

Who's Voting in America 2024?

By Lex Greene

October 17, 2024

In the leadup to the 2024 elections, an estimated 65% of Americans lack faith and trust in current election systems, across the political spectrum. Only 35% of Americans say they trust that our elections are free, fair, secure, lawful and transparent, proving that 35% don't pay attention at all, or lie to suit their undemocratic agenda.

For the past four years, literally thousands of Americans have worked to investigate, discover, evidence, and expose broad systemic fraud in our elections. Meanwhile, the powers that be, have continued to deny there is anything to see here, claiming all is well.

But isn't the reality of the problem much easier to prove than most think?

In the 2020 elections, official reports indicate that there were as many as 38-million more votes than legally eligible registered voters. The incumbent Trump received 11 million more votes in 2020 than in 2016, normally an insurmountable reelection of a sitting President. Yet, somehow, his opponent who hid in his basement throughout the elections, won? This alone should have caused an unprecedented nationwide investigation into how the impossible was able to happen.

Still, as we enter the 2024 voting period, there's an even easier way to prove just how serious the problem really is.

A Right to Vote

In order for the government to be constitutional, a government “of, by and for” American citizens, from whom all political power is derived, it must be lawfully elected by those legal citizen U.S. Electors. A government elected in whole or in part by non-US-citizens is not a government of the American citizens.

As a result, Federal Election Law under 18 USC 611 makes it illegal for any non-citizen to vote in U.S. Elections. Only legally eligible U.S. citizen electors have a right to vote in U.S. elections. Non-citizens, be they illegal aliens, foreign citizens who are temporary or permanent residents, visitors, vacationers, or those in the states on a work or education VISA, do not have any right to vote, any more than American citizens have voting rights in other countries.

This raises the question of “who’s voting” and what are the mechanisms in place to make certain that only legal American citizen Electors are voting, having their ballots lawfully cast, counted and reported, without any “ineligible” votes spoiling the integrity of our elections?

Absolute Voter Identification

The only way to know who is voting and whether or not they have a legal right to vote, is for every state to require absolute voter ID before allowing any individual to vote in our elections.

The following States do require photo ID in order to vote

- Alabama
- Arkansas
- Florida
- Georgia
- Idaho
- Indiana
- Kansas
- Kentucky

- Louisiana
- Michigan*
- Mississippi
- Missouri
- Montana
- Nebraska
- New Hampshire
- North Carolina
- Ohio
- Oklahoma
- Rhode Island
- South Carolina
- South Dakota
- Tennessee
- Texas
- Wisconsin

Now, these states are at least making an effort to limit their elections to only legally eligible citizen electors. However, as is always the case with the insanity lawmakers come up with, the devil is often in the details, such as Michigan* which allows someone to vote without any ID at all, as long as they sign a paper saying they have the right. But without any ID, who signed the paper? Other states issue photo drivers licenses to “illegal aliens,” with some even registering them to vote at the same time via the Department of Motor Vehicles (DMV). Click on your state to get the devil in the details.

The next group of states require non-photo ID to vote

- Alaska
- Arizona
- Colorado
- Connecticut
- Delaware
- Iowa
- North Dakota
- Utah

- Virginia
- West Virginia
- Wyoming

The obvious problem in these states is, without the ability to match the face on the ID to the face trying to vote, who does the ID actually belong to? Who is the person standing in line to vote, with a paper indicating they have that right, but no facial match to connect the person in line to the person on the ID? You might as well not even bother.

States that require NO ID at all to vote

- California* (54)
- C. (3)
- Hawaii (4)
- Illinois (19)
- Maine (4)
- Maryland (10)
- Massachusetts (11)
- Minnesota (10)
- Nevada (6)
- New Jersey (14)
- New Mexico (5)
- New York (28)
- Oregon (8)
- Pennsylvania (19)
- Vermont (3)
- Washington (12)

To put a fine point on the matter, these 16 of 50 states, with 220 Electoral College votes, refuse to prevent illegal voters from voting. As usual, California* is a special case, even among the most far-left states in the country. Just 30-days before the 2024 elections, California adopted a new election law making it “illegal” for election workers to request any ID at all in order to vote.

This grouping of states have a couple other things in common, they are all democrat party strongholds in the country, and they have the highest level of illegal migrants in their states, which I suspect, is both how and why they are blocking any means of knowing who is voting in their states and whether or not they are legally eligible to vote, in direct violation of 18 USC 611.

Unless only legal U.S. citizen electors are able to vote and be lawfully verified as eligible to vote, our elections cannot possibly be lawful, secure, free, fair, transparent, or even certifiable.

No ID means there is no way to prove that all voters have the right to vote.

Adding insult to injury, the Biden-Harris Department of Corruption \(DOJ\) is currently suing states that have removed known “illegal and ineligible” voters from their voter rolls. Yes, the Biden-Harris DOJ is trying to force states to keep “illegal voters” on their voter rolls.

Is it even possible for anyone to claim that our elections are free from fraud when these states cannot prove who any of their voters are, or if they are legally eligible to vote? No, it isn't possible.

So, before you get caught up in the back-and-forth over well-documented election machine irregularities and internet hacking of our election systems, look no further than the inability of these states to offer any proof at all that any of their voters were even eligible to vote.

When it comes to Presidential elections, decided by Electoral College votes, assigned by popular vote in each state, without the ability to prove their voters had a legal right to vote, shouldn't their 220 state Presidential Electors be disqualified? Is it possible to certify the votes without knowing who voted? Is it constitutional to count the Electoral College votes as legitimate?

24 States require Photo ID and have a right to have their Electoral College votes counted.

But 16 States have taken measures to NOT verify voters right to vote or provide any means of knowing who is or has voted, lawfully. Should their 220 Electoral College votes be given equal weight and power as those who have done it right by the law?

The Equal Protection Clause in the 14th Amendment requires that all “legal citizens” receive equal treatment under the law. Illegal non-citizen voters do not have equal voting rights, and therefore, they must not be given equal weight, or the elections are entirely “unconstitutional” and “uncertifiable.”

18 USC 611 applies to all elections for Federal Offices, President, Vice President, and Congress, both chambers. Legally speaking, the only way to lawfully certify the 2024 Presidential election is to disqualify Electoral College votes from all states that do not verify the legal eligibility of their voters. There is no other way, legally.

Last, if you happen to live in one of the 16 states that have taken extraordinary measures to eliminate any ability to certify your votes due to no ability to verify your voters, you have to blame those in control of your state for placing you all in this position. Don't blame any of the other 34 states for a problem that your state officials and you created.
