

President Trump, I Hope You Have Not Forgotten

"When the law no longer protects you from the corrupt, but protects the corrupt from you, you know that your nation is doomed."

We have seen that recently the new DNC chair would not rule out Hillary Clinton running for the president's office in 2020. How could this be? It was promised by the now President Donald Trump that he was going to instruct his Attorney General to look into Hillary Clinton's situation. As you know, instead, after he won office, he said that Americans "owe her a major debt of gratitude for her sacrifice to our country."

This proves the point as to what happens when Americans leave off justice, which guards American liberties. Hillary Clinton is now calling for resistance to Trump.

She said, "We need to stay engaged... I'll be with you every step of the way."

How is it that she has been given that liberty?

Why hasn't Trump lawfully dealt with the likes of the Clintons? He said that he would reinstate the rule of law.

The President said that Hillary has been caught selling uranium ore, which I warned months before anybody dared to speak out on the topic, to the Russians. Yet, she is still free to attack him at will? America this is treason (Article

3, section 3 of the United States Constitution).

Americans just follow blindly behind because the right guy has on their favorite jersey. Americans have been put back to sleep with a blanket of deception (Matthew 13:25).

The enemy is wide-awake America, and they are busy, in the light of day, dividing people one against another.

"And if a house be divided against itself, that house cannot stand." -Mark 3:25

Furthermore, if you think that the enemies within and without are just going to give everything back over to the American people, think again. They are unlawfully attacking the rule of law, and Trump, who promised to enforce the law against them, is not!

We already know that when it comes to justice, surely you cannot depend upon the likes of the great American appeasers Gowdy, Issa, and Chaffetz.

This reminds me of pro wrestling. You know, where the wrestlers act like archenemies on the mat and behind closed doors they are the best of friends.

All the while, the self-deceived fans are willfully played by the wiles of these paid actors.

But then again you cannot blame corrupt politicians for letting them get away with whatever you let them get away with....

"Do not blame Caesar, blame the people of Rome who have so enthusiastically acclaimed and adored him and rejoiced in their loss of freedom and danced in his path and given him triumphal processions. Blame the people who hail him when he speaks in the Forum of the new wonderful good society which shall now be Rome's, interpreted to mean more money, more ease, more security, and more living fatly at the expense of the industrious.” -Cisero

What is truly astounding about all of that which takes place in the country by the corruption that is tolerated is that Americans actually, somehow or another, believe that WHAT THEY TOLERATE has no effect on them; and that these above said, or otherwise, are somehow above the law, which they swore to uphold.

Decency, security, and liberty alike demand that government officials shall be subjected to the same rules of conduct that are commands to the citizen. In a government of laws, existence of the government will be imperiled if it fails to observe the law scrupulously. Our government is the potent, the omnipresent teacher. For good or for ill, it teaches the whole people by its example. Crime is contagious. If the government becomes a lawbreaker, it breeds contempt for law; it invites every man to become a law unto himself; it invites anarchy. To declare that in the administration of the criminal law the end justifies the means – to declare that the government may commit crimes in order to secure the conviction of a private criminal – would bring terrible retribution. Against that pernicious doctrine this court should resolutely set its face. -Supreme court justice Louis D. Brandies(1928).

“A nation ceases to be republican...when the will of the majority ceases to be the law.” –Thomas Jefferson
