

The Invisible Forces Behind the Shadow Government

By J.W. Bryan

At various times throughout my past articles, I've alluded to the Council on Foreign Relations (CFR) as the Invisible Government/Deep State. I am fully aware there were other forces which had brought the CFR into existence.

These forces, of course, remain invisible even more than the organization they devised to carry out their plan for world domination. The CFR, to all practical reasoning, remains about as invisible as the forces which brought it into existence.

Something happened a couple of months ago, at a little trivial get together at the White House, which reveals much about how the CFR implements its plans and strategies without being noted as having anything to do with the event.

There were only a few people in attendance. Two who were present were Richard Haass and Joe Biden. Someone happened to mention something to the effect the President of the CFR was there to which his response was, "Yes, I work for them." At this point Biden interjected, "And I work for Richard."

You see, President Biden made it very clear – that he wasn't working for America, he was working for the president of the CFR.

At times I referred to the CFR as the Deep State, knowing that these other forces, like the swamp, extend the depth of it beyond the CFR. However, at the time, I mostly suspected these other entities but didn't know enough about them to attempt mentioning them in articles.

I was aware, from a quote I had read years ago that there was an organization which, according to former President Woodrow Wilson, confirmed that, "Some of the biggest men in the U.S., in the fields of commerce and manufacturing, know that there is a power so organized, so subtle, so complete, so pervasive, that they had better not speak above a whisper when they speak in condemnation of it."

Since we now know that former President Woodrow Wilson was an extension, i.e., a satellite, of the power he spoke about, we can consider his statement a confirmation of its existence.

When the Russian Revolution occurred resulting in the Czar being deposed by forces commanded by Alexandria Kerensky, who set up a more liberal government as far as the people having more rights. But it could not withstand the onslaught which was marshaled by these other invisible entities.

This was their chance to bring Russia into the conspiracy for Novus ordo seclorum the New World Order. Therefore, through the deployment of the satellites who had been placed in key positions of influence and authority in Europe and the U.S., they were able to have Lenin smuggled into Russia with a large amount of gold, which was intended by the invisible entities to enable the Bolshevik take-over of Russia.

Now, a note of explanation on satellites:

The only thing written that I'm aware of, which could be related to what I call satellites came from a book, "Masters of Deceit" by J. Edgar Hoover, in which he used the term sleepers in explaining the deployment of secret agents into the ranks of entities for planned future control.

As I delve deeper into all this, I am amazed, angry and disappointed at the amount of treason that has been covered up for decades.

According to Professor Antony Sutton:

“College textbooks present war and revolution as more or less accidental results of conflicting forces... Unfortunately, this is nonsense. War is always a deliberate creative act by (elitist) individuals.”

Western textbooks also have gigantic gaps. For example, after World War II the Tribunals set up to investigate Nazi war criminals were careful to censor any materials recording Western assistance to Hitler. By the same token, Western textbooks on Soviet economic development omit any description of the economic and financial aid given to the 1917 Bolshevik Revolution.

According to Professor Sutton:

“The practice of “managing” crises to bring about a favorable outcome – that is favorable to the elite – is freely admitted in the literature of The Trilateral Commission.” In my opinion, The Trilateral Commission is a major satellite of the CFR. Furthermore, there is no question that decisions of war and peace are made by a few of the elite and not by the public.”

The following excerpts from “America’s Secret Establishment” by Antony C. Sutton, will help the readers understand what the Hegelian Dialectical Process is and how it’s been used by the elites throughout history to create favorable outcomes to further their agendas.

How the Dialectical Process Works

The Hegelian system of political thought asserts that the state is also God, that the only duty of a citizen is to serve God by serving the state, that the state is absolute reason, and that a citizen can only find freedom by worship and utter obedience to the state. These absurdities have thoroughly penetrated the U.S. educational system under pressure from such organizations such as the National Education Association and major foundations.

Here again, we see the importance of the deployment of satellites into the entities which are targeted for take-over.

Created Conflict and the Dialectical Process:

The operational history of the Order can only be understood within a framework of the Hegelian Dialectical process. Quite simply, this is the notion that conflict creates history. From this axiom, it follows that controlled conflict can create a predetermined history...

In Hegelian terms, "an existing force the (thesis) generates a counterforce the (antithesis.) The conflict between the two forces results in the forming of a (synthesis)...The synthesis sought by the Establishment is called a New World Order...And this is being done with the calculated, managed use of conflict... The "conflict" builds profits while pushing the world ever closer to One World Government." Bold italics mine.

While I agree, in general, with the above statement; I have a slight disagreement with the part, "an existing force the (thesis) generates a counterforce the (antithesis)."

I don't think the Antithesis is generated by the Thesis; in fact, I am sure of it.

Example: The United States didn't generate an antithesis in Russia. Russia became the antithesis of the U.S. through the Bolshevik take-over and the Hegelian Dialectical Process. I recognize that there were many high-up individuals, both in big business and connected to Wall Street. Also, there could have been, and I'm sure there were, satellites of these invisible entities which were placed secretly into positions of the U.S. federal government, to act according to the agenda of said entities.

Without the satellites dispersed throughout the Thesis, the action of the Antithesis against it, will be unlikely to produce a Synthesis. Therefore, it necessarily follows that for the dialectical process to play-out successfully – satellites must be secretly placed in key positions of influence throughout the Thesis.

I am surprised at the following statement by Professor Sutton, "That the operations of The Order must be seen and explained in terms of the Hegelian Dialectical Process. Their operations cannot be explained in terms of any other philosophy ... The Order cannot be described as "right" or "left," secular or religious, Marxists or capitalists. The Order and its objectives are all of these and none of these."

However, there exists an additional explanation of their philosophy...it is diabolical and satanic.

This is confirmed by the statement on "How the Dialectical Process Works."

"The Hegelian system of political thought (asserts that) the state is also God, that the only duty of a citizen is to serve God by serving the state, that the state is absolute reason (and) that a citizen can only find freedom by worship and utter obedience to the state."

Now, is that not satanic?

The correct name for the process is not the Hegelian Dialectical Process. It didn't come into existence by or through him – he didn't invent it; he only discovered it and articulated it so it could be deployed into action by the invisible forces of that time to begin setting things into order for the future enslavement of all peoples throughout the world.

So, that being the case we can now give it its correct moniker – The Satanic Dialectical Process.

It's through this process that Satan operates, whether it's nations, institutions, or individuals to incrementally break them down from their thesis until they are reduced to being the same as the antithesis which was advanced against them at the beginning of the conflict.

However, in each case, prior to the advancement of the antithesis, in opposition to the thesis there must be, at least a partial planting of satellites into key positions of the thesis, other than with individuals.

With individuals the process is somewhat different inasmuch as satellites do not come into play.

Although I suppose we could consider the wrong kind of associations the individual could be led into, which would influence one to begin acquiescing, going along with the compromising. In so doing, that would lead to one finding themselves maybe even twice removed from the personal Thesis they formerly abided by.

When an individual that has not accepted Christ as their personal savior finds that he or she, through compromising their spiritual or moral principles, if they had any, discovers that their personal Thesis position has already dropped two positions – they are well on the way to becoming a slave for Satan.

So, in order to escape this, they must seek Christ, if they haven't rejected Him to the extent that they have been turned over to a reprobate mind. If they repent and have faith, they are saved. We must have an invitation to accept Christ, which is supplied by the Holy Spirit – this is the route to salvation which can only come through Christ and no other.

We may do other things as a witness to our coming to Christ, but those other things have nothing to do with our attaining salvation.

This was the way I referred to it back in the sixties in trying to introduce salvation to Christian thinking. My pastor was impressed with my thesis. But he was about the only one. I suppose the general response was, "Ah! I don't need to know that stuff, I'll just stick with God's Word.

Unfortunately, this represents the thinking of practically all church memberships. About 98% or more, have no idea of how things developed which delivered churches to their present Thesis, nor do they have even the remotest idea of the former Thesis of their church before it began compromising its principles. In compromising, they resulted in a Synthesis that became a new Thesis to being confronted with, once again – an Antithesis.

In other words – they didn't know where they had moved from.

During this time, I was Chairman of a Men's organization in the church and we were concerned about what we could see as an antithesis to Christian principles and policies.

We had had one meeting on the subject, using as a study-guide a chapter in John Stormer's book, "None Dare Call It Treason."

The very next week upon arriving for the meeting, I was stopped at the door by an old deacon of the church. His mission was to protest our studying what the author of the book had presented concerning the left's infiltration of higher up Christian organization, such as the Southern Baptist and others.

He began his protest with, "Brother Bryan, we shouldn't be using books by man in our study, we're only supposed to use God's Word.

Well, I was stumped and unprepared. I knew that if I proceeded to make an issue of this that I could count on only four or five backers due to the prevailing ignorance throughout the congregation of what the issue was about. So, we just disbanded the organization.

This was a case of an old deacon, who was sure he was doing the right thing, but rather, through his ignorance, he was a satellite for Satan. I lost all respect for him.
