

Muslim Leader Calls for Killing Americans And Their Leaders

Start Date, June 14, 2025: Flag Day In The USA, And Donald Trump's Birthday.

Sa'ad bin Atef al-Awlaki, the newly appointed leader of Al-Qaeda in the Arabian Peninsula \(AQAP\), has issued a call for all of the 4.5 million Muslims living in America to kill Americans and their leaders.

Start date: Sat., June 14. Flag Day for America, when a giant parade is planned in Washington DC.

Donald Trump has stated that Iran is 'much more aggressive than just days ago.'

The man calling for violence follows in the tradition of the Muslim leader, Anwar al-Awlaki, martyred in 2011.

Yemeni-American cleric Anwar al-Awlaki, the leading English-language propagandist for al-Qaida, was killed in an American drone strike in 2011. According to the Combating Terrorism center at West Point, his influence has lived on, enhanced by his status as a martyr for Islam

in the eyes of his admirers. His death, during Obama's first term, was the first deliberate killing of a US citizen by his own government via presidential order. (emphasis mine)

Ok, a hunch here. Might this killing have been perpetrated by our own Muslim in the White House at the time, as the ultimate ta'qqia (lie) to get reelected? Obama knew that this act would make the man into a martyr, and strengthen, not weaken the Islamist cause. It would also serve the purpose of "clearing up" the skepticism about Obama's "true faith".

In a 2008 interview with George Stephanopoulos, you may recall, Obama referred to his "Muslim faith", which he quickly corrected. All sources remind us that Obama has since "consistently identified as a Christian" Whatever.

Let's get on to business.

Here, from World Population Review, is the 2025 population –

BY STATE – of Muslims in America.

From a high in NY State, of 724,475, or 3.8% of the state's population, to a low in Hawaii, of 200 residents who consider themselves Muslim. Odd, that, since our Muslim former President has chosen that state to call home. Might he know it is safer when the "potty politics" hits the fan??

To date, only posts on X tell of Muslim participation in the LA riots; nothing confirmed by "credible" news sources. The social media tell of involvement of the Muslim Brotherhood of LA, and mention seeing Arabic words meaning, "lawlessness", among the perps.

I'll go out on a very short sturdy limb here, and guess that, given the 504,000+ California residents of the Muslim faith, and their faith-bred hatred for America, there ARE plenty of Muslims involved in the violence in Los Angeles. This will likely be the case in demonstrations around the country, GIVEN THEIR LEADER'S CALL TO KILL AMERICANS.

The Islamic faith believes that, in order to be a true Muslim, you must do one of two things: lie (ta'qyya) or do violence. (Jihad) The faith has two sects, Sunni (85%) and Shia (15%). The fundamental difference in beliefs is the locus of power and authority. Shia holds that authority stays with Muhammad and his descendants, while Sunni's believe that the power resides in present day officials. the caliphs. The two sides have clashed through history; Sunnis have proven to be the far more violent sect.

The man calling for jihad in America is a present day official. Sunni. [Link]

Ta'qyya is, according to Britannica, in Islam, the practice of concealing one's belief and foregoing ordinary religious duties when under threat of death or injury. The third chapter (sura), 28th verse of the Qu'ran, says believers should not show preference in friendship to unbelievers "unless to

safeguard yourselves against them.

In our culture, that is known as lying.

Apparently, the time for lying is over, however, according to Sa'ad bin Atef al-Awlaki, and the time for violence – jihad – is here. The only question that remains is the depth of commitment of those practicing this kind of Muslim belief, in our nation.

Freedom of religion is, after all, one of the basics of our Republic. Horribly, our gift to the world could also be our undoing.

As the Trump Administration continues to negotiate for peace with Iran – which includes total nuclear disarmament – you can begin to see the issue in simple terms. The leader of Muslims in the Arabic Peninsula is calling for followers of Allah to do violence against us. He does not care, most probably, what our government is asking – regardless of any incentives Trump may offer. However, there remains hope, as I hear.

Last week, Putin offered assistance in negotiations with Iran. Popular sentiment feels that we should not ignore that. An article this morning in The American Conservative talks of this.

No nuclear nation wants another one to join the club, for obvious reasons. Also, Russia wants to guard against destabilization along their southern border, of the type that the Ukraine conflict has created on Russia's western flank. "For Moscow to be able to play that role, however, a fundamental condition needs to be met: The U.S. needs to set realistic objectives for a new deal with Iran. Trump's public insistence on "zero enrichment" of uranium is a road to failure," many feel.

"Moscow could help Washington and Tehran reach a deal by acting as a custodian for Iran's surplus of low-enriched uranium. That would help ensure that Tehran does not accumulate a dangerous stockpile. Given Russia's technical capabilities and existing nuclear infrastructure, this arrangement is both practical and verifiable."

I am not an expert in the analysis of negotiations, especially of this depth and gravity. But, I am still not sure that this would reach the inner brain of a crazed religious radical. Prayers up, though.

I do believe that, given the violence called for from the American believers in the religion, that we must go forward with our eyes and ears wide open, tuned to this frequency.

It is one thing to watch new mosques being built, as in Maryland, Texas, et. al., or to read of the establishment of a Muslim city deep in the heart of Texas. Those are cautionary enough. It is entirely another to be attacked by one of the 44 million believers in our own back yards.

I am not here to spread fear, only awareness. I hope you and yours are able to pause at the "caution" sign, and inculcate all that it means in this case. Yes, some Islamist's could try to do violence towards any of us. Yes, it is also far more likely that we can prevent or ameliorate some of this should it occur, by being observant and ready.

What does that mean? You are the one who can think about your own neighborhood, your workplace, your frequently visited places Please don't be so fearful that you freeze or hide.

Just know your state, the location of mosques, etc. If you think they will listen, tell your local sheriff about it; hopefully, they already are aware.

This is a time to be alert, not paralyzed by the fear of what might be. I debated writing of this because I did not want you to go there. America is still the "land of the brave", and each of you can be a part of that by knowing and sharing this information.

Freedom is never free.
