

Migration, immigration & invasion of America, Canada, Australia & Europe

In 2015-2016, the greatest human migration ever recorded in human history continues to overwhelm Europe, Canada, Australia and America. Aided by boats, trains, planes and automobiles—refugees from overpopulated, war-torn countries flood into first world countries—at breakneck speed.

The fact remains: the United Nations projects 50,000,000 (million) refugees within 20 years for lack of water, food, energy and resources. Note: the human race adds 1 billion more of its species every 12 years.

This interview with Mr. George Phelps gives you an idea of what Western countries, which created stable civilizations with stable populations, face with the flood of humanity knocking down their borders.

Mr. Phelps, please give readers an idea of what we face:

“Tens of thousands of years ago when the first Homo sapiens emerged in Africa, their brains were developing,” said Phelps. “They learned how to make tools and they learned how to control fire; among other things.

“As time went on they began to ‘migrate’ (‘disperse’ as it is referred to by specialists in the field of Homo history) to other regions of the world. Some of the migration was to follow food sources and some was caused by climate change; some may have been fueled by the human need to explore and even conquer.

“During this period of migration the regions of the world were undeveloped, had no cities or countries. Eventually, the migrants began to settle, build communities and develop borders around the areas in which they lived (territorial instincts).

“Further, as time passed, these borders became countries or territories which were not open to migrants unless they were ‘allowed’ in by the dominant forces of the territory, or if applied for entry ‘legally.’ Those who were admitted to these countries were called immigrants.

“As the number of immigrants grew, the nations/countries found it necessary to limit/restrict their numbers, as the countries became saturated with the number of ‘citizens’ and non-citizens. The country(s) could no longer support the needs of the population, i.e. housing, food, medical services, education and so forth; also immigrants would not change their religious or political beliefs and soon were in conflict with the people ‘indigenous’ to the areas to which they had immigrated. They brought diseases and some were criminals escaping from their countries of origin. They brought their ‘cultural’ hatreds.

“The immigrants were migrating in order to gain “better lives for themselves” that were not available from their places of origin.

“Since their needs were not being met by their original origins, they sought out these ‘better’ living conditions by migrating/immigrating. Of course they began to ignore any legal restrictions that existed in the countries to which they wanted to live, as well as any of the religious and political morays of their newly found ‘homeland.’ They refused to assimilate into the culture of the country(s)/nation(s) they had chosen seeking a ‘better’ life.”

One look at the multicultural chaos and violence pervading Europe today causes a shudder up one’s spine: Paris, France massacre by Muslims; killings at Charlie Hebdo Newspaper by Muslims; subway bombings in London, England as well as beheadings on the main streets by Muslims. In Sweden, Norway, Germany and Italy—Muslim rapes and violence of host countries' women. In the USA, 9/11, Boston Marathon Bombers, Chattanooga, TN, Fort Hood killings, San Bernardino and more to come. Honor killings in Canada and America as well as Muslim violence in the streets of Sydney, Australia.

“At that point people entering countries without legal permission/ illegally began to appear as an ‘invasion’”, said Phelps. “They brought their own cultures, many incompatible with those of the countries they were desperately trying to enter and live. This invasion of people of different cultures began to change the cultural landscape of the regions, territories and countries in which they were so intent on living. The very countries they were ‘escaping’ to were then becoming the same cultures and political frameworks, as they were so desperate to leave. This created dissent and violence among the ‘immigrants’ and the original citizenry. They were/are reverting back to the old unfair tyrannical and violent conditions from which they had ‘escaped.’

“The more advanced and modern industrial nations are being degraded by their presence, as they are corrupting the nations to which they ‘migrated’ to escape from the awful conditions of their countries of origin—or regions of origin.

“The modern and advanced nations of the world must stop this for their own good and the good of future generations. What is going on now is pure lawlessness.

“‘Multi-cultures’ cannot live together since they are reluctant to compromise their cultures that are imbedded in their psyche. The result of this is that no ‘multi-cultural’ society can ever survive because of the constant conflicts that result. Finally a nation will be destroyed due to this conflict, and revolution, anarchy, and corruption will become its/their downfall, replaced by tyrannical and cruel governments led by such 'humans' as Hitler and Stalin, just to name only two of the many that history has produced.

"The ultimate result is the deaths of millions of human beings through starvation, genocide and any number of other destructive elements/forces.

"These 'less than modern/primitive' immigrants are contaminating the more advanced nations that think they are being kind and humanitarian as they allow the more primitive immigrants to enter and take over the modern nations. The result is that the more modern nations will revert back to third world countries with the same conflicts, treachery and putrefaction that exist in the world today. And let's not forget the 'oh so popular ethnic cleansing.'

"Modern cultural societies cannot survive when they allow backward and primitive people to become the majority occupants of their nations. But, look around, it's happening right now!

"'Political correctness' will destroy the US as it smothers free speech that is one of our freedoms under the Constitution. It will lead to empowering tyrants! It has led to the empowerment of tyrants now in control of our government. If you don't believe me consider the fact that the sitting President does whatever he wants by the issuance of 'Executive Orders' rather than going through Congress as required by the Constitution.

"The Constitution is clear on who makes laws; it's Congress not the Executive Branch of the US government."

Call your senators and House rep: 1 202 224 3121. Demand a stop to all immigration and stop to any Syrian immigration.

Definition of slogan: "Immigration Shutdown Now means the American people want a total shutdown on all legal and illegal immigration. That means we want all illegal immigration stopped by arresting, prosecuting and jailing employers of illegal aliens. We deport all illegal aliens by taking their jobs away and as we catch them. We want English mandated as our national language. We demand a cessation of Muslim immigration in order to protect our culture, language and way of life. We can't save the world but we can destroy our civilization. We demand a stable population that allows everyone to live, work and thrive into the 21st century. Especially our children." FHW
