

President Trump's New Vote Fraud Commission: Fluff Or Substance?

Monday, May 15, 2016

Last week President Trump created a voter fraud and suppression commission to study the scope of non-citizens voting. Predictably, the ACLU and democrats all started yelling how terrible it's going to be finding out facts. Why, such a commission is actually going to promote voter suppression!

As Trump creates commission to study voter fraud and suppression, liberals cry foul

NAACP Vows to Oppose Trump's Voter Fraud Investigation

Rutgers Prof Launches Effort to Oppose Trump's 'Election Integrity' Commission (Complete with useful fools and their signs.) "The message, also circulated by Rick Hasen, a leader in urging academics to oppose any election integrity projects, called on the education community to "resist participation" in the commission." Another jackass. Who doesn't want election integrity?

What horse manure. The Democratic/Communist Part USA has depended on vote fraud, human and machines, for years to either elect or keep rotten, corrupt career politicians in office. Think Dirty Harry Reid who thankfully retired last year. A class A crook.

As for claims of voter suppression, that's another red herring thrown out there to create the impression jackbooted brown shirts are at every precinct in the country denying and/or trying to intimidate any American from voting. Well, with the exception of the protected racist Black Panthers: Inside the Black Panther case – Anger, ignorance and lies, June 25, 2010

“On the day President Obama was elected, armed men wearing the black berets and jackboots of the New Black Panther Party were stationed at the entrance to a polling place in Philadelphia. They brandished a weapon and intimidated voters and poll watchers. After the election, the Justice Department brought a voter-intimidation case against the New Black Panther Party and those armed thugs. I and other Justice attorneys diligently pursued the case and obtained an entry of default after the defendants ignored the charges. Before a final judgment could be entered in May 2009, our superiors ordered us to dismiss the case.

“The New Black Panther case was the simplest and most obvious violation of federal law I saw in my Justice Department career. Because of the corrupt nature of the dismissal, statements falsely characterizing the case and, most of all, indefensible orders for the career attorneys not to comply with lawful subpoenas investigating the dismissal, this month I resigned my position as a Department of Justice \(DOJ\) attorney.”

ALIPAC applauded this long overdue investigation: ALIPAC Applauds Trump Creation of Voter Fraud Panel With Kris Kobach

“ALIPAC has worked to expose and counter illegal alien voters since 2010! ALIPAC’s President, William Gheen, appeared in-studio with Fox and Friends as the first guest of the day on Election Day Nov. 2, 2010, to warn America that Democrats planned large-scale illegal alien voting operations to counter the Tea Party advance in western states.

“ALIPAC has also filed official complaints with the FEC, Nevada Board of Elections, and Clark County Board of Elections in Las Vegas \(VIEW\), regarding clear evidence large numbers of illegal aliens are voting in Nevada!

“November 28, 2016, ALIPAC sent out a national press release to the media, Trump campaign, and concerned activists that “ALIPAC is calling upon President-Elect Donald Trump to create a Blue Ribbon Commission to be formed immediately following his inauguration that will dedicate efforts to rooting out corruption and illegal voters in US Elections to secure America’s borders and ballots from foreign influences.” (View Full Release)”

Now, this panel is going to have access to the Department of Fatherland Security databases to determine who is voting; those legally here on a visa for example who have no legal right to vote.

Good start, but the real culprit is both human and electronic vote fraud. As a victim of it and writing about it since 1993, I stand firm in my belief that as long as we are forced to use any type of electronic voting machines, scanners or counters we have no idea who is getting elected honestly in key races that range from state reps and senators to governors, Congress and the White House.

Someone sent me email after the major political earthquake in Virginia when powerhouse former Republican House Majority Leader Eric Cantor was defeated in his primary by an unknown college professor, Dave Brat, who went on to win his election in November. Hey, Devvy – how could that be possible? Wouldn’t the machines keep Cantor in there? Sure, but in that particular race it all came down to arrogance. Cantor had been in office for 13 years (2001-2014). He didn’t bother to campaign during the primary but rather believed he was so loved by his constituents they surely wouldn’t vote for a nobody like Brat. He got creamed and how I celebrated!

The shadow government made sure that didn’t happen last year in the Paul Rat Ryan race. Nehlen should have won that primary, but that’s what machines are for – he who controls the technology controls the outcome of the vote. It’s not just the machines, paper ballots are just as easy to manipulate when you have corrupt individuals in control of them.

Incidentally, a poll taken last week shows 48% of voters in his district would not vote for Rat Ryan in the next election. Sure, and then he wins his primary by a landslide as we saw last year meant to send a clear message: The voters in his district love him so much and rejected the message and truth from Nehlen. Bull.

Take the shocking and ground breaking investigation by the late Collier brothers who actually filmed precinct workers altering ballots. I read their book, VoteScam – The Stealing of America and thus began my focus on how our elections are rigged.

A Brief History of Computerized Election Fraud in America by Victoria Collier

“The Votescam investigation began in 1970, in – surprise! – Dade County, Florida, where Ken ran for Congress (with Jim as his campaign manager). Ken was rigged out of the election through a vote scam, which the Colliers later discovered was used throughout the country for decades. It went like this: The local newscaster would announce during the broadcast of election returns that the election “computer has broken down.” Instead of giving official returns from the county courthouse, the networks would be running vote “projections” for the rest of the night.

“Jim and Ken, who had garnered 30 percent of the vote, noticed that when the vote totals came back on the screen after the announcement, they had mysteriously lost 15 percentage points. They didn’t get another vote for the rest of the night. When they examined the “official” election results from for the September primary, October run-off and November final election in Dade County, the record listed a total of 141,000 votes cast for the governors race in each election. The exact same number of total votes were cast for three elections with a different number of candidates running each time. The same identical figures were listed for the Senate race in the primary, run-off and final election. This, of course, is a statistical impossibility.

“When they compared the “official” vote results with a print-out of the vote “projections” broadcast by the TV networks on the final election night, they found that channel 4 had “projected” with near perfect accuracy the results of 40 races with 250 candidates only 4 minutes after the polls closed. Channel 7 came even closer; at 9:31 pm, they “projected” the final vote total for a race at 96,499 votes. When the Colliers checked the “official” number . . . it was also 96,499.

“The networks then made the astonishing claim that the results from a single voting machine somewhere in Dade County were run through a computer program in order to get these vote projections. Elton Davis was the computer programmer responsible for the magic formula that could convert one machine’s vote results into near perfect projected vote totals for 40 races and 250 candidates. When Jim and Ken confronted Davis in his office at the University of Miami, he responded: “You’ll never prove it, now get out.”

“Finally the networks claimed that members of the League of Women Voters were out in the field on election night, calling in vote totals to channels 4 and 7. When the Colliers confronted the head of the League, Joyce Deiffenderfer, she admitted that there were no LWV members out in the field that night. She broke down crying, saying “I don’t want to get caught up in this thing.” Also, please also go read this page.

As a result of the vote fraud in my primary in March 1996, I wrote a short booklet titled Blind Loyalty released in 1998; it took that long to do the research. It dealt with nothing but provable, massive vote fraud. I sold 700,000 copies at cost before retiring it in 2004. On the cover:

- ◆ How come with no votes counted, only precincts ‘reporting’, the media can call the results of more than 100,000 precincts nationwide within minutes and which such uncanny accuracy?

◆ Did you know that voting machine manufacturers admit the failure rates of electronic machines range from 16-28%?

◆ Why the drive to force all Americans into voting with electronic touch-screen machines that have no paper trail and no accountability? Why the push to eliminate all paper ballots?

Did you know ABC News posted "...results and predictions..." (their words) on their web site in the early evening of November 2, 1998 – 12 hours before any polls opened in the United States? They did and do you know how accurate they were? On page 16 of my booklet I provided the answer: A complete analysis of all the results posted and the 'final' totals reflect that ABC News was off .0174% – what would you say the odds of that happening are?

Here's just a tiny sample from Blind Loyalty:

I have been advocating for elimination of all electronic forms of voting since 1993 as well as purging voting rolls more efficiently (Important read) and getting rid of the magnet for fraud, the Motor Voter Law of 1993. How California DMV Could Settle the Question of Voter Fraud

Not to mention my nagging for decades about getting rid of career incumbents in Congress and that the elections actually begin during the primaries not November. If you don't oust your incumbent during the primary what happens come November? Well, if you're a Republican you vote for Ryan against the Democrat. Seems like that's starting to get some traction:

"The fact of the matter is that many, if not most, Republicans in the House and the Senate don't really want to change the direction of government in Washington. They don't really want to drain the swamp. They don't really want to do a 180-degree policy shift from the Obama years. In fact, they are perfectly comfortable running this racket on the American people for as long as they can get away with it. It's time for all Republican voters to ask the question Rush Limbaugh asked last week of Vice President Mike Pence: "What is the point of voting Republican?"

"Put another way, what hope do we have of changing the political culture in Washington, preserving constitutionally limited government and preventing tyranny in America with a two-party system that operates more like a one-party dictatorship?...Challenge the phony Republican congressional incumbents in primaries in 2018."

Michael Snyder Is Calling For An Army Of Pro-Trump Activists To Run For Office All Over America

"My father was in the U.S. Navy, and so sometimes I like to put things in military terms. When an amphibious invasion is being conducted, it is the troops that hit the beach first that take the most fire. To me, that is a perfect picture of what is happening to Donald Trump right now. He has established a beachhead, and now the rest of us need to rush to shore to back him up.

"If we are not willing to try, what is going to happen? Our political system on the national, state and local levels will continue to be dominated by Democrats and "progressive Republicans", and our once great nation will continue to fall apart all around us.

"We need patriotic men and women to challenge every available seat in America in 2018. Some of us will win and others will lose, but at least we will have given the American people a choice. We are never going to have a true political revolution if we don't at least try, and this election cycle represents a tremendous opportunity. I really like how Rush Limbaugh made this point during one of his programs..." Rest at link; I encourage you to read it as it's fairly short.

Unfortunately, the voters didn't completely drain the swamp,

Nov. 8, 2016

“Unfortunately, the voters failed to do that because with the exception of a handful of seats for both parties, virtually the same current members of CON-gress are going back to Washington, DC in January. I’ve written until I’m blue in the face that the primaries is when you drain the swamp. The real election starts during the primary season for Congress, governors, state houses, sheriffs and so forth. If voters don’t oust incumbents during the primaries come election day and you’re a Republican then you vote for your incumbent; same goes for Democrat voters. How then does anyone expect anything to change if Americans keep reelecting the same Band Aid pushers?”

While I applaud President Trump’s efforts in exposing vote fraud, that commission MUST hear from experts who can sit down with them and listen. People like Bev Harris (BlackBoxVoting), Catherine Engelbrecht, True the Vote and any other experts you might know of that I don’t. NOW is the time to send President Trump email on this because I do NOT trust VP Mike Pence who is going to head up the commission. You can use snail mail but it takes weeks to get delivered to the WH. Let’s flood President Trump with emails.

Federal Data Can Resolve Vote Fraud Debate, Says Vice Chairman of Donald Trump’s Election Integrity Commission – Only part of the problem, sir.

I don’t know if I’m still wasting my time on this part, but I’ve written it over and over and over for decades: YOU as one or your group or organization have to demand your county get rid of all forms of electronic voting. When I moved to Big Spring, TX in 2006 and went to vote for the first time I was shocked and thrilled we had paper ballots. A couple of elections later, gone. Now we’re forced to use those damn machines.

I have also written and covered on talk radio until I'm blue in the face, you or your group or organization have to lobby your state capitols to stop funding any form of electronic voting machines, crack down on absentee ballots and absolutely no Internet voting in our elections.

And, last but not least, candidates who allegedly lose MUST demand a recount even if their campaign has to set aside the funds. Paul Nehlen should have beat Paul Rat Ryan in their primary last year but instead, it was the same old trick: Ryan allegedly kills Nehlen in a landslide which I believe is done on purpose: The voters soundly rejected the message of Ryan's opponent. Don't believe it for a second. I followed that race very closely. Sadly, Nehlen just walked away instead of demanding a full audit of the vote – what was done here: A Citizens Audit of an American Election

“Richard Hayes Phillips, a former college professor, has written a new book titled, Witness to a Crime: A Citizens' Audit of an American Election. This monstrous undertaking covers the 2004 election results in the State of Ohio. Remember, the chief executive for the biggest vote fraud machine operation in this country said he would deliver Ohio to Bush. He did. What makes Phillips investigation so compelling is the book is filled with concrete proof that the voters of Ohio were robbed of their right to fair and impartial elections. The amount of work that went into this investigation is staggering: 30,000 images of forensic evidence, then personally examining 126,000 ballots, 127 poll books and 141 voter signature books from 18 counties in Ohio. This is the definitive and documented evidence of crimes that cannot, must not be ignored.” They were.

The same thing happened in my primary in 1996 even though my support was strong and huge in several counties in the district:

Donald J. Trump And Congressional Incumbents

“From my Blind Loyalty booklet of nothing but vote fraud, check these winners/losers that night (primary March 26, 1996): 85-15, 81-18, 85-15, 81-18, 85-15, 86-14, 87-13, 81-18 and 81-14 which was my race. Those were the results for incumbents vs challengers for the U.S. House throughout the state. Every incumbent voted for NAFTA; all challengers including me were opposed. Wonder why we all allegedly lost? Those house seats were scattered all over the state of California. Unless you’re specifically looking at a particular race, in a state the size of California or Texas, people don’t put together the pattern, but it sure as hell is there and I’m looking at it tonight.” Column contains very important links at the bottom.

Vote fraud keeps constitutionalists out of office (including your state capitol) whether it be for Congress or your local sheriff. If we don’t get rid of hundreds of incumbents in the primaries starting in February 2018, things will continue to go to Hell despite Trump’s best efforts as well as half way decent congress critters like Rep. Thomas Massie out of Kentucky.
