

Day of Reckoning

"For they sow the wind, and they shall reap the whirlwind."
Hosea 8:7

I live in mainstream America, mostly middle class with friends and family on every economic level except filthy rich. There's a discontentment that's been growing to a disgruntlement that's been growing to a resistance. If it doesn't get assuaged, it will lead to a rebellion.

People are about at the end of what they're going to tolerate. They've paid their dues, followed the rules, and made every effort to keep the peace. While being constitutional citizens of America, (abiding by the precepts and principles of our founding documents), they have endured unconstitutional and unprincipled acts and offenses against them on an ever increasing in quantity and quality scale.

The mafia we call the United States Government has turned its highest offices and agencies into vikings and pirates; and they have been fleecing the law abiding citizens for much too long now. The mafia driven institutions of the FBI, CIA, IRS and DOJ have targeted citizens they deem a threat to their piracy and totalitarian rule. They harass them, send them to kangaroo courts, jail them, and basically bankrupt them. Their law enforcement is corrupt. Their judges are compromised and corrupt. It used to be an indictment to be under investigation from these institutions. Now it's a badge of honor for being righteous and a threat to the regime.

While mainstream America has been working for a living, giving precious hours to the Beast System instead of their families or in leisure, the mafia members and their allied members have been engaged in the grossest and vilest of deeds from human trafficking to child rape to murder to money laundering and about a thousand variations of theft. (All while engaging in lavish parties, vacations, and the like without the encumbrances the average American has. Their rules are, after all, for thee, not me.)

It is outright embarrassing now to be called an American because it is synonymous with sin, greed, corruption and the wickedest of deeds. You have to get off the streets of the government buildings, out of the urban centers of democrat run cities, and into the suburbs, fringe neighborhoods, rural towns and countrysides to capture the essence of America and Americans that once made this land great.

Every institution we once held dear and ran with respect and a sense of justice has been infiltrated and overrun by fringe minority groups who want their minority (and often depraved and unjust) agenda to redefine long held customs, beliefs and traditions. They've ripped down our statues and historical markers and reminders (good and bad). They've replaced many of them with demonic idols. They've redefined words and manufactured labels, personifying the essence of Isaiah 5:20 so plainly one might think it was actually written for the 21st century.

They are the epitome of giving an inch and taking a mile. I'm old enough to remember when sexual deviation was considered a mental illness. The moment we said "okay, have your deviation (sin). You have equal rights under the law." The litigation started to demand anything and everything from making a small business owner accommodate their depravity, to redefining what has been the standard from the beginning of human time for marriage, to unnaturally demanding adoption and actually rejecting heterosexual Christian couples from adoption! Talk about a reversal.

Their inch that turned into a yard is now a mile. They want pedophilia normalized and legalized. They're raping our daughters in bathrooms they should never be in. They're minimizing our daughters and stealing from them by infiltrating their events (because they aren't skilled enough to win in their own gender roles).

Yeah, I think mainstream America is about done with the experiment of tyranny under unrighteousness and depravity.

To my knowledge, there is not a category that has not been altered, compromised, or completely taken over by the radical agenda of, let's be honest: communism.

For the first time in my life, I am hearing average Americans engaging in both rhetoric and action to rebel against this new Amerika. They've watched cities where it's legal to steal, people will brazenly walk in and empty shelves into their hands, bags or boxes – as store owners stand helpless to protect their own labor and investment. They've watched as whole cities were set afire and people murdered in the streets under the name of "justice" and the misnomer of "racial injustice". They've watched as businesses their grandparents and their parents sacrificed for are run to the ground because of corporations.

I have heard people talk about stealing from corporate stores – people who have never stolen in their lives! They see no point in keeping the law while the government and corporate mafias are fleecing them in exorbitant taxes and inflationary prices, and non law abiding persons are stealing without consequence. They're tired of the scales always favoring the illegal immigrants, the law breaking gangs, and the Soros funded rioters and looters. If the American government is no longer going to aide the American, the American is ready to tip the scales.

Oh the Amerikan communists have been baiting American law-abiding citizens for a decade or more now. The communists are hungry, thirsty for rebellion. They want their civil war so they can enact their executive orders of totalitarianism. But what if it doesn't come the way they think? What if fed up Americans just begin rebelling against the beast instead of taking to the streets?

Where I live it costs about a month's (or more) wages to pay for all the property taxes the state demands. We're taxed on our wages, taxed on our homes, taxed on our vehicles, taxed on our side hustles, taxed on our groceries, taxed on every purchase, taxed on every sale of private property. We are Boston Tea Party taxed to the gills. People are having to choose between necessities, not luxuries.

They're asking questions like:

- Why am I being taxed to pay for countries at war when we're not at war?
- Why do illegal aliens get free things with my tax money while my family is struggling to survive?
- Why are illegal aliens able to steal, rape, kill and maim without penalty, and the government mafia wants to arrest me for speaking my mind about it?
- Why do corporations get tax breaks and incentives when they make millions, when the average American is struggling to pay their taxes or monthly bills?
- Is it really stealing if it's from a corporation? Haven't corporations stolen enough from Americans?
- Why are we sending billions of dollars to Israel who has free healthcare for its citizens but denying Veterans basic healthcare and refusing disability to American Veterans?
- Why is there impunity for illegal immigrants for violent crimes when Americans are punished for thought and speech crimes?
- Why is the government mafia bleeding Americans with insignificant taxes (sales on personal property over $600) when the politicians are outright insider trading for millions?

Oh the list goes on and on...

I hear average American otherwise law abiding citizens contemplating (and some doing) acts to even the score, tip the scales. The thought is, well I paid for that in my taxes, so I'll take it back from the county/state/nation. Library books, building materials, supplies from tax payer monies to institutions (hospitals, special interest groups, public parks and the likes) are fair game for offsetting the theft of Americans' wages. People are struggling; people are suffering. People are tired of watching the special interest groups that represent a minority of Americans living high off the hog while they scrape to put gas in their cars, food in their bellies, and clothes on their backs – never mind an actual vacation.

And speaking of vacations, law abiding Americans are tired of their taxes going to put up illegal immigrants in nice hotels, with food and clothing allowances, given money for cars and homes, while they can hardly pay their taxes. Yes, I think the days for peacefully protesting are almost over. I think there's a people group that are just going to start evening the score.

Illegals can rape, maim and kill with impunity. At some point, people are going to take matters into their own hands to even the score. Who's going to collect the bodies? Hundreds of thousands have come over as mercenaries and cartels. There are no families waiting for their return. They're collecting a paycheck to usurp America. At some point, enough is enough and many think we are far beyond that point.

No, I don't know that America will see a civil war, as much as the righteous lawful citizens rising up to the corporate machines, the mafia government, the home invaders, and the gross injustice that is polluting our once beautiful land and people. People are more likely to sabotage corporations, stop their ears to the incessant propaganda of the industries, defy absurd bureaucratic rules meant to hamstring them, and yes, in some occasions, extract justice without the aide of the usual institutions that are now so corrupt a righteous American has little hope for true justice.

They have, after all, reaped the wind. They will indeed reap the whirlwind. Only in this case, the whirlwind may look quite different than they're expecting.
