

The Shadow Government Has Trump In Its Cross Hairs

Things are moving in hyper speed since President Trump was inaugurated. The attacks on him, his family, his cabinet picks, what he's trying to accomplish for us – you name it – the shadow government has him in its cross hairs. The lying 'mainstream' media from print to cable have been exposed. The Democratic/Communist Party USA has been exposed as the party of racism and exploitation. They're all in a panic as are those who control them and Washington, DC.

Tens of millions of we the people are fully aware America dodged the final nail in our coffin with the defeat of die-hard Marxist, Hildebeast Clinton. It wasn't just a blow to her Highness who firmly believed it was "her" time, it was a blow to the evil forces in this country working feverishly to destroy our sovereign nation and transition us into world government.

I firmly believe as probably millions of others do that without the Internet we would have been toast long ago.

The Internet is an amazing tool. It has some of the darkest places you can imagine that promote child pornography, snuff films and debauchery beyond most decent people's imagination.

It is a major revenue tool for retailers and service oriented businesses alike as well as helping people receive an education, fund-raising for worthy causes and so much more.

Have a question about cooking, gardening – you name it, the Internet is the place to go for a speedy answer.

It's also full of lies, distortion and propaganda in the realm of what's called politics whether it be in this country or countries around the globe. The amount of all three is dished out daily on thousands of web sites is enough to drown anyone. Web sites that print nothing but theories without a single fact to back them up seem to attract far too many people who quite frankly, don't do any research themselves.

While I've been in the trenches going on 27 years full time, it wasn't until July 1998 that I put up my own web site. Prior to that it was faxes, newsletters and very expensive long distance phone bills (long before unlimited calling by phone providers) trying to get the world out about things like stopping NAFTA, trying to explain the problem with the unconstitutional, privately owned "Federal" Reserve, fiat currency and more. And, yes, the push towards a 'one world order' even though people laughed in my face.

I've spent an enormous amount of time on the Internet doing research, verifying, reading and of course, writing this weekly column. As I wrote back in January, my experience tells me which web sites I can and cannot trust and which ones provide not just commentary but in-depth exposure of the sinister individuals behind the curtain. NWVs writers are very careful about which web sites we link to verify and back up what's in our columns.

NWVs is just about ready to launch it's new web site – something computer folks know about called 'content based'. You can see it here – not all the links are working yet as there were more than 19,000 files to get transferred over. It should be finished sometime in early April. All of this has cost a lot of money and as I say so often, a web site like NWVs has to be treated as a business or it won't survive. In the competitive world of commentary/news web sites one must stay up with technology or sink. The only exception here is that Paul Walter and his lovely wife do not get paid a salary or any other compensation. Only outside computer expertise.

I KNOW the commentaries and columns on this web site have made a big difference over the years. I wrote my first column here in 2002 and have watched things grow exponentially since then. The quality of writers is superb and they all donate their precious time to bring you the best in research, keeping all of us updated on the avalanche of 'stuff' going on as well as Sunday's featured clergy. Can't be beat.

NWVs writers give up their precious time while working (lawyers, bakers, educators, clergy, business owners) to make a difference by writing columns for NWVs. I know you appreciate them.

Yes, this is a request for donations. OUR beloved America, is at a very dangerous cross roads right now. The resistance by misguided Americans spoon-fed daily lies can only be countered by truth. By continuing to get facts out there instead of propaganda. By educating as many Americans as we can so that their blinders will be lifted.

President Trump is under siege. I mean can you imagine, even being the tough NY 'street fighter' he is what this has been like for him day after day? He is working to keep this republic sovereign while evil scum like George Sores and the GOP establishment as well as they Democratic/Communist Party USA are working to destroy us. Yes, I said the GOP establishment and I pointedly mean Rat Paul Ryan, Mitch McConnell and others with their forked tongues.

We can and must defeat them and they only way we can do that is through knowledge because knowledge is power. We won't get another chance at saving our country before it turns very ugly.

Please show your support for NWVs today. Take the time to sign up as a monthly sponsor for $10.00 or $25.00 – less than the cost of a pizza. If enough readers of this web site did that NWVs would have a good idea of their monthly operating capital they can count on. Or, if you can't do that, please be generous and make a donation right now. It's very easy. Please
