

I'm Sad to the Core of My Being at What Happened to Charlie Kirk

Some news services reported that an overflow crowd of 200,000 attended the Charlie Kirk memorial service in Glendale, Arizona. Thousands cried endless tears. Flowers decorated every memorial for Charlie Kirk in dozens of cities across America. Millions of Americans watched the memorial on television. Pictured, President Trump and Erika

I watched. I cried. I am sad to the core of my being. This is America where free speech is our most treasured gift to be bestowed on a “free” people. We can gossip on Facebook, Tik Tok, Reddit, websites and podcasts. We can start rumors. We can even lie. We can boast. We can say hurtful things.

But for a no-name, emotionally stunted, 22-year-old kid to carry such anger as to shoot Charlie Kirk dead-beats the heck out my understanding. But it also strangles my concepts of good, free speech and ethics. That kid will either die by the electric chair or sit in prison to rot for the rest of his life.

But the same goes for the Mangione kid who shot the HealthCare CEO in the back in New York City. Or, the kid who shot a couple at the Holocaust Museum in Washington DC. Or, that illegal alien who raped and killed Laken Riley, or that nut job in Minneapolis who shot up children in that church as they prayed. Or, the guy in Utah on a cross-country trip who murdered his girlfriend. Or that kid who slaughtered those children at Sandy Hook Elementary. Or the Columbine killings. And just last week, in my own community, Evergreen, Colorado, a kid shoots up the high school.

I'm just horribly sad, terribly wounded in my soul. What in daylights is going wrong in America. We're based on free speech, free exchange of ideas, free to debate, free to disagree, free to agree—NOT SHOOT SOMEONE WE DISAGREE WITH!

I have to admit, over the past two decades plus of writing my columns for countless Americans, I try my best to be a solid, factual and fair journalist. Because of my stance on subjects such as illegal immigration, I've received hate mail from several individuals, but, for the most part, fellow Americans agree with my points of view. Why? Because I make sense. I research my material. I try to educate and enlighten fellow Americans. I've warned about illegal aliens, drugs and drug traffickers, the insanity of Muslims in our country who want to displace our Constitution and us and overpopulation, and loss of quality of life. You name it; I write about it.

However, there's one guy named "Robert" who insults me, trashes me, calls me all sorts of names, and tells me what a fool and nasty person I am. I've asked him to stop reading my columns if they upset him so much. Instead, he writes more nasty letters. If this guy lived near me in Colorado, I don't have any doubt that he would shoot to kill me. He's that rabid of an individual. I may be on the Muslims' "fatwa" kill list. They don't tolerate facts, truth or opposing views.

While such individuals as AOC get to trash Charlie Kirk with impunity (and body guards to protect her trash talking)...you've heard non-funny comedian Jimmy Kimmel spewing outright lies, or Joy Reid spews so much hate for white people that it's a wonder she doesn't deport herself back to her homeland in Africa where she would find peace, harmony and self-respect among her people (but probably not a toilet or running water)...somewhat like Rosie O'Donnell returned to Ireland...same with Ellen Degeneres.

For certain, I am sad that the liberal mainstream press has fomented such anger at the "other half" of America's conservative people. The fact is, we are the bedrock of this country. Did you notice when that criminal/drug addict, felon, porn star, and pathetic human being George Floyd died, his followers rioted, burned, killed and raised chaos to the tune of $2 billion in damages, along with police lives trying to stop the mayhem.

Did you notice that NO ONE HAS KILLED OR RIOTED OR BURNED anything since Charlie Kirk was brutally murdered?

I'll admit it; I am a lead baby boomer right out of the 40's. I grew up in the 50's...and smack-dabbed into the Vietnam War. I'm seriously thinking on writing an autobiography: My Life as a Baby Boomer. I've seen 60 years of America up close and personal. I watched my own elected leaders in Washington DC betray our country, our lives and our patriotism during Vietnam. I've watched the treachery of leaders around the world with Nikita Khrushchev, Mao, Putin, Maduro...and so many more. I had my idealism punched out of me by G.W. Bush when he lied to us about going into "Weapons of Mass Destruction" Iraq. Lyndon Baines Johnson lied, Nixon lied, Obama is a HUGE liar, and Hillary Clinton takes the cake for lying. And Bill Clinton, he sexually assaulted 42 women that accused him, but that was just his sexual exploits along with Monica in the Oval Office.

But with Charlie Kirk, I am sad, depressed, anguished that one of our up-and-coming national figures that did SO MUCH GOOD...could be shot by a pathetic 22-year-old kid with his father's .30-.06 bolt action relic of a rifle. Why did Tyler Robinson's father give his emotionally disturbed kid such a weapon? How is it that parents today don't see their kids' signs of emotional illness? Why are we experiencing so much violence...when discussion, dialogue and debate would leave all parties alive...and solutions could bubble up from the conversation? That's what Charlie Kirk was doing during his campus visits!

While I see boiling aspects of "Clashing of Civilizations" bubbling up all over America, i.e., Antifa, Black Lives Matter, Muslim Brotherhood, C.A.I.R., MS-13, Sinaloa Cartel, Crips, Bloods and more. Some 33,000 people are members of some really bloody gangs in America. They distribute drugs, kill people for fun, rape for more fun, and defy our laws.

Again, I submit that we are in for a VERY ROUGH RIDE with our multiculturalism and diversity...while we add 1,000,000 more immigrant-refugees into midst annually.

To repeat: Historian Samuel Huntington, in his Clash of Civilizations, wrote, "In the New World of mass migration, the most pervasive, most socially dangerous and most deadly conflicts will not be between the social classes. They will not be between rich and poor. The conflicts of the future will be between peoples belonging to different cultural entities, tribal wars, and ethnic conflicts...that will occur within civilizations."

Did you get it? That's inside OUR civilization.

It's occurring all over Europe as you read this column. We are inviting the same fate into our own country. If we keep voting the same people into Washington DC who invited 300,000 Muslims into Detroit, and another 125,000 Muslim Somalias into Minneapolis--we're headed down the same path of religious, cultural and world view conflicts that's now killing Western Culture in Europe. We're committing the same cultural suicide of our country. Can't you see it?

Finally, I am praying for Charlie Kirk, his wife, kids and family members.
