

Lyin' Ted Cruz attacks Trump's wife Melania

People who live in glass houses, shouldn't throw stones. –Anonymous

And why beholdest thou the mote that is in thy brother's eye, but considerest not the beam that is in thine own eye? Thou hypocrite, first cast out the beam out of thine own eye; and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote out of thy brother's eye. –Matthew 7: 3 and 5

Fox News' Greta Van Susteren Calls out Cruz

✘ Greta Van Susteren Calls Out Ted Cruz for Not Condemning Pro-Cruz PAC's Sleazy Attack on Donald Trump's Wife! Greta Tells Lyin' Cruz to Take Responsibility for Super PAC Attacking Melania Trump. Ted Cruz claims he has nothing to do with the Super PAC ad attacking Donald Trump's supermodel wife Melania Trump. Greta Van Susteren disagrees. She said in a tweet, "Note to candidates: If you are going to take the benefits of what your supporting Super Pac does, you should take responsibility for what it does."

Ted claims he wasn't responsible, but if his own Super Pac did it, why isn't he responsible? If he's truly not responsible as he claims, shouldn't he, as a good christian that he professes to be, call Mr. Trump and apologize and demand that the super pack pull the provocative ad? But he didn't. Why? Because he's in agreement with it. Video below will shows that Heidi Cruz is doing just the opposed that her husband Ted says he stands for.

The Make America Awesome super Pac, recently put out an ad with the now famous 16-year-old picture of Melania posing nude aboard an airplane on top of fur. The picture is Playboy-esque in nature and was taken some years ago (2000) for GQ magazine. Yet, the pose actually showed far less than anything Playboy would have shown.

✘ Mrs. Trump is the lovely Melania, who has had a pretty decent modeling career, and is now a businesswoman in her own right. The “Make America Awesome” (again Cruz has to copy Trump) ad reproduces the nude photo with the text, “Meet Melania Trump, your next first lady. Or you could support Ted Cruz on Tuesday.”

What’s wrong with this? Let us count the ways. A dirty move against a candidate’s family member. Spouses are noncombatants unless they’re also involved in policy, which Melania is not.

Ted Cruz’s wife, on the other hand, is very involved in policy. Not only is she still a Goldman Sachs VP, but she’s also responsible for helping the Council on Foreign Relations task force to write the North American Union (building the North American Community). Heidi Cruz is in bed with the one world government cabal.

But the idea that a 16-year-old nude photo of a leading candidate’s wife is fair game? One article calls it, “nonsense on stilts.” It’s smacks of dirty politics again, something Ted Cruz and his campaign folks use willingly, over and over again.

Of course, Ted Cruz didn’t say the ad was inappropriate, neither did he apologize. Instead he claimed he wasn’t responsible. Yet, a Texas lobbyist and Ted Cruz operative admit the origin of the campaign to attack Melania Trump.

Trump warned him stating, “Be careful Lyin Ted, or I will spill the beans on your wife.” He may not have, but others did. [Link]

✘ Needless to say, Trump didn’t have to do anything. Another tweeter, Mark Gillar said, "Let me do it for you."

In 2005, Heidi was going through a rough time, and apparently left her home and sat dangerously close to a busy highway with her head in her hands. We don't know what caused this, but reports have said Heidi suffered from depression. Whatever the case, police happened upon her and a report was written.

Donald Trump did not expose this; it was in the news long before now.

Heidi Cruz responded with, "A lot of things Donald Trump says has no basis in reality." But, Donald Trump didn't say it...

Unfortunately, Heidi, the tweet is true, and there is a police report to prove it. Many of us go through hard times, and can become as depressed as Heidi obviously was at that moment, but it's already been out there in the media, and to make the statement about Trump was rather foolish. She'd have been smarter to have kept her mouth shut.

Nevertheless, I don't believe this was what Trump was talking about. Trump didn't put this out...but it is a documented police report. We know of Heidi's trade involvements in selling Americans out to China, and we know she's still employed by Goldman Sachs. We also know Ted is on Goldman Sachs' health insurance. Heidi was also part of drafting NAFTA which started the destruction of American jobs, and was a part of the CFR in helping to draft the North American Union. Her husband Ted, called the CFR a "pit of vipers," so why then did she work for them for five years? Ted also has claimed he was honored to hang out with fellow CFR member and NAU drafter, Henry Kissinger.

When you straight up admit your wife belongs to a "pit of vipers" who are "working to undermine our national sovereignty," and then tell everyone you are "honored" to hang out with cold-blooded war criminal scumbag murderers like Kissinger, who sold our Viet Nam POWs/MIAs down the river,...what are we to think? Cruz has even argued in his own amicus brief to the Supreme Court that assault weapons bans in certain states are “reasonable regulations.”

Attacks Come Back to Bite Cruz

✘ The tabloid National Enquirer has run an article on Ted Cruz and five of his alleged mistresses. The article is written by Pulitzer Prize winner, J.R. Taylor, who won the Pulitzer for his expose of John Edward's affair and love child. The National Enquirer broke the story of Rock Hudson's homosexuality along with the San Francisco Chronicle, as well as the expose's on Jesse Jackson and Gary Hart. Now other media are picking up the story and it is gaining feet.

One of the alleged mistresses was Carly Fiorina's deputy campaign manager. Although the half million given to Carly by the Cruz campaign was allegedly because she'd worked with the NSA while at Hewlett Packard, and could help with Cruz's data collection on voters, it may well have been hush money. [Link]

Of course, Ted Cruz blamed Donald Trump for this attack. Donald Trump responded Friday afternoon to Cruz's charge that he's responsible for the story. Here's what he said in a tweet:

“I have no idea whether or not the cover story about Ted Cruz in this week's issue of the National Enquirer is true or not, but I had absolutely nothing to do with it, did not know about it, and have not, as yet, read it. I have nothing to do with the National Enquirer, and unlike Lyin' Ted Cruz, I do not surround myself with political hacks and henchmen and then pretend total innocence. (He's talking about Jeff Roe). Ted Cruz's problem with the National Enquirer is his alone and while they were right about O.J. Simpson, John Edwards, and many others, I certainly hope they are not right about Lyin' Ted Cruz. I look forward to spending the week in Wisconsin, winning the Republican nomination, and ultimately the Presidency in order to Make America Great Again.”

The National Enquirer also denied the front-runner’s campaign had been the source. Allies of Marco Rubio were pushing the story before he dropped out – but it’s not clear whether those efforts led to the Enquirer piece. Two of the five women have stated “the Enquirer article is pure B.S.” Here’s another report with more info. Drew Johnson of the Washington Times confirmed on Twitter Thursday night that two of Ted Cruz’s mistresses named by the National Enquirer are accurate.

Truth or fiction, we don’t know yet, and we may never know. I don’t believe Ted Cruz is a babe magnet, so we’ll have to wait and see if someone else can find the truth.

Ted Cruz Takes a Line from the Movie, American President

The Gateway Pundit happened to catch this comment that Ted Cruz made regarding Donald Trump and his wife, and it exactly matches a comment from the movie, American President with Annette Bening and Michael Douglas. Check out the video on the Gateway Pundit site.

Cruz likes quoting movies and shows. He quotes The Princess Bride, despite Inigo Montoya himself asking Cruz to stop doing so.

Conclusion

Ted Cruz consistently starts something with Donald Trump because he knows that Trump’s Achilles heel is liars, but attacking his wife, Melania, for her modeling career and a nude photo shoot from 16 years ago was in extremely poor taste. This time however, it may backfire on Ted, not because of Trump, but because Cruz carries a Bible in one hand and a knife in the other. He has lied so many times in this campaign that even CNN has proven him wrong. He has hired Jeff Roe, an aggressive campaign strategist who uses dirty tricks and lies against opponents. Roe knows nothing can be done because of the 1964 Supreme court decision in NYTs v. Sullivan, where lying about public figures can be done with impunity.

It really is a sad state of affairs that for over 50 years we have not had honest discourse in the public arena, and the lies are so egregious as to permanently damage one's character. We would hope the media is truthful, but knowing who owns them makes us doubt their veracity.

I have been appalled at the number of lies perpetrated by Ted Cruz and the GOPe against Donald Trump. However, we know these puppets want their globalist plans to continue. Trump's candidacy has spoiled their carefully laid plans to put Jeb Bush or Hillary Clinton in the White House.

There is a huge army waging the battle to destroy Trump. Nevertheless, without lies and voter fraud, I believe he would have won every state so far. As it is, he's still in the lead. The masses need to come out and vote for him, and if you're registered as a democrat and want to vote for Trump, make sure you don't have to change your status in your state, or you'll be denied the ability to vote for Trump.

I've never seen an election cycle like this, and it's been over 50 years since I've seen a candidate I can truly support. That in itself is so amazing! Pray for our country and pray for Donald Trump and his family.
