

Hillary's anti-trump criminal accomplices

Everything about the left is perception, manipulation, and lies. Everything. Everything is 'Wag the Dog.' Everything is a structured deception. Rush Limbaugh (He can add most of the right to this too)

The worst thing about being lied to is knowing that you're not worth the truth.

The father of an ISIS mass murderer, the mother of a thug shot by the police, and now a former Miss Universe pageant winner who got fat, got pregnant by a drug lord, and was linked to an attempted murder, and alleged murder threats against a judge in 1998, are helping Hillary promote anti-Trump lawlessness.

For Hillary, the drive for power, success and money always overrides standards of honor and decency. From Whitewater to Benghazi, from her email debacle to funding the Clinton Foundation and her 2016 race for the White House...corruption, lies, and deceit are her trademarks.

Hillary's Friends and Supporters

Remember the Pulse Nightclub gunman who shot and killed 49 people in Orlando, Florida back in August of this year?

The father of ISIS-inspired Orlando nightclub gunman, Omar Mateen, showed up just steps away from the Democratic nominee at her Kissimmee, Florida rally and was cheering her on.

Seddique Mateen's presence was first noticed by WPTV in Florida. The affiliate later interviewed Mateen, who held up a large, yellow, pro-Clinton banner calling her "good for national security" and "gun control laws."

Interesting because Hillary has never been good on national security, and she wants to eliminate the second amendment of the unalienable God given Bill of Rights.

Remember Mike Brown?

In August of 2014, Ferguson, Missouri was a quiet working class suburb. Then all hell broke loose between the growing black community and the white police force, when an officer shot and killed an 18-year-old unarmed black man by the name of Michael Brown. A store video shows Brown had just robbed the convenience store and assaulted the clerk when he tried to stop him. A white police officer, named Darren Wilson, shot and killed Michael Brown, when he attacked and beat the officer. The street confrontation on that sultry day launched the “Black Lives Matter” movement.

What resulted was the destruction of Ferguson because a white police officer had defended his life against a young black thug who was high on marijuana and had a bag of it on his person.

So what does Hillary do? She certainly doesn’t reinforce “law and order,” but instead joins with the mother of Michael Brown, despite the fact that it will contribute to the continued unwarranted violence against police.

Former 1996 Miss Universe,

Alicia Machado

Alicia Machado is Hillary’s latest attack against Mr. Trump. Hillary can’t argue policy because she knows she’ll lose, so instead she falls back on the lessons she learned from atheist Marxist Saul Alinsky, and attacks her opponent’s reputation with the dregs of humanity.

This former beauty queen claims that she gained weight (60 lbs.) after being crowned Miss Universe, and Donald Trump called her Miss Piggy. How absolutely awful, isn’t it! What humiliation she must have suffered! Problem is that Alicia Machado has been rolling in the mud for a long time, and even with would-be murderers.

Back in 1998 Machado was allegedly involved in the shooting of Francisco Sbert Mousko, who suffered brain damage when two bullets punctured his skull outside the church where his dead wife was being eulogized. His family claimed the alleged gunman, Juan Rodriguez Reggeti, Machado's then boyfriend, had accused Sbert of driving his sister to commit suicide.

The family asserted that Machado was the getaway driver for her boyfriend.

"Our accusations against Alicia Machado are based on coinciding testimony from witnesses, who place her in the vehicle in which Juan Rodriguez fled the scene," said Omar Arenas Candelo, one of three attorneys who presented the allegations to a criminal court after the shooting.

Then, later that same year, a Venezuela judge said that Machado threatened to murder him after he indicted her boyfriend for the attempted murder.

Machado threatened "to ruin my career as a judge and ... kill me," Judge Maximiliano Fuenmayor said in an interview on the subject on Venezuelan television in 1998.

The former Miss Universe modeled nude for Mexican Playboy in 2006 and 2012. In 2005, a sex-tape of Machado and a co-star on the Venezuelan reality show, La Granja, surfaced where she was having sex with a fellow contestant on-camera. Allegedly, there are porn videos of her available.

What is not told is that when Machado gained weight in 1996, Trump appeared with her on camera in a gym and was very kind to her.

He has been very kind to others as well, watch this special meeting between Trump and a former contestant. And here are several former contestants defending Trump's honor!

Since then, Machado has become a U.S. citizen, and has gone to work for Hillary.

Foul Mouthed Hispanic Children and Clinton

Back in 2015, in one of the lowest stunts of the primary season, a political action committee run by a Hillary Clinton supporter forced Hispanic child actors to read vulgarity-laden scripts labeling GOP frontrunner Donald Trump a "racist." The script read by the children had them telling Trump that anchor babies are protected by the Constitution and that he should leave the country if he doesn't respect the document.

Some legal authorities say that the 14th Amendment confers automatic citizenship on anyone born on American soil," states economist and political theorist Thomas Sowell. "But the very authors of that Amendment said otherwise. And some distinguished legal scholars today, including Professor Lino Graglia of the University of Texas Law School, say otherwise."

Senator Jacob Howard, who introduced the 14th Amendment's citizenship clause, said its grant of citizenship would not include persons born in the United States who are foreigners or aliens.

BLM Attacks the Law and Order Candidate

A BLM (Black Lives Matter) Hillary supporter has defaced the brand new D.C. Trump International Hotel. Why? Because Hillary has set the example. When the Clintons left the White House in 2000, they not only stole $200,000 worth of furniture, but they defaced White House walls with graffiti, destroyed antique doorknobs, glued desk drawers closed, removed the "w's" from keyboards, cut electronic cabling, ripped phones out of the walls, and cost the American taxpayers thousands of dollars in repairs.

The Hillary supporter was caught on a cell phone video vandalizing Trump International Hotel in Washington, D.C.

Had this been done by a Trump supporter to Hillary's property, it would be splashed on the front page of every newspaper, website, and televised news program. Since it happened to Trump by the BLM criminal element, the media says nothing.

Hillary Pursues BLM

Endorsement

In January of this year, Hillary met privately with BLM leaders, Deray Mckesson and Johnetta Elzie.

DeRay McKesson and Elzie (ShordeeDooWhop) were the lead agitators at the Ferguson and Baltimore riots. These BLM activists are responsible for millions of dollars of public destruction and dozens of attacks on police and innocent pedestrians.

Hillary encourages these so-called activists, who are, in fact, nothing more than racists thugs who promote violence and the destruction of private property. The whole BLM contingent plays into her hands to attack her opponent. Hillary Clinton actually pursued the endorsement of Black Lives Matter activists, but blew off the largest police union in the United States.

Black Lives Matter

Black Lives Matter has been around now for two years, triggered by the police shooting of Michael Brown in Ferguson, Missouri. BLM believes that racist police officers are the greatest threat facing young black men today. This belief has resulted in violence, destruction, murder and attempted murder of police officers.

Because of this, police are now backing off proactive policing, and violent crime is on the rise. The reality, claims Heather MacDonald in her superb article, The Danger of the "Black Lives Matter" Movement, is that there is no government agency more dedicated to the idea, that black lives matter, than the police.

"We have been talking obsessively about alleged police racism over the last 20 years in order to avoid talking about a far larger problem, black on black crime." This is the uncomfortable truth, and statistics uphold the statement when each year approximately 6,000 blacks are murdered. Blacks are killed at six times the rate of whites and Hispanics combined.

In 2015, the nation's police killed 987 civilians according to a database compiled by the Washington Post. Whites were 50%, or 493 of those victims, and blacks were 26% or 258.

Ms. MacDonald goes on to state that "In America's 75 largest counties in 2009, blacks constituted 62% of all robbery defendants, 57% of all assault defendants, but only 15% of the population. Moreover, 40% of all cop killers have been black over the last decade."

The Crime Rate Drop

We've all heard about drive by shootings resulting in deaths of youngsters and often their mothers. All the stories are heartbreaking, but 20 years ago the crime rates were much higher. In New York City in 1990 there were 2,245 homicides. In 2014, there were 333, a decrease of 85%. According to statistics nationwide, crime has fallen at an historic rate.

The Imprimus article goes on to tell of a policing revolution that began in New York and spread nationwide, but is now being threatened. In 1994, the NYPD top brass embraced the idea that police can actually prevent crime, not just respond to it. The program they started was called Compstat, weekly accountability sessions. They looked for patterns, and analyzed crime data on a daily basis, and strategized on tactics to quell crime outbreaks as they were emerging.

However, these victories are now in jeopardy thanks to the BLM movement. Police are worried they'll become the next racist cop of the week, and lose their jobs, and perhaps even their lives. Many police today will no longer fight back because of this very fear. So now, officers in these urban/inner city areas are cutting back on the type of policing that actually led to the decline of crime of the 90s and 2000s.

Crime Increases

BLM demands that police back off, but they are not the entire community. There are countless requests by law abiding residents for more police, and when officers back off high crime neighborhoods, crime escalates once again. Homicides in Milwaukee had a 72% increase, Cleveland increased 90%, Nashville increased 83%, D.C. increased 54%, Minneapolis increased 61%, and in Chicago where actual pedestrian stops by officers were down by 90%, shootings were up 80% through March of 2016.

Policing is Political

Hillary Clinton is embracing anti-police ideology with those she promotes and uses to target her opponent, Donald J. Trump. Barack Hussein Obama, his entire administration, university and college presidents, foundation heads, and the main stream media all want to blame the police, not crime, and not lawlessness.

Obama has succeeded in dividing our nation and creating racist environments that pit fellow Americans against each other. And of course, we all know George Soros is putting his money in the pockets of both Hillary and these radicals. Hillary Clinton will continue this divide, and lawlessness will reign. Just recently Hillary stated that Angela Merkel was one of her favorite world leaders. One need only look at Merkel's policies to see the devastation which has rocked Germany and will rock America if Clinton is elected.

We are looking at catastrophic increases in crime rates if we allow this woman back in our White House. Those who keep our communities safe are under attack. Not only has the border patrol endorsed Donald J. Trump, but the nation's largest police union has also endorsed him.

We need a president who cares for all Americans, and who will not only Make America Great Again, but will heal the divide between her people, and make America safe again for all citizens.
