

Putin is Crazy Like a True Communist

Let us forget about Joe Biden's failing health for a moment and get back to the subject of America's failing health. President Trump's "Big Beautiful" bill promises more debt and financial ruin. Meanwhile, another World War is taking shape.

The courageous Senator Ron Johnson (R-Wis.) is standing against the tax bill and declaring that Trump "can't pressure" him to vote for the bill. "I ran in 2010 because we were mortgaging our children's future," he told Punchbowl news. He knows the bill doesn't cut enough from federal spending and increases the debt.

On the foreign policy front, President Trump has apparently had a Damascus Road conversion about the nature of Vladimir Putin. "He has gone absolutely CRAZY!" says Trump. With all due respect, Putin has not gone crazy; he remains a communist, and that is the problem.

Trump failed to appreciate the real nature of Putin and his brain, Alexander Dugin. He thought Putin would "make a deal."

Now, with Trump having a wake-up call regarding Russia, perhaps it's time for him to purge members of the "Alt-Right Comintern" around him, with the domestic version featuring such personalities as Tucker Carlson and Stephen K. Bannon, who have been trying to convince him that the Russians are just like us, and that a rapprochement with Russia is somehow necessary and proper.

Referring to Putin, Trump said, "He is needlessly killing a lot of people, and I'm not just talking about soldiers. Missiles and drones are being shot into Cities in Ukraine, for no reason whatsoever."

The reason, Mr. President, is that Putin has been trying to reconstitute the Russian empire, by taking back the former Soviet republics such as Ukraine. The story is told in our book, Back from the Dead: The Return of the Evil Empire, published in 2014.

I don't agree with many of Robert Zubrin's points in his article about the "Alt-Right Comintern," since nationalism and populism in the West are valid political movements and not necessarily in alliance with the Kremlin's aims. These movements are justifiably upset about the invasions of their respective countries by aliens from other countries. But when they cross the line into making excuses for Putin's madness you can rest assured they are being infiltrated by Putin's followers in the orbit around Alexander Dugin.

Dugin's new book, The Trump Revolution: A New Order of Great Powers, is a vision of what they hoped Trump to become, as he made noises that Russia would come to the table and settle the war in Ukraine on "Day One." That wasn't to be, and now Trump has discovered that Putin was and still is a communist, in league with China and North Korea.

In my recent broadcast with geopolitical analyst J.R. "Jeff" Nyquist, we discuss Trump's blind spots, including his failure to understand the nature of international communism and global Islam. Now that he has recognized the true nature of Putin, he should review the business deals he made with the Arab gulf states, and rethink whether it's wise to send them advanced microchips for Artificial Intelligence (AI) purposes. They opened doors to Communist China, long before they welcomed America cash from the Big Tech firms based in America.

My belief is that the Arab states funding al-Qaeda and Hamas should not be rewarded with business deals of any kind. And while we are at it, can't we withdraw our military forces from Qatar? Whatever happened to America First? Wasn't this Trump's agenda? Instead, we have been given globalism that provides military support for Arab regimes like Qatar that want to kill us.

The Arabs are committed to Muslim fundamentalism, just like Putin is determined to spread international communism. We should not be getting into bed with either.

Putin is like the communist who killed those two Israeli embassy employees on the streets of Washington, D.C. He wasn't crazy. He was in the grip of a foreign ideology that justifies murder. He shouted "Free Palestine" as he was taken away. These are the motivations of global Islam and international communism. They will not rest until America is buried.

As we celebrated Memorial Day, our enemies were on the march, as Putin continues his war on Ukraine and the Arab/Muslim states were basking in the glow of business deals arranged by the Trump Administration. The inevitable result will be more wounded warriors in the Middle East, perhaps because of the Sunni Muslims in the Gulf states striking an alliance with the new jihadist president of Syria and then going to war with Shiite Islam in Iran and elsewhere. It is a bloody mess.

Perhaps international communism and global Islam will come to blows, but America is ultimately in the crosshairs.

What I do know is that the war in Ukraine was not settled on Day One and I didn't expect more involvement in the Middle East under this America First president. Nothing good can come out of it. I do not expect "peace" in Europe or the Middle East.

To his credit, Trump did propose a “Golden Dome” missile defense shield for the United States. That is the immediate priority. National defense is constitutionally mandated. We cannot live without it.

I suggest canceling those high-tech deals with the Arabs, bringing our troops home from Qatar, and ordering our high-tech firms to collaborate on protecting the American people from missile attack. Nothing is more important.
