

Great Again vs. 3rd World Destruction

By Lex Greene

November 2, 2024

Days before the 2024 elections on November 5th, the choice Americans will make could not possibly be more stark in contrast. If the news reports are even remotely close to reality, that the USA is split right down the middle 50/50 between MAGA Trump and Marxist Harris, our country is indeed headed for a second civil war, sooner or later.

Every news outlet in the USA continues to insist that polling data shows the nation split with 50% supporting “making America great again” by upholding and restoring the constitutional republic for all future generations, and 50% supporting a lifelong Marxist candidate that no one voted for, whose policy positions are a direct violation of the founding principles and values of our country.

If this is true, then the only way to save the constitutional republic in the end...will be a second civil war between two very different agendas for the future of the USA. I’m not calling for it, but it sure is easy to predict.

Before going forward here, I actually do not believe the country is divided 50/50, at least not in the terms of legal American voters in a legitimate election process. I believe it’s only 50/50 due to non-citizen voters, fraudulent voters and fraudulent election processes currently being exposed. If Americans can eliminate the fraud, the 2024 race won’t be “tight” or even close.

But this doesn't solve the very real problem that a growing number of citizens are no longer pro-America. They are no longer pro-freedom, liberty, justice, national sovereignty and security for all American citizens. Instead, they are anti-America, in favor of global Marxism, sexual perversions, a Godless society, and a land of fruits and nuts.

- It's freedom vs. free stuff from taxpayers
- It's personal liberty vs. government authority
- It's lawful vs. lawless
- It's fair vs. cheating
- It's free speech vs. government censorship
- It's a right to earn and own vs. socialism
- It's truth vs. lies
- It's Americans vs. anti-Americans
- It's life vs. death
- It's peace vs. war
- It's prosperity vs. poverty
- It's decency vs. indecency
- It's common sense vs. no sense at all

The 2024 elections are very clear and as a result, there are very few if any who are still “undecided” days before the elections. Instead, voters are deeply entrenched in one ideology or the other, make America great again, or destroy the constitutional republic forever.

Best I can tell, in a legitimate election, about 30% of Americans would vote against America and for the candidate that was elected by no one, Harris. They will vote for death instead of life, socialism instead of freedom, censorship instead of free speech, government power instead of individual power, open borders vs. national security, globalism vs. Americanism, racism vs. real equality, hate and a cancel culture vs. unity and honor. They are literally mentally ill.

This 30% threatens everything and everyone, including themselves and their own futures. But they have been gaslighted, lied to, and manipulated to believe in the things they do. They've been dumbed-down, infested with evil, indoctrinated, brainwashed and abused by their supposed political saviors.

The other 70% could make this 30% politically irrelevant, but only if they work together in a unified fashion, to put down the most evil people threatening the future of freedom in our country today.

They have to unify behind the only "duly elected" candidate in the race, Trump, able to stop the fraudulent election of the worst presidential candidate in history, Harris. They have to flood the polling places making this election "too big to rig" and they also have to watch for fraud underway, and video document it for the entire world to see via social media. No one can sit this out on the sidelines or throw their vote away on any 3rd party fantasy campaign.

Trump is right, there is an "enemy within now," and they are in plain view, as a laundry list of famous P Diddy and Epstein Island pedophiles, perverts and child sex traffickers, rush to endorse Kamala Harris and Tim Walz in the closing days of their campaign for unbridled anti-American power.

This election cycle isn't about two competing political parties or two individuals running for the most powerful office in the world. We call it an election, but make no mistake, this is war! It's all about the future of freedom, liberty, justice, decency, peace and tranquility, and prosperity over poverty for every legal citizen of the USA.

In just a few days now, one of only two individuals will emerge as the next President of the United States, Trump or Harris. The national agendas of these two individuals are polar opposites. The difference between these two candidates is as clear as day and night, light and darkness, life and death.

But there is a very real 52/48 political split in America right now, and that split is not based upon race or religion. It's a very clear and highly dangerous gender divide wherein 52% of eligible American voters are females, with 48% being male voters. Sadly, a growing segment of the male voting population are now spineless beta males, just as dangerous as the females they vote with.

So, aside from the massive election fraud already visible across the country, the election is likely to be decided by the female voting population which outnumbers male voters 52-to-48 percent, and a minority of (beta) male voters who now perform exactly like the worst of the female population.

Not all female voters are "abortion" voters, but about 56% of female voters and beta males are strictly abortion voters. This is the most dangerous voting bloc in the USA, not only because it is a very powerful united voting bloc, but because they are united only via a death-cult already responsible for the infanticide of more than 70-million American babies.

This united democrat party voting bloc would vote for Hitler himself, to protect their sick alleged right to murder their own children in the womb, under the demonic guise of "women's rights."

This is the voting bloc that American voters will have to outvote. Every other voting bloc has been shifting to the "Make America Great Again" movement since 2015, including over 11-million more votes for Trump in 2020 than in 2016. The DNC has lost the ability to control their minority groups, after years of lying to them, with abortion voters being the exception.

The Harris campaign is based upon only three things...

1. "Trump is a fascist threat to democracy," per the only "unelected" candidate in the race
2. Abortion
3. Promises to use taxpayer revenue to buy votes

Because Harris was never elected as the nominee, intelligent people can see who the real threat to democracy really is, the candidate not elected by anyone. And because democrats have promised to "raise people out of poverty" by using taxpayer revenue to do it, without ever lifting anyone out of poverty, smart people don't buy this lie anymore either.

But Item #2, abortion, a demonic right to infanticide, drives the democrats biggest voter bloc, 56% of the female voters, and a few beta males. This is the most dangerous voting bloc in the USA today, responsible for the death of over 70-million innocent American children.

This is the voting bloc Americans have to defeat, not only in this election, but in our country, for good over evil.

If we don't, then everything America has ever been, will never be again.

America Great Again – vs – the end of America is the choice every American voter will make in 2024, including those who don't know that their inaction is still an action. The time for going-along to get-along has passed.

The time to make a firm stand has arrived!
