

Why Do They Want These Things?

By Lee Duigon

I've been asking this question for quite a while, and I'm still waiting for an answer. All these crazy, self-destructive public policies—why does anybody want them?

Okay—let's bring drag queens into public schools, libraries, YMCAs, and everywhere else we can get into, and have them interact with, oh, five and six-year-old kiddies. We are talking about men who feel compelled to pose as bizarre caricatures of women. And we're holding them up to children as... role models? As what?

Why do you “progressives” want this? In what way is it desirable?

Let's use the public schools to encourage children to clamor for “gender reassignment”—'cause they're born into the wrong bodies, don't you know—but we can fix that with puberty-blocking drugs and irreversible surgery—and let's try real hard to conceal this caper from the children's parents. We don't really expect the parents not to notice, and they'll probably object—but that's why we have the FBI, isn't it? With any luck, every kid we touch will become a lifelong medical patient (millions and millions of dollars for their (ahem!) doctors)... and sterile, too. They'll never be able to have children of their own.

Why do you want this?

And by all means, let's have lots and lots of censorship! Why should anyone who disagrees with us be allowed to say things in the social media? They think they can bad-mouth the government, the universities, the woke corporations—well, maybe they'd better think again. After all, anyone who's not a Democrat, an atheist, or queer is, like, totally wrong and shouldn't be heard from anymore. Why even have an Internet, if people are going to go there just to say wrong things?

Why do you want this?

One of the truly great things about China is that there's only one political party. How great is that? Imagine how simple our politics would be if anyone who stood up to The Regime got tossed into a prison camp. We're making progress in that direction, indicting Donald Trump and all, but there's still a long way to go. Shouldn't a politician who stands for wrong and evil things, like conservatism, wind up in jail if he loses an election? But if there was only one party, the Democrat Party, that you could vote for—well, then, the right people would win: all the time.

Why do you want this?

And why shouldn't the FBI spy on and intimidate parents who don't like some of their local school board's policies? Who do they think they are? School board members are infinitely smarter and better and cooler than all those stupid parents. Aren't they entitled to a silent compliance? And while we're on the subject of school boards, of course we should let them—encourage them, even—stir up racial animosities! Why even be an educator, if you can't make people hate and fear each other? How else is The Party supposed to stay in power? Divide and rule, baby!

Why in the world do you want this?

We've only mentioned five of these wonderful policies that people should just shut up about and obey the government, and there are so many more—letting men compete in women's sports, refusing to prosecute criminals, banning gas stoves, lockdowns, wiping out our nation's borders, handing out college degrees in ridiculous pseudo-subjects, etc., etc. This is what Fundamental Transformation's all about! This is why we have a Democrat Party. This is the legacy of the Obama presidency, and the mission of Joe Biden's.

(Why, why, why would you ever want any of it?)

I have discussed these and other topics throughout the week at my blog, <http://leeduigon.com/> . Drop in for a visit—while it's still alive. My articles can also be found at www.chalcedon.edu/ .
