

How to Constitutionally Separate Communist Cities Without Civil War

The reader should be advised that this work is Seminal and advocates changes in actual structure and function of government to comply with Constitution and Economic Reality. Many details are excluded for brevity.

We must, to the extent possible, separate Communist Cities from the people who actually work to support their families. Failure to do so will result in Civil War. Our Constitution and the people who work demand that the Federal Establishment AKA Government stop all payments to states for all reasons not enumerated in the US Constitution. The Federal Establishment would then return a large proportion of income taxes collected in a state to that state. States would then assume their Constitutional responsibility for state functions that have been unlawfully usurped by the Federal Establishment.

Most importantly, the states would then assume financial responsibility for their Communist cities and Illegal Invaders. This would greatly reduce the probability of a Civil War between working MAGA people and able-bodied non-working Communists and their illegal Invaders in Communist Cities, which are also Sanctuary Cities. We know that Communism fails when it runs out of other people's money, and we want to expedite that failure before we have a Civil War between productive workers and parasitic Communists.

Now let's look at some estimated Income figures to put things into perspective. The Federal Government's income is roughly $5 Trillion but it spends $7.5 Trillion. Simply stated, it borrows 50% more than its tax revenue from the States. In other words, there is no way that any state pays their share of federal expenses, not by a long shot. I hope that if we end much of the waste, fraud, and abuse by transferring most functions to the states where it belongs, then we will have all the money needed by the states. Remember that my numbers leave out a lot of details and are reasonable estimates at best, but the figures are so gross that it makes little difference in the theory proposed.

If the Federal Government also wants to end its deficits, it will have to obey the Constitution and eliminate all unconstitutional expenses such as Foreign Aid, Wars for Profit, Troops stationed overseas, etc. As an Economist, I can say that if they don't do this, we are looking at Dystopia, regardless of Trump's well-intentioned programs..

The previous statements are based on the foundational principles set forth in our Constitution, and returns it to the proper legal relationship between the States and the Federal Establishment AKA Government. The wrongful Income Tax caused the problem, now let it righteously prevent a Civil War.

My prediction of a Civil War between MAGA people and Communists/Illegal Invaders is very realistic and has already started in several major Communist cities.

The FBI should arrest those who are financing the insurrectionists to commit Treason. If the FBI fails, disband it and replace with Militia of the Several States, as specified in Constitution. Their failure constitutes Treason in itself!

In fact, our Declaration of Independence cites similar reasons for our war for independence. Consider this: we have a great Constitution, but it is ignored by a majority of elected officials, Judges, and Bureaucrats of the Administrative State. A majority of these government employees are bribed to benefit those who pay the bribes. Officials are seldom prosecuted for their crimes against the People, including Treason. I maintain that a majority of the Government is in fact a Criminal Enterprise, with no legal authority from the Constitution.

We must institute the Broken Windows Theory of Law Enforcement for government employees, stipulating that to prevent major crimes you must strictly enforce laws against minor crime. We will never have our freedoms and a Constitutional Republic until we effectively prosecute government employees for their crimes. In other words, we need effective and honest Federal Law Enforcement and we damn sure never had it. Failure of the corrupt FBI to prosecute Government employees for theft and Treason is the single-most-important reason for our problems.
