

When “Health Policy” Means Disease and Death

By Cliff Kincaid

I remember the book, Satan is Alive and Well on Planet Earth, by the “end times” author Hal Lindsey, and thinking at the time that he was just trying to shock people. But here we are more than 50 years after it was originally published, and the evidence is all around us. First came the transgender killer of Christian kids in Minneapolis who filled his anti-Semitic and anti-Christian journals with multiple Russian language entries.

Following that development, a former CDC official, Demetre Daskalakis, has been greeted by the “health establishment” and the media as a hero because he disagrees with HHS Secretary RFK Jr.’s changes to vaccine policy.

At the time Biden appointed him, Peter LaBarbera’s WorldNetDaily story had explored allegations that he is associated with Satanic-themed Pentagon images and tattoos and sadomasochistic sexual practices.

Incredibly, Politico and other publications now quote this former official as saying “I only see harm coming” from RFK Jr. and that “the line between science and ideology has become hopelessly blurred.”

Remember that Daskalakis had been named as the homosexual National Monkeypox Response deputy coordinator under Biden, as the monkeypox virus emerged as the latest dangerous disease to affect the gay community. A study published by the New England Journal of Medicine found that 98 percent of those infected with monkeypox were homosexual or bisexual men.

Before Monkeypox, the deadly disease HIV/AIDS had emerged in the gay community because of the unnatural way they have sex. Millions died and are still dying.

President Clinton had responded to HIV/AIDS by announcing a "comprehensive AIDS vaccine research initiative" under the supervision and direction of Dr. Anthony Fauci, the same official responsible for the federal "response" to the China virus. It failed and billions of dollars were wasted that could have been spent to treat other diseases.

It is almost as if the CDC specialized in failures in vaccine policy, in response to diseases that could have been avoided.

Regarding Robin/Robert Westman, the killer of Christian kids, we know after consulting the experts on exorcism, a religious practice still underway in the United States, mostly by Catholics, that the ability to speak or understand languages a person does not know can be evidence of demon possession.

There has been no explanation as to how Robin/Robert Westman came to understand the Russian language. Perhaps he learned Russian on-line. If so, let the authorities in the FBI tell us how and when. Was he targeted by a foreign government or movement? If not, there is a prima facie case for demon possession, and that is something that must be addressed.

In an edition of my television show on Rumble, "The Spawn of Satan," analyst Trevor Loudon and I discuss the Satanic nature of Westman's attack on Christian children and whether the case is linked to other "Black Sun" murders here and abroad. We discuss the influence of the Russian-based Eurasianist movement that is based on Nazi and communist ideologies.

"The demon is a liar," said the exorcist in the famous horror film. But the demon has his helpers, such as MSNBC in the Daskalakis case, which is upset that Senator Rand Paul had the courage to focus on his “lifestyle,” in particular “this whole idea of bondage and, you know, multiple partners and all that stuff.” The Senator said to him, “good riddance.”

The CDC official warning of “harm” from new vaccine policies has a history in what is called BDSM, which stands for sex involving bondage, discipline, dominance, and submission.

Some might say that inflicting pain on others for sexual pleasure is just one step away from killing people for sexual pleasure. The difference, of course, is that one form is supposed to occur through “consensual sex.” That makes it OK for the gay mafia.

The MSNBC story by Ja’han Jones insists that “Daskalakis dismissed the satanism allegations in 2022 but, for years, conservative disinformation-peddlers have used the fact he has a pentacle tattoo – along with other personal choices, like images of Daskalakis wearing leather – to portray him as some kind of demonic sex pervert...”

The evidence of the occult is clear for all to see, just as in the case of the transgender killer of Christian kids, who wrote on one of his ammunition magazines, “where is your God?”

We must open our eyes and ears to what is happening before us. As Hal Lindsey said, Satan is alive and well on planet earth.

The MSNBC “writer” added that Senator Paul’s remarks came after Rep. Buddy Carter, R-Ga., referred to Daskalakis as a “BDSM satan worshipper” on a CNN show.

The true crime documentary, “Catching a Serial Killer,” examines the case of Bruce McArthur, a BDSM practitioner who attended “gay pride” celebrations and became the subject of a book, Bruce McArthur: The Toronto Gay Village Murders.

This sick mass murderer “preyed on men from Toronto’s gay community and managed to avoid any detection by carefully cutting the bodies of his victims into pieces and burying them in the pot planters and grounds of his landscaping customers.” He was convicted of killing eight of his sexual “partners,” most described as hairy “bears” from the gay community and known to frequent a notorious homosexual “leather cruising” bar.

For those who doubt that Satan is at work in the world today, in this and other cases, consider that Satan proclaimed, “My name is Legion, for we are many,” in answer to Jesus’ question, “What is your name?” Christ then purged the demons, sending them into a herd of pigs, and they rushed down a steep bank into the lake and died in the water.

We can and must pray for God’s help but it is also time for the FBI and other law enforcement agencies to understand the spiritual warfare in America and the world today. Do they have the expertise?
