

No, It's Not The End Of The Republican Party Or Congressional Majority

Following a couple of wins for the Democratic/Communist Party USA last week in Virginia and a few other states the constant narrative from people like Sean Hannity is the Republicans are killing themselves and could very likely lose their majority in the U.S. House and possibly the Senate.

Now, long time readers know I left the Republican Party in 1996 and have been no party since. I have never voted for anyone in the Democratic/Communist Part USA nor would I no matter how bad the Republican candidate is and of course, that's what the shadow government counts on. If you don't vote against an incumbent in the primaries you end up with one choice in November under our one-party masquerading as a two-party political system. Sort of like a duopoly:

"A duopoly \(from Greek δύο, duo \(two\) + πωλεῖν, polein \(to sell\)\) is a form of oligopoly where only two sellers exist in one market. In practice, the term is also used where two firms have dominant control over a market., it is the most commonly studied form of oligopoly due to its simplicity."

Hannity and other prominent Republicans are correct in their assessment of the utter and complete failure of a GOP controlled House and Senate not getting the job done in getting rid of the unconstitutional Obamacare, the distraction known as tax reform desperate Americans are grabbing on to like a life jacket and reducing the size of the government. True.

However, how could conservatives or independents expect such a thing to happen after reelecting the SAME incumbents last election who didn't get the job done the entire time they've been in office?

I've written about this so many times; these two columns pretty much say it all about electing and reelecting ignorant incumbents and candidates. Electing and reelecting liars and crooks because 'it's the other party':

Re-electing the Band Aid Brigade, 5-18-10

Electing New Band Aid Pushers, 5-23-12

Ignorant politically correct voters unseated an incumbent Republican in favor of a mentally ill individual. That area in Virginia is infested with voters who go to the polls every two years and vote for their own destruction:

"A transgender candidate defeated an incumbent Virginia lawmaker who sponsored a bill that would have restricted which bathrooms she could use. Democrat Danica Roem, a former journalist, is set to make history as the first openly transgender person elected and seated in a state legislature in the United States. She unseated Republican Del. Bob Marshall, a 13-term incumbent and socially conservative lawmaker who proudly called himself Virginia's 'chief homophobe.' In an interview with Breitbart he called Roem 'a guy who thinks he's a girl who wears a dress' before claiming that most people do not realize she is transgender, and see her instead as 'an odd-looking woman.'"

Marshall was a 13-term incumbent who allegedly was beat by a Democrat. While Marshall is to be commended for sponsoring a bill that would keep bathrooms separate for biological males and females, he, I believe, went about the issue the wrong way.

Transgenders are mentally ill. They mutilate their bodies but they cannot change their DNA. Roem is a man and will always be a man regardless of how much surgery he has or insists upon being called a she. What Marshall should have done is cite science and mental health issues in an effort to educate voters about the well thought out propaganda campaign regarding so-called transgenders.

What Sean Hannity, Rush Limbaugh and other conservative ‘biggies’ should be saying is not that the GOP is in danger of losing its majority next year but rather VOTE OUT YOUR INCUMBENT and vote for his/her challenger. In June 2014 a political earthquake hit DC when a powerful multi-term Republican congressman was beat in the primary by a ‘nobody’. Scumbag GOP establishment elite House Majority Leader, Eric Cantor, was beat by an unknown individual, an economics college professor named David Brat. So confident was Cantor he brushed off Brat as someone bothersome but not to be taken seriously.

Brat did not have the big war chest but he did have tea party folks who were determined to get out there and work to get Cantor out. So confident was the shadow government of Cantor’s reelection, vote fraud wasn’t a factor in my opinion and believe me, I watched that primary very closely.

Some commentators and writers believe the communists had such great success last week is because Republicans simply weren’t motivated to get out and vote as they were in the Cantor/Brat race. That could be part of it but it sure isn’t because the country which so soundly has rejected the Democratic/Communist Party USA candidates and incumbents over the past decade losing thousands of seats, governorships and so forth suddenly want them back. Too bad Marshall hasn’t demanded a forensic vote audit.

Guess what? The primaries are coming up in a few short months. Texas starts the primaries on March 6th less than four months from now. State primaries begin much later and remember: some states don't even do primaries so be sure to read about it here.

In my district, sadly, uninformed voters chose an establishment puppet, Jodey Arrington, for the U.S. House after our worthless rep finally retired last year. They ignored two challengers who vocally championed the Tenth Amendment and actually in my opinion could have done some good which is why I voted for one of them instead of Arrington. It would be very difficult to unseat him in March unless a challenger spends every day of the week hitting this massive district in person, with comprehensive campaign literature, an army of foot soldiers and money. After all, he's only been in the Outlaw Congress 11 months so voters who have no knowledge of how systems and programs actually work will give him a pass. He's a conservative!

The other problem is vote fraud which the masters of that deception, Democrats, say doesn't exist. Below isn't even the tip of the iceberg; that would take a hundred pages.

LA County Admits Number Of Registered Voters At 144% Of Resident Citizens Of Voting Age, August 6, 2017: "The Election Integrity Project California provides a list of 11 California counties that have more registered voters than voting-age citizens. In addition, Los Angeles County officials informed the project that "the number of registered voters now stands at a number that is a whopping 144% of the total number of resident citizens of voting age."

Hackers break into voting machines in minutes, July 29, 2017: "(The Hill) Hackers at a competition in Las Vegas were able to successfully breach the software of U.S. voting machines in just 90 minutes on Friday, illuminating glaring security deficiencies in America's election infrastructure. "

I don't care if they use the manufactured Russia crap. We must get rid of ALL electronic voting and counting machines if we're ever going to have honest elections again:

Paper ballots are back in vogue thanks to Russian hacking fears, September 20, 2017: "A week ago Virginia announced it would no longer use touch-screen-only voting machines after a hack-a-thon in Las Vegas showed how easily they could be breached. States with electronic-only voting machines want to add a paper back-up that would mandate, for every electronic ballot cast, creation of a paper version that could be counted, and presumably, not easily altered. Rhode Island is set to vote on a measure Tuesday that would require an audit of voters' paper ballots after each election. Georgia is fighting a suit by voters that, among other claims, alleges the state needs to switch to a paper-ballots-based voting system because it now uses touch-screen voting machines that do not meet the requirements of state law due to their age and vulnerability to hacking."

Fraud? 248 counties have more voters than eligible citizens, September 25, 2017: "Lowndes County, Alabama, has been accused of having 131 percent of its total eligible population on its list of registered voters. Another 247 counties have the same problem, prompting the Public Interest Legal Foundation to send letters to officials, warning them to clean up their voter rolls or face legal consequences."

Pennsylvania SecState mysteriously resigns after revelation of non-citizen voters, October 12, 2017: "Last week State Rep. Daryl Metcalfe (R), who chairs the House State Government Committee, joined 15 of his colleagues in a letter "to express our dire concerns" about the disclosure last month that legal resident noncitizens in Pennsylvania had been allowed to register as voters when applying for or renewing drivers' licenses at PennDot service centers.

"Metcalfe has sought to hold hearings on the issue in advance of the November 7 general election. He was informed by telephone on Wednesday of Cortes' resignation. He is still waiting for an answer to the questions posed to Cortes. Metcalfe said this week his committee is seeking to know why foreign nationals were put on the voter rolls before the general election in 2016. He had raised the question in October 2016 when Cortes was testifying before his committee. He told Philly.com "Cortes knew this was an issue." Metcalfe added, "It is interesting that his resignation occurred within a week of our letter to him about this serious issue." It will be interesting to see how many actually voted and you can take money to the bank they voted Democrat.

Paul Nehin is running against the despicable Paul Rat Ryan again. He will lose again unless paper ballots hand counted in front of everyone are used. Now, I support his persistence and want him to win but after hammering on vote fraud since 1993 and watching Nehlin's primary against Rat Ryan last year there's no doubt in my mind the machines beat Nehlin.

For your state capitol you'll have to call your Secretary of State or go on their web site and hit the Elections section. It will give you the list of all candidates running for your legislature. Then YOU have to get out and work to get a challenger elected just like Brat's supporters did to oust one of the most powerful members of Congress, Eric Cantor. It can be done but candidates cannot do it alone. It doesn't just take money it takes ground work – something liberals/Democrats are experts at.

Nearly two dozen Republicans have announced they will not run for reelection. That's good news. Find out if one of them is your rep or senator and get to work to help elect someone in your district who stands for the Constitution.

As I wrote above, the primaries start in less than four months. I know, Thanksgiving and Christmas are front and center right now until New Year's. BUT, after my decades of experience, voters often don't make up their mind until close to an election/primary. Except in the states that don't have primaries it's the party machine that gets their way while you aren't involved.

Candidates make a huge sacrifice when they run for any office. And so, too, must we the people or nothing will change as we've seen with this current crop of incumbents in the Outlaw Congress and in our state houses.

Here is a list of all candidates running for Congress next year by state. If we really want to drain the swamp we have to oust incumbents during the primaries. Of course, and this applies for both state capitols and Congress – if a challenger doesn't know the constitutional solutions on the issues it will be like moving deck chairs around on the Titanic: Voters Educate The Elected, January 27, 2013

I encourage you to get a couple copies of my book, Taking Politics Out of Solutions and give one to a congressional challenger you support and one to either a good state incumbent or challenger. You can't solve a problem if you don't know how it got started and what is the constitutional solution. I can tell you looking at congressional challengers web sites over the past decades 99% of them simply parrot the same old "I'm for smaller government" in their issues section but completely ignore the big Satan – the disabilities of our monetary system and the FED. Read my Band Aid series I cite at the top of this column and you'll know what I mean.

Chapters in my book: Federal Reserve: Head of the Beast; Federal Income Tax: Where Does Your Money Really Go?; Jobs and the Destruction Caused by Free Trade; The Economy: Another Tragedy Underway; (Un)Affordable Health Care Act aka Obamacare; Non-Ratification of the Seventeenth Amendment – Why It's So Important; Illegal Aliens: Liars, cheats, thieves, rapists, murderers; Social Security: Yes, It Is a Ponzi Scheme; Medicare – Unsustainable; 'Smart Meters' The Silent Killer; More Money for Education!; On-Going Disgraceful Treatment of America's Veterans; What Everyone Ignores About Planned Parenthood; Fukushima: On-Going Crime Against Humanity; Federal Drug Administration (FDA) = Federal Death Administration; Vaccines – Silent Destroyers; Monsanto Must Be Stopped; Islam: A Cancer Oozing Across America.

It took me a year to write that 400 page book; massive research. The publisher can't give them away, but Newswithviews does have a great discount for two copies. Freedom isn't free. If we're ever going to get America's problems solved our lawmakers have to know the truth and solutions. It would also make a great Christmas present for someone you know who is active in trying to save this country but may not know what's in my book.

Coming up this week: Sessions again in the hot seat for not doing his job: Chaffetz: Justice Department hides 'treasure trove' of documents from Congress and White House: "As for Republicans on the Judiciary Committee, Chaffetz said that they are frustrated with the current DOJ under Sessions. "They see he recused himself, Mueller is put in place, but where are the prosecutions on all the other things?" Chaffetz also pointed out that President Trump is also frustrated with Sessions and the DOJ.

"His former colleagues, said Chaffetz, such as Rep. Darrell Issa (R-CA), will ask about delays encountered in requests for documents on the Obama administration's disastrous "Fast and Furious" program that has been blamed for the murder of a federal agent in Mexico, and should have been revealed in the current Republican presidency. "Why haven't you prosecuted Lois Lerner? Everything that happened with the IRS? And the IRS apologized, and supposedly there is a monetary payment." Chaffetz said that he met with Sessions and talked for an hour, thinking that a "treasure trove of documents would start to flow. Absolutely not the case. The deep state is very real." FOX will probably cover the hearing live while everyone's at work.
