

The Jihadist Shadow Creeps Across the Lone Star State

Texas stands on the brink of conquest. Not by tanks or terrorists storming our borders in the open – no, the invasion advances silently through unchecked migration, exploding birth rates, and calculated land grabs that plant Sharia seeds deep in our soil. Look at London, once the throbbing heart of the British Empire, now a rotting corpse called Londonistan. Church bells lie silent while the muezzin's wail blasts from minarets five times a day. Halal butchers dominate entire streets. Gangs of robed enforcers patrol neighborhoods, dictating what women wear and what infidels say. London's Muslim population exploded to 15%, turning the city into a no-go zone factory where British law bows to Islamic tribunals. Parallel societies thrive, radical preachers spew hate from mega-mosques, and native Brits flee in terror. That surrender happened because weak leaders waved in millions, silenced critics with "Islamophobia" smears, and let demography become destiny. Texas refuses to kneel.

Our state explodes with the same poison. Muslim numbers surged 25% in the last decade, hitting 350,000-400,000 strong, concentrated in Dallas-Fort Worth and Houston like cancer clusters. Mosques multiply like weeds – over 200 in Texas now, with dozens sprouting in just the past two years. These structures serve as more than prayer halls; they function as fortresses pumping out Sharia ideology, Islamic schools indoctrinating the young, and community centers building insulated empires that reject American values. Prison conversions fuel the fire: Muslims dominate religious shifts behind bars, radicalizing inmates who hit the streets as jihadist recruits.

EPIC City nightmare, a 400-acre Islamic stronghold rising near Plano. This enclave packs over 1,000 homes, a massive mosque, K-12 Quranic brainwashing academy, clinics, and senior living – all orbiting Islam like a self-contained caliphate. Developers marketed it exclusively to Muslims at first, snapping up plots for the faithful. They scream “open to all,” but the blueprint screams mono-religious domination, a beachhead where Sharia norms eclipse Texas law. Honor killings, forced veils, polygamy – these horrors brew in such isolated worlds. Europe ignored similar “communities” until they birthed terror cells and Sharia councils that treat women like property. Texas crushes this now.

Picture this: in ten years, downtown Dallas echoes with the call to prayer blasting from loudspeakers taller than our skyscrapers. Your granddaughter walks to school past signs demanding she cover her hair or face “consequences.” The local H-E-B only stocks halal meat because the non-halal section got firebombed – again. Texas-born cops look the other way when a “community patrol” in robes beats a kid for drinking a beer. Your church becomes a mosque because the city council – now 40% Muslim after another redistricting scam – voted to seize it under “historic preservation.” That is not speculation. That is the exact playbook that turned London, Leicester, and Malmö into Islamic republics while the natives fled or submitted. It is already in motion here, and only a blind fool pretends otherwise.

Sharia finance infiltrates our banks, with “interest-free” mortgages and products that bow to Quranic bans, subtly elevating Allah’s law over our Constitution. Halal demands conquer school lunches and grocery chains. Radical groups like CAIR embed themselves, defending every encroachment while smearing patriots as bigots. Meanwhile, Texas prisons and streets fill with converts who embrace the most violent strains of the faith.

Londonistan fell because Britain disarmed its people, gutted its borders, and criminalized truth-telling. Texas arms its citizens with the Second Amendment, unbreakable. Governor Abbott, Attorney General Paxton, and warriors like Chip Roy wield weapons Europe never had: laws like HB 45 and HB 4211 that ban foreign Sharia interference in our courts. We enforce them with iron fury. Our leaders stare down federal weakness and roar: No Sharia cities. No no-go zones. No parallel societies.

The battle rages now. Muslims remain a tiny fraction – barely 1-1.5% statewide – but they concentrate power in urban strongholds, exploiting open borders and high birth rates to conquer city by city. Houston already tips toward 3% Muslim in pockets, with halal zones expanding. Dallas follows. Ignore this, and Austin becomes the next London borough where critics get jailed for “hate speech” and churches convert to mosques.

Texans do not whisper warnings – we thunder them. We do not negotiate with conquest. We crush it. Deport radicals. Shut down jihadist mosques. Enforce assimilation or expulsion. Arm up, speak out, vote out the enablers. The Alamo spirit burns eternal: Remember Goliad, remember San Jacinto. Texas stands as freedom's last fortress against the global caliphate crusade.

London surrendered and died. Texas fights and wins. The Lone Star blazes defiant – no crescent moon eclipses it. Charge forward, warriors.

Victory belongs to the unbreakable
