

Servando Is Alive And Well And Has Not Been Abducted By Aliens

A few days ago I got an email from a reader. She asked what happened to me, because she is missing my articles at NewsWithViews.com. Well, let me tell you why I have momentarily stopped writing articles.

I have not been writing articles for the past six months because I have been hiding, not from the IRS or credit card collectors, but from the whole world. And I have been hiding from the whole world because I have been feverishly writing a new book, and the only way to write a book is by hiding yourself from the worst enemies of writing: your friends, your family and, in my case, also from my NewsWithViews readers.

What is my book about? It is about a subject promised myself a long time ago that I would never write about: the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Yes, I know, and you don't need to tell me, that about two thousand books have been written about the JFK assassination. Of these, probably close to 90 percent are only good for a cold winter night after you have run out of firewood. I'm talking about books such as Gerald Posner's Case Closed (probably the most asinine of all), Bill O'Reilly's Killing Kennedy, Vincent Bugliosi's pitiful Reclaiming History,<sup>[1]</sup> or the many books about the JFK assassination written by a professional disinformant named Edward Jay Epstein.

According to the authors I have mentioned above, Lee Harvey Oswald was a solitary drifter with a loose screw, and he fired with his seventeen-buck rifle the three bullets that killed JFK. Proof of it is that one of the bullets was later found intact on Kennedy's stretcher. Then, another loony named Ruby killed Oswald, and another nutcase killed Ruby, and another batty killed Ruby's killer, and another loco killed the killer of Ruby's killer and another . . . or so the story goes.

Nevertheless, close to 90 percent of the authors who have written about the JFK assassination fully agree with the Warren Commission. By the way, the Commission that investigated the Kennedy assassination was under the control of Allen Dulles, a guy Kennedy had fired from his job as CIA Director. Finally, the Commission concluded that Oswald acted alone and there was no conspiracy. Case closed!

Now, why did I decide to fail to keep my own promise and write a book about the Kennedy assassination? Because I found that there is an amazing parallel between John F. Kennedy and Donald Trump. Even their campaign slogans were quite similar. Kennedy: "Get America moving again." Trump: "Make America great again."

Like Trump's, Kennedy's inaugural address was a clear defiance of the treasonous Council on Foreign Relations-created American foreign policy. Like Trump, Kennedy also wanted to put an end to the U.S. imperial foreign policy, which only benefited a small group of bankers and transnational corporations, not the American people.

Kennedy was not aware that the negative trend of the American economy he was trying to stop and reverse had not been the result of chance or incompetence, but of a carefully-conceived plan to destroy the U.S. economy and change America into a Third World country. Unfortunately, it seems that Trump is making the same mistake.

The assassination of President John F. Kennedy in 1963 was a dagger stuck into the very heart and soul of America. It was the day Americans began losing their country. It marked the end of the American Dream and the beginning of the American Nightmare.

This nightmare opened the doors for the Vietnam War, the total destruction of the U.S. industrial base, the impoverishing of farmers and workers, the growing mass of unemployed, and the planned obsolescence of the country's energy and transportation infrastructure. The American Nightmare was exacerbated in the calamitous 20 years of Bushes and Clintons, of which the 9/11 events and the so-called War on Terror marked a sharp turn to a police state and totalitarianism that culminated in the eight disastrous Obama years.[2]

At the same time, while a large majority of the American people was becoming dirt-poor, a very small minority was turning filthy rich. From a rich, powerful country, America has rapidly turned into an economic, social and cultural disaster. For the first time since the end of WWII, Americans were experiencing the new reality that their children were going to be poorer than their parents.

Currently, the same people who told us that Saddam Hussein was stockpiling weapons of mass destruction in Iraq are now desperately trying to delegitimize Trump by claiming that the Russian government influenced the results of the election. Moreover, impostor Barry Soetoro has declared that he plans to stay in Washington D.C. with Michael, in order to create a "shadow government" to fight President Trump.[3]

Now, given the fact that Soetoro is a mentally-challenged moron, one has to conclude that his "shadow government" will be fully under the control of the current Invisible Government controlled by the Wall Street bankers, oil magnates and CEOs of transnational corporations ensconced at the Council on Foreign Relations in Manhattan. Nevertheless, we should not be surprised by the globalist conspirators' knee-jerk reaction. They have plenty of reasons to be scared to death.

Contrary to what most people think, the result of the past election was not a victory for Donald Trump. Actually, it was a calamitous defeat for the forces behind the New Gay World Order, particularly the CFR conspirators and their minions.

It is evident that one of Trump's goals was to disassemble the New World Order machinery the globalist conspirators have so carefully been assembling during the past hundred years. An investigation of Obama's true place of birth may bring the impostor to a long vacation in a federal prison and will automatically invalidate all his executive orders and maybe even his nominations to the Supreme Court. An investigation into Hillary's shady deals through her Foundation may send her to join Obama. An investigation of McCain's activities at the Hanoi Hilton may uncover his dirtiest secret.[4] An investigation of the roles of George W. Bush, Dick Cheney and other CFR members in the 9/11 events may bring stiff penalties to them and their accomplices. Even worse, an investigation of the treacherous role of the Council on Foreign Relations in all that is rotten in America may result in its destruction.[5]

Obviously, the CFR conspirators cannot risk these possibilities. For them, preventing the success of Trump's presidency is a matter of life or death. So, either the same people who killed Kennedy will co-opt Trump or will assassinate him.

Actually, they have no other option. The globalist conspirators will not tolerate Donald Trump dismantling the machinery of treason that took them close to a century to assemble.

Sun Tzu, a Chinese general who lived in 544-496 B.C., wrote in his book The Art of War that only who the general knows his enemy like himself would win all the battles. Unfortunately, every day it is becoming more and more evident that President Donald Trump doesn't know who the true enemies of America are.

In the meantime, I'll keep writing my book. I expect to have it ready by early next year. I'll keep you informed.

Edgar Hoover (not a CFR member) received hundreds of letters from concerned citizens and members of Congress, accusing the Council on Foreign Relations of treason and promoting Communism through its agents infiltrated in the U.S. government. Hoover ordered an investigation but, soon after, President Eisenhower (CFR) dictated an order prohibiting the FBI from investigating federal government employees. For the whole story see ["Warning!
