Re: In 10 to 20 Years, You Won't Recognize America

"You can fool some of the people some of the time, and all of the people some of the time. But you can't fool all the people all of the time." President Abraham Lincoln

Perhaps Mr. Joe Biden faces his own Waterloo over his deceitful and fraudulent life whether bribe taking, hair sniffing little girls, lying to Congress, plagiarizing other peoples' works, lying about his non-existent accomplishments, and now, his incredible schemes with his drug-addict son Hunter via selling his VP office to officials in other countries for millions upon millions of dollars. He's gotten away with it for 50 years in Congress, but the noose is tightening around this scoundrel's neck. It's going to be an interesting outcome.

U.S. Senator Menendez (D-NJ) faces federal charges in his bribery schemes for hundreds of thousands of dollars. You have to ask yourself, "How much more money does one person need in a lifetime?"

As to the latest column, wow, readers responded.

Dear Frosty: "Your summation for the reasons underlying the decline and final collapse of the Roman Empire is one of the best summaries I've ever run across. Succinct – yet comprehensive and all-encompassing. Your survey of the present and probable future condition of the USA is – again – quite excellent for stating the obvious and indisputable facts about this ongoing “tidal wave” of attacks, subversions and malignancies being inflicted upon the original founding peoples of the United States of America. They are marked out for expungement – extermination.”

TM said, “The question is “Why?” Why does our tribe have a death wish? What is the root of our pathological altruism?

“It could be argued that it is only when tribes are beleaguered that their members develop a tribal consciousness. But now that we are on the brink of extinction, at least half of our tribe think it is cause for celebration.

“And at the same time, they tell us--as Richard Heinberg of the Post Carbon Institute recently did--that “The Great Replacement Theory” is a “conspiracy” theory, a “crazy” belief! If that is the case, then I guess the contention that Seattle or Vancouver is a rainy city is a conspiracy theory, too. “But oh”, they say, “though the demographic balance of these cities or nations has shifted away from being European in origin, there was no conspiracy to make that happen, it just happened.” (Vancouver, B.C. has been immigrated into a majority Chinese population. Canadians don't stand a chance in their own country.)

“In 1965 the governments of Canada and the United States changed their immigration select criteria so that immigrant applicants from Europe would no longer be given preference. In other words, the net would be cast widely across the globe. But they damned well knew what the implications were. Ted Kennedy damn well knew what the results of chain migration would be, though he denied it. And the Pearson government knew what their new immigration law would do to transform the country.

“Check out the Kalergi plan. The Cultural Marxists had a game plan to fragment and destroy Western culture long ago. What we are seeing in North America and Europe today is the fruition of these intentions.”

RJ said, “Yes, but the destruction of the Western culture and its people is THE PLAN. The globalist have not been shy – they have written that they only require 500 millions of population to serve their few thousand administrators and the perhaps two dozen supreme families. However, as the Russians have shown in Ukraine, THE NEOCONS/Globalists can be beaten. But this also makes them extremely dangerous now as the 80% of the world, which is not under their thumb have seen it, and cannot comply.

“On a micro-level, I live in the Silver Valley in the northern Idaho panhandle. The now local sheriff is a lesbian and is “married’ to a lesbian schoolteacher who got caught pushing the LGBTQ, etc. agenda. Even here, which is very socially conservative, but no one knew. As of yet, no repercussions. But I suspect that underneath, there is seething. At some point, it will go kinetic. Cycles suggest as early as this December.”

G.G. said, “The Eastern Roman Empire in Constantinople survived until it was overtaken by invading Muslim forces, finally defeated in the 15th century. In the West, vestiges of Rome’s influence persisted into the Middle Ages, but the Black Plague (bubonic) eliminated a significant portion of the European population in the 14th century, further diluting any Roman influence. In what is France today, Charlemagne declared in 800 that his rule should be known as the Holy Roman Empire. It was certainly not holy, and referring to it as Roman was more than a stretch

“In addition to your very complete list of events leading to

Rome's downfall, the government also devalued the currency by substituting baser metals for the silver and gold in their coins, and that pillar of any society, the family, took a hit due to infidelity, divorce, and the loss of pater familias, the respect paid to the male head of a household by family members. Sound familiar? 'Feminization' now offers men the opportunity to become a Drag Queen.

"Christianity became legal under the Emperor Constantine in the 4th century, but lapses into persecution of Christians continued under subsequent emperors. Frenchman Alexander d' Tocqueville, author of Democracy in America, was so impressed with the importance of religion in our new nation that he wrote: "America is great because she is good" in the 19th century, but added the warning that, should we ever cease to be good, we would no longer be great. Our moral compass deviated from True North long ago, our ship of state and nation on a collision course with the rocks. John Adams opined that our Constitution would only function for a moral society.

"In regard to the title of your article, Klaus Schwab of the WEF has been quoted as saying, "By 2030, you will own nothing and be happy." I have difficulty attributing such a prognostication to anything other than pure evil, and a desire to control the world and its people as he and his cronies see fit."

R.P. said, "I already don't recognize most of the U.S. Fortunately, I live in the one large Tennessee city that hasn't been destroyed by the lefties, though Memphis is a goner, and Nashville is on the way. Very sad indeed. It seems there's no way to vote these leftists-Marxists-Communists out of office. They've been infiltrating government, every institution, our schools and churches for decades. The schools (K-college) have been brainwashing and dumbing down our young people for decades, so until the SHTF, they won't know just how stupid they've been to vote for their own destruction and misery.”

And there you have it fellow American. The majority of Americans keep sitting on their Barker Loungers sipping beer and devouring pizzas as this nation-destroying nightmare continues. Brought to you by Biden and Congress! We are in deep doodoo.
