

Roger Stone on the Trump campaign

"One of the problems when you become successful is that jealousy and envy inevitably follow. There are people – I categorize them as life's losers – who get their sense of accomplishment and achievement from trying to stop others. As far as I'm concerned, if they had any real ability, they wouldn't be fighting me, they'd be doing something constructive themselves." –Donald J. Trump

The GOpE, DNC, and MSM are all working to derail the peoples' choice for GOP presidential nominee, Donald J. Trump. His campaign staff is working diligently to keep the many delegates he's won, and add hundreds more. With Paul Manafort at the helm, Roger Stone says they will be successful, but we know the globalists won't give up.

As a matter of fact, John Kasich is suspending his campaign in Indiana to give his votes to Cruz, hoping to derail another win for Mr. Trump. [Link] According to a source close to the campaign, in exchange for suspending the Indiana campaign, Cruz will cease operations in New Mexico and Oregon, thus allowing both candidates to maximize their resources in areas where they can best be used. [Link] The globalist insiders continue their efforts to upset the choice of the American people, Donald J. Trump.

To top it off, the Obama administration is funding a blitz with our tax dollars, to naturalize anti-Trump voters. This is part of an organized effort aimed at converting green-card holders into U.S. citizens in order to vote against Donald Trump, a Daily Caller investigation reveals.

Through an initiative called Networks for Integrating New Americans, which the White House formed in April 2014, the administration has partnered with the National Partnership for New Americans (NPNA), an immigration rights umbrella organization that has denounced Trump's "hateful rhetoric." Of course Trump's rhetoric is all about protecting American citizens, and Trump supporters know that.

The 2016 GOP Convention

The 2016 Republican National Convention will be held in Cleveland, Ohio at the Quicken Loans Arena July 18-21, 2016.

The RNC convention will host approximately 2,470 delegates and 2,302 alternate delegates from all 50 states, the District of Columbia and five territories.

Roger Stone, author, political consultant, lobbyist and Republican strategist, would like Trump supporters to gather at the convention in Cleveland, Ohio on Monday, the 18th of July. Trump supporters from all over the country need to be there, especially the first day. There will undoubtedly be Soros funded groups present and agitating for violence. Mr. Stone has stated that the Trump campaign wants absolutely NO VIOLENCE, and should never throw the first punch, no matter what the Soros protestors do. We are to gather together, and maintain the dignity expected of Donald J. Trump supporters and his campaign.

Delegate Theft and Bribes

Mr. Stone told me that despite the anger American voters feel, and despite the corruption in the GOPe, the “theft” of delegates by Cruz supporters is not illegal. Likewise, the replacement of Trump delegates with GOP establishment delegates by state GOP leaders, is also not illegal.

There is a recent story regarding Cruz bribing delegates to vote for him. Trump actually tweeted, “I win a state in votes and then get non-representative delegates because they are offered all sorts of goodies by Cruz campaign. Bad system!”

Here’s a video of what looks like a monetary bribe. Nevertheless, again, this is not illegal. He could take them to lunch and talk to them about voting for him, and it’s not illegal. Watch the video of what looks like Cruz bribing a delegate.

Mr. Stone stated that some of Cruz’s super PACs haven’t spent any money, and may be saving up for payoffs or expenses for delegates.

There is also evidence that GOP establishment money is funding Mark Levin, Glenn Beck, and Erick Erickson to attack Trump. Also, not illegal, just rotten and corrupt.

Cruz and Eagle Forum

Phyllis Schlafly's Eagle Forum just barely survived a coup takeover by a number of high powered women in the organization who wished to promote Cruz for president over founder, Phyllis Schlafly's endorsement of Donald J. Trump. [Link] Mr. Stone and I agreed, that behind this attempt was none other than Ted Cruz himself, and destroying Eagle Forum means nothing if he gets both their endorsement (deceitfully or not) and mega dollars from the 501(c)4 division of Eagle Forum.

Previous Battles for Nomination

This is not the first time we've seen a contentious battle for the nomination, but I believe it is still the worst in history.

Before Ike was elected in late 1952, his name was actually presented in 1948, but he chose not to run. Truman was nominated for re-election by the Dems, and the delegate controversy arose (like today) with the Republicans, primarily between Dewey (the Establishment's candidate) and Taft. Through the first couple of ballots, the candidates (including Stassen) held onto their delegates to prevent Dewey from getting a majority, but then when Stassen failed to give his to Taft, the latter submitted to Dewey's nomination. This is the election where Dewey was supposed to beat Truman. Thanks to Dennis Cuddy for this tidbit.

In 1952, there was a hard fought delegate battle between conservative Howard Taft and Dwight Eisenhower in the primary GOP nomination. This was truly the end of the old right with the nomination of Eisenhower. [Link] (You can read about Ike's treasonous actions in The Politician by Robert Welch.)

The 1964 Republican campaign was much the same. Senator Barry Goldwater was the staunch conservative and his rivals were liberal New York Governor, Nelson Rockefeller and moderate George Romney. [Link] Governor Rockefeller was placed in nomination to keep delegates from Oregon and other states, committed to him, from swinging to the Goldwater camp. [Link]

Vice Presidential Choices

I asked Mr. Stone if Trump would choose a politician or a businessman for vice-president. Roger stated that there was another option, a military man, one who is well-versed in foreign policy. On the CNN interview with the Trump family, Mr. Trump was asked about adding any of the other candidates to his administration. He stated that although he likes many of the other candidates, he has not said he would ask them to be vice president. Roger Stone said basically the same thing, that it would be highly unlikely for Trump to join with Cruz, Rubio or Kasich.

Cruz and the North American Union

In discussing Heidi Cruz's many years at the Council on Foreign Relations helping to write the North American Union (NAU) which would eliminate our sovereignty and our borders, I mentioned that Ted Cruz, his staunch supporters, David Barton and Glenn Beck, are all for a Constitutional Convention which would be needed to pass the NAU. Mr. Stone stated that Donald J. Trump is firmly against a Constitutional Convention.

Google and Fake Malware Attacks

Mr. Stone mentioned that this was happening to any number of websites who are supporting Mr. Trump or exposing Ted Cruz. There really is no malware even when the malware warning pops up when trying to open an article or enter a website. It is because the website has been put into Google's list of "attack" websites, even though they do not have malware. Simply click the button to proceed, and you'll get to the website or article. All of this started when Mr. Trump tweeted one of my articles on Jeb Bush's eminent domain usage in Florida.

One has to wonder how many times have Google staffers been to the White House? Too many...[\[Link\]](#)

Cruz on Common Core and Fast Tracking TPP

What about commercials regarding Ted Cruz's stances on Common Core, Cruz's TPA fast tracking vote on the TPP trade deal, and Heidi Cruz's five years at the Council on Foreign Relations writing the North American Community document which eliminates American borders and sovereignty? Roger Stone said there would probably be radio ads, and asked if I'd send information on two of the above two topics. I will discuss them in full in an upcoming article.

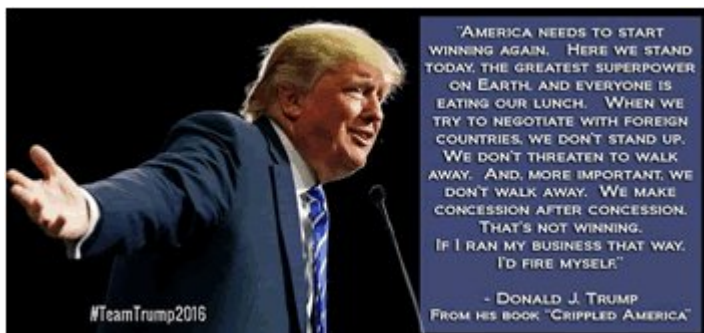

Cruz Lies on Common Core

Ted Cruz tells his supporters he is against Common Core, and supports home-schooling. But his co-sponsorship of S306, “Enhancing Educational Opportunities for all Students Act” (ESEA), tells a very different story than what Cruz tells his supporters.

Cruz is not against Common Core, his amendment actually puts Common Core into private, religious and home schools. Isn't that wonderful? For the whole story, please read Anita Hoge's excellent exposés, Proof: Ted Cruz's Promise to do Away With Common Core is A Total Lie, and How Ted Cruz is Sneaking Common Core on Homeschoolers.

Cruz Voted for TPA Fast Tracking of TPP

Here is the video of Cruz stating he's for fast tracking for the TPP

Senator Jeff Sessions (R-Ala), who has been the leading principled opponent of Fast Track in the Congress, provided many more reasons why his colleagues should vote against handing TPA/Fast Track to President Obama. In a speech on the Senate floor, Sessions pointed out that the main objection to TPA is that it will almost guarantee passage of three major Obama Trade packages that threaten our national sovereignty: the Trans-Pacific Partnership (TPP), Transatlantic Trade and Investment Partnership \(TTIP\) and Trade in Services Agreement \(TiSA\).

Among the many crucial arguments Sen. Sessions makes are:

- Contrary to arguments of GOP leaders that TPA “empowers” Congress, it is a surrender of Congressional authority “for six years,” not only to President Obama, but to whomever follows him to the White House;
- The TPP/TTIP/TiSA, according to the Obama administration and our foreign partners, are “living agreements” that will continue to evolve, meaning they will mutate into whatever the trade architects (or future leaders) want them to be;
- The TPP/TTIP/TiSA subject the United States to rulings of international tribunals;
- TiSA could be used to undermine our immigration laws by forcing the U.S. to issue more temporary worker visas; (Cruz once proposed an immediate increase in the base H-1B cap from 65,000 to 325,000. Cruz offered the H-1B increase as an amendment in 2013 to the Senate’s comprehensive immigration bill.)
- President Obama is “breaking arms and heads” not to increase trade, but to get the political “trans-national union,” with international law that can be used against America’s interests.

According to Senator Sessions: “The predictable and surely desired result of the TPP is to put greater distance between the governed and those who govern. It puts those who make the rules out of reach of those who live under them, empowering unelected regulators who cannot be recalled or voted out of office. In turn, it diminishes the power of the people’s bulwark: their constitutionally-formed Congress.”

(Remember that regionalism, which is gradually becoming the accepted method of unelected governance in the United States (unelected councils, regulators, and task forces, participatory democracy, public-private partnerships, etc.) is the form of government used in democratic socialist and communist countries.)

Conclusion

Donald Trump is truly the choice of our electorate for GOP nominee. He is the man who can put our nation back on the winning track, the man who cares about America's people, America's jobs, America's borders, America's veterans, America's debt, America's Second Amendment rights, enforcing America's Constitution, and ultimately America's survival. We need him in our White House.

A special thank you to Roger Stone for taking the time in his busy day to answer a few questions regarding the Trump campaign. Hopefully, we'll be able to speak again as the convention draws closer.
