

Tie That Defines Us is the Belief In A Higher Power

The fundamental difference between Communists and Constitutionals (formerly, “D” and “R”) is recognition of a Higher Power. It is written in our Bill of Rights.

“We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal , that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights.”

Tim Kaine, Sen, Va, finds that “extremely troubling”.

I find HIM worse than “troubling”. I find him unfit for public office, at a minimum, but I digress.

The Commonwealth has returned him to public office in one form or another since 1994!! First, as a member of Richmond city council; then mayor of Richmond, 1998 – 2001; then Lt. Gov., in 2001; then Governor 2006 – 2010. He was chair of the DNC from 2009 – 2011, then Senator from Virginia in 2012 where he squats today. Thirty-two years of Tim Kaine. Just what this country has NOT needed.

Most of Virginia is bright-red conservative; this shows what proximity to the swamp can do. “Collar counties” call a lot of the shots in Virginia; you can smell and feel it, the closer you get to DC.

Yesterday in a committee hearing, Kaine said he is troubled about the idea that “natural rights come from God.” There are only two remaining choices: are our rights from man, or a “lower power” like Lucifer?? I wonder which Kaine believes?

Let's take a closer look. I need to blow off some steam. I lived in Virginia for 8 years, and developed a healthy disgust for him and his.

Choice #1. If our rights came from man, they would be constantly blowing in the wind, changing with the prevailing gang in power. worship, guns, abortion, gender dysphoria, open borders, child abuse, drugs (both Pharma and the over-the-border kind), social security, income taxes, etc. I refuse to even go further down that road. What a horror show that would be!

The Western Journal quoted Kaine as saying, “The notion that rights don't come from laws and don't come from the government, but come from the Creator – that's what the Iranian government believes. It's a theocratic regime that bases its rule on Sharia law and targets Sunnis, Bahá'ís, Jews, Christians and other religious minorities.”

Either Kaine does not know, or does not comprehend the fundamental basics of our Republic: that our USA is a REPRESENTATIVE REPUBLIC, founded on the concept expressed by Jefferson that “ all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights.”

HOW IS IT POSSIBLE THAT SOMEONE CAN BE A HIGH-LEVEL PUBLIC OFFICIAL AND NOT KNOW THE DIFFERENCE?? Is Kaine just stupid, or worse?

Tim Kaine, once Hillary's running mate, rejects the fundamental foundation of our nation, our precious Republic. 'Nuff said. I vote for “worse.” Actually, both.

So, Choice #2, the only one remaining, is that our law comes from the lower power, the fallen angel, Lucifer himself. Frankly, I believe that this is behind the basics of the Left. They have made it clear through their actions.

As the Globalist/Marxist/One-World began to spread its poison around the world, they set about crumbling the very bedrock of our society: faith, family and education. This, to make us reliant on them. They are definitely worshippers of that lower power.

In the last decades it has become more and more apparent. Schools have become indoctrination camps; families, ridiculed; the murder of babies, encouraged; and the government, working to take over as the Higher Power. Fortunately, Donald Trump is trying to change much of this as he fights it on all fronts. A Herculean task, but one for which I believe he was saved to attempt.

In 1963, the same year that the CIA helped to assassinate JFK, LBJ introduced the "Johnson Amendment" which removed tax-exempt status from religious institutions if they participated in political campaigns. You see, he had been seriously opposed in his home state of TX, at his last election, so the amendment was thrown down in retribution. This helped to keep God out of politics. This is another issue DJT is trying to have changed.

Just a reminder, JFK's "sin", to them, was that he believed in God, and asked what YOU could do for your country, not what you wanted FROM your country. That notion, I believe, was too threatening to the Left to be allowed to stay around, and impact our nation in a positive way. They wanted needy, dependant subjects, not citizens who worked for their country.

The Left has a habit of removing leaders with which they disagree.

Yes, there are still Kaines out there. There are still voters who would choose Newsome over Vance. There are still those that believe God makes mistakes in gender assignment at birth. The sickness in our society is still heavy and deadly.

WE are the only ones who can change that. I know, “quit nagging, Kat”...

In an attempt to limit and focus my “rants”, I’ve decided to give out a “Kat Call” at the end of each piece. The recipient may or may not have anything to do with the article above the Call. The qualifications for earning the Kat Call will be pretty basic: someone to watch out for, or to question, or even to work against. They may well be the subject of an upcoming article.

I’D LOVE FOR YOU TO SUBMIT SUGGESTIONS FOR THE KAT CALL AND TELL ME WHY. That would be much appreciated; I want to know what is bothering you the most, so we can look at it together.
