

Systemic Racism Inherent in Democrats' DNA

Joan Swirsky

If the upcoming presidential election on November 3, 2020, were not so serious, it would be downright hilarious just watching the Democrats twist themselves into pretzels in their efforts to project onto President Trump their own lengthy and shameful record of racism.

As Bill Federer of AmericanMinute.com has exhaustively documented:

- In 1857, the Supreme Court, with seven of the nine justices being Democrats, decided that Dred Scott, a black slave, was not a citizen, but property.
- After the Civil War, when Republicans enacted the 13th Amendment abolishing slavery in America, southern Democrats reacted by creating the vicious anti-black Jim Crow laws.
- In 1866, Republican Rep. Thaddeus Stevens introduced legislation to give former slaves "40 acres and a mule," but Democrats opposed it.

This lopsided picture continued unabated through the 19th century and into the 20th century. Only space limitations prevent me from providing a doctoral thesis worth of sordid documentation.

- In 1953, Republican President Dwight D. Eisenhower (DDE)

proposed “to use whatever authority exists in the office of the President to end segregation”...but Southern Democrat governors objected!

- In 1964, Democrat senators held the longest filibuster in U.S. history—75 days—to try to prevent the Civil Rights Act from passing. Finally, Democrat President Lyndon B. Johnson (LBJ) persuaded the leaders of his party to support a compromised bill, saying: “I’ll have those ni – – ers voting Democratic for the next 200 years.”
- In 1994, as Stephen Frank documents, then-Senator Joe Biden sponsored a Bill that put tens of thousands of black men in prison—and it took 15 years till President Trump was able to get rid of that discriminatory law.

21st CENTURY DEMOCRAT RACISM

Find someone that looks at you the way Biden looked at Clinton after Clinton signed Biden's crime bill into law. Bringing mass incarceration to black Americans.

In 2009, Sammy Benoit in AmericanThinker.com wrote an article exposing former President Jimmy Carter’s lifelong animosity, contempt, indeed hatred toward Jews and Israel. Among numerous egregious examples he cited was this: “Former President Jimmy Carter once complained there were ‘too many Jews’ on the government’s Holocaust Memorial Council.”

We all know that Democrats lionized their fellow Democrat, WVA

Senator Robert Byrd, who personally filibustered the Civil Rights Bill for 14 hours and 13 minutes on June 10, 1964.

In 2010, Byrd was still around and the Senate's president pro tempore. And as all his colleagues knew, for many years he had also been a high-ranking member of the Ku Klux Klan—Exalted Cyclops and Kleagle. That's right, and Byrd also recruited 150 of his friends to start a new KKK chapter, as well as using the N-word on live television in 2001.

Not to omit that then-Senator Biden praised Byrd lavishly in his eulogy on the former-KKK member's death in 2010, as did current House Speaker Nancy Pelosi.

It comes as no surprise to anyone who has followed Biden's career that he also eulogized arch segregationist Strom Thurmond (D-SC), and had high praise for proud segregationists Sens. James Eastland (D-MS) and Herman Talmadge (D-GA), as well as for Governor George Wallace—"segregation now, segregation tomorrow, segregation forever"—who blocked black students from entering the University of Alabama.

CRINGE-PRODUCING DEMOCRAT RACISM

First Prize definitely goes to Hillary Clinton who never fails to break into a thick Southern accent when speaking before a black audience, as in this cringe-producing performance in a church in Alabama when quoting a hymn familiar to the audience—"I don't feel no ways tired."

Then there is the Democrat Governor of Virginia. Ralph Northam, all smeared in blackface and saying he's not sure if it's him but that he distinctly remembers wearing blackface on a different occasion. Can't make it up.

And who can ever forget Joe Biden's unforgettable words on hearing of the candidacy of Barack Obama for president: "I mean, you got the first mainstream African-American who is articulate and bright and clean and a nice-looking guy. I mean, that's a storybook, man."

"Bright and clean." Really.

And yet, former VP Biden is the only candidate the Democrats could think of to run for the presidency! And now he says he prefers a "woman of color" to be his VP. Right here, I could say "I rest my case" about Democrats being racists.

How utterly patronizing! How pathetically bowing to political correctness! How blazingly typical of a Democrat to cite race instead of experience, credentials, track record, character, voting record, on and on.

Biden sounds like his old boss, Barack Obama, who wanted his regime to "look like America," and in the name of political correctness and a fetish with a globalist/Islamist philosophy ended up—by design, I believe—with the worst economy, the weakest military, and the most failed medical and education systems in American history...which didn't look like any America most of the country recognized.

At this point, the Democrat Machine hopes they can get Joe Biden across the finish line so the really extreme far-leftist powers-that-be can inflict their noxious anti-Americanism, anti-Semitism, and inherent racism—via Antifa and Black Lives Matter—on our entire country.

Clearly, what is systemic about racism in America can be found in the Democrats' DNA.
