by Deep State operatives, then they must be willing to forgo all independent thought," said Michael Snopes, a former sex crimes unit detective. "These [Democratic Party] people play for keeps. It's a 'take no prisoners' mindset by political operatives with no regard for truth and honesty," Snopes added.

What appears even more suspicious, was Feinstein's link to Chinese espionage, in which she claims no secrets or classified information were stolen by a spy.

According to Sen Feinstein's hometown newspaper, a member of Sen. Feinstein's San Francisco office staff was fired a few years back after he was exposed as a link to Chinese spying in the San Francisco Bay Area.

A Politico story on high-tech Silicon Valley espionage, mentioned the Feinstein staffer was allegedly under suspicion in a case of providing political intelligence to his handlers. The news story claimed that a former intelligence official said the suspected Chinese informant was only one of several being "handled" by the local Chinese Consulate.

A source who was aware of the incident said the FBI showed up at Feinstein's office in Washington, D.C., about five years ago to alert the then-chairwoman of the Senate Intelligence Committee that her driver was being investigated for possible Chinese spying. The chairwoman of the Senate Intelligence Committee had no idea that a Chinese spy was in her office and automobile.

According to the same news story, the already compromised FBI decided the spy stole nothing of significance and closed the case once Sen. Feinstein told them the suspected spy was “retired” and stole no classified information. “How did she know that? Here’s the woman the Democrats and the news media called – and still call – ‘an expert’ in intelligence oversight, who had a spy working for her in a position that gave him ‘alone time’ in the car with the senator and someone who traveled with her to Washington, D.C.,” said Mike Baker, an attorney who has experience representing cops. “In cases I’ve handled, a police officer would be either fired or at least suspended, especially if that police officer ‘sat on the evidence,’” said retired Mike Baker.

Not to allow another Democrat to outshine her, U.S. Rep. Debbie Wasserman-Schultz garnered a few headlines when it was discovered she hired three Muslim brothers from Pakistan, a country known for its duplicity, to help manage the Democratic National Committee’s information technology (IT) for the Democrats in Congress. While the FBI investigation, the DOJ prosecution and the Imran Awan trial hardly received any news coverage and most of the usual suspects attempted to turn the case into an insignificant occurrence, Awan ended up being acquitted.

“I’m so angry with the federal cops who have allowed themselves to become the Democratic Party’s secret police with the help of the news media propaganda machine,” said former Det. Andrew Coiller, who has investigated espionage cases and conspiracies. “If you’re still not convinced of collusion between Democrats and foreign intelligence agents, just follow the next case that is covered by the mainstream news outlets," Coiller added.

Charges Filed Against Sen. Cory 'Spartacus' Booker For Violating Senate Rules By Releasing Confidential Documents

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

A top Washington, D.C. legal firm and think-tank announced on Wednesday that it had hand-delivered a biting letter to members of the U.S. Senate regarding the shenanigans and false statements of a New Jersey Democrat elected to the U.S. Senate.

The letter was addressed to the chairman and co-chairman of the U.S. Senate Select Committee on Ethics and calls for a full and non-political investigation into Senator Cory

Booker's, D-New Jersey, who admitted he violated Senate rules by releasing what he believed were classified records onto his Facebook, Twitter and other social media accounts.

According to the president of the phenomenal Judicial Watch, Senator Booker faces expulsion from the Senate for his violation of the rules. This isn't the first time Booker finds himself the target of a government probe. He was also the target of a corruption investigation after several of his Newark, New Jersey Mayor's top staff were indicted by a federal grand jury. Booker won his Senate seat at the right time so that he was able to avoid an indepth criminal investigation or grand jury indictment.

Sen. Booker confessed that he violated Senate rules when he issued a tweet on Friday, September 7 saying:

"Weds—I broke committee rules by reading from 'committee confidential' docs."

Sen. Booker then posted the following entry on his Facebook account on Sunday, September 9:

"And the classification of many documents as "Committee Confidential" is a sham... I willfully violate these sham rules. I fully accept any consequences that might arise from my actions including expulsion."

Even more disturbing was Sen. Booker's uploading Committee Confidential records to a publicly accessible Dropbox account with the heading "Booker Confidential – Kavanaugh Hearing Documents".

“Senator Booker, in an absurd invocation of ‘Spartacus,’ explicitly invited his expulsion from the Senate in his egregious violation of the rules and contempt for the rule of law and the Constitution,” stated Judicial Watch’s Tom Fitton. “Will the Senate assert the rule of law in the Booker case or allow mob rule to be the new standard?” Fitton asked rhetorically in his letter to the senate leaders.

The Judicial Watch complaint is reprinted below:

Dear Chairman Isakson and Co-Chairman Coons:

Judicial Watch, Inc. is a non-profit, non-partisan educational foundation that promotes transparency, accountability, and integrity in government and fidelity to the rule of law. We regularly monitor congressional ethics issues as part of our anticorruption mission.

Sen. Cory Booker admitted to violating Senate rules when he issued a tweet on Friday, September 7 saying:

Weds-I broke committee rules by reading from “committee confidential” docs.

(See <https://twitter.com/CoryBooker/status/1038077511924629504> .)

Sen. Booker then posted the following entry on his Facebook account on Saturday, September 8:

And the classification of many documents as “Committee Confidential” is a sham ... I willfully violate these sham rules. I fully accept any consequences that might arise from my actions including expulsion.

(See <https://www.facebook.com/corybooker/photos/a.115558592227/10158241220222228/?type=3&theater>)

Sen. Booker also uploaded Committee Confidential records to a publicly accessible Dropbox account with the heading “Booker Confidential – Kavanaugh Hearing Documents”.

(See <https://www.dropbox.com/sh/cc4u94lgyncygn6/AABPGJkIiq5ND7KJuX7kXUX9a?dl=0>)

By publicly releasing Committee Confidential records, Sen. Booker appears to have violated provisions 5 and/or 6 of Rule 29 of the Standing Rules of the Senate (Rev. Jan. 24, 2013), which stipulate:

5. Any Senator, officer or employee of the Senate who shall disclose the secret or confidential business or proceedings of the Senate, including the business and proceedings of the committees, subcommittees and offices of the Senate shall be liable, if a Senator, to suffer expulsion from the body; and if an officer or employee, to dismissal from the service of the Senate, and to punishment for contempt.

6. Whenever, by the request of the Senate or any committee thereof, any documents or papers shall be communicated to the Senate by the President or the head of any department relating to any matter pending in the Senate, the proceedings in regard to which are secret or confidential under the rules, said documents and papers shall be considered as confidential, and shall not be disclosed without leave of the Senate.

We hereby request that the Senate Ethics Committee conduct a preliminary investigation into whether Sen. Booker violated Senate Rules by releasing Committee Confidential records through his social media accounts.

Senator Bill Nelson, D-Florida – also recently made claims that Russian agents “have already penetrated certain counties in [Florida] and they now have free rein to move about.”

According to press reports: “[Nelson] added that voting machines in Florida have already been compromised by Russian meddling. Moreover, “[Nelson] has said repeatedly and unequivocally since Aug. 7 that Russia has access to election systems in Florida and could eliminate individual voters’ records.

” Nelson’s statements were not simply political remarks, but declarative statements about an issue extremely important to citizens and implicating the validity of our elections. Nelson made these declarations with the authority and credibility of the Senate, which has access to classified information not made available to the public.”

veracity of Nelson's remarks. Consequently, it appears either Nelson's claims are based upon, and discloses, classified information he obtained from his position as a Senator, or evidence does not exist and his statements were false. In either instance, it appears that Nelson has violated Senate Rules and Regulations," said Tom Fitton.

"The Florida Department of State has received zero information from Senator Nelson or his staff that support his claims," said spokeswoman Sarah Revell. "Additionally, the Department has received no information from the U.S. Department of Homeland Security, the Federal Bureau of Investigation or the Florida Department of Law Enforcement that corroborates Senator Nelson's statement and we have no evidence to support these claims."

Questioned about his peculiar and shocking claim, Nelson insisted that he had information that election officials in Florida were not privy to. This gave the media, always looking for a way to protect Democrats, a green light to write stories that gave Nelson the benefit of the doubt. These stories were cast in a way to make the reader think about the vast gulf between state and federal government.

Only problem is that now the federal government has come out to say that no, they don't have any idea what Nelson is talking about, either.

"Although we have not seen new or ongoing compromises of state or local election infrastructure in Florida, Russian government actors have previously demonstrated both the intent and capability to conduct malicious cyber operations," DHS secretary Kirstjen Nielsen and FBI director Christopher Wray wrote this week. "DHS and the FBI will continue to notify any victim of a successful cyber intrusion into their election network in any jurisdiction nationwide. Every local jurisdiction could be a potential target this election season, whether through malicious cyber operations or influence

Hillary Clinton Still In ‘Danger’ Of Being Criminally Indicted, Say Nation’s Local Cops

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

“There were other accusations of misconduct during the Clinton dynasty and there will no doubt be more new allegations against Hillary Clinton in the coming months. The facts should appall any clear-thinking American. But when it comes to the Clintons few things are clear and most voters gave up on “clear-thinking” when they realized they can depend on progressive Clintonian politicians to forcibly take away wealth from one person who earned it and give it to another person whose only contribution is voting for them.”

Charles McCollough, the former intelligence community inspector general, spoke with Fox News Channel and talked about what he experienced when he reported the intelligence transgressions committed by then presidential candidate Hillary Clinton during her race for the White House against celebrity-businessman Donald Trump.

McCullough said he was shocked to see the backlash he experienced after reporting that Hillary Clinton possessed classified “Top Secret” emails in her unsecured server’s cache. “I was told that I would be the first to be fired once she was elected,” he said.

A number of emails on Hillary Clinton’s infamous private server – a server monitored by a company without security clearances – contained higher than “top secret” intelligence from some of the America’s intelligence community’s most sensitive operations, according to an exclusive report from Fox News Channel’s chief intelligence correspondent Catherine Herridge on Tuesday evening.

Inspector General McCullough had sent a report to the leaders of both House and Senate intelligence committees detailing the IG’s findings from a review of Clinton’s emails, at least those which were not destroyed. A spokeswoman for the inspector general confirmed to CNN that the report was accurate. In fact, Clinton had her staff destroy some of the computer hard drives after she received a subpoena from the FBI and the U.S. Congress.

“Two separate government agencies had indicated that emails on Clinton’s server contained classified intelligence, the inspector general reported, including some on so-called “special access programs, which exceed the “top secret” classification making the information super-secret as in 'for your eyes only' secret," according to former U.S. military intelligence operative and police anti-terrorism unit detective Michael Snopes.

Select Committee on Benghazi Communications Director Jamal Ware released the following statement:

"It is the FBI, not the Benghazi Committee, that is investigating the mishandling of classified information in connection with Secretary Clinton's use of an unsecure, private server to conduct official U.S. government foreign policy.

"Of course, none of the Secretary of State's emails – including one in which she appears to instruct a top aide to strip a document of its 'identifying heading and send nonsecure' instead of via classified, secure fax – would have been discovered if not for the work of the Select Committee on Benghazi."

While the chairman of that ad hoc committee Trey Gowdy tried to delve deeper into the Clinton emails, the Democrats on his committee tried everything to sabotage his efforts including trivializing the scandal with the help of the Deep State's news media contacts.

Meanwhile, the New York Times revealed that the book, "Clinton Cash: The Untold Story of How and Why Foreign Governments and Businesses Helped Make Bill and Hillary Rich" by Peter Schweizer, should have shaken up things within the Hillary Clinton for President campaign, but there was almost a total media blackout when it was released. The scuttlebutt within political circles is that the book expands the narrative about numerous cash donations made by foreign donors to the money-sucking Clinton Foundation.

Schweizer's book uncovers a pattern of financial contributions to the Clintons that ended up giving the contributors access to policy decisions benefiting those donors, while the Clintons built up a personal mega-fortune. Already the Clintons' trusty team of liars, smear-merchants and goon-squad members are out in full force – with the help of their news media sycophants – attacking the messenger and attacking the motives of anyone who dares to investigate these allegations.

Truth be told, neither Bill nor Hillary Clinton is a hero of the middle-class.

Historically – going back to their early days in Arkansas – at best they are narcissistic opportunists, and at worst they are criminal masterminds who run an alleged criminal enterprise with minions such as Lanny Davis, John Podesta, David Kendall and numerous others who later joined other Marxist-socialists known as the Deep State. And their behavior and these accusations are nothing new.

In fact, the media was so captivated by Bill Clinton's sexual proclivities that it intentionally or unintentionally ignored news stories that should have outraged the American population.

For example, President Bill Clinton's FBI director, Louis Freeh – in his book titled, "My FBI: Bringing Down the Mafia, Investigating Bill Clinton, and Fighting the War on Terror" – revealed that Clinton kicked to the side of the road the American people and the families of victims of the Khobar Towers terror attack in Saudi Arabia. Clinton had promised America that he would do everything in his power to bring those responsible for the bombing that killed 19 and injured hundreds to face U.S. justice.

Freeh asserts that he became angry when Clinton refused to personally ask then Saudi Crown Prince Abdullah to allow the FBI to place boots on the ground to question the terrorism suspects the kingdom had arrested and to at least visit the crime scene where Americans died horrible deaths. Freeh wrote in his book, "Bill Clinton raised the subject only to tell the crown prince that he understood [Abdullah's] reluctance to cooperate and then he hit Abdullah up for a contribution to the Clinton Presidential Library." Freeh added, "That's a fact that I am reporting."

"Although Louis Freeh isn't a perfect law enforcement commander, he's definitely an honest and professional FBI chief than [Robert] Mueller, [James] Comey and – yes – Jeff Sessions who has all but turned over the Justice Department and FBI to the Swamp-dwellers," claims H. Ronald Joyce, a former city policeman and assistant district attorney.

ICE Attacked By Democrats And NY Gov. Cuomo They Call Them 'Thugs'

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

New York Governor Andrew Cuomo, during the Democratic gubernatorial debate against his opponent, actress and socialist Cynthia Nixon, called the Homeland Security Department's Immigration and Customs Enforcement agents are "a bunch of thugs."

Cuomo, who has had a number of his minions indicted and tried for corruption, is facing a Democratic primary challenge in his re-election bid from Ms. Nixon, a far-left who began her campaign with a call to abolish ICE.

During the heated debate with Nixon at Hofstra University Wednesday night, Cuomo used the issue to show he opposed President Donald Trump and he was a devout anti-immigration enforcement Democrat.

Cuomo was heard saying, "New York State is the state that is suing Donald Trump for ripping babies from the arms of their mothers, New York State is the state that says we will not cooperate with ICE, they're a bunch of thugs. We said we will sue them if they violate any criminal laws in the state of New York."

"Cuomo is the one who should be investigated. So many of his staffers have been accused of corruption and crime that it's amazing the governor hasn't been investigated as well," said former New York police officer Leslie Maranda. "Cuomo reminds me of a thug from an organized crime outfit," he added.

Besides Cuomo, a Democratic lawmaker warned ICE agents involved in what he claims are "illegal" deportations telling them that ICE personnel "will not be safe" from punishment once President Donald Trump no longer in the White House.

"If you are a US government official and you are deporting Americans be warned," Arizona Democratic Rep. Ruben Gallego tweeted early Thursday. "When the worm turns you will not be safe because you were just following orders. You do not have to take part in illegal acts ordered by this President's administration."

"This is an irresponsible attempt to create division and stoke fear among American citizens while attempting to inflame tensions over immigration," said Heather Nauert, a State Department spokeswoman.

"Gallego should read the U.S. Constitution and U.S. Supreme Court decision before shooting off his mouth. His statements appear to be those of a drunk spouting off at a bar during Happy Hour," said former police captain Damian Davidson. "If anything Gallego and his ilk in the Democratic Party are the ones who should be handcuffed and paraded to their jail cells for their incitement against law enforcement officers," Davidson said.

ICE Response to Cuomo

In response to Gov. Cuomo's caustic statements about ICE, the National Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) Council President Chris Crane released the following statement

after Senators Bill Cassidy R-Louisiana and David Perdue R-Georgia, introduced a U.S. Senate resolution: "Opposing the targeted harassment of U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement officers and employees and reaffirming the fundamental principle that public safety services should be provided without discrimination."

"On behalf of the men and women of ICE, I want to thank Senators Cassidy and Perdue for introducing this resolution and for standing in solidarity with ICE law enforcement officers and staff, especially at a time like this. The actions taken by Portland Mayor Ted Wheeler against ICE employees living and working in Portland are reprehensible, and we believe unconstitutional. We feel nothing short of blessed that no ICE employees suffered serious injury or death as a result of the mayor's negligent actions. We applaud Senators Cassidy and Perdue for their efforts to bring attention to and condemn what ICE employees have gone through in Portland and around the country, and urge all Members of the Senate to support this resolution," the outspoken Crane said in a press statement.

Certain elected officials, political leaders, and members of the press have engaged in hateful and often false rhetoric against our officers and employees encouraging widespread death threats and the targeting of ICE officers, employees, and their families. For example, during her run for the presidency, Hillary Clinton compared local law enforcement officers to ISIS (Islamic State of Iraq and Syria). U.S. Rep. Luis Guterrez also took shots at ICE and the Border Patrol agents calling them the “Gestapo.”

“For these leaders, officials, and the media to enflame this type of hatred toward our officers and staff – at a time when law enforcement personnel are being targeted and have been assassinated on our nation’s streets – marks a truly dark time in our country’s history,” stated Crane.

It’s comforting to know that some in Congress, like Senators Cassidy and Perdue, still understand the value and importance of supporting the brave and courageous men and women of law enforcement.

National security, or even basic border security, does not exist without the interior enforcement of a nation’s immigration laws, as the horrific events of 9/11 and indeed terrorist attacks worldwide have proven. With over 2 million criminal aliens estimated to be currently residing in the U.S., our jails and prisons are already dramatically overcrowded and local police are often overwhelmed, begging for ICE and its resources to assist in making our communities safer. Those calling for the abolishment of ICE don’t understand the significant threat to our nation’s security and the safety of American communities that their ideas present.”

The National ICE Council represents the over 6,000 rank and file ICE law enforcement officers and support personnel who enforce our nation's immigration laws, apprehend dangerous criminals and keep our communities safe each and every day. The men and women of ICE Enforcement and Removal Operations (ERO) serve in all 50 states, Guam, Puerto Rico, Saipan, and the U.S. Virgin Islands and in Fiscal Year 2017 made 143,470 overall administrative arrests. Of these arrests, 92 percent had a criminal conviction, a pending criminal charge, were an ICE fugitive or were processed with a reinstated final order. Mueller's FBI Benghazi Cover Up Ignored by 'Fake News' Outlets

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

“Based on what we now know since Mar 2017, and what has surfaced recently, we can see a ‘motive’ for why the FBI, NSA, DNI, DOJ and Obama himself wanted to keep hidden: they were running a counterintelligence operation against presidential candidate [Donald Trump].”

Following the tragic and heartbreaking Battle of Benghazi, then FBI Director Robert Mueller had one job and one job only: Put FBI agents' boots on the ground at the enormous crime scene. Unfortunately, his team of forensic specialists weren't given access to the diplomatic mission or the nearby Central Intelligence Agency's secret facility.

Director Mueller and his boss Attorney General Eric Holder told the American people the FBI was stonewalled for two weeks by the Libyan authorities in Tripoli and so the crime scene investigators cooled their heels waiting to work the scene of a major battle.

Although the U.S. Senate's report lays blame at the feet of Mueller's FBI, the CIA and other U.S. intelligence agencies, no blame was attached to the White House for the misinformation allegedly contained in talking points that explained the details of the terrorist attack on the U.S. diplomatic consulate in Benghazi, Libya, and a nearby secret CIA compound.

Many Americans remain angry over the haphazard way the Obama White House, the Clinton State Department and the Mueller FBI handled the loss of U.S. Ambassador to Libya Chris Stevens and three other Americans who were killed in the Sept. 11, 2012 Libyan attack.

When it was discovered that the Democrat President Barack Obama and his team lied about the battle and some of its details, the Democrat-dominated Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs Committee issued a report that said the White House was only responsible for a “minor change” in the White House talking points.

A number of GOP lawmakers questioned whether the presidential staff rewrote the talking points for political reasons, but they were practically silenced by the Democratic leadership in the Senate and by some so-called moderate Republicans. And of course, the elite left-wing dominated news media went along with the protection of a feckless President Obama and his supposed heir to the Oval Office, Hillary Rodham Clinton.

“Once again, the Obama administration is being let off the hook in another scandal that would have caused a media frenzy in a GOP presidency. Once again, we have evidence of a biased news media coupled with a spineless opposition party,” said former law enforcement and intelligence officer Sid Franes.

The committee also blasted the director of national intelligence at the time, James Clapper, for stonewalling the panel of lawmakers by holding back a promised timeline of the talking points changes.

The ambassador to the United Nations, Susan Rice, said she had used the talking points to say in television interviews on Sept.16, 2012, that it may have been a protest that got out of hand. She continued to use the White House’s talking points that the attack was a reaction to a little-known movie about Islam that was only shown on the Internet.

Rice’s bogus explanation forced her to forgo the nomination as Hillary Clinton's replacement in the new Obama term as President. Obama instead nominated Democratic Sen John Kerry, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, who is expected to be easily confirmed since he's friends with most senators in both political parties.

Security Deficiencies

Officials at the State Department in December acknowledged weaknesses in security as well as errors in judgment exposed in a scathing independent report on the assault. But Mueller stuck to his excuse about why the FBI took 14 days to reach the Benghazi "crime scene." What made his excuse ring hallow was the fact that a contingent of news reporters, camera men and producers were on the scene within hours of the attack.

The Senate report said that on Sept. 19, 2012, eight days after the attack, National Counterterrorism Center Director Matthew Olsen told the Homeland committee that the four Americans died "in the course of a terrorist attack." At the same time, State Department spokeswoman Victoria Nuland said the department stood by the assessment of the CIA and other intelligence agencies such as NSA.

The next day, White House Press Secretary Jay Carney stated, "It is, I think, self-evident that what happened in Benghazi was a terrorist attack." Secretary Hillary Rodham Clinton also used the term "terrorist attack" on Sept. 21, 2012.

Olsen's acknowledgement was important, the report said, because talking points prepared by intelligence officials the previous week had undergone major changes.

A line saying "we know" that individuals associated with al-Qaeda or its affiliates participated in the attacks was changed to say, "There are indications that extremists participated."

The talking points dropped the reference to al-Qaeda and its affiliates altogether. In addition, a reference to "attacks" was changed to "demonstrations."

By the time Mueller's agents arrived at the Benghazi attack location there were only the charred walls of a burnt out consulate and bullet holes. There were many law enforcement experts who believed the Libyans used "cleaners" who are experts at tidying up a crime scene. And what happened to Robert Mueller? He was appointed as a special counsel to investigate the president. Not Obama, not Clinton, but President Donald Trump.

And the elite news media are careful not to remind Americans about Mueller's part in a major cover up.

If a President, wanted to weaponize intelligence as a 'political tool' the POTUS would have absolute control over the following 'WEAPONS.'

Some of Obama's Political Appointees Include

~CIA (John Brennan)

~FBI (James Comey)
~DNI (James Clapper)
~DoD (Ash Carter) etc.

Latin American Invasion of 'Kissing Bugs' Spreading Deadly And Dangerous Disease In U.S.

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

"These blood-sucking parasites spread a dangerous sometimes deadly illness called Chagas disease. The disease, which has spread to the U.S., was previously only found in Central and South America as well as Mexico." – Centers for Disease Control (CDC)

During the national debate regarding illegal immigration, especially from south of the U.S.-Mexico border, the politically-correct news media, the left-wing politicians and those who favor a limited amount of sovereignty are quick to quash any mention of contagious diseases emanating from Latin American countries.

According to experts on communicable diseases, Chagas disease, a potentially life-threatening disease caused by the parasite Trypanosoma cruzi, has become a concern in the United States as a result of mass immigration from Latin America where Chagas disease is endemic.

The parasite is called “the kissing bug” by first-responders or “disease detectives” at the Centers for Disease Control (CDC) who are monitoring cases of the disease within the United States.

Studies indicate between 50 percent and 64 percent of kissing bugs carry the deadly parasite that causes Chagas, which is considered a major neglected tropical disease, according to the U.S. National Library of Medicine. The World Health Organization estimates that 8 to 10 million people are infected worldwide, mostly in Latin America.

It is estimated that as many as 8 million people living in Mexico, and Central and South America have this disease. Most cases of Chagas disease found in the United States are chronic infections, but rare cases of acute congenital infections and autochthonous vector-borne transmission have been reported

To understand how data are collected and used, a review of state-level public health surveillance for Chagas disease was conducted through semistructured interviews with health officials in six states (Arizona, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi Tennessee, and Texas) where Chagas disease is reportable and one (Massachusetts) where it was previously reportable.

States implemented surveillance in response to blood donor screening for Chagas disease and to identify how the disease is transmitted. Many states reported primarily chronic cases and had limited ability to respond to local transmission because acute cases were infrequently reported.

Kissing Bugs

Surveillance remains important in states with large populations of illegal immigrants or frequent travelers from countries with endemic disease and for states with a risk for local transmission.

Surveillance efforts can also help increase awareness among providers and assist in linking patients with Chagas disease to treatment to help prevent cardiac and gastrointestinal complications.

Chagas disease can cause a sudden, brief illness (acute), or it may be a long-lasting (chronic) condition. Symptoms range from mild to severe, although many people don't experience symptoms until they reach the chronic stage.

Acute phase

The acute phase of Chagas disease, which lasts for weeks or months, is often symptom-free. When signs and symptoms do occur, they are usually mild and may include:

- Swelling at the infection site
- Fever
- Fatigue
- Rash
- Body aches

- Eyelid swelling
- Headache
- Loss of appetite
- Nausea, diarrhea or vomiting
- Swollen glands
- Enlargement of your liver or spleen

Chagas disease can cause life-threatening heart issues, including heart disease, strokes, arrhythmias and cardiac arrest. About one-third of those infected will develop chronic heart disease, according to the American Hospital Association.

“Early detection of Chagas disease is critical, allowing prompt initiation of therapy when the evidence for cure is strong,” Caryn Bern, professor of epidemiology and biostatistics at the University of California in San Francisco, warned in an online statement.

“While nearly 70 percent of people infected don’t notice any symptoms, studies of past cases have noted they can include fever, lethargy, aches, rashes, swollen glands and a bump around the bite.”

Doctors can detect the disease through a simple blood test. If the infection is caught early enough, medications should be able to treat it. “If untreated, infection is lifelong and can be life threatening,” the CDC warns.

So far, a total of 11 species of kissing bugs have been spotted in the U.S. – the majority of which are concentrated in states along the U.S.-Mexico border. However, they’ve been documented in at least 28 states across the country, a research team at Texas A&M found.

“Previous studies have found that, on average, 50% of kissing bugs are infected with the Chagas parasite,” the Texas researchers wrote on a website that details their extensive studies of the insects.

Sen. Feinstein's Chinese Chauffeur/Spy Scandal Is Tip Of The Democrat Iceberg

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

It was revealed last week that Sen. Dianne Feinstein (D-CA)'s driver for 20 years was a Chinese spy. But it was discovered five years ago by the FBI and never disclosed until Politico and San Francisco Chronicle uncovered it. Now more questions are being raised not only about the spy but about Feinstein's closeness to the Chinese.

Feinstein's driver also represented her at various functions and acted as a liaison to the Chinese community. Although the FBI advised her five years ago, it wasn't made public and the driver was allowed to quietly retire. He was never arrested. Neither the FBI or Feinstein ever informed or questioned her staff about him or what they might know. And presumably, that means they also didn't check other staff to see if anyone else had been compromised.

This raises lots of questions. The excuse for not charging him was it was judged he hadn't passed anything top secret to the Chinese. But he had passed information to them. So why was he never charged? Even for failing to register as a foreign agent? Why is he still not being named?

And why hasn't this been picked up by the national media? "Because the news media are more interested in sabotaging the Trump presidency than reporting on foreign spies working for Democratic Party leaders. That puts the Deep State in a defensive position rather than their usual offensive strategy against President Trump and the conservatives," a former assistant district attorney said.

"This [Awan] case will most probably end up the way the Democratic National Committee's Muslim Awan brothers case failed to materialize," said Jeffrey Lankas, a former federal prosecutor.

The case involved Florida's U.S. Rep. Debbie Wasserman Schultz, the controversial former chairwoman of the Democratic National Committee (DNC), who had her office equipment seized by U.S. Capitol Police as part of a criminal investigation into congressional network security violations. Wasserman-Schultz admitted she frequently violates the DNC's information security policy but still managed to point her finger at someone else.

The always boisterous congresswoman blamed the House of Representatives' chief office manager for not stopping her from violating policies and perhaps the law regarding classified material. "This is how the Deep State operates: if one of their minions is found to be involved in unethical or criminal activities, the inhabitants of the D.C. swamp are sure to exert their power to rescue their 'foot soldier,'" said a British police investigator.

According to news media accounts, during an appropriation hearing on Congress' administrative budget in May, Wasserman Shultz conceded she had violated the policies for many years. She also sought to find out how much might be known about her Internet usage, asked if members of Congress are monitored?

"This is the same woman who pushed for a special prosecutor to investigate an alleged Russian hacking of the DNC's IT system. Could they have been more careless?" asked police investigator Nolan Fitzsimmons.

Capitol Police are investigating Wasserman Schultz's longtime information technology (IT) aide Imran Awan for theft and funneling congressional data from members of the House Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence, Committee on Homeland Security and Committee on Foreign Affairs.

A former police department's intelligence official told Conservative Base that he believes part of the reason the Democratic Party and their allies in the news media continue their overall narrative – that Donald Trump and Russia's Vladimir Putin colluded to destroy innocent Hillary Clinton's presidential aspirations – is to divert attention away from the alleged shenanigans of three Pakistanis hired by Democratic politicians.

"The Democrats in Congress hired three brothers to work in key jobs in the House of Representatives and it's believed they spied for radical Islamic groups with the blessings of American politicians like Debbie Wasserman-Schultz," the former police intelligence expert told Conservative Base. "They dread the thought of having to explain why they are so careless with classified intelligence," he added.

Summer Camp Indoctrinates Children In ANTIFA Neo-Marxist Curriculum

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

While many American parents are aware of the neo-Marxist indoctrination that's occurs in public schools across the country – at times they even fight against such programs – those same parents may be unaware of the indoctrination that is instilled into the young minds of children sent to summer camps right here in America.

“Camp Kinderland is a multicultural summer camp and community that honors U.S. progressive secular Jewish roots through a commitment to economic, racial, and social justice. Kinderland’s summer programming and year around activities integrate progressive values with arts, recreation, and activism in a compassionate and caring environment,” the camp’s mission statement reads.

In the words of the administrators, the camp’s values include “social, economic, and racial justice,” in addition to “diversity,” “community,” and “respect and compassion.”

Camp Kinderland was established in 1923 by Jewish union activists in New York, who wanted to provide a summer escape from the city for working class families. The founders of Kinderland believed that Jewish culture includes a responsibility to social justice. The camp program focused on the labor movement, and other progressive causes. Over the years, they have honored and celebrated the International Brigades in Spain, anti-fascist efforts in the World War II era, economic reform and the civil rights and anti-war movements, among others.

“Kinderland was founded by members of The Workmen’s Circle/Arbeter Ring, a leftist Jewish fraternal organization, in 1923 in Hopewell Junction, New York. Camp Kinderland, along with the rest of the left-wing of the Workmen’s Circle, split off in 1930 and created the International Workers Order and became the official summer camp of the Jewish section of the IWO. In 1954, the IWO was shut down and its assets liquidated by the government, which had determined that it was a

Since Kinderland has been around for over three-quarters of a century, camp and campers have been active participants in the history and events that have shaped who they are today. One of its alumni is the Oscar-winning actress Marisa Tomei. Another is KISS guitarist and vocalist Paul Stanley.

As at many camps, campers play sports, swim and hike, gain new experiences in arts, drama, music, dance, nature and camping. But at Kinderland they also encounter leftist ideals of social justice and peace. They don't hesitate to sing a Yiddish labor song, paint a mural of Harriet Tubman or write a skit about putting an end to war—that's just what you do at Camp Kinderland, where it is okay to think, to care, to question and to act.

There is nothing quite like it; and it works because the values of community and culture, of justice and righteousness, are integrated with a façade of friendship, joy, beauty, the sheer fun and adventure of life away from the campers' parents. camp.

The camp is made up of educators who have experience in the progressive, secular outlook that comprises the foundation of the Brooklyn Kindershule. Several of the staff members were among the founders of the 1981 Kindershule and have remained in leadership over many years; several are alumni for whom shule was a key element in developing their Jewish identities. The camp's teachers are skilled in art, music, Yiddish language, and literature. All share a child-centered, loving philosophy and a commitment to this unique community and cultural heritage.

“Our job is to inspire; to raise awareness and introduce new ideas so the cultural program is integrated into campers regular activities,” claim staff members at the leftist-supporting camp.

During the Kunderland Olympics – in grand summer camp tradition – the entire camp forms teams which compete in a series of games and events, while wearing team colors and screaming team chants. But at Kinderland, they name the teams after people, countries or movements that we admire. One year's teams included A. Philip Randolph, Chico Mendes and Ida B. Wells. Another year, under the theme of "Speak Truth to Power," the teams included the Israeli Refusnik movement and the McCarthy-era Hollywood Ten. Each team writes chants and songs that incorporate information about their namesake. They produce elaborate murals and put together a cultural presentation that is performed as part of the closing ceremonies. Campers learn in ways that challenge them to be creative, emotional and active in the learning process.

Evolving generations of campers and staff embrace a far broader and more diverse spectrum of issues and ideas that are expressed in the cultural program—including struggles for women's and gay rights, and environmental justice—and a more multicultural outlook. The staff sees themselves as the caretakers of the ideals that Kinderland was built on, maintaining a community that does what it can to work for social justice around the world. It honors Jewish roots: it integrates Yiddish into camp life; they learn Eastern European folkdances and songs; we set aside time every summer to commemorate the Holocaust, remembering victims and honoring those who offered resistance.

"We also recognize and teach that their roots are entwined with many other struggles, cultures, heroes and fighters. We see our own struggles in those of other peoples and we honor their fight as our own. Our principles are universal in nature, capable of influencing and being influenced by other sources and it is this belief that drives Kinderland today," says the camp's brochure.

While the registration process does not discriminate in favor of Jews, a large majority of campers are Jewish. While campers come from around the US, many are from the New York area, especially Brooklyn, where there is a kindershule, or secular school that teaches Jewish history and culture and progressive values, such as equity, workers' rights, women's rights, anti-militarization beliefs, and so much more, (similar to the dozen Workmen's Circle Shuln) associated with the camp. Clinton Charity Group Probe: Haitian Whistleblower Found Shot To Death In Miami

By NWV Senior Political News Writer, Jim Kouri

A 50-year-old former Haitian government official who was expected to give sworn testimony next week regarding suspected Clinton "Crime Family" Foundation corruption and malpractice, was found dead in Miami, Florida. Police officer Charles Duggan said the death was attributed to a single gunshot wound to the official's head. The deceased was scheduled due to appear on Tuesday, July 25, before the Haitian Senate Ethics and Anti-Corruption Commission where he was widely expected to testify that the Clinton Foundation misappropriated Haiti earthquake donations from international donors.

Therefore, according to the coroner's report, Clinton associate Klaus Eberwein's death was ruled a suicide and his name is now added to the growing list of men and women who died under mysterious circumstances after “getting mixed-up with America’s version of the Borgias,” said Officer Duggan, who denied being assigned to the investigation.

The Borgias are the most infamous family of Renaissance Italy, and their history normally hinges around four key individuals: Pope Calixtus III, his nephew Pope Alexander IV, his son Cesare and daughter Lucrezia. Thanks to the actions of the middle pair, the family name is associated with greed, power, lust and murder. .

Before his death and still living in Haiti, Eberwein reportedly told acquaintances he was worried about retribution by members of the Clinton-wing of the Democratic Party. He said he feared for his life because of his damaging exposure of the Clinton Foundation.

While there is considered prima facie evidence of a crime conspiracy perpetrated by the supposedly charitable Clinton Foundation, the U.S. Justice Department, the FBI and other agencies refused to even consider investigating the alleged multi-million dollar criminal conspiracy. Under President Barack Obama and the already recruited Deep State journalists, they were too busy investigating Donald Trump and members of his campaign.

Eberwein was due to appear on Tuesday, July 25, before the Haitian Senate Ethics and Anti-Corruption Commission where he was widely expected to testify that the Clinton Foundation misappropriated Haiti earthquake donations from international donors.

The deceased official had served as director general of the Haitian government's Economic Development Department (Fonds d'assistance économique et social) for three years.

According to Eberwein, only a little over a half-percent (0.6 percent) of the donations granted by international donors to the Clinton Foundation with the express purpose of directly assisting Haitians actually ended up in the hands of Haitian charity and assistance organizations. Almost 10 percent (9.6 percent) ended up with the Haitian government. The remaining 89.8 percent – or $5.4 billion – was surreptitiously funneled to non-Haitian organizations.

"The Clinton Foundation, they are criminals, they are thieves, they are liars, they are a disgrace," Eberwein said at a protest outside the Clinton Foundation headquarters in Manhattan during Hillary Clinton's presidential campaign in 2016.

Not surprisingly, the news media decided to ignore the Haitian protesters and Eberwein's allegations. "The purveyors of 'fake news' preferred to stand outside Trump Tower, also in Manhattan, in order to formulate their anti-Trump 'reports,'" said retired New York cop Iris Aquino.

According to the Haiti Libre newspaper, Eberwein was said to be in "good spirits," with plans for the future. His close friends and business partners are shocked by the idea he may have committed suicide.

Criminal Conspiracy?

According to investigative journalist Jerome Corsi, who has authored many books, including No. 1 N.Y. Times best-sellers The Obama Nation and Unfit for Command:

Former President Bill Clinton developed a methodology of exploiting epidemics and natural disasters to raise hundreds of millions in “charitable donations” that in a relaxed regulatory environment could be diverted to personal gain such as funding Hillary Clinton’s political campaigns. The Haitian money also ended up supporting Democratic Party causes, according to a Wall Street analyst, Charles Ortel, who has conducted an in-depth investigation of the foundation’s finances.

Ortel points to Bill Clinton’s involvement with the American India Foundation, which the former president co-founded in 2001 with Rajat Kumar Gupta, the India-born philanthropist who headed the international management consultancy firm McKinsey & Company. Gupta is now in prison for criminal insider trading.

“The Clinton Foundation financial fraud began with the illegal disaster relief efforts started in February 2001, when Bill Clinton started chasing donations for Gujarat, India, without IRS authorization and subsequently substantial funds went missing, diverted from helping disaster victims by a bevy of scoundrels, including Rajat Gupta, now incarcerated,” Ortel wrote in a new report.

As WND has reported since last spring, Ortel has accused the Clinton Foundation of illegally enriching its namesakes, Bill, Hillary and Chelsea Clinton. The Foundation also provided “salaries” for Clinton minions including Huma Abidin and others. They were being “parked” there in order to have them ready for Hillary’s presidential run.

Ortel is finalizing additional reports that show the Clinton Foundation illegally exploiting natural disasters, including fighting HIV/AIDS internationally, beginning July 2002; tsunami relief in January 2005; Hurricane Katrina in August 2005; and Haiti, beginning in 2009.

“All years from 2001 onward when the Clinton Foundation operated are not audited as required, so it is difficult to be precise, but total Clinton Foundation fraud runs to hundreds of millions of dollars,” Ortel now estimates, “with diversions for political purposes and personal enrichment likely to exceed $200 million.”
